Superb lot of 19th Century, British Colonials. Nearly 800 selected copies, from over 60 colonies, and cataloguing above $350. More than half these stamps catalog 25c and upward, and over 100 single stamps catalog from $1 to $5.00 each. Contains perfect mint copies like New Zealand, No. 83; St. Vincent, No. 50; Virgin Islands, No. 3; and dozens of other very scarce stamps. My price is $150 cash for the lot. This figures about 60% off on a class of stamps of which few dealers have any supply, and on which they allow from 10% to 25% as a maximum. My proposition is this. Send your check for the lot, and when the stamps arrive, if you are not more than satisfied, return them promptly, and your money will be refunded without any argument. The first applicant gets the stamps, but if you want to take your chance of losing them by corresponding, I will be very glad to send special information, if requested, in regard to any particular colonies. Better not take this chance, however, as there is only one lot. Write or wire today. EDWARD F. COFFIN, No. 142 Woodland St., Worcester, Mass. A. P. S. No. 2849.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

April 15, 1916.

Fellow Members:—

Get busy and see if you cannot get a few members. If you have no time to write them, send their names to me and I will do the rest. There seems to be a new life coming into the Revenue Quarter of the Philatelic World, and there are very few letters of inquiry that I have answered where the party has not sent in his application. Get right after them and KEEP after them.

Application for Membership.

H. F. Kalse: P. O. Box 280; Norwood, Manitoba, Canada; age, 50; proposed by Walter E. Goodwin.

Stanley B. Ashbrook, 720 Union Trust Building; age, 34; occupation, broker; proposed by Walter E. Goodwin.

All these have furnished the required references which will be given to any member upon request.

All members who desire to be placed on circuits should write to Mr. Mozian at once. He writes me that he has now only four circuits and can use a good many more books. If you have any duplicates to dispose of, just write him for books and set them agoing in our Sales Dept.

PERERA, NEGOMBO, CEYLON.

In the issue of April 8 appeared an adlet over the above name and address, and a complaint has been entered against this party by W. L. Morse of Syracuse, N. Y. We have taken the matter up with Perera and until settlement has been effected would advise our readers not to engage in any exchange relations. We find it impossible to require and investigate references in connection with the insertion of adlets and our readers must take every precaution to protect themselves when answering these advertisements.

U. S. MAIL FROM CANADA CENSORED.

Herman W. Boers and other subscribers have favored us with newspaper clippings and covers showing the censorship of mail which has been established between Canada and the United States. Protests will no doubt be lodged with the Department at Washington by the business men of border cities but it will prove of little avail. The purpose of the censorship is believed to be due to the desire of the Canadian Government to hold up treasonable matter.

WITH THE NEW PHILATELIST.

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 2729 Hampden Court, Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

THAT BIG CHICAGO BANQUET.

Everyone is talking about the banquet. Saturday evening, April 8th, the C. P. S. held its annual banquet at the Palmer House. As is usual at C. P. S. banquets, everyone had a splendid time and is looking forward to the next one. While some of the previous banquets have been noisier, and bigger, none has been as informal as this one.

Messrs. Baldwin, Bloss, Boehm, Edmunds, Dodd, Gilley, Jacobs, Lauritzen, Lauer, Lindquist, E. Michael, F. Michael, McDonald, Severn and Schmidt were present to represent the Society, while Messrs. Norcross, Sensow, Parmelee, and Stark were present as guests. Messrs. Parmelee and Stark made the trip from Omaha for the purpose of attending the banquet and furthering their acquaintance with Chicago collectors, while Mr. Sensow came from La-Porte, Indiana. Oh, yes, and Mr. Dodd came from La Grange, Illinois, for the same purpose.

The Palmer House certainly exerted itself to excel the banquet of last year, for the menu was splendid.

After all had satisfied the cravings of the inner man, (or had buried him with food, as Baldy said) it was quite in order to listen to the usual flow of after dinner speeches.

Mr. Severn, acting as toast-master, introduced Mr. Jacobs, who in turn introduced Mr. Severn, and each introduced the other for several minutes, until all felt well acquainted.

Mr. Parmelee, being an old friend of many of the members, took the opportunity of recalling old times, and told of some very amusing incidents. Mr. Stark also provided several anecdotes well worth hearing. Mr. Schmidt went back twenty years or so and told us of an experience he had as a boy, when a very large lot of Mexican and Spanish-American stamps were presented to him, through the courtesy of a relative connected with the Mexican Government. Mr. Jacobs also told of his boyhood experiences in philately. Mr. McDonald related some very interesting incidents, philatelic and otherwise, mostly otherwise, which occurred on some of his travels in Central America and the West Indies in recent years. As is customary at philatelic meetings and banquets, very little was said about stamps.

Last but not least, the celebrated monologist of the Corn Beef and Quincy R. R., Mr. Edward C. Dodd, alias Prince Edward Island, held an imaginary conversation with one Finnegan, wherein various philatelic items were cussed and philatelists discussed, or vice versa, from Greasy Dick to the loophounds which infest the stores of our local dealers. As most everyone is familiar with the possibilities in a talk by Mr. Dodd, little more need be said than that he was at his best and succeeded in making everyone happy.

It is to be regretted that so many of the "old guard" were missing this year.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

C. W. W.—Lack of time has forced me to delay all work in connection with this paper. No, I don't know anything about tobacco stamps, as they don't interest me. Probably some of the revenue collectors could help you out. The covers you illustrate are decidedly worth saving, even though they do not bear stamps. The various marks thereon are of interest to specialists in U. S. stamps, and while they do not bring a very good price, are nevertheless interesting and should sell readily if you care to dispose of them. Next time I'll answer quicker.

J. R., Maywood—I have referred your request to the Auction Manager of the C. P. S.

E. P. M.—Plating means putting stamps together in the same order as they are printed from the plate, or reconstructing the sheet, in other words. The various minor differences on some stamps make this possible. Few stamps can be plated.

The three types of the 2c 1894 differ in the triangles in the upper corners. The illustrations in the catalogue explain this difference very fully. In Type I the lines run across the triangle; in Type II they are thinner in the triangle; in Type III the lines do not cross the double lines forming the triangle.

Caps are found only on the 2c, 1890. I have never seen or heard of them on the 2c, 1894.

Most of the hand-books, such as the Goodwin series give information you want on U. S. stamps. Much of this information is not available in book form, but is to be found in various articles.

MR. WOLSIEFFER'S QUARTERLY REPORT.

We have received some advance information about Mr. Wolsieffer's Report of the Sales Department of the American Philatelic Society, which will appear in full in the next number of the American Philatelist.

He reports for the second time this year that he has retired more books than received and also paid out more money to members than was received for sales during the same period.

He shows 378 books valued at $8,050.91 retired and but 312 new books valued at $6,849.27 received. He paid out on the books retired $2,602.66 and received for sales during the same period $1785.45.

Mr. Wolsieffer suggests as a possible reason for this increase in retirements over the new books received is the slow movements of the Circuits during the past year and a half. Many of the books retired were old books and had been in the Department longer than usual because of the slow movements of the Circuits.

The members at the present time are more active and the sales are improving to such an extent that it became necessary to retire the older books and make room for the new ones that are constantly coming in.

While the business of the Sales Department is not up to previous years before the war, yet it is far better than it has been and is improving. All new members of the Society are written to by Mr. Wolsieffer, inviting them to participate in the Department which is one of the principal benefits and should be taken advantage of by all members, either as buyers or sellers or both.

The Sales Department is badly in need of good books of United States stamps, particularly the older issues before 1870. There is also a good demand for 19th Century Europeans, particularly early is-

THE W. P. S. APRIL MEETING.

Thanks to S. E. Colman we have a detailed report of the last meeting of the Washington Philatelic Society and regret that we are unable to insert it in its entirety. 18 members were present. The announcement was made that permanent headquarters had been secured for the joint use of the S. P. A. Branch and the W. P. S. and a house committee was appointed.

R. D. Cox, L. T. Boynton and Kolbe Curtice were elected members. H. B. Mason was elected treasurer in place of Mr. Wysong resigned, and W. P. Colman was elected exchange superintendent.

The new treasurer reported that $126.01 had been turned over to him by the former treasurer. W. P. Colman was appointed to secure subscriptions for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY. I. B. Robinson entertained the members with a talk on the "War Stamps of Canada" and was given a rising vote of thanks. At the next meeting Mr. Lantz will continue a lecture commenced at a recent meeting on "Comparisons Between Used and Unused Stamps." An auction sale closed the meeting.

COVER DESIGNS WANTED.

Our subscribers have shown in a tangible manner that they are fond of contests of most any kind. Here is one that will appeal to those of an artistic temperament. We want some cover designs for some of the handbooks we shall issue in coming months.

We want three designs and will pay $5 for the accepted designs in the three divisions as follows:—

- (1) Design for the Canada book by Mr. Poole now running in the WEEKLY.
 - (2) Design for a stock plate that will be suitable for any British Colony.
 - (3) Design for a stock plate that can be used in connection with U. S. stamps.
- In regard to the latter division we may add that we expect to run articles dealing with special perforations, regular revenues (including Match and Medicine) as well as articles dealing with the stamps of Canal Zone and Porto Rico.

This competition will close May 6 and those who wish can compete in all three classes. The drawings if larger than 6x9½ must be made in accordance with this proportion for necessary reduction. There is absolutely no re-

By GLADSTONE PERRY.

(We are greatly obliged to several readers who have sent us press clippings, etc., dealing with the Canada War Tax issues. We have not made use of these in this article, but shall no doubt do so in a further contribution along the lines of the article by Mr. Perry.—Ed.)

The readers of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS will no doubt be interested in an up-to-date check list of Canadian War Tax Stamps, both postage and revenue. These issues, on account of their variety and historical interest should prove an interesting side line to many collectors who do not ordinarily collect Canadian revenue stamps; add to this the fact that several of the stamps are just a little bit hard to get, and we have a combination attractive to many.

At the fifth session of the present Canadian Parliament, in February, 1915, Finance Minister White introduced Bill No. 76, "The Special War Revenue Act," to "supplement the revenue required to meet War Expenditure." This was passed Mar. 27, 1915, and the section which concerns collectors, "Part 3" treats of "Stamp Duties on Cheques and certain other Instruments", "Stamp Duties on Money Orders, Letters and Postcards", and "Stamp Duties on Articles in bottles and packages." With one exception these duties were to commence April 15th, 1915.

In brief the sections of interest to stamp collectors state as follows:

"No one may issue a cheque without affixing an adhesive stamp of two cents value and such stamp must be cancelled by the bank paying it.

No one may transfer a note or bill of exchange to a bank without affixing a two cent stamp, which must be cancelled by the bank at the time of delivery.

Express companies must affix a two cent stamp to express orders and traveller's cheques, cancelling same when issued.

Post Office Money Orders must bear a two cent tax.

Postal Notes must bear a one cent tax.

Every letter and post card posted in Canada shall bear one cent War Tax.

Every person selling to a consumer, importing for his own use, or manufacturing for his own use, any bottle or package containing: a proprietary or patent medicine; perfumery; wine of the grape, non-sparkling, or champagne or sparkling wine, shall, at or before the time of sale, etc., etc., affix to said bottle or package an adhesive stamp of the requisite value as mentioned in the schedule and cancel the same at the time of affixing.

Postage stamps of the requisite value may, in lieu of stamps prepared under sub-section one of this section, be used."

Under this Act, both the Inland Revenue and Post Office Departments have issued stamps and I will take these up in detail, revenues first.

INLAND REVENUE.

On Feb. 12th, 1915, the tax on wines came into effect, with the reading of the Bill in the House of Commons, and as stamps to represent this had to be prepared in a hurry, the Inland Revenue Department requisitioned a small supply of postage stamps of the 5c, 20c, and 50c values, and surcharged them diagonally in black and red, "WAR TAX."

The values required were 5c, 25c and 50c, but as no 25c postage stamp existed, the twenty was used with a five, the fives were used on quarts on non-sparkling wines, and in combination with the twenties, on pints of champagne, while the 50c were used on wines in casks, etc. After a small quantity of these had been surcharged and sent out it was noticed that the stamps still read, "Canada Postage" and the surcharge was immediately changed.

Of the first issue the 5c unused is very scarce, practically all the stock issued was required on the first day of issue for actual use and was cancelled and stuck on bottles. The issue was so unexpected that hardly any collectors were aware of the fact until the second issue had been supplied. There was a wild scramble later on when the facts became known but practically no stamps were to be had in the 5c value, as the first supplies were inadequate, and later on all remainders of first and second issue provisionals were recalled to Ottawa for destruction. To a greater or less extent all the stamps of these provisional issues will be scarce. First Provisional Issue. "War Tax" on Postage,

Feb. 12, '15.

5c blue, black surcharge.
50c black brown, red surcharge.

BUT as every poorly centered stamp or block of ever so rare a "shade" detracts from the appearance and value of your collection, You should spare no pains to put only such stamps in your album as are at least "collectible". Mr. Envelope Collector now is your chance to fill up the vacant spaces you have been looking at so long.

I recently purchased Mr. Geo. L. Toppan's collection, which was practically complete according to Scott's 1916 catalogue. Most of the envelopes are complete corners with tremendous margins, and unused. Send me your Want List. Prices range from 50% to 75% of catalogue according to the rarity of the envelopes.

H. F. COLMAN,

SECOND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

The second printing, immediately following the first, was issued the next day and read "Inland Revenue, War Tax" in four lines, diagonally:

Second Provisional Issue. "Inland Revenue. War Tax," on Postage,

Feb. 13, '15.

5c blue, black surcharge.
20c olive, black surcharge.
50c black brown, red surcharge.

Variety.

5c with hair lines in stamp.

The so-called "permanent" issue was in course of preparation and values were issued in April. This was a very beautiful design, having the portrait of King George on an oblong stamp, surmounted by the words, CANADA Inland Revenue, with WAR TAX, and value at bottom.

Regular Issue.

April, 1915.

1c orange. 10c bronze green.
2c brown. 13c vermilion.
3c green. 25c carmine.
5c sage. 50c brown.

Variety.

2c light brown.

On non-sparkling wines the tax was first put at 5c per quart or fraction, the same applied to pints or fractions of champagne at 25c, later a rate was struck for half quarts and half pints, at 3c and 13c, respectively.

The permanent issue is printed in sheets of 400, divided as are the postage stamps into panes of 100, leaving two straight edges to each pane of 100. The 2c values are also issued in coil form.

Regular Issue. Perf. 8 x Imperf. Coil Form.

2c light brown.
2c dark brown.

Stamps in book form were issued February, 1916, for the convenience of people who wished to carry the low values in pocketbook, etc.

Regular Issue. Book Form.

1c orange.
Book of 24 @ 25c, orange imprint on cover.
Book of 48 @ 50c, green imprint on cover.

2c brown.
Book of 12 @ 25c, brown imprint on cover.
Book of 24 @ 50c, blue imprint on cover.
Book of 48 @ $1.00, red imprint on cover.

These are in pages of six stamps, two rows of three, and binding strip.

In June, 1915, a set of stamps in ribbon form was prepared. These stamps measure $\frac{3}{4}$ " x $\frac{7}{16}$ " engraved in black, no gum, having head of King George in circle at one end, value in figures at the other, the centre space being filled with lathe work and the words, "Canada, Inland Revenue," and value in words and figures. These are intended to go over the necks of bottles, etc., and to be destroyed by opening same.

These are printed in sheets the width of the stamp, bearing plate number at top and having stamps separated by rouletting.

A circular of the Inland Revenue Department reads in part as follows:

"Bankers wishing to use cheques stamped by means of a die, will supply the Inland Revenue Department at Ottawa with blank cheques in sheets, not in books. The Department will have the die embossed on the cheques, charging the cost of the work necessary therefore plus the cost of the stamps. Embossed stamps need not be cancelled."

The embossed stamp is rather scarce as very few concerns have so far taken advantage of the scheme. The stamp is in the form of an oval, white embossed letters on a red ground, lettered at the top, "Canada," over a crown, surmounting the words "Inland Revenue, War Tax," over a beaver. Underneath this again, the value, "Two Cents" and a spray of maple leaves.

2c red.

Under this Act, postage stamps of the requisite value may be used in lieu of revenue stamps, therefore a collection of them would be incomplete without at least the following specimens with a bank, express company, or drug store cancellation:

Postage Used as Revenue.

1c King George, postage.
2c King George, postage.
1c King George, postage war tax.
2c King George, postage war tax.

POSTAGE STAMPS.

In April, 1915, the Post Office Department issued the well-known Postage War Tax stamps, primarily intended to pay war tax on letters and post cards, and Postal Notes and Money Orders, though they are used indiscriminately for Postage, War Tax, Bank Cheques, Express Orders, Drugs, Etc. I have seen hundreds of covers prepaid with all War Tax, 1c War Tax and 2c Postage, or 2c War Tax and 1c Postage.

In connection with this issue I append the following letter:

Post Office Department, Canada.
Ottawa, 22nd April, 1915.

Dear Sir:—

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your favor of the 19th inst. on the subject of War Tax Stamps.

In so far as the Post Office Department is concerned the War Tax Stamps have only been issued in two denominations, namely—the one cent and two cent.

The Two Cent War Tax stamp may be used on money orders, cheques, notes, and wherever else the tax of that amount is applicable.

I would also add that ordinary postage stamps may also be used to pay the War Tax and that the Post Office War Tax Stamps are available for postage purposes.

Very sincerely yours,

E. J. LEMAIN, Superintendent,
Postage Stamp Branch.

For the first day there was some uncertainty as to whether or not the permanent issue of Inland Revenue Stamps would be accepted to pay Postage War Tax or not, one of the Toronto dailies in fact, stated:

"These stamps are primarily intended for cheques, drafts, etc., but can also be used for War Tax on letters, although not for postage. It is the intention of the department to have the large commercial houses, banks, etc., use these stamps for the letter war tax." In consequence a few of the Inland Revenue, 1c orange, were used on the 15th April, 1915, together with a postage stamp to pay letter War Tax. I have one such in my collection, sent from a Brantford bank. On the succeeding day, all so stamped were returned or sent to the Dead Letter Office, and the Post Office Department announced that they would not be accepted.

Revenue Used as Postage.

1c orange, used 15th Apl. '15, with postage stamp.

In response to many inquiries and suggestions, in one of which the French Red Cross stamps were submitted as a similar case, the Department issued in January, 1916, a 3c stamp, combining Postage and War Tax. These have been coming in several shades, due no doubt to the scarcity of inks, owing to the war.

Postage Plus War Tax. 3c, 1Tc, in white outline caps, on 2c.
2c plus 1c, carmine, Perf. 12.
2c plus 1c, carmine, Perf. imperf. x 8.
Coil stamp.

The stamp in booklet form is under consideration.

This issue was accompanied by a circular stating the reason for the new issue, the demand for one stamp for domestic letters instead of two, and also stating that ordinary postage stamps or War Tax Postage Stamps could still be accepted for either Postage or War Tax.

The same circular warned postmasters not to accept any of the Inland Revenue Issues for prepayment of letters or War Tax.

TWO BRATTLEBORO AT AUCTION.

Two postage stamps were sold at auction, April 10, in the rooms of the Collectors' Club, 30 East Forty-Second Street, for $1,730. Both had been issued by the postmaster of Brattleboro, Vt., in 1846, one year before the United States Government made its first postal issue. The stamps are of exceeding rarity, and their value was enhanced by the fact that they were both canceled and on the original envelopes. The canceled copies of these early Postmasters' issues are much rarer than the unused copies.

They were sold separately. The first brought $890 and the second $840. The prices were the highest that had been paid for a postage stamp this season at public sale, and the highest that a Brattleboro stamp ever brought at auction, the last copy bringing $710.

The stamps were sold by J. C. Mor-genthau & Co. They were on envelopes that had contained letters sent in September, 1846, to the late Judge L. B.
Woodruff, a lawyer of this city. On his death, several years ago, they were discovered by his son in the office safe, and again stowed away and forgotten until the latter's son, a short time ago, in overhauling the old papers, found them.
and sent them to Mr. Morgenthau for sale. Both stamps were in prime condi-

PRECANCEL NOTES.

By LEWIS E. HOOD.

An interesting feature of this philatelic side line is the usual scarcity of issues from nearby cities in collections.
How many precancel collectors in Eastern Mass. have complete sets from Hyde Park, Salem or Gloucester?

"Lynn, Mass." has been a prolific user of precancels of all values but only the lower values are common while many of the higher are very scarce.

"Portland, Me." is scarcer here than is "Portland, Oregon." "Tacoma, Wash." is fairly common, but where are any but the lower values of "Worcester, Mass"?
Very complete collections of "San Francisco, Cal." are seen, but no complete "Northampton, Mass." (and this is one of the most varied and interesting sets).
I wonder if this same condition is not true elsewhere.

Beverly, Mass., is at last on the pre-cancel map. Last December, the post office issued precancels of all values of the regular issue up to 10c. Also the 15, 20, and 25c parcel post and the 1, 2, 3 and 5c postage dues, in regulation type. All values are found normal and the 1, 2, 4, 5, 7 and 10c inverted.

The 7 and 9c regular and 15c parcel post were also issued reading up and the 10c reading down—specimens of these are exceedingly rare.

Salem, Mass., has issued all values up to 30c in regular type using small capital letters. A few weeks ago I secured part of a cover used by a large mail order house mailed with a strip of three 10c regular type and a pair of 3c precanceled in very large capital letters, reading up, and with the "A" in "Mass." omitted on both stamps. It is a very interesting pair.

Recently in looking over a lot of old
"Chicago, Ill." precancels I found a 5c, 1902, issue with bars and "Illinois" normal, but with "Chicago" in a semi-circle not unlike the well-known "Cincinnati."

A local collector has a curious "Boston Mass." 1c, 1902, cancelled with lines forming small squares, the horizontal lines being some heavier than the vertical.

Precancel collectors are greatly handicapped from lack of a catalogue. It is to be hoped that this will be remedied at no distant day.

EDITORIAL.

Statement—At intervals, we receive from readers, proposals that we start subscription lists designed to appeal to our subscribers for the collection of funds for relief work on account of the war. While we applaud the intentions of those who make the requests, we feel that we may dutifully decline to act upon them. It is needless for us to say that our course is not shaped by any lack of sympathy for the cause but on account of our opinion that collectors may do fuller and more direct good by patronizing the funds under expert administration that are always open for contributions. Having had a bit of practical experience in collecting money for relief work of the kind, we feel that our position is taken advisedly. It is known that stamp collectors have contributed generously to the relief funds and it is certain that they will continue to do so.

Babu—The following example of Babu composition is submitted by a stamp dealer as having come from a correspondent in the Philippines. The writer certainly deserves the price-list: "In favoritism, I suggest to your attention that please send me without obligation on my part. Cordially, Sir, I suggest to the eternal of your heart that please send me small book, that small book we call in Latin 'Libretum' or in Spanish 'Libreto'. . . . This book is for the pocket. Send me very soon as possible, Thank before hand."

Trifling—"I write to convey the soul-stirring information that at the Palace Theatre, Chicago, Adele Rowland is assisted in her act by 'Dave Stamper at the Piano.' Is business slow enough to warrant you to make a feature out of this bit of bijouterie?" asks a discerning reader. We are pleased to meet Mr. Stamper who heretofore has existed only in the minds of the philatelic humorist. "Stamps" is (or was) a race-horse, a minister of the gospel, a town in Arkansas; and "Stampalia" is an ocean steamer. We think that Mr. Stamper is entitled to a place in this list of distinguished philatelists.

PRICE ON APPLICATION.

EUGENE KLEIN, 1318 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Warning—From Ewen's Weekly Stamp News, we take a warning that an offering of the current Falkland Islands stamps surcharged South Georgia has been made both in London and Paris; and that undoubtedly the overprint is a bogus one as it has not been authorized officially. This overprint was made, in view of this disclaimer, for a raid on the purses of collectors and the issue is placed in the class of the German South West Africa overprinted G. R. I. Aside from the specific value of this information, it points a moral that collectors should closely scrutinize bargains in war provisionals that are not offered by reputable persons.

Miscanceled—In sending a thirteen cent of the 1902 issue, U. S., Mr. Julien Coblenz, Astoria, Oregon, says: "Ever since I have had this stamp I have tried to have some one decipher for me the surcharged cancellation on it, without avail. It may be of some interest to you to see a stamp such as this one." This precanceled stamp is an exceptional one as it does not have the attribute of precanceled stamps generally or a clear indication of the office of origin. From close examination of the jumbled inscription, we conclude that "Chicago, Illinois" is the precancellation, in the form of a slip print or double print.

Sundry—Canada is employing a censorship on mails addressed to this country. We have seen the label "Censored" on letters and the stamped censor impression on unsealed mail. The parcel post service between the Netherlands and the United States has been suspended, "existing conditions being such that the parcel post service with the Netherlands can not be conducted as provided by the parcel-post convention." The Mexican stamps with the new surcharge that we illustrated last week are coming in the mails but it is apparent that the use of this surcharge is not confined to "obsolete" issues.

Patience—Almost a year ago, Mr. C. G. Gardner of Jackson, Michigan, submitted for inspection a two cent brown, 1883, showing "cap" on the right side of the numeral 2. At the time, we wrote when returning the stamp to Mr. Jackson: "The variation is an interesting one, but we are of the opinion that the marking is not the result of a defect in the plate as in the case of the capped two cent of the 1890 issue. A dry paper print or a 'blister' of color could account for the variety. Should another variety of the kind be found, we could proceed on the assumption that your discovery was a 'real' variety." Under date of April 17th, 1916, Mr. Gardner addresses us: "I have finally found another variety of the same kind and am enclosing it for your inspection and I should be pleased if you will again favor me with an opinion after viewing the two copies." We are impressed with the perseverance and enterprise of our correspondent in not resting content until he brought to bear contributory evidence on his discovery. We dismiss coincidence as having accounted for two specimens with the "abutment" at the right of the 2 on our theories as first given and say that Mr. Gardner has found a genuine variety whose permanence he has established. This cap was created by conditions approximately that brought forth the caps of the two cent, 1890, no doubt.

Instructed—Under date of April 20, 1916, the department at Washington issued the order: "Reports received by the Department indicate that many postmasters when returning mail to the sender fail to deface the precanceled postage stamps affixed thereto, as required by Article 38, page 52, July, 1915, Postal Guide. Postmasters are, therefore, requested to read this article carefully and comply strictly therewith."

Cervantes—The Spanish stamp papers are giving space to descriptions of the forthcoming issue to memorialize the death of Cervantes Saavedra, who died April 23, 1616, the same day on which Shakespeare passed away. In 1905, the Don Quixote set appeared to commemorate the 300th anniversary of the publication of the first part of Don Quixote and in consequence philately was enriched by a series of scenes based on incidents described in the first book that for humorous piquancy are unique in our pursuit. There will be twelve values in the new set and the two centimos will have Cervantes' portrait after Jauregui and, to go to the other extreme, the ten pesetas will depict "The court of the governor of Barataria" where Sancho Panza is the chief ornament. Only the sternest mind will disapprove this exaltation of Cervantes, who, it is needless to say, belongs to the world and who it is said is one of its five indispensable authors.

Financial—A collector tells us: "We stamp collectors consort with kings who are familiar to us through their association with stamps but lately I have been hobnobbing with a money king. Anyway, I have the civil war revenue issue, one dollar inland exchange, perforated, with the neat rubber-stamp cancellation, 'Rockefeller & Andrews, Cleveland, Ohio, —, 1866.'" Here is a chance for our friend to send John D. a memento of his early days when life, we assume, had a broad horizon, as we believe "Rockefeller & Andrews" was the beginning of his commercial career.

Want Lists and Fine Selections

Send in your want list by Scott's numbers and ask for selections on approval. U. S. and Foreign. AMERICAN STAMP CO., 1242 S. 1st, Evansville, Indiana. [14]

In fact if enterprise was to have full play, the sender could warm to his work and fabricate a most moving tale. He could tell how, while once prosperous, he was reduced to direst necessity, through no fault of his own until the stamp in question was his sole earthly possession; and that to him it was priceless because of the almost sacred name that it bore. Convulsed with grief he now yielded the cherished stamp to the great and good man because a sight of it might carry Mr. Rockefeller to the errand days, in the manner of speaking, of young manhood. Of course, this skeleton could be embellished ad lib., according to the imagination of the sender and then the correspondent could expectantly await an answer to see whether he had struck oil.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Last week, we illustrated the most recent surcharge used in the wilds of Mexico. We are indebted to A. W. Foster for a specimen of the 5c orange with the surcharge as illustrated in blue. In the specimen submitted it is printed vertically. Mr. Foster writes that he has seen the 10c value with the same surcharge in red, on the $ overprint.

—H. B. Mason submits an English circular which is very interesting reading, but lacks any kind of information as to the name and address of the sender.

—Herman W. Boers, duplicating a kindness of 1912, sends us some Feb. 29, 1916, postmarks and indicates a possibility of their scarceness some time in the future. He thinks it possible that by 1920 there may be a "new issue."

—To anyone interested in war covers we can especially recommend a price-list just at hand from W. T. Wilson of Birmingham, England. The advertisements of Mr. Wilson in the WEEKLY in the months gone by have reflected his activity in this direction, and the list is a very interesting one.

—The Foye Stamp Co., answering a query in these columns states that R. L. Newton is without doubt at 1928 Swift St., Jacksonville, Fla., although he is very slow at answering communications. The company states that a registered letter secured the desired information, though the results were no more satisfactory than negotiations conducted by ordinary mail. The Foye Co. would like information as to the whereabouts of Wm. Schwem, who has done business under the firm name of the Schwem Stamp Co., 1532 E. Marquette Rd., Chicago, Ill.

—At the last meeting of the Rhode Island Philatelic Society H. P. Young and A. Silveira were elected members. Warren H. Colson exhibited his collection of Confederate locals together with a fine collection of standard rarities.

—We have been favored with specimens of the literature sent out by the Winnipeg Stamp Club exploiting stamp collecting. The specimens submitted by O. Kendall are of considerable merit and Mr. Kendall advises us that the publicity campaign is meeting with success.

—The U. S. Consul at Hamilton, Bermuda, in current "Commerce Reports" gives some statistics in connection with the report of the Colonial Postmaster of Bermuda. We are indebted to D. D. Berolzheimer for extracts.

—The autograph collection of the late Howard K. Sanderson of Lynn, Mass., will be sold at the Anderson Galleries, N. Y. City, next week. Mr. Sanderson was noted not only as a collector and dealer in rare postage stamps, but also American autographs particularly of the Revolutionary period. He had a complete set of the signers of the Declaration of Independence with the exception of Button Gwinnett of Georgia, a very great rarity. In the Sanderson collection are letters by the governors of Massachusetts from the earliest times and no fewer than seventeen autograph letters of George Washington. It would take a couple columns of the WEEKLY to even mention the list of gems in this collection, including as it does documents by Ethan Allen, Thos. Jefferson, the Adamases, Hamilton, Paul Jones, etc.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from R. H. Perry, Mrs. G. V. Bowen

—Supplementing the news gleanings relating to the surcharge on the Mexican stamps illustrated last week, Wm. E. Dowser shows us a copy of the 10c stamp therein referred to and states that the 5c and 10c as described are the only ones he has yet seen.

COMMUNICATIONS.

(We do not hold ourselves responsible for the views expressed by our readers. Our columns are always open for communications of general interest.—Ed.)

N. Y. CITY, April 19, 1916.

To the Editor:

You will notice that in a recent number of MEKEEL'S we ran a two column ad explaining our new issue U. S. service. Since that time our black face ad on the front page has continued the subject.

If it is not inconsistent with your rules I would like to explain to the readers of the WEEKLY that this service is one that attempts to supply serious collectors with all the various and in some cases extraordinary shades and varieties that this government is turning out. It is not so much the profit we care about, it is the attempt to satisfy and intensify, the interest in modern U. S. At this writing, April 17, we have 108 box holders—a striking tribute to the general interest in U. S. all over the country—we have box holders in Cuba, Porto Rico, Hawaii, Guatemala, etc. Considering that at the present moment in the perf. 10 or current issue we have no less than five shades of the 12c and seven shades of the 3c and over twelve shades of the 2c it is indeed time to nail these varieties whilst the nailing is good. If you consider this letter an advertisement destroy it—if you consider it of sufficient general interest to print—print it.

STANLEY GIBBONS, Inc.,

E. B. POWER, Mgr.

To the Editor:—

In order to be more specific in my statement in regard to my experience in using carbon tetrachloride, I wish to add the following:

The stamps which were subjected to the treatment were Bermuda, Nos. 16, 17 and 18; U. S. unused Nos. 273, 339, 344 and 345; and Philippine Islands, Nos. 242, 243, 245, 256, 258 and a pair of 261. No great financial loss was the result, to be sure, but how am I to know that a rare stamp might not also be spoiled by this treatment? The stamps all showed streaks and spots as a result of the liquid. I later experimented with the current 2c U. S. and was able to produce several shades all in the original gum, so if I didn't know how the colors were changed I could easily have been fooled into calling them different printings.

The carbon tetrachloride I used was put out by the Mallinckrodt Chemical Works of St. Louis and New York City.

I am not a chemistry student and so don't attempt to give the chemical reasons for the results. I was merely concerned with the results alone. If Mr. Thorn Smith can tell me what the trouble is, I shall be very thankful to him.

Sincerely yours,

L. L. STEIMLEY,

Dept. of Mathematics, Univ. of Kansas.
 LAWRENCE, April 7, 1916.

BANDHOLTZ NAMED FOR PLATTSBURG.

Major H. H. Bandholtz has been appointed to command the summer instruction camp at Plattsburg, N. Y. Major Bandholtz was graduated from West Point and has received merited distinction for service in the Philippines. He was successful as a pacifier of Philippine tribesmen, and was the only regular army officer ever elected governor of a Philippine province by popular vote. In 1912 he served in that capacity in Tayabas.

The name of Major Bandholtz is a familiar one to philatelists and his many friends will rejoice in this additional honor that has been bestowed upon him.

NEW MEXICANS—BOSNIA CHARITY—BRAZIL COMMEMORATIVE.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—The following new issues and discoveries of U. S. envelopes are reported by J. M. Bartels:

B.No.	Denom.	Die.	Type.	Size.	Paper.	Wmk.	Kn.
2133A	5c	A	3	white	15	80
2506D	2c	D	v.5	4	white	18	84
2514A	5c	A	3	white	18	80
2714	5c	B	5	white	18	87

H. C. Biggers has shown us two freak perforations on current United States stamps. These are the 3c (no red back) perforated 12 at top and 10 at sides and bottom, and the 10c perforated 10 at top and left and 10 at right and bottom.

CANADA.—Forest A. Black sends us a couple of censored envelopes from Canada the first we have seen. One has the censor's label and number and the other simply the label, and a label in different type. Recent mail has disclosed a number of these censored envelopes, but in this particular case none are dated earlier than April 10, showing that the censoring of mail out of Canada is something new. This war has been prolific of varieties censored covers, and many collectors are taking up their collecting as an appropriate side line to go with Red Cross and other war covers.

D. C. Alexander also sends us information regarding the censored mail which has been recently coming through from Canada.

CANAL ZONE.—In enclosing a specimen of the new surcharged postage dues, red with a tall numeral in the centre, L. D. Van Valkenburgh writes that there is a rumor current among the Postoffice officials in the Zone that in the near future the Canal Zone will use a new issue of stamps, altogether doing away with the Panama surcharge. Mr. Van Valkenburgh reports having seen the three postage due stamps of 1915 overprinted in red, but without the central numeral. This makes three distinct issues, if it could ever be proved that the last above were really used.

EGYPT.—The current official stamps of Egypt have appeared with a new type of overprint, the native characters being more like those on the issue of 1907, though the last character is neither a hook like the first issue, nor a straight line like the central issue, but has a crosspiece just below the top, making it appear like a sword. The second character is like the first issue, and like that projects under the first character, instead of being separated from it.

ITALY.—Offices in Tripoli.—Stamps for the Italian offices in Tripoli have now been provided by the Italian postal authorities. The Stamp Lover lists five regular postage, two Red Cross, two express letter, eight parcel post, eleven postage due and three official stamps, all overprinted "Libia."

JAMAICA.—Holloway & James have shown us a "war stamp" from Jamaica, the 3d King George stamp having been overprinted "War Stamp" in nonpareil Roman caps across the centre of the stamp—to speak exactly, right across the King's nose.

MEXICO.—Hermann Focke has shown us two covers from Mexico city, each with strips of three stamps, with the new overprint, as illustrated in No. 1321. The stamps used are in one case the 10c of the 1910 series, without other overprint, and in the other case the same stamp with black "Gobierno—$—Constitucionalista", Scott's No. 406. Mr. Focke thinks the letters in the ornamental frame mean "Gobierno Provisional de Mexico", replacing the "Constitucionalista" and "Convencionalista" of the days gone by. All the 10c stamps have the overprint in red reading up at the left.

The George W. Linn Co. has shown us the 5c of the 1910 series, with the new overprint in blue reading down at the right. There is no other overprint. Mr. Linn also shows an unused copy of Scott's No. 406, with the new overprint. The overprinted stamps were found on letters from Mexico dated as early as April 8, 1916.

SERBIA.—We are informed by Otto Weismann that Bosnia stamps surcharged "Serbien" have appeared. The values surcharged are those ranging from 1 heller to 10 krone, and the stamps are issued by the Austro-Hungarian postal authorities.

DAMAGED STAMPS!

United States or Foreign as you wish; $1.00 catalogue value for 12c; nothing catalogued at less than 5c; larger lots at the same rate, but with a somewhat larger proportion of high values. These stamps are in various stages of dilapidation, some having only small tears, others being heavily cancelled or perforations clipped, or damaged in various ways. Name of country and value always plainly to be seen. For those who fancy this stuff for space fillers, or who are looking for material for repairing, this is a rare opportunity.

Are you interested in books of good stamps catalogued 1c, 2c and 3c each. References required from those unknown to us.

THE 12c TRANSFERS.

By FRANK C. CLARK.

I wish to state that I have examined the upper right 100 stamps of the 12c plate No. 6913 and also No. 6900, perf. 10, with the following results:

No. 6913—Beginning from the left and numbering top row one to ten, etc., I find No. 46 shows slight double line under bust frame line. Nos. 51, 72, 73 shows slight double line. Also Nos. 90, 58, 68, 78 show clear examples of double lines. Nos. 69, 74, 87, 97, 98 show fairly clear the double lines.

No. 6900—Nos. 7, 8, fair. 15, 18, fine, 19 fair. 21, 22 fair, 26 fine. 32 faint, 34 fair, 38 fine. 42 fine, 46 faint, 58 fair, 66 fine, 88 fair, 91 fine, 93 faint. I thought this might be of interest to others, even as I have been interested in the lower right and left quarters of the sheet.

The doubling of the lines is chiefly noticed in the lines of the coat, and the bottom straight line, separating the coat from the white horizontal line above the label containing the word "Cents."

The Boston Philatelic Society.

E. M. CARPENTER, Pres.; A. P. BROWN, Vice Pres.; F. W. STILES, 310 Warren St., Roxbury, Mass., Sec.; OSCAR HILL, 60 State St., Boston, Mass., Foreign Sec.; G. CARLETON RUSSELL, 38 Wellesley Park, Dorchester, Mass., Treas.; A. M. Wright, Supt. Auctions; C. W. TUTTLE, Supt. Sales and Bourse.

Meetings first (informal) and third (regular) Tuesdays, Room 322 Tremont Bldg., 8.15 P.M.

April 18, 1916.

The 356th (regular) meeting of the Society was called to order by Pres. Carpenter at 8.30 p. m. this evening. The usual reports were read and approved. The Supt. of Bourse reported that some of the members are careless and do not write their names in the spaces from which they have removed stamps. It was, therefore, voted that in the future, each member shall hand to the Supt. a slip signed by the member with the amount of the stamps taken by him.

The contest for the medal was won by Mr. A. P. Brown, his exhibit being Southern Nigeria. Second and third prizes (ribbons) were respectively won by Mr. Frank C. Cosby, who also exhibited Southern Nigeria, and by Pres. Carpenter with Portuguese Congo. The meeting adjourned at 10.30 p. m.

The President urges all who are not already members of the A. P. S. to join this society, and states that he will gladly sign the application of any member of the Boston Society who desires to join the National organization.

Don't forget the auctions at the Informal meetings!

The N. Y. Stamp Society met April, 20. After regular meeting was disposed of, an auction sale took place, Mr Bartels donating stamps and Mr. Moye donating hand books which were sold to good advantage. Mr. Meininger winning the free drawing. Mr. Gray of Detroit was there and showed us some very interesting war cards from the front, such as post cards (military), prisoners, hospital, also the various charity and red cross issues and censor marks which ought to make a very nice showing in a collection. Twelve members were present. Next meeting May, 4, 1916.

STAMPS ON APPROVAL

If you ever purchased stamps from approval selections and have never bought of our firm this way, why not give us a trial.

We are sending out a high grade of stamps at from 60% to 66 2/3% discount which a great many other dealers are sending out at from 25% to 50%. A little saving of this kind ought not to be uninteresting to you. If you have no account with us, please furnish us with a business or bank reference.

APPROVAL SHEETS

We shall reduce our stock of cheaper grade APPROVAL SHEETS and will allow all the way from

66 2/3% TO 80% DISCOUNT

This is intended for liberal buyers only, and a maximum discount of 80% will be allowed when entire lots are purchased or sold.

If you want some REAL BARGAINS in fine Packets, Sets and Sheets, write us. If you can use good stamps at our cost prices, write to us at once.

DAMAGED STAMPS ON APPROVAL—at Net Prices

Priced according to condition, some as low as 90% and 95% off cat. prices. Both U. S. and foreign. We buy a great many collections and find many damaged stamps in them. We have a brisk demand for them at these prices, they make elegant space fillers and as they are obtainable at a very nominal price, many collectors prefer these slightly damaged stamps to an empty space. UNITED STATES GRILLS.

By WM. L. STEVENSON.

FOREWORD.

While some details remain to be cleared up, study of the fundamentals regarding the issued grills seems so nearly complete that a compilation of the apparent facts appears proper. Further study is needed of the existing essays and samples, of the grills made by the Continental Bank Note Co., and study of minor details of all kinds is still open to those interested.

This article pretends to deal only with the issued grills except where reference seems necessary to other existing embossings. With this material in the hands of all interested collectors, it seems impossible that anything further of interest can long escape investigation.

The cuts here used are not intended to be portraits of anything whatever found in connection with the actual grills. They are drawings made to assist collectors in understanding the text and in making mental pictures of the details referred to.

All of the actually issued grills are the product of the National Bank Note Co. from 1867 to 1872 inclusive. They therefore appear on the designs of the issue of 1861 and on the issues of 1869 and 1870. The first of these periods is generally called the issue of 1867 and this designation should be continued.

CHAPTER I.

Issue of 1867.

Before discussing them, I will here list those known in this period with their identifying characteristics. The dimensions in the first column are the actual numbers of units of embossing in the rows each way (the horizontal given first as is customary). The (*) or () indicate a row or two rows of incomplete units, at one or at both sides of the rectangle in the indicated direction.

For the sake of the comparison, the second column gives the approximate sizes in millimeters of some of the rectangles. The reason for the confusion between grill sizes when listed as a paper area, as in the catalogue, is thus readily seen. It does not and cannot differentiate between families of grills.

In general, by families is meant those grills which have a common origin in one cylinder at one time, and which, therefore, occur in pair together (or in blocks). Except for the B and C grills (which may come from a common cylinder) members of two families of grills cannot exist in pair.

The different families of grills are due to intentional action on the part of the officials concerned. The variations within each family are in general due to unintentional (and largely unimportant) variations from the normal they were trying to produce at the time.

LIST OF THE GRILLS OF 1867 ISSUE.

A Grill. Biscuit grill, points up. From female cylinder. Grill covers entire stamp.

B Grill. Biscuit grill, points up. Length of rectangle horizontal. Apparently

INVERTED CENTRES OF 1869

The 15c, 24c and 30c of this issue would be worth about $7500.00 unused if you could get them at all. We have these stamps also the 90c inverted in proof form, on cardboard, and should be pleased to quote to collectors who might desire to secure one of the very few sets available. There were originally 100 sets but a good proportion of these have been sold.

U. S. ENVELOPES

Mr. Envelope Collector now is your chance to fill up the vacant spaces you have been looking at so long.

I recently purchased Mr. Geo. L. Toppan's collection, which was practically complete according to Scott's 1916 catalogue. Most of the envelopes are complete corners with tremendous margins, and unused. Send me your Want List. Prices range from 50% to 75% of catalogue according to the rarity of the envelopes.

H. F. COLMAN,

SECOND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

from same cylinder as A grill after planing off strips each way. Units identical with A grill.

21*x19 17x15 mm.
21 x17* 17x14 mm.

(Note. I have yet to see a rectangle 18x15 mm.)

C Grill. Biscuit grill, points up. Length of rectangle vertical. Apparently from same cylinder as B grill and at same time. Units identical with A and B grills.

17*x18* 13x16 mm.
16*x20 12 1/2 x17 mm.
16 x21 12 1/2 x16 mm.
16 x20 12 1/2 x16 mm.

D Grill. Cross grill, points down. From male cylinder (as are all following grills). Ridges of units run lengthways the stamp and rectangle.

15x18 12x14 1/2 mm.
15x17 12x14 mm.

E Grill. Cross grill, points down. Same general characteristics as D grill.

14x17* 11x14 mm.
14x17 11x13 mm.
14x16 11x13 mm.
14x16 11x12 1/2 mm.
14x15 11x12 1/2 mm.

F Grill. Cross grill, points down. Same general characteristics as D and E grills.

12 x17* 9x14 mm.
12 x17 9x13 mm.
12 x16 9x13 mm.
12 x16 8 1/2 x13 1/2 mm.
12 x15 8 1/2 x13 1/2 mm.
11*x17 8 1/2 x13 1/2 mm.
11*x16 8 1/2 x13 1/2 mm.

Z Grill. Cross grill, points down. Units similar to those of the D, E, and F grills but ridges of units run across both rectangle and stamp. Rectangles vary in both dimensions.

13x18 11 1/2 x13 1/2 mm.

While it is necessary to thus observe and record, as above, all the sizes found in each family, the normal collection needs but one representative of each family in each value on which it occurs. The addition of other variations is, of course, optional to the collector, but listing of all of the variations as varieties in a check-list would be quite extreme.

Note the complete range of lengths in the E and F families, continuous between the longest and the shortest found. Further observation can hardly add to these except at the ends of the lists.

Note the 11* widths in the F family. All specimens so far seen in this width come apparently from the vertical rows of stamps next the division between sheets. This variation is found in pair with the normals 12 wide and belongs to this F family.

CHAPTER II.

The 1867 Grill Units and Cylinders.

The A, B, and C grills all show the Biscuit-units. The D, E, F, and Z grills all show the Cross-grill-units. The former all come from the one female cylinder. The latter come from following male cylinders.

These cuts illustrate what is meant by female and male grills. The upper, or the one at the left, shows the female, and the lower, or the one at the right, the male. No attempt is here made to picture any particular grill. It is the essential difference that is to be impressed.

The first cylinder was a female cylinder, originally covered with small pyramidal pits running in rows directly around the cylinder and directly lengthways. From this condition of this cylinder comes the A grill. The pits were spaced approximately 1-32 inch apart on centers and so closely spaced that but narrow ridges were left between rows of pits. When this cylinder was run over

BOOST BROTHER, BOOST.

The WEEKLY has good cause to be grateful for the many good words spoken in its behalf and we appreciate all the help given us in going after the 10,000 mark. It will be a long and a hard pull and can only be attained after months of genuine work.

Our booster coupons make it possible to do successful boosting. The new subscriber gets a premium and you get a bit of reward for the effort put forth.
Send for a supply.

To Knut E. Luttrupp goes the honor of the best boosting that we have known for many a day. Mr. Luttrupp sent in four new yearly subscriptions and he had been on our list but a few weeks himself. Such work as this is appreciated.

It gratifies us to find many dealers giving us assistance. The Edgewood Stamp Co. has broken the ice with two coupons and we are confident that more will follow. If, Mr. Dealer, you are not co-operating in this good work, what is the reason? The interests of the dealer, collector and the WEEKLY are all tied up together. Send today for a supply of coupons.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

PHILATELIC WAR FUND LABEL.

We have noted the appearance of a pretty label issued in connection with the auction sale recently held in London in the interests of the National Philatelic War Fund. The label was designed by Perkins, Bacon & Co. and printed in six different colors with the center in black. The frame colors are respectively blue, green, lake, purple, orange and brown. The labels are printed in sheets of twelve stamps and are sold at 12c per set of the six different colors. Dealer and collector alike vied with each other in their patronage of the venture and it added materially to the funds of the sale. The design shows the "Sword of Justice."

? GERMANY STAMPLESS ?

Munich, Germany, April 29.—One of the most easily effected economies in the postal service, not only of Germany, but of any country, would be the abolition of the postage stamp, the Neuste Nachrichten points out. It recommends the substitution of a franking machine for the postage stamp and remarks that this change would save Germany nearly $25,000,000 a year.

The franking machine by a single operation would not only imprint the letter with a device indicating that the postal charges had been prepaid but would also put on the postmark and obviate the necessity of using the cancelling machine. This method is already used in Bavaria and in New Zealand, while the German field post has taught the people of Germany that the change is entirely practicable. "The postage stamp," concludes the Nachrichten,
"though a great invention, is now obsolete. Germany has invented the franking system, and by developing it she will be doing civilization a great service."

EDITORIAL.

Military—The mail from our troops in Mexico at first was postmarked Columbus, New Mexico, and was unstamped; consequently, two cents' postage due was collected on each letter at its destination. Now, from the interior of Mexico the soldiers' mail bears Mexican stamps or at any rate a letter just received from an officer and postmarked at a point in Chihuahua, April 24th, 1916, has the 10 centavos blue, Juarez, perforated. Judging from the opening paragraph of our correspondent's letter, the "field post office" has not been placed in operation: "There is a chance that I might get a letter off on the railroad train that may be in tonight but it is not certain as I have no Mexican stamps and I shall have to give this to one of the crew or to a passenger if there should be any."

Mutilation—Quoth a veracious correspondent: "Even in his most hectic moments, Count Lapp de Booz never was accused of the following astounding offense. I was visiting a neighbor whose son, about sixteen years of age, hearing that I was 'a great stamp collector' brought out his collection which in some respects proved to be a very fair one. A peculiarity about it that riveted my attention was that all of the portrait stamps had the eyes pin-holed; and when I inquired into this amazing condition, the mother chirped: 'O, it is so strange about Filbert. Ever since he was the tiniest tot, he has delighted in pricking out the eyes of people in pictures and I can't break him of the habit. Isn't it odd?' The boy stood by sheepishly and I hadn't the heart to say what my feeling was in that organ."

Climax—We have told the story of the down-state collector who ordered the two and five dollar of a preceding issue from a large Chicago firm with whom he was on close terms of business intimacy, only to have the accommodating house carefully pin each of the stamps to the letter of advice, but only recently did we hear that the story had a sequel. The disappointed collector finally disposed of the two worthless stamps, so far as collecting purposes were concerned, in some way or other, and he wrote a second time to the Chicago firm giving strict injunctions that the stamps were not to be pinned to or stuck down on the card that he enclosed, in any way. This time the stamps were attached to the approval card that was sent as a cautionary measure by two strong clips. The clips indented the stamps so as to spoil their freshness, even though they did not ruin them. In having non-philatelists perform services for them, collectors must give explicit instructions that will cover all danger spots; and then it is likely that there will be a vulnerable place in the armor.

Odd—From Mr. Francis Allan Wheeler, New Castle, Pennsylvania, we have the following account of a curious cancellation: "In re to the various cancellations on the three cent green, United States, I have two in my collection canceled with a railroad ticket stamp such as are used now for dating tickets. These bear the name: 'Pitts, Oil Creek & Buffalo Ry., Jan.—1879, Hickory,' in a circle around the date. My relatives who live at Hickory told me that the post office was at the railroad station and that they used the ticket stamp for the canceling of stamps but in my search over several hundred different lots of family correspondence, I have found only these two covers. If any one is interested in seeing them, I will be glad to show them upon satisfactory guarantee of return."

Asset—A contemporary reports that "a prominent dealer" discoursed recently on the subject of small dealers and that "instead of looking upon them as competitors who would possibly threaten his business, he spoke of them as a real help to him." Forsooth. There is no place for snobbery in commercial circles of philately and the big dealer who condemns the small dealer merely on the score of competition is insufferably petty. The only possible objection that could be waged against the small dealer is that his lack of stamp knowledge and of business methods might have a tendency upon occasion to belittle the importance of the stamp business as a whole. This is a consideration of some weight but it is unprogressive to decry the small dealer on that basis and the philosophic will not do so. The idea should be to assist the small dealer to greater philatelic and business knowledge. Some time ago, we heard a dealer who by disposition was exclusive and by training intolerant of business ignorance say that it was well to encourage the small dealer for the benefit of philately as a whole and he is fair enough not to let personal bias enter the question. Too, it was only a few months ago that the oldest of dealers came out with words of unmeasured praise for the stamp speculator who in the past was regarded with raised eye-brows but who now is lauded as adding wholesomely to philately's activities. The narrowness that once characterized philately and its followers is almost gone forever.

Politics—The editor of the Stamp Trade says that the "staff of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS has been dipping into the world of politics lately" and he speaks of Mr. Wylie's defeat for the mayoralty of Beverly by a dozen votes or so. He adds: "C. E. Severn . . .

contemplates devoting considerable of his time during the coming campaigns to spellbinding in the interests of his party candidates." Mr. Samuel M. Hamilton, who published a stamp paper down in Illinois about twenty years ago was a candidate recently for alderman in Chicago. Mr. Hamilton took his degree in philatelic politics years ago when he ran unsuccessfully for the presidency of the old Philatelic Sons of America. It was natural that Mr. Hamilton in his recent contest received the support of philatelic editors, but even so, there could not have been enough of them though their number, past and present, is supposed to be legion, for Mr. Hamilton was not victorious.

Monopoly—We have had an inquiry from a reader who says that he has heard that there is a movement on foot to form a stamp trust and he wishes to know if any credence may be attached to the report. While we have been told of activities in the stamp market yet any tale of a combination that would have far-reaching effect on the commerce of philately is so far-fetched as to be dismissed without serious comment. At times in the past, the bugaboo of "trust" has appeared but really there has been no foundation for any belief that a "combine" would be affected. In 1897, when the American Promotion Company of New York was soliciting stock subscription for a large stamp company, the prospectus of the promoters said that plans were on foot to buy up stocks held here and there but there was no result of appreciable extent; and even then, no vestige of a "trust" appeared on the horizon.

JAMAICA WAR STAMPS.

By HARRY E. HUBER.

Jamaica has at last fallen into line with Canada, New Zealand, Fiji, etc., in the matter of taxing mail matter—this to help along the finances so seriously affected by the European war.

In the latter part of 1915 a Red Cross label was issued by one of the charitable societies of Jamaica. This was printed in red, and showed in the lower part of the stamp a Genevan Cross. In the upper part appeared an aeroplane above some clouds. The stamp was sold for 1/2d, and the amount realized divided equally between the Red Cross and Aeroplane funds. The stamp had no postal value. Later, this same stamp was overprinted in black "Jamaica."

Two overprinted postage stamps have now been issued, the 1/2d green, Arms type, and the 3d, George, purple on yellow (surfaced). The overprint "War Stamp," in black in capital letters is printed horizontally, and measures 18x 1 1/2 mm. The 1/2d is a tax on all letters, and the 3d is for use on parcels, both to and from abroad.

The 3d on surface colored paper will be but short-lived, as the numbers on hand for surcharging purposes were not great. Recent supplies of the 3d stamp sent to the Island have been on the new lemon yellow paper.

The 1/2d contains an error—one stamp in a sheet of 240 has no period after "Stamp." Scattered over the sheet are minor varieties caused by the space type having raised, become inked, and naturally leaving its impress on the stamp. I have seen this in front of "W," and after the period, and have heard of it between the two words "War" and "Stamp."

The surcharging has been carefully done, and is generally well-centered. However, in some few cases the sheet has been fed into the press in such a

—At the meeting of the new stamp club in Cincinnati on April 26, Gustave Mosler spoke on "The War Stamps of the European Nations". Four new members were admitted. Next meetings May 9 and 23 at the Gibson House.

—Some weeks ago we noted the current 2c U. S., in a plum shade, quoting from a letter received from Ralph Norton of N. Y. City. We have seen the stamp and would like to have it passed upon by an expert before accepting it. We gave this stamp such a standing with our previous news mention that we feel it best to thus qualify our original chronicle.

—The Philatelic Sun is a "new one" from Lynn, Mass., and will be published monthly by the Essex Publishing Co. The managing editor is E. L. Clark, who has achieved considerable fame through his labors in philatelic journalism. The new magazine gives every indication of a successful future.

—Paul Dillingham informs us that a member of the "Canadian Contingent" sent him a bunch of picture cards from the battle front "somewhere in France or Belgium." The letter came first class but instead of getting the cards he received a printed slip from the Postal Censorship Department advising him that "pictorial postcards addressed to neutral countries are stopped by the Censor."

—The American Stamp Dealers' Association was recently incorporated under the state laws of Michigan. Several new members have been recently added.

—A new branch of the S. P. A. is being formed at Bethlehem, Pa. Anyone interested should write H. M. Fry, 124 N. 7th Ave., West Side, Bethlehem.

—"That poor Goetz exchanged a perfectly good $5 bill with the firm of Jose Oviedo y Hijo, of Costa Rica, for some specified stamps and received in their stead 23 ounces of coffee! The last-mentioned incident was quite hard enough to bear, but the worst was yet to come. He wrote to his friend Jose, attempting to explain the difficulty, and received the intelligent information that all that was necessary to straighten out the matter was to forward another five."—Philatelic Sun.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from H. T. Wilcox (2), H. G. Burwick, J. F. Madden, Erwin L. Fischer and Fred C. Rollmann.

—The Sunday Magazine, supplement to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch of April 23, 1916, contained a feature article dealing with the collection of F. R. Cornwall of that city. The article occupies an entire page and is attractively illustrated. A prominent place is given a large picture of Mr. Cornwall.

—We have received from Arthur W. Kade a cover sent from Hutchinson, Kans., to Lansing, Mich. It bears the censor label such as is used on letters from Canada, but where the envelope struck the Canadian line is indeed a mystery.

—Charles E. Severn, the editor of the WEEKLY, has been honored by being elected president of the Shore Acres Club, a strong and influential Republican organization in Chicago.

—This week the displayed advertisement of F. J. Pope, Charlotte, Vt., will be found in our columns. Mr. Pope has been dealing for some length of time and now intends to use the WEEKLY continuously in his efforts to do business with our subscribers. We trust our readers will be duly considerate of his claims upon them for a share of their patronage.

—A flourishing stamp club has been organized in Elyria, Ohio, under the name of the Y. M. C. A. Stamp Club, the work being chaperoned by James B. Thomas, an oldtime collector. There is no reason why a club of this kind should not be organized in connection with every Association in the country.

—The Herbert Stamp Co., through its manager, Herbert Seebohm, advises us of its change of location to 328 Montgomery St., San Francisco. A nice ground floor office has been secured and the firm intends to make an energetic effort to get its share of stamp business. It will be noted that the company has taken space this week in our displayed columns and will be heard from regularly hereafter.

—Through an oversight the name of William Rae Ferguson, 23 Linden Place, New Rochelle, N. Y., was omitted from the list of those who received Honorable Mention in the second "rebus contest."

AGAIN—HARRY L. NEWTON.

The name of Harry L. Newton has already figured in the columns of the WEEKLY, and it will be remembered that he served time at Dannemora, N. Y., a few years ago. At that time the WEEKLY gave full particulars of how Newton had mulcted stamp dealers.

W. F. Gregory of New York sends us the particulars of Newton's arrest, last week, in that city. Mr. Gregory was called to police headquarters to identify stamps reported to have been stolen. As the story goes, Newton, who wanted someone to pay him $10,000 to dynamite J. P. Morgan, had been released on that charge, but the police found in his possession a large accumulation of stamps which he confessed had been obtained "by defrauding stamp dealers."

Mr. Gregory examined the stamps and found two stockbooks well filled and many envelopes with contents of questionable value. Any dealers who are interested are urged to communicate at once with Mr. Gregory at 95 Nassau St., N. Y. City.

It will be remembered that the name of Mrs. Kitty Reynolds, Elba, N. Y., figured prominently in Newton's correspondence and the names of Leith and Taylor were also used. Postoffices in northern New York, such as Elba, Batavia, Buffalo and Watertown, were noted by Mr. Gregory as bases of correspondence.

In the number of the American Philatelist, dated April 1, will be found the application of Harry L. Newton, and among his papers was a receipt from the secretary for advance fees dated March 16. It would seem as if the dealing fraternity and philatelists, generally, might remember Mr. Newton and cross him off the list of desirables.

BOOK PLATES OF TWO FAMOUS PHILATELISTS.

We illustrate two philatelic book-plates that are well worth studying in detail. The plate that Mr. H. E. Deats affixes to his works on philately is a beautiful conception and that of Mr. C. J. Phillips, London, is rich in significance. We commend the idea of a distinctive book-plate to philatelists who are in a position to indulge in this nicety.

Egbert K. Bacon has shown a peculiar rich plum shade of the current 3c stamp, with normal back. This stamp seems to be furnishing more than its share of freak and odd shades.

Some weeks ago it was rumored among collectors of United States envelopes that a second type of the new 2c circular die existed. This has now been verified and we are now compelled to recognize two dies, A and B, according to J. M. Bartels.

Die A.

U 1 mm. from circle enclosing 2.
N T close at base.
Top of S of CENTS short.

Die B.

U less than 1/2 mm. from circle.
N T much wider at base.
Top of S in CENTS broad.

ARGENTINE.—R. C. Hoogkirk has shown us three new Postal Savings stamps from the Argentine Republic, all being printed in one color. The designs are similar for all, though the size of the stamps varies greatly. The 2c is 18 1/2 x 12 mm. the 1c just half this size, and the 1/2c a little less than half the size of the 1c, resembling the 1/2d of Victoria though printed horizontally. The stamps are fine engraved and printed, showing "Caja Nacional de Ahorro Postal" in a curved line at the top, with the arms of Argentina in a circle in the centre, "Republica Argentina" at the sides, and the value in figures and words at the bottom. Under the central circle, appears the legend, "Ley No. 9527." As may be surmised the inscriptions on the 1/2c stamps, which is only 15x10 mm., are very minute.

Postal Savings Adhesives.

3c pale rose.
1c pale rose.
2c pale rose.

BRAZIL.—The 200r and 1000r stamps of the current set have already been chronicled in this Department, but we learn from Ewen's Weekly that several other values have appeared in changed colors. We give the new colors, as far as known:

Adhesives.

50r bright green.
200r ultramarine.
500r bright violet.
600r bright olive.
1000r slate blue.
2000r blue.

CANAL ZONE.—The Stamp Journal is informed by a correspondent that there has been received on the Zone a supply of 500,000 10c stamps, not of the map design, but of the old portrait type. The overprint is not the same as Scott's type 45, but is a newer type. There are minor differences, but the principal difference is that the spacing between the words is 7 1/2 mm., whereas the 1909 type is 8 1/2 mm.

EGYPT.—Leonice Colucci sends us the current 2m interior post card of Egypt, surcharged "3—MILLIEMES" in two lines in carmine. The rate for the post cards for the country having been raised, this surcharge was done to utilize the stock of the 2m cards. The new 3m postcard was issued about two months ago, the stamp being in yellow, like the postage stamp of the same denomination.

Post Card.

3m yellow on buff.

Provisional Post Card.

3m on 2m green on buff; surcharge carmine.

GREECE.—William L. Aldrich & Co. have shown us three of the current Greek stamps with a peculiar cancellation, evidently that of a steamship line. A large double-lined circle has a Greek inscription running around, and within the inner rule a large flag flying from a staff, showing diagonal white bars run-

PERU.—George J. Carter calls attention to the fact that the postage due stamps of Peru are doing duty as postage stamps, without any overprint, and shows part of a cover with 12 of these stamps and one 10c postage stamp thereon.

RUSSIA.—According to the London Philatelist the supply of ordinary postage stamps in Russia has never failed; indeed, three different issues, exclusive of the carton paper stamps, may be purchased. The postal authorities have discouraged the use of the carton paper stamps for postage. Small notes of 1k, 2k, 3k, 5k, 10k and 50k in paper money have already been issued, and others of 15k and 20k are expected shortly. Carton paper stamps of the values 1k, 2k and 3k have not been issued, and are not likely to be, now that the new paper notes of these values are available.

St. Kitts.—The Rev. L. Meister writes that the 3d stamp has appeared with a bright green centre.

12c FRANKLIN DOUBLE TRANSFER.

By JOSEPH B. LEAVY.

In MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS for January 8th, 1916, Mr. Karl Pember, describes several varieties of double transfer of the 12c, and states, "These occur in an early plate which I understand is now destroyed. . . . Most of the examples that I have found have been in the upper left pane of the sheet which contains nearly sixty doubles. I have also found a few in the lower left pane of 100."

I freely confess that when I read Mr. Pember's little article I said to myself, "that man is crazy; sixty double transfers in a plate that has passed the searching examination of the Bureau experts. No indeed! A Bureau plate of that sort has about as much chance of existence as the proverbial snow ball in the tropical resort for permanent boarders presided over by Mr. Satan." I even placed some such delicate sentiment on paper and mailed it to the Philatelic Gazette, but the Editor returned it to me with the admonition "better look into it, old man, we have just had a big drop in temperature and some right smart freezing has been going on." Well, would you believe it, investigation showed that the entire force of stokers of the Hades Company Limited had quit work, due to exhaustion from rush of war orders, at the very time that the extreme cold wave blew into the factory and chilled the refining vat to such an extent that a thin coating of ice formed on its surface, sufficiently strong to support the snow ball of improbability flung through a window by the imp of carelessness. Stripping the garment of poetic metaphor from the shrinking form of veracity and exhibiting truth in all its nakedness, the shifted transfers actually exist in an appalling number upon plate 6900 of the 12c Franklin.

An examination of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing record proof sheet of plate 6900 shows the following marked shifting of transfer in double impression of lines as hereinafter stated:

Upper left pane of 100—No. 26 coat and 12; No. 37 coat, 12, cents and leaves; No. 38 coat, 12 and cents; No. 59 coat, 12, cents and leaves; No. 66 coat; No. 67 coat, 12 and cents; No. 69 coat, 12 and cents; No. 77 coat and 12; No. 86 coat, 12 and cents; No. 87 coat, 12, cents and leaves; No. 96 coat, 12, cents and leaves; No. 97 coat, 12 and cents.

Upper right pane of 100—No. 66, coat and 12; No. 91, coat and 12.

Lower left pane of 100—No. 7, coat and 12; No. 16, coat; No. 17, coat; No. 18, coat; No. 19, coat and 12; No. 29, coat and 12; No. 34, coat and 12; No. 46, coat; No. 48, coat, 12, cents and leaves; No. 58, coat and 12; No. 69, coat and 12; No. 79, coat and 12; No. 82, coat and 12; No. 87, coat.

Lower right pane of 100—No. 11, coat, 12, cents and leaves; No. 14, coat; No. 19, coat and 12; No. 37, coat; No. 38, coat and 12; No. 39, coat, 12, cents and leaves; No. 48, coat; No. 59, coat and 12.

Thirty-six marked examples of shifted transfer out of 400!

Mr. Pember describes some slightly shifted impressions in his article. They probably exist; I did not care to waste either the time or eyesight necessary to an examination of the 400 impressions minute enough to place every one with a shifted line or two. There are enough of the marked shifts to satisfy anyone, enough to make the very slight ones negligible.

Plate 6900 was the first 12c plate made, and it had a long life. The records of the Custodian of the plates show that at various times it was in the hands of the plate printers for a total of thirty-five days. The average of a plate printer is a thousand sheets a day, so that allowing for delays in taking down and setting up a very conservative estimate would be thirty thousand sheets of 400 from the plate, quite enough to go round.

UNITED STATES GRILLS.

By WM. L. STEVENSON.

CHAPTER II.—Continued.

Except for these first three families, all issued grills come apparently from male cylinders, that is, from cylinders with units of embossing in relief. These male units were pressed directly into the paper and variously strain, stretch, cut, or puncture it. In all reasonably well made specimens, the impressions in the paper show the characteristics of the units from which they were derived. In no case did, or could, a unit of one shape produce the identical "foot-print" of a unit of a quite different shape. Get that firmly fixed in mind and much of the previous confusion will disappear. Some things are physically impossible.

No. 5

Cuts Nos. 4 and 5 show the two degrees of the cross-grill units. No. 4 shows what resulted where the grooving in the two directions cut the slanting faces of the unit pyramids at equal angles, producing the pointed pyramids.

No. 5 cut shows the normal result, the faces being unequally cut, and the ridge apex being thus obtained.

All the male cylinders were undoubtedly produced by cutting tiny grooves each way, lengthways the cylinder and around it. In general, this cutting of grooves in the two directions did not cut the slanting sides of the units at exactly the same angle. The result in the cross grills is to produce, normally, pyramids that have a ridge instead of a point as apex. Pointed pyramids are the great exception, not the rule, and it is highly probable that the few that seem to show a point instead of a ridge are due to a very short ridge, or to faulty eyesight, or to a change from the original clearness of impression. Under the circumstances, a pyramid with a point for apex would seem abnormal.

The four edges of such pyramids have a tendency to cut the paper along four lines, occasionally appearing to meet in a point, but normally meeting in two V's which touch the two ends of the similar line cut by the ridge. The breaks in the paper give the natural name of Cross-grills to those produced by such units.

In the D, E, and F units, the ridges of the units run lengthways the stamps and of the rectangles of grill. The general characteristics of the Z grill are the same but the rectangles run in odd sizes and the ridges of the units run the other way, across both the stamp and the rectangles of grill. They come from a cylinder differing from those that produced the other families of the period and are readily differentiated after one knows something of the details here described. They are quite genuine and are apparently more common in grill essays than among the issued stamps.

In the issued stamps, I have so far seen the Z grill only on the following. 1c, 2; 2c, 9; 3c, 4; 10c, 1; 12c, 5. All are used except one of the 12c which I have unused with full gum.

We do not know just when the first experiments were made with this patented process. Mr. Tiffany stated that the entire grill (presumably referring to the A grill with the biscuit units) dates from May 8, 1867. This may well be close to correct. The earliest known used specimens come from August, 1867.

"WE ALL HAVE OUR HOBBIES."

Many Philatelists collect Old Paper Money and some say it is more interesting, but let that go. What we want to say is, the two pursuits are akin and the connecting link is the "U. S. POSTAGE CURRENCY." This issue bears fac-similes of the 1862, 5 & 10c stamps and are interesting in every way to a Stamp Collector and an appropriate addition to their Albums.

We offer the set complete in uncirculated condition for $2.75. Separately: 50c, $1.28; 25c, .78; 10c, .45; 5c, .40.

Plate Numbers of U. S. Stamps

Mr. Collector, I think without doubt I have the most complete stock of U. S. plate numbers unused in strips of three of the issues from 1894 to 1902-3 inclusive in existence. Send me your want list and be convinced.

Remember I am Headquarters for stamps of the U. S. and Its Colonies. Prices right. Condition of stamps right. Let me hear from you.

H. F. COLMAN,

SECOND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

It seems hardly probable that actual issue of these stamps was necessary, as an experiment to determine how they would work in practice as their unsatisfactory nature is obvious. They may have been thrown into stock and used up as ordinary specimens of the period. Still, we do know that it is customary to try all such things on the public and this may be the case here. They are, however, experimental grills, not paid for as grills.

We do know that the patent was granted to date October 22, 1867, and was probably applied-for for some time before that. In his report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1867, and dated Nov. 1, 1867 (written possibly any time between those dates) the Post Master General, referring to this process, stated that "Experiments are in progress." He was doubtless correct and it is probable that the grills were experimental during the rest of this year.

The contract under which they were operating did not call for grilling the stamps, nor for remuneration for this extra work on issued stamps. It is apparent that the contract was later amended to change this. When this change was made, we have not been informed but we have some data bearing on it.

During the first quarter of 1867 the Stamp Agent for the first time kept separate count of the stamps issued with and without the embossing. The reason of this is clearly that the work could be paid for at two different rates.

Relative numbers existing in the different grills and other items of evidence, indicate January as the month when the change took place.

Which family was the first under the contract is not as yet certain but the E grill seems to be indicated as the first under contract, the first not strictly experimental.

The families above listed as the A, B, C, D, E and F grills certainly appeared in this order. Where the Z grill belongs in the list is in doubt. That is why I list it thus separately. The first four families occur on the 3c stamps in what may be called "dry" shades. Some of the E grills come also in these printings, and presumably represent the first of this family. This may well be due to their originally following the procedure of the patent which called for: first the gumming, then the embossing, and last the printing. This would preclude printing on moistened paper as is required for the best results in printing from line engraved plates. The improvement in shades within the E grill period may be thus due largely to a change in the process to; first printing, then gumming, and last the embossing.

The Z grills in the 3c value come also in those "dry" shades. This would seem to indicate that they belong to this earlier period, and that they either precede the E grills or were contemporaneous with the first of the E grills. The E grills are found on the 1c, 2c, 3c, 10c, 12c and 15c. The Z grills have been found on all these except the 15c which was first grilled only in April or May, 1868. The Z grill therefore seems to belong somewhere between January and May, 1868, though it may have come earlier, possibly before the change in the contract. However, again, the D grill is found only on the 2c and the 3c and the Z grill therefore almost certainly follows the D grill period. Until we get a sufficient number of dated copies, we can best leave the Z grill thus located as to period.

The theory has been advanced that the reductions in area grilled from the A grill to include the F grill came from the necessity for greater strength in the stamp paper than permitted by the A grill; and later to the wearing off of the marginal rows of units in the rectangles.

This is doubtless correct as regards the A grill. It weakened the paper too much for practical use. As the female cylinder could not be in any way altered to produce the D and following male grills by simple reduction of area grilled, this theory hardly is complete, with our present knowledge. I have studied a great many specimens of this 1867 issue and have yet to find the slightest signs of excessive wear in marginal rows of the rectangles to account for the later reductions. Everything considered, it seems probable that the male units were introduced to provide better penetration of the paper, the paper was successively made thinner or more frail to permit such better penetration, and the area grilled was reduced successively to reduce the weakening of the weaker papers, until they arrived at the smallest grilled area that would in any degree produce the results aimed at by the patent and the contract, while being as large as the thinner paper would carry in practice. This is largely also theory but it fits all the known facts, which previous theories do not do. There were also doubtless other considerations in the minds of the contractors, to which we have no clues as yet. Possibly the reduction in area was partly due to a desire to reduce the area of malleable bed affected at each operation.

THE B GRILLS AND MARGINAL GRILLS.

The marginal grills occur on the marginal paper of this issue, on the paper of the 1869 issue, and on the stamps of the issue of 1870. Discussion of them would naturally come at the end of this general article except for their apparent relation to the occurrence of the B and the C grills on one cylinder together as I believe to be the case.

When they reduced the area covered by the A grill by planing off the strips each way, they apparently contemplated the C areas as their approximate normal rectangles. The cylinder was of such a circumference that it did not divide evenly into rectangles and strips and there was left, lengthwise the cylinder, a strip of units wider than a normal rectangle and narrower than a rectangle, and a planed strip.

STAMP AUCTIONS
PHILA. STAMP CO.
21 SOUTH 17TH ST. PHILA.

In planing the strips around the cylinder, the planing was extended all the way around and cut through this wide band of units, making the rectangles of the B grills as we find them, their rectangles having their length running around the cylinder and appearing on the stamps horizontally. They probably did not intend to use this abnormal strip, though it made little difference in the results, but occasionally a misplaced sheet caught this strip of B rectangles and we have a few to show for it. Mine hasn't arrived yet but I have seen a few. They exist.

All this is not fully established and probably never will be direct proof. However, it fits all the available facts.

The marginal grills are very probably due to exactly the same general cause, the indivisibility of the circumference of the cylinders into rectangles at the proper intervals. In these cases, it is evident that the planing around the cylinder was not continued through this strip, it not being intended that it should be used. These grill strips would therefore normally fall only on the right or left margin of a sheet, or on similar rows of stamps, and thus we find them. Where we find them thus, we can be satisfied that the sheets were fed sideways, as was probably the rule. Certainly the first sheets used were thus fed and the cylinders made of a length to take the shorter dimension of the sheet of paper, the A grills being applied before printing or division of the sheet into panes of one hundred stamps. This would fix the size of the machine to take later cylinders and the practice may be assumed to have been general and normal.

Not one particle of evidence indicates that the strips of units that make the marginal grills were strips running around the ends of the cylinders. Further study is desirable however.

The method of production of the cylinders in general, and some other points, might be considered in connection with this first issue period but I am leaving them for a concluding set of remarks that do not fit well here.

Mexico, The White and Green Seal Issues of Sonora—By George Ward Linn, whose coming was not unheralded in the philatelic world has made its appearance and it is no slight tribute to say that the work which has been keenly anticipated in an active, if somewhat restricted circle of enthusiasts, has met squarely the highest expectations. Indeed, we can conceive of no more exhaustive consideration of the certain issues than Mr. Linn's review; and from the angle of the ordinarily-informed collector, Mr. Linn has sailed an uncharted sea in a masterly manner. While imbued with all enthusiasm for the issues, Mr. Linn yet assumes the critic's role and he is not averse to hewing to the line and letting the chips fall where they may when he deems it fair to do so.

In the introductory chapter of his book, the author sketches briefly the historical phases of the years, 1913-15 in their philatelic relation but he is careful to confine his studies to the white and green seal issues of Sonora as indicated by the title. In view of the fact that Mr. Linn devotes over one hundred pages of text and twenty-five full page plates to these stamps, it would appear inadvisable to attempt any serious analysis of the work. To isolate a paragraph here and there would only disturb the orderly arrangement that has been so well completed. We suppose that there will be criticisms of Mr. Linn's findings but in this connection it is not amiss to say that Mr. Linn's knowledge of the printing art loans itself capably to research work in the stamps in question and gives a touch of authority to the deductive side of his investigations. The simplicity of treatment of the complexities of the issues is gained by the plates of the successive sheets; and this is a distinct advantage in a popular sense.

It must be admitted by the collectors who demand strong credentials for what may be termed irregular issues before accepting them that speculation did not enter into the issues described by Mr. Linn. There was no systematic foisting of the stamps on the market for gainful purposes and we doubt if any considerable profit attended the exploitation of the stamps. At first the stamps could be had at small cost and it is known that some of those who handled the first issue offered later to buy back the stamps at liberal advances over the original prices. Mr. Linn has performed a service for philately in presenting so masterly a printed record of the issues; and he should know that his work is appreciated by those who understand the faith that leads to a successful undertaking of this kind. The book is a typographical delight and the printers, W. M. Linn & Sons Company, must be congratulated upon having provided so beautiful and tasteful a setting for the book which truly is an ornament to any philatelic library. A personal touch is given the book by a speaking likeness of George Ward Linn as a frontispiece; and the portrait, we may add, is inscribed "Sonorally yours," a little quip that shows that even the good and great must relax at times.

Mexico, the White and Green Seal Issues of Sonora: A Study of the Stamps Together With a Reproduction of the Various Printings and a Complete List of All Known Varieties Known to the Author. By George Ward Linn. Published by George W. Linn Company, Columbus, Ohio.

New U. S. Pocket Catalog.—The United Stamp Company has issued a United Catalog & Price List of United States Stamps to sell for ten cents. The system employed in the price list corresponds to that used in the album for U. S. stamps, recently published by the company. We are impressed by the number of excellent cuts used to illustrate varieties that cannot be visualized by text; and as a sensible innovation, we might mention the listing of imperforate and coil stamps in pair. The retail prices quoted on the stamps are said to be based upon wholesale prices and auction records. There are over thirteen hundred single U. S. stamps described in the little book, which, in reality, is an illustrated brochure on U. S. stamps, so fully and graphically does it cover its subject. It is needless to add that the publication is worth its price. Twenty-four pages and paper cover: United Stamp Company, 1149 Marquette Building, Chicago. Price, ten cents.

THE PROMISED FACTOR.

If the aims of its promoters are carried out, the new philatelic firm to be established in N. Y. City will be a great factor in American philately. We note that the publishing of a stamp paper is under consideration. The more stamp papers, the more collectors, still more stamp papers and more collectors—then we'll get the 10,000 objective!

EDITORIAL.

Progress—It was becoming that public intimation of a highly important prospective development in commercial philately should have been made in the Stamp Trade, the journal devoted to the interests of dealers. It says: "There is a movement on foot in New York City to establish an all around popular approval business and mail order trade to commence next fall. The new firm will advertise extensively in the magazine press and they expect to reach a larger class of collectors than has ever before been attempted. Their plans are very comprehensive and include the publication of a popular catalogue, a popular album and a popular stamp paper (either weekly or monthly). The movement is strongly financed by interests that have bought very heavily of dealers' stocks affected by the war abroad and an enormous stock will therefore be available." We understand that preliminary work of founding the new business that will from its inception strive for the place of pre-eminence in its special lines, is being conducted carefully and secretly. It is the belief that an alluring field is open and that before a sharp and sustained attack, it will be occupied most advantageously. We do not pretend to know anything of specific plans but it is almost certain that with financial backing and intelligent business procedure, a new power will achieve a commanding position; and it is likely that a new alignment of the commercial factors of philately will result. When the proper time comes, full publicity no doubt will be courted by the new force, as we gather that the aims of the company will be constructive, liberal and progressive. There are signs that there will be some interesting details of the new venture for the philatelic public before the "grand opening" which is set for next autumn.

Officers—The remarks on the necessity for nominations for officers of the American Philatelic Society for the ensuing term, in a recent issue, suggested by the declination of Mr. Wm. E. Ault to serve another year have brought us a few comments. We trust that the Branches will give instant attention to the question of nominations and that they will strive to arouse a greater interest in the workings of the organization as represented by the officers. It is of paramount importance that a capable incumbent succeed Mr. Ault. We may add that Mr. P. M. Wolsieffer is a candidate for the appointive office of sales superintendent.

Punched—From Miss Amy L. Swift, Whitman, Mass., we have the information: "The Australian perforated O. S. in different sizes indicate use in different states. The large O. S. are used in Tasmania as is also a T perforation; the small O. S. emanate from Victoria and New South Wales uses still smaller letters with N. S. W. perforated below. I consider the perforated officials just as worthy of collection as the surcharged O. S."

Disappearance—We have been asked about the future of early United States stamps, and in answer to the question we have no novel ideas, facts or theories to advance. We repeat what we have said at times in the past. A few collectors long have known how difficult it is to get these stamps in perfection condition; and latterly the information has become the possession of a great many collectors. The result is that an increasing demand, in the nature of things, acting upon a diminishing supply, will affect the market, with the consequence of rising prices. Opportunely of this, we quote from a letter that came recently from a collector who makes a study of market conditions as they apply to the stamps of the United States: "In part, the disappearance of the fine stuff seems to be due to private speculations; and I suppose that there are more accumulators of the best stamps than we suppose. The main reason for the shrinkage, so to say, is attributable to the extension of collecting to details that previously were not of interest to many; and to a rapidly increasing demand, in every sense of the word, for fine or better condition, by numerous collectors."

Hopeful—To us, one of the most gratifying developments of the past year has been the reception of philatelic books and pamphlets by the general collecting public. While our remarks are based principally on our own experiences in this line, yet we do not doubt but that they apply to other productions, in some degree. It was only a short time ago that the launching of a book on stamps was a most dubious venture that often was attended by disastrous or amusing results, according to the view point or expectations of the publisher. The book would appear, and naturally, orders for it would be looked for. Here and there, a sale would be made to a collector, and these isolated orders, with those received from collectors of philatelic literature, would make but a slight impression on the edition. It is different nowadays, and at least by sustained publicity, it is possible to sell a fairly large number of books; and while the disheartening influences still persist, they are being slowly dissipated. It will be a happy day for philately when the publisher of a somewhat pretentious book on a philatelic subject will find that his labor of love will be appreciated in a material sense.

Oaxaca—Official information has been received that the plates from which the so-called Oaxaca stamps of Mexico were printed are still in existence, but it is said that when the city of Oaxaca was recaptured by the Constitutionists, all the stamps in question, or more than five thousand sets, were sold by one of the minor officers of the postal department of the reoccupation "to a German". It is evident that there is a large number of the stamps actually, and perhaps, in anticipation.

Revenue—Mr. A. Preston Pearce of Plymouth, England, who conducted years ago a column in the WEEKLY devoted to foreign revenue stamps writes that the bill providing for new British stamp duties on matches, amusements and non-alcoholic drinks has not yet finally passed through the Commons and that in consequence many alterations have been made in the original draft. Mr. Pearce will favor us with a summary of the new taxes so soon as they are definitely adjusted.

Difficulties—The mail from our army in Mexico shows that no regular line of postal communication has been established, as the envelopes come unstamped in some instances and franked with Mexican stamps in others. From a newspaper clipping, we learn that some mail has been sent from the Mexican base to the border by aeroplane. Further, it is said that envelopes are scarce among the members of the punitive expedition; and curiosities are shown in the way of home-made envelopes from the soldiers in Mexico. Writing paper, too, is among the scarcities, we hear.

DO YOU NEED AN ASSISTANT?

A man who has had over twenty years' experience with stamps, primarily as a collector and student of stamps, but some in dealing also would like a position with a stamp firm. Would take a lively interest in any branch of work connected with philately, would enjoy making up auction lots and catalogues. Good at figures and careful with accounts and details. Has had large experience in correspondence and also in color study researches and kindred topics.

An accident, which in no ways would interfere with this kind of work renders him incapable of following the trade by which he had earned a livelihood for himself and family; hence his desire to get employment in the stamp trade in which he has always felt an abiding interest. Born in Oregon. High school education. 36 years old.

Interested parties are invited to write stating proposition and salary.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

ACROSS THE DIVIDE.

By EDWIN B. HILL.

The red headed girl at the general delivery window in the postoffice of Willow was chewing gum, quite audibly, as she ran through a bundle of letters from the box labeled "M". The patron at the window who was delaying the sale of a "book o' two's" was also busy with a piece of gum, of spruce variety, a handful of which was cumbering the glass change-counter in front of the Titian figure. I myself arrived in time to hear the tag end of the following conversation.

"As I was sayin' to my first wife, gum is the gift o' the gods to them that has teeth—"

"Or a good dentist," ended the r. h. g. They both laughed, and then the man was turning away. Here the girl sighted me, waiting,—waiting patiently for my book o' two's, and her face at once matched her hair.

"I do beg your pardon," she began. "I wanted to ask if you'd—"

"Have a piece of gum," drawled the other voice as the owner passed out the door.

Certainly we had to laugh at this, and as the red headed girl had a sense of humor, she pushed along a couple pieces of gum, clinching the humor issue irrevocably.

"That's Frevor Moore," she said. "He is the one other stamp collector on the range. I wanted you to meet him. I told him you'd brought your collection with you, most likely, and I know he'd be glad to see it. He'll be back, so wait."

I waited. It was not ten minutes before the door was shadowed by the gum man. I had opportunity then to observe him more carefully,—a youngish man but with hair quite gray, and brown eyes that looked at you and far beyond. His walk was quietness itself,—as though in his stride he touched only the air. On his head was the inevitable wide-brim, grey white hat of Philadelphia make and Arizona adoption. He wore a light blue shirt, and his trousers were of khaki. Around his waist was a belt, but with the essential "forty-five", gun and scabbard, now absent. The stable held both I was sure, for in this frontier town the new arrival is allowed thirty minutes to shed his gun, if sober; otherwise, as many seconds suffice.

Moore came directly to me, the informal introduction over, his face alight with friendship.

"Yes, I, too, am a stamp-lover, in a small way, and as we are the ones this side Tucson we ought to be good company, eh?"

The heat of Arizona midday was forgotten. It was the one oasis in months of desert-waiting. Moore's language, too, betrayed the culture which was sloughed when he talked with the girl,—whereat I wondered.

"Give my love to your first wife," called the red-headed girl, as we went into the open, and she out of this story. My companion laughed his infectious laugh, and then explained that his "first wife" was a neighbor's child, age six, for whom he had promised to "wait while she grew up."

"I want you to saddle up and come with me," said my new friend. "We'll be gone a fortnight, up at Three-Bar-X, and I'll show you something in stamps that will open your eyes. They're not mine. It's the collection of a Spanish boy—Mexican—who was at the rodeo last year. Now he's in Mexico with one of the rebel bands. He's a fine boy, college-bred, and altogether too good to be tangled up in that affair. But," after a pause, "it's his business, not mine."

Within an hour, we were riding into the mountains. The second day we arrived at the long, low adobe ranch-house, peopled by two collies and a Chinese cook. "The boys," Moore explained, "were out on the range."

My host dived into a basin of water like a bird taking a plunge. "Best way to get cool," he explained. I was more circumspect.

"Now for the stamps," he said, as we finished dampening the towels. Moore's collection, mounted in several old International albums, vintage of '04, was not of great moment, although it contained some scarce United States, among them a set of the 1859 issue, and some B. N. A.'s that would pleasure even the most jaded collector. I recall New Brunswick one shilling, unused, without gum—"eaten by ants in India," explained the owner, sadly—and Cape Triangulars, fairly complete, in all printings, except the wood-blocks. There were some old Germans, too, which were notable for margins and cleanliness; and Sarawak was represented by No. 1, used, the rest nearly complete.

"I lived there—once," explained my host, in a voice which had the sound of a closed book.

And so I turned the leaves to the end. Moore arose, and from beneath the cot pulled forth a trunk of prehistoric brand. He lifted the lid. "Here it is," said he, fondly, "and it's worth while,—this lot of stamps."

The collection was housed in a fine mahogany box, brass mounted. The albums, which were of the blank style, showed evidence of careful handling.

"Mexico's the one country," said Moore, as he passed the books over to me. It was. My eyes opened. Here was a specialist's collection, fully "written up." My familiarity with Castilian made the thing a revelation.

"It's all there," said my host, "Everything."

And it was. Stamps surcharged with district names, and errors with and without; everything regular and irregular, complete,—fine, clean, well-centered. Many stamps had their history carefully written out in a beautiful hand.

I turned the leaves, and gasped.

"Campeche—yellow paper, and the white," declared my host, "and also complete, on the original."

The rare Chiapas were there, too, and Guadalajara, while Cuernavaca—Monterrey—Patzcuaro—Zocatecas (the last four doubtful as to authenticity) were there to prove their right to live in a specialist's collection.

"The man who collected these," said I, "certainly,—well, there must be a story connected with it all?"

"Right," exclaimed Moore; and, after a few silent puffs at his pipe, he began.

"José Escalante, when a student in the University at Mexico City, became interested in the stamps of his country through friendship with a fellow student,—Santiago Garcia. It seems that some of Garcia's relatives had a room in the hacienda full of old letters, and Santiago, vacation time, spent his leisure hours looking them over for the stamps. There was about everything there, principally on covers. He wasn't allowed to absorb the letters where envelopes had been dispensed with, so he soaked the stamps off. That was the beginning. Collectors, as you no doubt are aware, are reborn in attics and in store-rooms, no matter where they first saw light.

"There was four years of college life and then José and Santiago separated. Each had a fair collection of its kind; but a few months later, when death made Santiago heir to the hacienda, and its grounds, with wealth besides in gold, the college chum was summoned. Further search of the store-room disclosed the greatest rarities known to collectors,—the Campeche. One year of work over these collections was rewarded most richly. The room was well personified. And then the mounting, and the study, and the writing-up! Other collections yielded their treasures, too, through the medium of exchange and purchase. Finally, both collections were merged into one.

"Then, at the end of the year, came the revolt against Diaz of the iron hand. Santiago was taken out, one morning, blind-folded, stood against a stone wall, and before the smoke cleared away, he was at rest forever. José had taken no part in the quarrel until Diaz refused to intervene in the decree of death. It was a costly thing for that wily old diplomat, and led to his exile.

"José owns the collection, now. He is in revolt against the existing government. Any day I expect to hear of his end. But, you know the Mexican,—all that must be, shall be. With him Fate rules everything."

Moore puffed at his pipe in silence. I looked across the divide, seeing in vision a boy dying for a great principle. The sun dipped; then it sank behind the foothills, and left each of us alone with his thoughts.

THE WAR AND EXHIBITIONS.

There has been no great international philatelic exhibition since the war. It was Germany's turn to hold one when the war broke out, and all the arrangements had been completed for the event to commence at Cassel on Aug. 9, 1914. A number of British and foreign collections had already reached Cassel, and some of the visitors from this country had already started for the scene of the exhibition when war was declared. The Cassel exhibition was, of course, abandoned, and no subsequent arrangements for displays of this character were anticipated by philatelists in the early days of the war. The leading philatelic society of Argentina has now completed the arrangements for an exhibition on a large scale in Buenos Aires in September of this year. The scheme of competition is comprehensive, but I fear the organizers can scarcely expect much support from Europe at this juncture. Several small exhibitions of war stamps have been held in England and in Switzerland during the past twelve months, and a small competitive exhibition at Lynn, Massachusetts, last month, included a class for war stamps, divided into three sections, as follows: (1) War issues of the Allies; (2) war issues of Germany and Austro-Hungary; and (3) censored covers and war stamps on covers.—London Telegraph.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

BARBADOS.—We learn from the Colonial Journal that an entirely new issue of stamps for this Colony has been printed from copper plates, the design representing King George seated in a chariot, drawn by sea-horses. The series consists of the eleven following values: 1/4d, 1/2d, 1d, 2d, 2 1/2d, 3d, 4d, 6d, 1sh, 2sh and 3sh. All are of large size, and the colours are the same as those of the recent issue, with the exception of the 4d, which is printed in red on yellow paper, and the 3sh stamp, which is printed in violet on white paper.

BRITISH HONDURAS.—Ewen's Weekly is officially advised that the shipment from London to Belize, of the provisional issue, was in the following quantities: 1c, 60,240; 2c, 180,000; 5c, 121,080. All three values are now obsolete, but the 5c registration envelope, with the overprint, has yet to appear on sale.

CANAL ZONE.—New envelopes have been issued for the Canal Zone, specimens having been shown us by Gerald D. Bliss, the New England Stamp Co., the Sterling Stamp Co. and others. C. K. Harris writes us that "the Government has placed an order with the Mount Hope Printing Plant, for the first stamped envelopes for the Canal Zone. The order calls for thirty thousand with one cent stamps and forty thousand with the two cent stamp." The paper is a white wove, and the stamp designs are the same as the 1909 issue, but the words "Canal Zone" are printed in a bolder type, with sharp cut ceriph. As noted last week, the 5c of 1909 had already been furnished to the Zone with the same overprint, marking the exhaustion of the supply of the pictorial stamps of 1915. The size is 165x93 mm.

Envelopes.
1c green on white.
2c carmine on white.

FIJI.—The Australian Stamp Journal says:

"On looking through our supply of the 1d Fiji stamps overprinted 'War Stamp,' we were somewhat surprised to find that while the colour of some was carmine, that of others was scarlet; and on examining also a parcel of the ordinary 1d stamps we found the same differences, from which we conclude that Messrs. De la Rue, who print the Fiji stamps, are not now able to print stamps in the carmine shades."

The 1/4d, a new value, 1/2d, 2d, 1sh and 5sh stamps have been supplied from plate 5, according to the Colonial Journal.

FINLAND.—Mr. A. Scheindling writes to the London Philatelist as follows:—"I find that none of the philatelic papers has found it worthy to notice the slight alterations that the recent issue of the Finland stamps have undergone. I have so far found the following differences: 5p, the green colour is now slightly darker; 10p, there are now three vertical strokes (against five formerly) on the left marginal side before the upper scroll, besides some other slight differences: the gum on these two values, as well as on the 20p, is now crinkly (vertically) instead of smooth as before. I must, however, notice that on a sheet of 10p recently bought by me, the gum is that of the new issue, whilst the stamp itself is the old issue. Perhaps a quantity has again been printed by the old plates and the new (crinkly) gum has been applied to them. In the 2p, 20p, 40p and 1m values I have so far found no differences at all.

"The most noticeable differences, however, I have found on the 10m value. Not only is the colour greenish grey and black instead of grey and black, but the perforation is quite a new one, viz.: 13 1/2 with pointed teeth instead of 14 with stumpy teeth. I think this stamp is worthy to be classified as a separate issue."

FRANCE.—W. Arthur McKinney has shown us a copy of the current 10c French stamp, which has a diagonal line 7 1/2 mm. long, extending from the point of the sower's hair down past the right hand. But for the fact that the line was slightly removed from the hand, it would appear that the sower had taken up a cudgel instead of scattering the seed. Probably a hair fell on the plate during printing. Has anyone else noted this freak?

GOLD COAST.—The 1/4d, 2d, 2 1/2d, 3d, 6d, 1sh, 5sh, 10sh, and £1 have all been supplied printed from plate 5, states the Colonial Journal. The 5sh stamps are now printed on multiple yellow paper, dyed throughout.

NEW ZEALAND.—According to the London Telegraph the color of the 2d King George stamp has been changed from violet to orange, and that the 4d is also to be printed in a new color.

Adhesive.

2d orange.

TOGOLAND.—The Colonial Journal states that Gold Coast stamps have been overprinted in black in similar type to the local surcharge: 1d from plate 1 and the 1/2d, 2d, 2 1/2d, 3d, 6d, 1sh, 2sh, 2sh 6d, 5sh, 10sh and £1 stamps printed from plate No. 5. The overprint of this latest supply having been made in London by Messrs. De la Rue will doubtless be more prominent type than the issue supplied from Accra.

TURKS AND CAICOS ISLANDS.—We gather from the Colonial Journal that a new plate for a 5d stamp in King George design has been prepared and a supply of stamps will in due course be issued.

STAMPS OF THE IRISH REPUBLIC.

DUBLIN, May 4.—Postage stamps prepared by the short-lived Irish republic have been found, ready for issue. They are printed in the republican colors, green, white and orange, with inset pictures of the three Manchester martyrs, Larkin, O'Brien and Allen, on a shamrock leaf. Beneath is a harp and the words, "God Save Ireland."—N. Y. Globe and Com'l Adv.

THE CURRENT SIAM.

A letter from a non-collecting friend in Bangkok, Siam, who was asked to get a complete set of the current stamps up to 1 tical, enclosed the following varieties:—3 satangs green No. 126; 2 on 14s No. 137; 5 on 6s No. 138; 10 on 2s No. 139; 15 on 28s No. 140; and 1 tical No. 82.

He writes:—"I went myself, and this is all I can get at the post office at present. There is nothing new. The 1 tical is the only high value they had, and that is from the former reign. Stamps are at a low ebb here and there are very few varieties."—BENJ. CADBURY.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—We have been shown by G. Hemond a specimen of the Canada 5c King George surcharged "Inland Revenue War Tax" in which the R in "Revenue" becomes a distinct P. This error, so Mr. Hemond states, no doubt existed on thousands of sheets, but the late discovery will, no doubt, result in most of these stamps being destroyed.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from F. L. Jackson (3), C. F. Cornish, W. Parlin Lillard, W. G. Birds-eye, Hugh P. Dunn, Herman W. Boers, L. A. Judkins, H. M. Norton, D. C. Alexander and H. G. Burwick.

—M. Ohlman would like the address of W. E. Kirk, formerly 1137 Bergen St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

THE SCARCITY OF "WHITE BACKS."

Every day it becomes more difficult to procure in any quantity certain "white backs." They are all extremely popular, and in the near future are likely to show a substantial rise; already, in the French catalogue, Yvert and Tellier, the prices are considerably higher than in our standard catalogue, though as a matter of fact in many cases Gibbons does not price them.

"White backs" at a low rate, i. e., about 10 per cent. to 15 per cent. over face are a really sound investment, apart from the complete issue, 38 stamps in all, forming a most interesting study, and the cost price complete is from £9 to £10. The two stamps missing in most collections of "white backs" are the 3d and 1s Leeward; for some time it has been almost impossible to get them, and when offered the price is about £1 1s for the pair, the 3d being the better of the two.

At the present moment, there is a great scarcity of the 2 dollars Straits "white back." The Straits Post Office for some time has refused to supply them and have referred correspondents to the London Office, who in their turn have referred the enquirer to the Straits Office. Rumour has it that only 2,580 (48 sheets) were printed; in this case the stamp will be rare, and is well worth getting at its present price of 8s to 9s. The same number is reported for the printing of the 96c British Guiana, which can at present be bought for 6s 6d pending the arrival of the "yellow backs," which have been printed. They should be good.

The Togoland 3d on Gold Coast is a really scarce stamp. Though a few months ago it could be bought for 9d, one is lucky today to get copies at anything under 5s. Yvert and Tellier price it at 8frs 50. The Cayman 10s is rare—present price about 18s.

The St. Lucia 4d is well worth buying at 7d; most dealers now charge 1s, and there is no great quantity on the market.

I wonder if it is too late to buy (as a speculation) Trinidad and Tobago 4d, which cannot be obtained under 3s. The same thing applies to the 3d Montserrat. My remarks in all cases refer to mint copies; "white backs" are much rarer used, but being more popular in mint condition, the prices are higher thus.—Stamp Collecting.

There is no one particular charm connected with stamp collecting insofar as I have been able to penetrate the innermost resources of the soul and I find that stamp collecting in its entirety is the CHARM all entrancing. In order to better illustrate the meaning of these words, allow me to burden you with a decidedly condensed history of my efforts to secure a stamp collection worth having.

When about the age of fourteen and living in a borough of about 3500 inhabitants, a clerk in the place where my father appeared to me to be the boss and probably intending to get on the good side of the "old man," gave me what he called his stamp collection, consisting of about two or three hundred different postage stamps, mostly United States. This was my start upon the troublous seas of philately, and drifting with the tide, I invaded garrets, old store rooms and various other places, looking for stamps, passing up all duplicates, no matter what they were, and adding to my starter with more or less success.

One day my father took me on a trip to Philadelphia, and in meandering around the city of Brotherly Love, I ran across the stamp shop of one L. W. Durbin on Chestnut Street. What recollections the name of Durbin brings forth to many? My interest in the goods displayed in his little show window loosened up the strings of the pater's purse and he purchased for me an International Stamp Album, the flags of all nations, coats of arms and rulers of the world. My chest was swelled up as I walked out of dear old Durbin's shop and had under my arm something that I had never dreamed of possessing.

This little incident was the start of quite a little friendly intercourse with Durbin which lasted for a number of years. The collection increased gradually until I had in the neighborhood of 8000 varieties which required a period of something like ten years to accumulate; at this time matrimony overtook me and thinking myself a man, I put away childish things. The collection remained untouched for three years, when a little stranger arrived in the shape of a son; money was scarce and was badly needed; the collection was sold.

When the son reached the age of eleven years, some friend of mine sent him his old stamp collection of about three or four hundred varieties. An old collection it was, and the stamps were pasted flat in some sort of a memorandum book. His interest has waned since then, but mine fanned into a consuming flame.

At the present time, the second collection numbers close to 12,000 varieties but, although exceeding in number and probably value, the collection of eighteen years ago, it is with a great deal of sickness of heart at times when I sit down and try to recall the stamps in the first collection that are not in the second. The first collection had probably every-

We want a thousand new subscribers at once. That's why we are making this trial offer. If you haven't seen a copy of our paper, take this opportunity. Yes, we are one of the new ones but we have demonstrated our ability to stick with you by making our regular appearance for almost a year now and each number has been better received than previous ones. The P. O. department thinks enough of us to allow us second class mailing privileges. We have such contributors as Percy Mann (our associate editor) to help us please you. We have a "Sense & Nonsense" department that is the "Life" or "Judge" of Philately, as one reader terms it. We have real, live, newsy items and you will find that we are one of the most active boosters for organized philately, among the publishers. We are growing at a rapid rate, too. Let's you mistake, WE ARE NOT A HOUSE ORGAN, and have nothing to sell. Better risk that time now before you forget.

FREE As an extra inducement we are going to offer over a thousand prizes. We have put up over 1000 surprise packets of stamps (No U. thing in the regular issues of the United States Government, including the 6c proprietary, first issue, revenues, Post Obittum officially sealed, and various others that seem so hard to get hold of now-a-days. The very last thing that I purchased in 1893 was the complete Columbian issue, mint.

I resigned my membership in the American Philatelic Association, as it was called then, and after a period of twelve years became reinstated. I shall keep up the stamp collecting mania until the last call, and when gone, the son can do with the collection what he desires; in the meantime, a collection that may be the means of helping him out some rainy day is being increased from time to time.

A STAMP LOVER IN TOBAGO.

HUBERT LYMAN CLARK.

Professional duties as a marine zoologist having brought about a trip to Trinidad and Tobago, I am now homeward bound, and it occurs to me that perhaps some of my philatelic notes may be of interest to my fellow-readers of MEKEEL'S, even though they are neither startling nor important.

Our first stop on the way down was at Grenada, which by the way is called Grenayda by its inhabitants and other West Indians. My pronunciation with the broad a was frequently courteously corrected. St. Georges, the port and chief town of the island, is exceedingly pretty and picturesque. The post-office is close by the quay where we were landed, indeed it might be said to be on the quay, and three of us made our way there at once. It was obvious that we were not the first stamp lovers who ever invaded that office. The postmistress received us most graciously, we were ushered in behind the sales counter and the entire stock of stamps was virtually at our disposal. Most courteous of all, the stamps on my list, which was quite lengthy, were given me at once and my own valuation was accepted as correct without verification by the clerk. The verification was probably made before I left the office, (for I was some time putting stamps in and on the 26 letters which I had to mail) but of this I do not know.

At Port of Spain, Trinidad, which is of course a very much larger office, stamp lovers are not treated quite so well. Not that any discourtesy was shown me, but the youth who sells the stamps is evidently not a collector and wears so weary, yes, even harried, a countenance, one feels no desire to ask for unnecessary favors. The registry clerk was on the contrary very pleasant and affable. The postmaster at Port of Spain is very proud of his office and maintains that it offers facilities not provided by those in either New York or London. He asserts that two officials from the New York office paid him a visit to secure information in regard to these things, but I suspect a couple of tourists were "joshing" him. At any rate, I was told on excellent authority that one cannot get an unpaid letter between eleven and one because the man in charge of that division is then at lunch, and I know the office closes at 1 p. m. on Saturday to remain closed until 7 a. m. Monday!

In Port of Spain there are a number of places where postage stamps for collections are sold. In many of these shops only stamps in packets are handled but not infrequently single stamps can be purchased if one desires. The stamps are nearly all West Indian or Venezuelan as is of course quite natural. Prices are invariably high but those who really care to sell will listen to reason and in several cases showed appreciation of the fact that the average man from Boston will not pay as much for a stamp in Port of Spain as he would in Boston unless it is a real rarity or has some particular attraction. The largest stock of stamps which I saw in Trinidad is held by a business man who has the most exaggerated idea of its value. It contains many fine stamps particularly in used high values of Trinidad. There are also some very interesting old covers chiefly from Grenada. One peculiarity of this stock is that it is nearly all mounted on large sheets, 80-100 stamps to a sheet, and no lot less than a whole sheet is for sale. As three-fourths of the stamps on each sheet are common stuff and there are many duplicates, I did not think it worth while to even discuss the prices. This same man has some two thousand copies of the red-cross stamp of last October which he assured me in all seriousness he is holding at one dollar each. Other dealers in Port of Spain are selling the same stamps, used or unused, at a shilling or one and six pence each.

One would not expect to find stamp dealers in Tobago. Only within recent years has the island begun to recover from the blow which emancipation struck it three-quarters of a century ago. A little sugar is still raised but the new prosperity is coming from cocoanuts and cocoa. Livestock is also an important product. There are very few white people on the island (not more

Mr. Collector, I think without doubt I have the most complete stock of U. S. plate numbers unused in strips of three of the issues from 1894 to 1902-3 inclusive in existence. Send me your want list and be convinced.

Remember I am Headquarters for stamps of the U. S. and Its Colonies. Prices right. Condition of stamps right. Let me hear from you.

WHERE DO THESE STAMPS BELONG?

The new collector will have a nice little task locating the stamps represented by these two accompanying designs. Both are recent issues and there is little about the stamps to indicate where they belong. This will prove a good stamp hunt for those interested.

THE TWO DIES OF THE NEW 2c ENV.

By LOUIS G. BARRETT.

I note in the WEEKLY of May 6, received today, descriptions given by Mr. Bartels for the two dies of the new circular design of the 2c stamped envelope, and find the points of difference in part quite misleading, in fact the first feature described, the distance of the U from the left circle should be transposed between the two dies, instead of as printed. The second feature is not easily seen, but the third is rightly described.

There are, however, two other features which to me appear more prominently, and are more easily seen at a glance than those described; as follows.—In die A the A of STATES has the cross-bar about in the center of its height, with the triangular red space above it quite small; while in die B the cross-bar of this same A is low and the red space above it is larger and taller than in die A and has a square top. The T of CENTS in die A has an extremely short top stroke, while in die B it is noticeably longer and heavier. The revised descriptions would then be as follows:

Die B.—U 1 mm. from left circle; top of S of CENTS longer and heavier; cross-bar of A of STATES low, and space above it has square top; T of CENTS has long and heavy top stroke.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE T. P. A.

The 20th annual meeting of the Texas Philatelic Association was held April 17, at San Antonio, with eleven delegates present and E. W. Heusinger, president, in the chair. The secretary-treasurer, H. S. Carsons, reported ninety members with nine applications pending. The membership one year ago was only thirty-nine.

The finances of the Association showed balances of some $200. In the sales department the report of the superintendent showed that 38% of the value of books entered was sold.

The following officers were elected:—president, E. W. Heusinger; vice-president, Brig.-Gen. Jno. L. Clem; secretary-treasurer, H. S. Carsons; sales superintendent, Charles Roemer; and member of the executive committee, G. W. Coryell.

The members had the privilege of examining Pres. Heusinger's collection of U. S. entire envelopes and a specialized collection of recent Mexican issues and covers the property of S. B. Honkins.

A NEW BRITISH LEVANT ISSUE.

We have received details of an issue of the greatest historical and philatelic interest in connection with the war.

This is a set of the current British Georgian stamps overprinted "Levant" by the British forces at Salonika. The issue was a very limited one, and it was already withdrawn before the news of its appearance reached this country.

The stamps overprinted, together with the numbers issued of the respective denominations, are:—

1/2d green, 2514; 1d scarlet, 2618; 2d orange, 480; 3d violet, 700; 4d slate-green, 480; 6d purple, 1184; 9d grey-black, 360; 1s bistre-brown, 360.

A complete set of the control numbers on the stamps overprinted will be almost, if not quite, a "uniquity." The controls are:—

1/2d green, F15; 1d scarlet, E14; 2d orange, G15; 3d violet, F15; 4d slate-green, G15; 6d purple, E14; 9d grey-black, G15; 1s bistre-brown, F15.

The stamps are to be found postmarked "Field Post Office G.X." or "Field Post Office S.X." and were in use in Salonika from some date in February to March 9th, when their issue ceased.

From an examination of a few small blocks it seems that the type was set up in one horizontal row of twelve, and this was repeated down the sheet. The overprint occurs at top, bottom, or middle of the stamp, and is sometimes slanting. In two values, the 1/2d and the 6d, a whole row of twelve stamps has apparently been missed, as vertical pairs exist, one stamp with and one without overprint.

The stamps were overprinted in a small press at the British Army Printing Office in Salonika, and not only are they of great historical interest, but owing to the very few that were issued, they should turn out to be among the greatest rarities of the War Issues. A considerable number of the stamps have been used on letters sent home in H.M. ships' postbags, and it will be interesting to see if these are postmarked en route on the warships, or if they will be obliterated at the port of arrival.—Postage Stamp.

NEW FRENCH WAR ISSUE.

The President of the French Republic has signed a decree authorizing the issue of some special war charity postage stamps. The intention is to issue a special series of commemorative stamps, but pending the completion of these a provisional series has been surcharged on the current French stamps. The new war charity stamps pay the ordinary postage, but are sold at a supplementary charge in aid of the dependents of employees of the French Department of Posts, Telegraphs and Telephones. The French 2 centimes stamp, overprinted "Guerre 1914-16 Orphelins P. T. T." will be sold at 5 centimes, and the following denominations of the current stamps are being similarly overprinted for sale at the new prices indicated:

15 centimes at 25 centimes.
 25 centimes at 40 centimes.
 35 centimes at 60 centimes.
 50 centimes at 1 franc.
 1 franc at 2 francs.
 5 francs at 10 francs.

The special commemorative set will only comprise these six denominations, and will sell at the same prices. The ordinary French 2 centimes with the overprint will remain in use after the six commemorative stamps have been brought into circulation.—London Telegraph.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—The American Philatelic Society has recognized the excellent work that is being done by the American Stamp Dealers' Association by making two members of its official board associate members of the Dealers' Association.

—A branch of the S. P. A. is being organized in Cleveland, Ohio. H. W. Coddington, 2503 E. 86 St., is back of the movement.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Frank Babarovich; F. L. Jackson (3); M. Casper; Will H. Fedder.

—We are advised that the Westchester Philatelist, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., has purchased the Nebraska Philatelist and will consolidate the two magazines. Mr. Ahlman will act as assistant editor to H. S. Waters, the editor and publisher of the combined publications. A sample copy can no doubt be obtained upon application.

—The American Stamp Dealers' Association has just admitted three dealers to membership and no fewer than nine applications have been received recently. This is a good showing and no doubt the new secretary-treasurer, C. V. Webb, has had a strong hand in it.

—"We received about 20 replies from our advertisement in your paper. I had most of the addresses in the packages I sent to Japan, and just received word from there that they would reply with a postal. Perhaps it would be a good idea if you made note in your paper of the great delight the prisoners at the German camp experienced at receiving the stamps. Two of them sent poetry about it. Kindly tell those who sent me stamps and did not receive an answer from Japan to again give me their address."—Mrs. B. GETZSCHMAN, Pres. Ladies' Aid Society, 1311 Howard St., Omaha, Neb.
 —Remit $3.00 for a six-years' renewal of subscription to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY and we will send you free of charge Scott's 1916 catalog. We don't care when your subscription runs out. We do not sell the catalog independent of subscription renewals. If you want to buy one, patronize your favorite dealer.

—O. J. Richardson, Eden, N. Y., reports that Homer G. Nelson, Greentown, Ind., and G. R. Ellis, Peterboro, Can., failed to reply to letters sent them.

—No. 2 of the Stamp Herald published by B. Gordon Bushnell, 2715 Indianapolis Av., Indianapolis, Ind., is a creditable number of this new venture, and we recommend our readers to inspect the same. A sample copy will no doubt be sent upon request. The number before us is largely devoted to the S. P. A. with pictures of candidates, and notes about precanceled stamps. We hope the Herald will be able to secure second class rates.

—May 2, 1916, the J. M. Bartels Co. held their 58th sale (consisting largely of early imperforates and U. S.) at the Collectors' Club, New York. We quote a few of the prices realized:—

U. S. 1857, 5c brick red, $7.25
 U. S. 1861, 5c brown yel. red can., 7.00
 U. S. 1895, 6c on rev. paper, 32.50

 Portugal 1853, 100r, block of 4, 110.00
 *Canal Zone 1915, 2c head invert, 21.50

—Several subscribers have called our attention to the fact that the 2c Pan-American stamp has been found in various shifted "dies." We have only to call attention to the fact that this is a bi-colored stamp, requiring two printings, to explain the manner in which different

EDITORIAL.

Stir—The report of prospective operations in New York City next autumn by a new company whereby it is likely that a change in existing trade conditions will be effected through the activity of the formidable factor, in prospect, has already attracted attention, and we hope to be able to give an authorized report as to the impending developments at the earliest moment. In the meantime, we shall give such information that seems to be of a credible character that reaches our ears.

Invited—The necessity for interest in the affairs of the American Philatelic Society has been presented to us in no uncertain words by a member of the society who for many years has been one of its main-stays. He asks that we hold a rally of the friends of the organization in order to create a greater degree of interest in the concerns of the society than is shown at present. We are of the opinion that it will not require much urging to induce many of the loyal members to bestir themselves on behalf of the old American Philatelic Society. If they feel that the affairs of the society are being regarded with indifference by the members generally, they will not sit idly by and see the American Philatelic Society enter into a decline. In our opinion there is a pressing need for more enthusiasm in the election of officers for the ensuing fiscal year than has been shown thus far and it is essential for the well-being of the society that something be done at once to stimulate interest in this regard, at least.

Right—One of the catch questions in a stamp contest conducted recently at a meeting of the Chicago Philatelic Society was: Name a stamp of a foreign country that shows a picture of a United States battleship. Of course, all the contestants were stumped except your editor, who wrote that the 1909 issue of Uruguay to commemorate the opening of the port of Montevideo shows the U. S. war vessel in the flotilla depicted on the stamp. We could not name the vessel in question. Who can?

heard many an eloquent diner expound his views on the charms of philately; and not a few venturesome speakers essay a fanciful, if not humorous flight, in treating of the principles of our benign institution. We are all acquainted with the philatelic menu with its incorporation of stamp terms in the gastronomic table of contents, as it has been a favorite from time immemorial. Now and then a triumph is gained by a happy hit in this regard but the seasoned philatelist is apt to look with unsmiling eyes on attempts of the kind. The temptation to embody in an address at a philatelic banquet all the stamp terms that ordinarily are dedicated to philatelic uses alone is one often yielded to by speakers on festal occasions with varying results. These remarks are merely preliminary to the observation that in this particular, Mr. George A. Warren scored successfully at a recent dinner of the Omaha Stamp Club with a clever conception which is reproduced herewith:

"I am satisfied we can all fix the stamp of approval on the pleasures we have all enjoyed this evening, and am confident there will be no perforations to our intestines after cancellation of our obligations to the cook. The menu has embraced all shades and varieties and as water marks the prevailing beverage, I am confident there will be no inverts. No one can say but that there has been any quantity of space fillers, yea, even in chunks and blocks of four, thereby making duplicates unnecessary. In fact, everything has been mint, from which there can be no discount. Personally, I am very thankful I precancelled all other engagements to come here, and I am surcharged to such an extent that any indulgence in Storm Lake missions would put me where postmarks would have to be made of asbestos ink.

"In conclusion, all I can say is 'Great Scott! Long may he live for his life work in philately!' And I am sure I voice the sentiment of all types in extending thanks to the gentlemen who were instrumental in making this banquet so successful. There have been no errors and our want lists are completed, without the stereotyped phrase, 'Reference, please'."

Eloquence—Harking back to the subject of philatelic eloquence as generated at philatelic banquets, easily the most finished speaker that we have ever heard was the late John Kerr Tiffany of St. Louis, who was the first, and for many succeeding years, president of the American Philatelic Society. From about 1885 to over a decade thereafter, Mr. Tiffany presided over or attended many philatelic banquets and from the first, his speech and manner were so felicitous as to make him remarked above all other speakers. Viewed from any angle, Mr. Tiffany was a great philatelist and we think that it was a privilege to have heard him in all his brilliance on occasions when philatelists gathered around the "festive board."

Similar—From Mr. Harry W. Gilchrist, Franklin, N. H., and Mr. Geo. W. Bye, Rutledge, Pa., we have received copies of the two cent brown, United States, 1883 issue, asking if the stamps are the same as those found by Mr. Gardner and described in the issue of April 29th. In the specimens submitted by our correspondents there are signs of a "cap" although the disturbances lack the decided outlines and effect of the variations on Mr. Gardner's stamps, we should say from memory. However, the stamps now under notice may show the preliminary signs of the inaccuracy in the plate.

Prophecy—An astute collector recently said that in his opinion the time is coming when there will be a decided reaction against the hypercritical demands now generally made on the score of condition. He limits the scope of his prediction to the stamp of value that has a slight tear or other defect that now practically sends the specimen to Coventry. We know that this collector is sincere in his belief and has the courage of his convictions because he is a liberal buyer of stamps in the condition indicated. He asks if we do not think that his idea is reasonable and founded on probability. To attempt to forecast the trend of philatelic fashions is our idea of profitless undertaking. It is fair to say that the scarce stamp that has no part missing but which may have a tear almost imperceptible must receive greater consideration in the future than at present as the regard for such stamps now is at the minimum. Any change in collecting view that comes surely must be favorable to the submerged division and we do not see how the collector who really believes in these slightly impaired stamps can make a mistake in buying them at prevailing prices. It is difficult to maintain an advanced view on condition without going to extremes and when the "ultra-critical" stage has been reached, a reaction naturally follows. Our idea is that the collector can appreciate perfect condition and still have a favoring eye for the stamp that does not attain that standard.

UNITED STATES GRILLS.1867 TO 1872—AS ACTUALLY ISSUED.

By WM. L. STEVENSON.

CHAPTER III.The 1869 Issue.

The issue of 1869 shows little of special fundamental interest in the grills. All are cross grills with a tendency in some papers and in some periods to dullness of impressed effects and at other times to clear-cut sharpness of embossing. Just what these differences mean I am not prepared to say. Further study may solve this problem.

This issue shows two sizes of stamps. The lower values to include the 12c are of one size while the bi-color stamps are a bit larger. The resulting difference in the distance between centers of stamps in the sheet made two cylinders necessary in order to center the impressions of the grilling rectangles. We find the two cylinders in use but it requires pairs or better to show the interval differences. The sizes of the rectangles vary little. I list the following.
G Grill. Cross grill, points down.12x11
12x10*
12x10*CHAPTER IV.*Issue of 1870.

The issue of 1870 is our most difficult period simply because the work done averages so very poor in quality. Some sheets show some stamps well grilled, other stamps poorly grilled, and still others with no traces of embossing. Some part of the mechanism failed to do its part of the work. I see no evidence that the steel units in relief on the cylinders ever wore out or in any way failed. All the results seem to indicate frequent and irregular failure of the bed to hold the paper up against the pressure of the cylinder. As the units are really of very slight relief at best, a very slight failure of the bed to properly perform its functions would produce pronounced results.

Two families of grills are clearly indicated. While there are definite differences within each family, I here list but the two fundamental differences as families and will describe the others.

H Grill. Cross grill, points down.
13x15I Grill.* Flat-topped grill units, points down.
11x12*

The impressions of the H grills are all those of cross-grill units. Two general differences are shown. Some come from pyramids with definitely dull points, but distinctly pyramidal. Others come from units of slight relief, very erect sides, and rather sharp pointed tops which barely penetrate the paper.

While the two kinds of impressions can hardly come from one condition of the cylinder, I class them as all of the same family in this size, 13x15*. It seems probable that the second described units are due to a sharpening of the units of the other description.

No. 6.

This cut shows the general appearance of the truncated pyramid units of the 1870 I grill. The sides of these pyramids are probably a bit more erect than here shown and the bases, relative to the tops, also smaller.

The impressions of the I grills are also of two kinds. The commoner ones show definitely that the units used were flat-topped or truncated pyramids. These show rather broad bases, somewhat slanting sides, and relatively large plane tops parallel to the faces of the stamps. The bottoms of the pits in the faces of the stamps come from just such pyramidal units with no traces of a pointed pyramid acting. The other kind of impressions come from units with very small and irregularly flat tops, small bases and very erect sides. These are very rare. I have found but five or six in the 3c value to date, from as many different sources. All the I grills come in the one area, 11x12* units.

While there are comparatively few specimens from this period that show clearly every detail as described above, there are few, very few, with distinct traces of grill that cannot be readily placed in one of these four classes by anyone with a proper knowledge of the details here given, study of the cuts, and study of some decent specimens. The descriptions sound complicated. The facts are much less so.

That about ends the discussion and description of the issued grills, except for a number of things that could not readily be handled directly in the body of this article, in which I wished to cover only the fundamentals.

CHAPTER V.Cylinder Production.

The female cylinder in its entire state was doubtless produced by pressing into it, while both revolved, the similar relief units on the face of a smaller roller. In some examples of the entire grill on plain specimen paper the lap-rows between successive applications of such a roller can be seen clearly, being indicated by rows of deformed units from deformed pits in the face of the grilling cylinder. These lap-rows show the use of a roller having thirty-six (36) rows of little pyramidal relief units. The roller was apparently run directly around the cylinder, being raised and readjusted at each turn.

The male cylinders were probably made by covering the entire grilling surface with the little relief pyramids by cutting grooves in the two directions, and then planing off the bare strips previously mentioned. One set always runs directly lengthways of the cylinder and was doubtless produced by a single pointed tool. In all cases where determination has been possible, the grooves the other way, around the cylinder, were made in sets by using a multiple pointed tool. The spiral thus produced is shown best in action in the 1869 grills. The cut shows about what can be seen on the backs of a pair of the lower values.

In cut No. 7 you are looking at the points of the paper units and therefore have the same effects as if looking at the actual steel units on the cylinder. The obliquity runs to the left. It is impossible that such an obliquity could be produced by cutting a groove around the cylinder in a spiral, traversing lengthways the cylinder but one unit per turn, or about 1-32 inch. The obliquity would not be detectable on the stamps. Assuming the cylinders to have been about six inches in diameter, about ten points are indicated on the grooving tool.

No. 7.

The above shows what can be seen on the back of a pair of the lower values of the issues of 1869. The obliquity of the lines runs to the left. Some such obliquity seems to occur in all the male grills. In some of the D grills, little or none is evident and there may be a cylinder with none present.

This solution of the apparent facts regarding the obliquity to be easily observed is not intended to close the study of this point. It should serve merely to open it up thoroughly for study by anyone interested. Someone may find this solution wrong. The obliquity is there and can be measured with some degree of accuracy. If this solution does not appeal to you, let us have your true solution. I will be glad to accept it, if it is correct. Examination of large blocks, especially of this 1869 issue may give results.

CHAPTER VI. Other Grills.

Other grills exist some of which seem to belong to the early experimental period and some to a later one. Among those possibly of early experiments are the pin-point grills, and the biscuit grills from male units shown on specimens catalogued as Scott's No. 83a. These are presumably essays or samples and should not be confused with or listed as issued grills. Another entire grill I have seen is one which shows little square, or nearly square, flat-pointed units somewhat similar to the 1870 I grill units. This may be the original cylinder source of the I grills, and may belong to the preliminaries of that period. Also, it may have been an early male grill experimental cylinder, abandoned during the 1867 period and used for the production of the I grill cylinder in the period when they were saving money on grill production. It may have no relation to any other grill.

I have not been able to locate all the sizes of areas previously noted as existing. This is probably due to a number of causes, but I must assign all such to faulty observations until I have an opportunity to examine specimens. I have seen abnormal sizes that were merely double grills. Others, in unused specimens came from grills in the gum only, produced by pressing two sheets or parts of sheets together, back to back. The extra grilling in this case disappears with the gum. Still other sizes have been seen in grills that none would suspect to be genuine.

To put it frankly, no determination as to the genuineness of any grill, or as to what kind of a departure from the normal is represented in any specimen seen, is of any value unless based on detailed knowledge of the normal grills, actually issued, such as is here presented. Greater knowledge than that here given would give more perfect determinations. Much that has previously been written on the grills is nearly worthless on account of the very apparent lack of just such knowledge, largely the result of faulty observation. The one statement that the cross-grill effects (where an exact X break is produced in the paper) is characteristic of all genuine grills, thoroughly discredits the longest previous list of grill sizes I have seen. Those exact cross breaks are quite exceptional as previously noted, while, for example, the truncated pyramids of the I grill are obvious to the most casual observer intent on seeing only what can be easily seen. Some of the other details require closer scrutiny but the same fact remains.

There is absolutely no evidence among issued stamps with the grills to indicate that the different effects in any period are due wholly (as has been stated of the 1870 issue) to the use of the grilling mechanism on two or more sheets at one time, the differences in impression on successive sheets being identifiable as coming thus from a first sheet, a second sheet, a third sheet, and so on, and as due wholly to differences in depth of impression. Quite the contrary. Such a grilling of two or more sheets may have been done at times, intentionally or otherwise. It was most certainly not customary.

It requires little mental effort to see the impossibility of making direct impressions of the little steel units in a second sheet without in some unexplainable manner getting rid of the intervening first sheet. As this is not the case, under such an assumption, the grills in the second and following sheets must come from the units embossed above the backs of the first sheet pressed into the face of the second sheet and so on in turn. Examination and comparison of available specimens, of all pits and of all points, shows clearly that their shapes were otherwise obtained. As the statement was originally made of the 1870 issue, it is sufficient to study a very little the differences between the grills of the pointed pyramids and those from the truncated pyramids. This illustrates the matter near its limits but my remarks apply also to the grills of the other periods as well. Some of the fainter of the 1869 grills may have come from just such second sheets but there is absolutely no evidence at present to prove it and other causes in operation could as readily produce the differences there found.

The Omaha Stamp Club held its annual banquet at Hotel Loyal, Omaha, Neb., on Friday evening, May 5, with the following present: R. C. Hoyt, J. W. Welch, Ora E. Stark, F. S. Parmelee, G. L. Swartz, C. C. Meihner, W. H. Zimmer, Geo. A. Warren, M. B. Newman, H. A. Cameron, C. C. Westerdahl, B. L. Wilcox, G. A. Wilcox, C. G. Eckman, N. T. Thorsen, Arthur J. Morphy.

Dr. W. P. Wherry had been slated to act as toastmaster, but at the last moment was prevented from attending, and his place was taken by Frank S. Parmelee, who introduced a number of speakers from among those present.

While the dinner was entirely informal, it was marked by an enthusiasm which promises great things for future dinners of the club, and each guest departed with renewed interest in the society and its plans for the coming year.

The second annual convention of the Nebraska State Philatelic Society will be held at Omaha the latter part of September, and each member of the Omaha Stamp Club present at the dinner pledged his co-operation toward making the event the success it should be. It is hoped to make this convention a meeting of all Mid-West philatelists, and invitations will be extended to all collectors to join in making this the big Western convention of the year. Many from neighboring states have already announced their intention of attending, and it is hoped that all who feel that Boston or Washington is too far to allow them to meet with one of the national societies, will lay plans to come to Omaha in September.

The Omaha Club will hold but one more meeting before adjourning for the summer vacation on the night of May 19, but it is believed that by next fall

NEW WAR STAMPS POSSIBLE.

By HARRY E. HUBER.

It is expected that shortly the Cayman Islands and Turks & Caicos Islands (Dependencies of Jamaica) will issue War Stamps.

The Cayman Islands are in special need of funds, in view of the large outlay necessary due to the complete devastation of Cayman Brac during the August, 1915, hurricane. In the following month Grand Cayman was visited by a severe storm, causing much damage. This latter storm later arrived at New Orleans, and other Gulf cities, causing much loss.

At the beginning of the war negotiations had been completed with a New York shipping concern to operate a steamer between New York, Jamaica, Grand Cayman, and Isle of Pines, by this means obviating the necessity of transshipment in Jamaica, and also the long delays in receipt of goods from the States, on account of the irregular communication that now exists between Grand Cayman and Jamaica. However, owing to the outbreak of the war, the service has been postponed.

NON-SEPARABLE STAMPS.

When postage stamps were first issued, they were what philatelists call "imperforate"—that is, there were no holes in the sheets to facilitate separation of the stamps. A pair of scissors or a sharp knife had to be used whenever a stamp was to be parted from its companions. This wasted so much time and caused so much trouble that, it is said, the British government offered a reward to the person who would devise a solution of the difficulty. Someone suggested punching holes between the stamps, and the recommendation was adopted.

Lately, the United States Government, for some unknown reason, has been making the fiber between these perforations of steel, reinforced by concrete, or some other substance much tougher than the stamp itself. This can be demonstrated by anyone who has two stamps which he wishes to separate. They will tear anywhere except along the perforation line. How much the annual revenue of the government has been increased by this trick, which occasions the waste of many stamps every day, it is impossible to compute. Postmaster-General Burleson has our consent to go to three-cent postage, if he will only give us less tenacious stamps. It would save us considerable money.—Detroit News.

"The President of GUATEMALA, in an executive decree dated April 15, 1916, authorized the surcharge of 1,000,000 1c stamps of the issue of 1902 with the new value of 6 centavos, and the same number of the 2c stamps with 12 1/2 centavos. They have not been placed on sale as yet. It is probable that a new issue will soon appear, as the postal rates have lately been changed, owing to the tremendous decline in the exchange value of the peso."

JAMAICA.—This Colony has also issued a War Stamp, the 3d on yellow, white back, having been overprinted "War Stamp," like the New Zealand and Fiji Islands stamps. Unused specimens have been shown us by William L. Aldrich & Co. and D. C. Alexander, and a used copy by the New England Stamp Co. Mr. Alexander informs us that the current 1/2c stamp has received the same overprint.

URUGUAY.—Harry T. Chism has shown us some new official stamps from Uruguay, the 8c lithographed stamp having been overprinted "Oficial" in script type placed diagonally reading up, and with a long straight line under. The specimens submitted are also perforated with large stars and Maltese crosses, like the diamond-shaped holes mentioned in Scott.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

Stamp Collectors' Annual.—Published by the Aldine Publishing Co., Crown Court, Chancery Lane, London, W. C., and edited by Percy C. Bishop with Douglas B. Armstrong associate editor. Price 25c. For the thirteenth year we are favored with this very instructive annual review of philatelic achievements. The book shows a keen discriminating taste in the timeliness of its special articles, of which there are not a few. One has but to mention Wilmot Corfield, Derek Ingram, P. L. Pemberton, Fred. J. Melville, G. A. Higlett, D. B. Armstrong, B. Gordon Jones and A. B. Creeke, Jr., to give an idea of the merit of the literary matter. Mr. Pemberton has an article on "How to Identify Greek Stamps," which we hope to reprint some time in the future. Mr. Melville has a brief article on "The Stamps of Hayti" which we are promised will be supplemented with a more extensive work later on. The book carries a large amount of advertising and from a business standpoint seems to have scored a substantial success. The quality of paper used in the book reflects the hard times that prevail in the paper market but the book is well worth the price asked. We have a few copies to dispose of at the price indicated above, 25c.

Togo.—Published by D. Field, Royal Arcade, Old Bond St., London. Edited by Charles H. Greenwood. Price 25c. This book deals with the stamps of the British and French occupation of Togo. It is dedicated to H. J. Reckitt, who assisted the author in the preparation of the book. The frontispiece consists of a fine halftone of Lieut. Col. Bryant, commander of the British Expeditionary Force in Togo. It is fortunate that the history of these provisional stamps has not been left to some future date, when it would be exceedingly difficult to obtain the information now placed at the disposal of the student of these stamps. The book is gotten together in a very attractive form and is profusely illustrated, a number of full page half-tones being noted dealing with Togo subjects, a view of Lome and other localities in Togoland.

WITH THE NEW PHILATELIST.

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 2729 Hampden Court, Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

C. R. D.—The name of any stamp dealer with whom you have done business should be sufficient as a reference. Stamp dealers do not object to being referred to, as they must often trouble the other fellow in a similar way, and are really the most satisfactory reference to give to another dealer. Reference to John Jones, Grocer, or Bill Smith, your next-door neighbor, is hardly satisfactory as the dealer seldom knows the reliability of the reference, while every dealer is willing to accept the name of another dealer as reference. After you get one or two established connections in the stamp business, you will not find it hard to offer references.

C. T. W.—Your India stamp is a revenue, and quite common. I cannot give you the other information you desire.

G. W. Jr.—Your Austrian 35h stamp with numeral 65 in one corner is evidently caused by a defect in the plate, making the 3 read like a 6. This would be of interest to a specialist, but would not command a very high premium.

J. E. Z.—If the peso stamp is demonetized, as many are, the dealer could well afford to sell it at 5c. If it is a current issue, the face value would make it worth more than 5c. (Guatemala and Paraguay are worth but little over 5c, however.)

The three Mexican stamps you describe are revenues and have little value. If they are the peso stamps you refer to, the dealer could well afford to sell them at 5c, for they are often used without cancellation, the tearing off of the label at the bottom being evidence of use.

Please address future inquiries to me at Chicago, not Boston. See address above.

A. L. S.—You're right, they are certainly hitting the 9c pretty hard. Still, why not put them in the wood-box, and keep the coal bin for the 10c?

A. M. S., Milwaukee—Many thanks for your suggestion. Some day we may decide to adopt it.

F. F. S.—The Mauritius and North Borneo stamps you mention are cancelled for sale to collectors. The Mauritius with word "cancelled" are part of a stock of remainders which were cancelled to prevent further use, and were sold at less than face value. The North Borneo 1909 and other issues with gum, yet cancelled, are also sold less than face, for re-sale to collectors. North Borneo with genuine postal cancellations are scarce and desirable. They have generally town cancellations, if they have actually been through the mail.

DECATUR, GA.

THE CHARM OF STAMP COLLECTING.

By TOM FREEMAN.

Every old philatelist realizes the truths of the following, so it is the beginner in this pleasant pastime to whom I would direct my words.

For me the charm of stamp collecting lies in the following four things.—

(a) The touch of romance given by the possession of things from far-away lands.

(b) The educational value of stamps.

(c) The ease with which stamps may be secured.

(d) The fact that they are an asset to the collector and not a liability.

It is not necessary to go beyond my own collection to illustrate all of these points.

How much the possession of these stamps savors of romance! Here I have all the world in my hand. Stamps of Canada and Cape of Good Hope, Brazil and Brunei fraternize with each other. Here is a stamp that came seven thousand miles, traveling in almost every way known to man, across the vast plains of China and across an even vaster stretch of sea.

What joys! what sorrows these stamps of mine have witnessed! Here is one from Costa Rica whose envelope carries a heavy mourning border; here is another which brought the wedding announcement of a friend from far-off Switzerland; and besides these of which we know the history, how much fun it is to imagine the adventures which the others have probably witnessed.

And then the lessons that I have learned from my stamps—that the people of Brunei live in huts placed on stakes in the sands of the sea—the names of the great men of South America—O'Higgins, Bolivar, Miranda, Saavedra, Bonifacio, Hidalgo, San Martin and many others.

I know what the Argentine hall of Congress looks like and I have a miniature picture of Port Limon. I have an art-gallery of the kings and queens of the world and pictures of the most important events. From the stamps I have learned the names of the coins of nearly every country and their value in our money.

What is probably more important, stamp-collecting has led me to take an interest in the politics of foreign countries.

I come now to the third point—that stamps are easy to secure. This needs but little exposition. A fair collection may be secured with but an outlay of five dollars, while the possibilities are not exhausted by five hundred thousand dollars. For this reason collecting appeals to both the ordinary man and to the wealthiest.

Stamps do not take up so much space as do coins or birds-eggs or autographs. Moreover, they are more easily displayed and much more easily moved from one place to another.

Every collector knows that if he secures his stamps in excellent condition, and avoids the speculative issues, that he will be able to realize all that he paid for his stamps and doubtless a handsome profit if it ever becomes necessary for him to dispose of his collection.

In conclusion I wish to state that I believe if a man was cast ashore upon a desert island with nothing for company but a twelve thousand variety collection and a copy of his catalog, that if a ship ever came along to take him off that the men on the ship would be astonished by his knowledge along geographical and historical lines. The only things he would have missed while on the island would have been someone to swap with and an up-to-date new issue service.

UNITED STATES GRILLS.

1867 TO 1872—AS ACTUALLY ISSUED.

By WM. L. STEVENSON.

CHAPTER VII.

Grill Oddities and Varieties.

Split Grills.—This term is applied to specimens showing parts of two or more (occasionally four) different rectangles of grill on the same stamp from one operation, due to improper centering of the sheet with respect to the cylinder. They are freaks of the grilling operation and of about the same rank and importance as similarly rotten jobs of perforating where parts of two or more stamp designs show on one stamp paper. All such freaks are interesting and, of course, collectible but are hardly of variety rank.

Double Grills.—These are a little different thing. They cannot come from one application of the process. In most satisfactory copies seen, there was apparently a first attempt which was faulty in being either faint, slightly oblique, or badly centered to the stamp, or a combination of these faults. This was followed by a second attempt to correct the first. This second attempt is not always a complete success either.

It is possible that full sheets were occasionally thus doubly grilled but I think it more probable that in the general case a small part only of a sheet was so doubly impressed. On starting a sheet through the mechanism, it must have required quite close attention to prevent improper placing. Assuming that a sheet was started wrong, a bit obliquely, or a little too soon or too late, the natural thing to do would be to remove it after but a little of it was faultily impressed and to correct the error. A slight degree of obliquity would produce quite a displacement of the last row of grills produced while showing but little obliquity in any given grill rectangle.

Among grills, these specimens surely rank as grill varieties, and I so class them. Except for the differences in actual rarity of existence of the stamps themselves, there would be no reason why we could not expect to find double grills on each value. As things stand, the probabilities are against so finding them. As we locate this variety we can readily list it.

Inverted Grills.—These have been previously listed as existing, but not commonly. They would be grills applied from the direction opposite to that normal to their family; as, an E grill applied with points up. I do not think these occurred in full sheets. It is highly improbable. The best one I have seen was undoubtedly due to a sheet having been partly folded while grilled and the part folded, either under or over, received the grilling from the direction opposite to that of the rest of the sheet. Most folds seem to be oblique. That was the case with this specimen. The grill was oblique, points up, but otherwise a true G grill on a genuine 3c, 1869. I consider these true grill varieties.

I have also seen specimens listed as showing a normal grill and an inverted grill. These could occur from the workman noticing just such an invert as above, and correcting it by removing the sheet and taking out the fold. Correct processing of the sheet would then give the stamp a normal grill in addition. These may well exist. The only one I have seen showed a normal grill that was quite genuine while the inverted grill was undoubtedly a fake, applied as an afterthought, some years after. Such of these as exist are a sort of double grill and I would list them as a "double grill, one inverted."

Miracles.—Possibly the most interesting of grill varieties are the very few double grills which are so impressed that the second application extends the first one either straight endwise or straight sidewise, making a nearly perfect grill rectangle of an absolutely abnormal size. Of these, I have seen the 15c, 1869 with a grill of the proper width but 17 units long. The units of the doubly impressed rows almost exactly cover and only the slight obliquity and a very little difference in the depth of the two impressions shows it to be a double grill. I have a very similar miracle in the F grill and have recently seen one in the E grill, both on the 3c, 1867. These may have been earlier listed as of these abnormal areas. These are truly varieties of the double grill. I do not know what to call them except miracle double grills.

CHAPTER VIII.

Still Other Items.

Imperforates.—None of the imperforates listed seem to be more than essays or the customary trimmed perforate singles. As before mentioned, the only specimens seen of the catalogue No. 83a were undoubtedly either samples, essays, or fakes. It is possible that they do not belong to the period of the issued grills but to either the Continental or the American Bank Note Co. from a much later date. There are quite a few things we have never been told about these possibilities.

Essays.—These have their place in our study of our stamps from first to last regardless of how they came on the market. Our study of our grills will not be complete till we have an essay on essays. It is, however, unfair to them to list them as issued stamps, as unfair to them as to the stamps themselves. To list them improperly also has distinct traces of dishonesty, both commercial and philatelic.

It is to be hoped that some day we will be told the exact truth about all the existing unaccounted for oddities.

Counterfeits.—Such things also exist mainly in those varieties that with the grill bring rather high prices, though some of them are to be found on the cheapest values. I have also seen counterfeits on the Continental issue and even on the stamps of the American period. Most of those I have seen should not fool anyone with any exact knowledge of the genuine grills. A few are so well done as to be dangerous to anyone not fully familiar with grill details. There may be some that have always and always will fool us all. I doubt this. The faker almost invariably misses some essential detail or exaggerates some detail that impressed him strongly. Study only can be depended upon for protection in all cases.

The 5c and the 30c of the 1867 issue are listed as existing with the entire grill. Specimens of these exist and have been passed as O. K. However, until I have examined such items, I cannot take them seriously, for good reasons before stated. I have no confidence in them, certainly not as existing with the A grill with the biscuits from the female cylinder.

Specimens of the 1869 issue are listed as without grill, and they bring nice prices. Specimens of this issue do so exist with no traces of grill. I know it because I have found copies beyond suspicion as to origin (and I am quite suspicious); furthermore, I have made some myself.

This is a simple matter of proper wetting and proper pressure of some of the fainter grills of this period where the paper has not been much strained by the embossing. The catalogue is quite right in excluding the used stamps without gum. I am also afraid I could not bring myself to pay much for fully gummed ones either. Certainly I do not accept the general claim that there was one separate batch of grillless stamps of this issue which experts can differentiate perfected by shades, etc., as being the genuine non-grilled, high-priced ones. Collect them if you wish but spend your own money for them.

CHAPTER IX.

The Continental Grills.

Specimens of the work of this company exist in several values with a grill not produced by the National Co. I have been so far unable to obtain any satisfactory information regarding their origin, reason for existence, or as to the channels through which they came onto the market. To date, the best information is hazy but seems to indicate that they were produced by the Continental Bank Note Co. for some reason wholly unconnected with their use under the existing contract, either actual or prospective. They are supposed to have by some means reached the P. O. at Washington, D. C., and have there been regularly issued. These things may have some interest as being in actual existence, but it seems absolutely certain that the grills were never issued even if the stamps were. There is some distinction.

If anything better can be said for these stamps, I certainly wish someone with exact knowledge would tell us about them. I want justice done them whether it compels us to include them in our lists or makes us throw them out definitely as junk.

That, I think, covers nearly everything of first importance in our issued grills. Plenty of room remains for detailed investigation into other little details. These details are difficult to describe and description of them would be of no advantage to the average collector, or to many well above the average. When you have studied the subject till thoroughly familiar with the normals here described, you will find these little questions for yourselves. Till then, I hope this much of a discussion will be sufficient to keep you busy.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—"Fred Andrews of Sims, Ind., requested me, some time ago, to send him a selection of stamps on approval giving a number of business firms as references, all of which were fakes. A letter addressed to Andrews was returned unclaimed."—E. A. KAIREs.

—The Board of Directors of the A. S. D. A. have been unable to entertain applications for Associate membership recently on account of the peculiar reading of the Constitution. This will be remedied at the next convention.

—Introduced in the House of Representatives May 17, 1916, by Representative Wm. E. Cox, of Indiana:

Joint resolution authorizing the Postmaster General to prepare and provide for a distinct postage stamp for the one hundredth anniversary celebration of the State of Indiana.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Howard W. Blake, Gordon H. Crouch, W. G. Birdseye (2), Joseph L. Jelinek, Allen S. Davenport.

—We have been shown by A. W. Hutchinson a variety of the Cameroon "C. E. F." 2 1/2d on 25pf with the fraction bar missing.

—The New York press announces that Italy has forbidden the exportation and the German government the importation of used and unused postage stamps. It is reported that secret codes have been built upon the use of postage stamps sent through correspondence, and the facts becoming known resulted in the above decisions of the two governments in question.

—Remit $3.00 for a six-years' renewal of subscription to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY and we will send you free of charge Scott's 1916 catalog. We don't care when your subscription runs out. We do not sell the catalog independent of subscription renewals. If you want to buy one, patronize your favorite dealer.

FRIENDSHIPS IN PHILATELY.

By HARRY E. HUBER.

I have gotten much pleasure out of my stamps, and collecting in general—but philately would be rather barren to me if the personal element were eliminated. Capturing a needed stamp is a temporary pleasure—the chase is on again—this time after another stamp.

When I took up the stamps of the Cayman Islands, back in 1907, instead of getting them via the usual new issues method, I opened up correspondence direct with the Islands. By this means, I formed a friendship which has lasted these nine years, and I am hopeful that it may continue many more.

I have made friends of many folks in the Islands in the intervening years, and much to my surprise, and great pleasure, while on a vacation trip last August, New York to Mobile, via Mallory steamer, I met a gentleman from Grand Cayman, who proved to be a brother of my earliest correspondent.

Common interest in Caymanian postal matters brought me in touch with the late Chas. B. Bostwick, of New York, and a meeting with him in 1911.

Through mutual interests, letters have been exchanged with collectors in England and Scotland—and these collectors have proven not mere correspondents, but real friends.

THE SONORA "ANVIL" ISSUE.

F. E. Stevens of Nogales, Ariz., takes exceptions to the article which appeared in the WEEKLY February 12, in which it was stated that only the 5c and 10c values of the anvil issue were legitimately in circulation.

Mr. Stevens submits photographs of certificates covering details concerning this issue as well as a registered cover bearing the five values, 1, 2, 5, 10 and 20c, with Hermosillo registration number.

Among the certificates photographed are the following:

(a) One by Manuel Lacarra, postmaster general of the Villa government, made Oct. 26, 1915, stating that these stamps were in circulation in all of the state of Sonora as well as outside of the state, and used on ordinary mail, registered letters, parcel post, etc. Certified to before the American Consul at Nogales, Sonora.

(b) One from Miguel Serrano, postmaster at Hermosillo, confirming the preceding and adding that the registration book of the Hermosillo office shows the extensive use of all values. Certified before the French Consul at Hermosillo.

(c) One from Carlos Martinez in charge of the registry division, Hermosillo post office, affirming that these stamps were used in all the state of Sonora and outside the state, and that he personally registered many letters to which were affixed stamps of the 1, 2, 5, 10 and 20c values. Certified before the French Consul at Hermosillo.

Mr. Stevens states that Gov. Randall ordered the postmaster general to have the word "Plata" overprinted on the anvil issue and this was done on the 1, 10 and 20c values and in addition printed and issued a 50c value. This latter is printed in four rows, the upper two rows having the colored wreath while the lower two rows are without the wreath. The "Plata" issue did not circulate outside of the district of Hermosillo, which is one of the nine sub-divisions of Sonora, for the reason that there was no train service. They were circulated locally and to those points reached by stage. The certificates of Martinez and Lacarra bear witness to this effect.

MR. STEVENSON'S GRILL ARTICLE.

It is our intention to reprint in booklet form Mr. Stevenson's article on U. S. grills and the last instalment appears this week. We shall hold the matter in type for a possible Addenda, and any of our subscribers having grill information of value are requested to communicate with Mr. Stevenson, whose address is Flint, Mich. It is his desire to have the article authoritative in every respect, and correspondence is solicited. The matter must be given immediate attention.

P. O. MAURITIUS REPRINTS.

A subscriber calls our attention to the fact that a certain dealer is advertising reprints of the rare Post Office Mauritius. Under the opinion that this stamp has never been reprinted from the original plates we wrote to a well-known English dealer who replied as follows:

"I do not think there is any possibility of these stamps having been reprinted from the original plates, as they are in very first class hands. I am convinced that the owner would not permit anything of the kind. The reproductions are I believe photo-lithographic ones."

NEW DE LA RUE TOGOS.

The following Gold Coast stamps have been overprinted in black by Messrs. De La Rue and Co., in London, in the same type as the local surcharge, except that the overprint is somewhat clearer and is 1m wider than the original surcharge:—1d. plate 1, the 1/2d, 2d, 2 1/2d, 3d, 6d, 1s, 2s, 2s 6d, 5s, 10s and £1 duties printed from plate 5. The 2s and 2s 6d values have only so far been supplied for Gold Coast itself from plate 1.

The new printings are quite distinct in shade from the earlier supplies—notably the 1s (which is on lighter paper, with deep black ink), the 2s and the 2s 6d values. The 5s is of course the "yellow back."—Stamp Collecting.

WITH THE MANAGING EDITOR.

Look up the subscription number on your wrapper. That tells the whole story. The current whole number is 1326 and unless your number extends beyond 1326 your subscription has expired and should be renewed.

It takes two weeks to advance the whole number after a renewal has been received. Don't get anxious until we have had the full opportunity to make the change.

If you have ever been a subscriber to the WEEKLY don't try to pull a premium unless you are fully paid up and send in a new subscription.

The article on U. S. Grills will be reprinted in book form. This in reply to various letters.

Our next book venture will be "Range Tales," the most artistic production yet offered by us. It should be welcome in every philatelic library.

EDITORIAL.

Established—There will be an interesting addition to our postmarks judging from the following departmental order: The postmaster at San Francisco is authorized to establish a station in connection with the parcel-post exhibit at the People's Fair, in the Civic Auditorium, from June 3 to 10, 1916, inclusive, with facilities for the sale of postal supplies, the transaction of money-order, registry and parcel-post business, and the receipt and dispatch of mail.

Military—Mail from the soldiers in Mexico is now coming stampless with postage due, rated by stamps, charged at destination; and we have just received a United States postal card from "somewhere in Mexico" with the Columbus, New Mexico, postmark. Again, we must remark that no departmental orders have been issued from Washington that we have seen providing for the treatment of mail originating from our soldiers in Mexico.

Story—The "personal" columns of the great city newspapers are said to contain the elements of many a grim and startling "story" in the parlance of the reporter. Philately is the subject of one story, as in the "personal" column of the Chicago Daily News of May 17, 1916, the following lines appeared: "2 volumes postage stamps and catalogues taken from 1103 E. Jackson bd.; will partly kindly return same and receive liberal reward and no questions asked? Phone Harrison 7374." The following circular which has been prepared by the owner of the missing stamps is the key to the foregoing ad: "Stolen. 2 volumes of Postage Stamps, mounted on Morehouse Loose Leaf Sheets. One collection, United States, very complete including Canadian, Newfoundland, Hawaiian, Philippines, Guam, old letters and envelopes. One collection South American countries, A to H. If located, phone Police Department, Main 3756 or Pawn Shop Detail, Police Department, Main 447, or owner, J. B. Smellie, 1103, 26 E. Jackson Boulevard."

Amendment—The following departmental order is an amendment to Paragraph 2, Section 1610, Postal Laws and Regulations, by order of the postmaster-general:

"Railway postal clerks shall accept from the public, unless otherwise ordered, all mail matter, except that of the fourth class, upon which the proper rate of postage is paid; all matter in penalty envelopes or bearing the frank of any person entitled thereto by law; soldiers' and sailors' letters unpaid when duly certified; and matter of the first class upon which the stamps are canceled when re-addressed for forwarding."

Idle—It is a mistake for a member of the American Philatelic Society to discredit any suggestion of politics in the workings of the society and any pose for the purpose of suppressing a natural exuberance, let us say, once a year is a dangerous one. The desirability of centering the interest of members on the organization at a time when there is a lull in activity is recognized by many who think that a show of attention to nominations and election of officers should be encouraged. At any rate, it is futile to speak of any danger from politics at a time when it is difficult to stir the members to make nominations for office. We may say in this connection that a candidate for the office of secretary has declared himself in the person of Mr. H. T. Willcox, Jewett City, Connecticut, who has been a member of the society since 1911 and who has served on the recruiting committee to advantage. Mr. Willcox writes: "I have had the pleasure of proposing new members each year that I have belonged to the society. I am not interested in any other stamp society and therefore my loyalty and time would not be divided with any other philatelic organization. I can furnish the best commercial or business references. My best references, however, would be to refer you to the many collectors with whom I have had business relations along the line of my specialty—government booklet panes. I am not a dealer and if I am elected to this office, I would promise to fulfill all of the necessary duties faithfully and to the best of my ability." We know enough about Mr. Willcox to be able to say that we are gratified that a man of the equipment of Mr. Willcox has appeared on the horizon.

Limit—An ardent collector's idea of entertaining the object of his devotion was to read to her by the hour from the somewhat unexciting, even if instructive text books on stamp collecting. When asked what effect his zeal had, he said that the young lady was not really interested but had pretended to be for his sake. We had an idea that it was something for the fair to register the proper notch of enthusiasm when looking at his stamps but listening to him read aloud from a collectors' guide while the movies flourish all around is the double zero in entertainment.

Business—It is a subject for comment by the person newly introduced to philately, who has had business experience in general commercial lines in which a considerable amount of capital was invested, that the stamp dealers of the country have established no association or organization to represent their interests collectively. Latterly, there has been a movement on the part of dealers to support one or two protective bodies that have for their main object the defeat of fraud at the expense of the dealers. In this day, when friendliness among the followers of a given line of business is developing as never before and when modern methods prescribe a co-operation between trade-fellows, it may be surprising to the on-looker that philately has no purely commercial organizations. We may look for a manifestation at any time of the collective commercial spirit as it is almost certain that a progressive step of the kind will be taken. It would be fitting that such an organization did not restrict its activities to providing protection for its members but would engage in welfare work generally, such as deciding questions of ethics and answering commercial questions of conduct.

Argument—Our explanation to account for the absence of dealers' organizations in a line heavily capitalized as the stamp business is in the aggregate has been that in our philatelic organizations dealers took a prominent part as a rule and consequently, in promoting the common weal, they profited as well as all philatelists. This argument was fair enough and still has some basis, but latterly, the dealers while loyal enough members of our philatelic societies, do not seem to be so industrious in society work as they were once. At rare intervals anyway, it will be necessary to cope with problems that affect the dealer to a much greater extent than the collector and it follows that an organization for the dealers is strongly indicated. The time is propitious for a broad-gauge philatelic-trade organization and its creation would have an undoubted moral effect. For instance, it would still the undertone that stamp dealers are so narrow-minded and so jealous of one another that they cannot bring themselves to support a movement for the good of all.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF CANADA.

POSTAGE STAMPS.

22.—To enable the Public to prepay conveniently by Postage Stamps the foregoing rates, the following denominations of Postage Stamps for use throughout the Dominion, have been prepared, and will be supplied to Postmasters for sale:—

Half cent Stamps
One cent do.	All bearing, as a device, the effigy of Her Majesty.
Two cent do.
Three cent do.
Six cent do.
Twelve and a half cent do.
Fifteen cent do.

23.—The Postage Stamps now in use in the several Provinces may be accepted, as at present, in prepayment of letters, etc., for a reasonable time after the 1st of April; but from and after that date all issues and sales to the public will be of the new denomination.

The section regarding "Franking and Free Matter" provides that only letters sent to or by the Governor-General, the Speaker or Chief Clerk of the Senate or of the House of Commons, Parliamentary papers, and legislative documents, such as petitions, addresses, and votes, shall be carried free of postage.

The most important change effected by the above quoted regulations was the reduction of domestic postage from five cents to three cents. It will be noted there are now no prepaid 5c or 17c rates and but one at 10c (on letters sent to British Columbia and Vancouver Island) consequently these denominations were dropped from the new series. On the other hand the ½c rate on transient newspapers, which had to be prepaid, the regular 3c letter rate, the 6c rate to the United States, and 15c for the new British Packet rate made necessary the issue of these four values in addition to the 1c, 2c, and 12½c denominations, which were retained. All these stamps were printed by the line-engraved process, as in the case of the earlier issues, the sheets consisting of one hundred specimens arranged in ten horizontal rows of ten each. A new firm—the British American Bank Note Company, of Montreal and Ottawa—were entrusted with the manufacture of these stamps and, like their predecessors, they applied their imprint to the plates, so that it is shown four times on the margins of the sheets of the printed stamps. Mr. Howes describes the imprint as follows:—

The imprint appears in colorless capitals on a narrow strip of color with bossed ends, and reads BRITISH AMERICAN BANK NOTE CO., MONTREAL & OTTAWA. This strip is framed by a very thin parallel line, its entire width being but one millimeter, while its length is about 51 mm. It occurs but once on a side, being placed against the middle two stamps (numbers 5 and 6) of each row at a distance of about 3 mm. The inscription reads up on the left and down on the right, as before, but the bottom one is now upright, instead of being reversed.

In the case of the half cent stamp at least, we find an additional marginal imprint over the second and third stamps of the top row. This consists of the words HALF CENT, in shaded Roman capitals 4 mm. high, the whole being about 40 mm. long. Presumably the same thing, varied for each denomination, occurs on other values of the series, as we find it does on the succeeding issue; but a strip from the top of a sheet of the 15 cent stamps proves that it was lacking on that value at least.

The new stamps came into use on April 1st, 1868, and are all much alike in design. All values show a profile portrait of Queen Victoria, with head to right, on a background of horizontal lines within a circle, but the ornamentation and disposition of the inscriptions and numerals of value in the surrounding frame is different on each. The Stamp Collector's Magazine for May, 1868, in announcing the issue, gives a good description which we cannot forbear quoting, viz:—

We are now in possession of, as we presume, the entire series of stamps for the Dominion of Canada, consisting of seven values—½ cent, 1, 2, 3, 6, 12½, and 15 cents. It would be indeed odious to compare them with the issues for another confederation lately formed. They are the work of a newly-formed colonial company, and are worthy to take rank beside any which have been manufactured by the rival companies of New York. The design, as we stated last month in noticing the 15c—the first of the set to appear—bears a resemblance to that of the lower values of Nova Scotia, but shows the Queen's head turned to the right. The new "British American Bank Note Company, of Montreal and Ottawa", has done well to copy so good a device, and certainly has not spoiled it, as the English engravers did in the four penny South Australian. Moreover, whilst retaining the central figure, by enclosing it in a differently-patterned frame for each value, they have given greater variety to the series. In all, care has been taken to make the numerals distinct; and it is as well that this has been done, as two of the values assimilate considerably in shade. The half cent is distinguished from the rest by its smallness—it is quite one-third less in size, but the device is the same. The stamps are all printed on substantial paper, are perforated, and of the following colors:

½ cent black	3 cents vermilion
1 " dull red	6 " brown
2 " green	12½ " deep-blue
	15 cents mauve

The two lowest values are for newspapers, and are far from being acceptable, notwithstanding their beauty of design, to the journalists. It had been expected that newspapers would be sent throughout the Canadian provinces free of charge; and there has been in consequence, a loud but ineffectual outcry against the general imposition of even a reduced rate of postage, and more especially at the enactment, that the charge must be paid by senders. "Proprietors of journals," says the Quebec Chronicle, "find it hard enough at present to collect the simple subscription, without demanding postage in advance. People who writhe at present under the payment of their bare paper account, will find forwarding postage, in advance, an excruciating sacrifice." The 2 cents is no doubt primarily intended for soldiers' letters. The 3 cents pays the new single rate for postage; the 6 cents the charge on letters to the United States. The 12½c represents the postage to England; and the 15c the rate for letters sent via New York. Possibly a 10c will yet be added to the series, but the old 17c will find no substitute in it. The new rates came into operation on the 1st April, and we suppose on that date all the pre-existing stamps of Canada, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick were withdrawn.

The stamps of this series provide quite an extensive range of shades, especially as regards the 2c, 6c, and 15c. In the case of the latter value the range of tints is so great that it is difficult to know what was its originally intended color. The first shade was evidently mauve, as given in the Stamp Collector's Magazine chronicle, but, as is so frequently the case with mauves, lilacs and violets, tint variations were soon noticed. Shades varying from deep red lilac to grey and blue-grey are known. It is difficult to draw the line, in some instances, between true shades and "fades" but the grey would appear to be undoubtedly a true color variety and one that should be recognised as a pro-

M. GIWELB,

54 Strand, London, England
Established 1882 [4wkM]

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—The new envelopes are only a few weeks old, and yet the usual batch of so-called varieties due to imperfect printing is already at hand. Evidently this is due to the soft matrices used in the printing process, and which become quickly worn. This results in the coarsening and spreading out of the letters and lines of the design. Raymond R. Freshwater and others have called our attention to minor varieties created in this manner, such as "T" and "S" in "Cents" joined; "O" and "S" in "Postage" joined; "P," "O" and "S" in "Postage" joined, and other similar freaks caused by the spreading of the letters.

Mr. Freshwater also reports having seen the new 2c envelope, with half of the stamp "Albino." Evidently the new contractors propose to repeat the poor printing of the previous series of envelopes, a series that would be considered a disgrace if provided as sales slips in a department store, or as transfer slips for a street railroad.

AUSTRALIA.—Mr. Morse reports the receipt of a letter card and envelope especially for the use of those writing to the troops. The principal line is "Military Letter Card" and is followed by the usual lines for name and military address, six in all.

The Australian Stamp Journal chronicles two new envelopes.

Military Letter Card.

1d carmine (K. G.) on gray, perf. E.

Envelope.

4d orange and carmine on manila.

Military Envelope.

1d carmine on white; 5/4x3 9-16 inches.

Registration Envelope.

CANADA.—We are informed by Gordon H. Crouch that the 3c war stamp will soon be issued in an entirely new color. We are not at all surprised at this. The similarity between the present stamp and the regular 2c is very confusing.

CANAL ZONE.—We are also indebted to L. D. Van Valkenburgh for specimens of the new envelopes, as chronicled in No. 1323.

FIJI.—The Australian Stamp Journal reports that the new 1/4d stamp announced in No. 1324, on the authority of the Colonial Journal, was actually issued in the Islands April 1. The same paper says that the new "War Stamp" overprint is found on the 1d carmine stamps, printed from plate 1, as well as on the 1d scarlet stamps, printed from plate 5.

Adhesive.

1/4d brown.

FRENCH INDIA.—Two provisional envelopes are reported by Maury's Collectionneur as having been issued in this colony. The quantities printed were 500 of the 15c and 1742 of the 25c, the overprint being the figures "10" with a diagonal line over the previous value. The surcharge is in red in both cases.

Provisional Envelopes.

10c on 15c gray on green.

10c on 25c blue on pink.

INDIA.—Bundi.—Another value has been added to the series of 1915.

Adhesive.

8a orange.

Kishengarh.—A new rupee value has been added to the 1915 series.

Adhesive.

2r dark green.

JAMAICA.—Apropos the item in No. 1325 regarding the overprinting of the current 1/2d stamp for fiscal purposes,

Harry E. Huber reports a post card just to hand from Jamaica has the war tax paid by means of an unsurcharged 1/2d Arms type stamp, indicating that ordinary stamps may be used for this purpose as well as the special "War Stamp" surcharges.

MEXICO.—Raymond R. Freshwater sends used specimens of the 50c stamp of 1910, overprinted with the new "G. P. DE M." design, horizontally in red; and the 20c of the same issue, with the overprint in black, reading up on the left. The latter has the additional overprint of "Gobierno—$—Constitucionalista" in black, also reading up.

Rush B. Johnson calls attention to the fact that the "$" mark on all these "Gobierno—$—Constitucionalista" overprints is placed indifferently right or wrong way up.

MIDDLE CONGO.—The New England Stamp Co. has shown us a Red Cross stamp issued for this Colony, the 10c carmine and pale blue of 1907, having been surcharged with a cross and "5c" in black, evidently done locally with a rubber stamp.

NEW ZEALAND.—The Australian Stamp Journal reports having seen "the 1/2d King George stamp printed on the paper which had been used for the large pictorial stamps. The new arrival will give philatelists something to consider, for owing to the fact that the watermarks do not fit the stamps, several remarkable varieties occur. For instance, while the N. Z. and star appear in their normal position on some stamps, on others the N. Z. is to be found at the bottom of the stamp and the star above it; others only show small portions of the watermark, while some do not show any watermark whatever. It will consequently be necessary to have large blocks and perhaps blocks from different portions of the sheets in order to show the full extent of the varieties. This innovation is a novel one, but it goes to show what may be expected so long as the war lasts."

Continuing, the same paper says: "We got a severe shock when we received shortly afterwards a supply of 1/2d King George stamps, surface printed, from a design similar to the recently issued 1/2d engraved stamps. We say similar, but we had to refer to the back of the stamp to see that the paper was watermarked before we could decide that it was not a forgery. It is such a clumsy production that many people will hesitate about accepting it as genuine, and we are somewhat astonished that those responsible sanctioned its appearance."

"We have received from a correspondent in New Zealand the 8d King Edward stamp, perf. 14x13 1/2. In consequence of the alteration in the postal rates of New Zealand, this denomination has again been brought into use."

O. Kendall reports having seen the 2d in yellow instead of violet as announced in No. 1324.

Adhesives.

1 1/2d grey, engraved, large pictorial paper.

1 1/2d grey, surface printed, wmk. N. Z. & star, perf. 14x15.

PERSIA.—Bright & Son report the following varieties of Persian provisionals: "Used copies of the recent 5Ch on 1 Kran overprinted on the 1909 issue, with overprint inverted; also, the same stamp with double overprint; also, a block of four of the 1Ch on 13Ch, 1914 overprint, in which the left hand stamp at top, and the right hand stamp at the bottom of the block of four have the surcharge inverted, and in addition, there is an additional overprint which comes right in the centre of the four stamps, showing a portion of the double overprint of each stamp."

NEW YORK 5c 1845.

We have had reprints made of the plates of the 5c New York as printed in our issue of Feb. 26. The reprints are on heavy stock and will be sent rolled on receipt of 10c per copy, to cover expense of mailing.

a resume of the last convention of that society held in Boston.

Mr. Ralph N. Hall exhibited a fine collection of British Colonials. His collection of Cape of Good Hope was practically complete, and his Canada and other countries exhibited had many fine covers and single stamps which would be hard to duplicate. The counterfeit collection belonging to the Society was exhibited and aroused considerable interest. Mr. Frederick S. Cook showed a very interesting collection. He has taken the book on "Commemorative Stamp" written by Mr. Jas. H. Lyons and placed over the half-tone cuts the stamps themselves, only two or three being lacking. The attendance was 28. The application of Mr. Howard S. Wheeler, a former member, was posted.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

Philatelic Cartoons.—Published by the Essex Pub. Co., Lynn, Mass. This book is the work of Leroy S. Bartlett, with a foreword by Walter M. Simpson. The readers of the WEEKLY are familiar with Mr. Bartlett's work as from time to time we have reprinted some of his cartoons by courtesy of the New England Philatelist. In the book before us are no fewer than thirteen cartoons and the descriptive matter by Mr. Simpson furnishes all that is needed to make the book a thoroughly enjoyable one. One thing is missing from the book, viz:—the price at which it is sold. Information can no doubt be obtained by interested parties by addressing the publishers as above.

visional, if wholly unintentional, color change. Scott, in fact, lists it as a separate issue under the date 1875-77, but this is an arbitrary classification which has, apparently, no foundation in fact, and the best plan is to include the variety in its logical place with the rest of the 1868 series.

The paper used for this set of stamps is what is generally known as "wove" and it varies, as Mr. Howes states, "from a very thin, almost pelure quality to a quite hard and thick variety." Mr. King, who was evidently untiring in his efforts to discover varieties of paper, says, "This series is of a most interesting nature, having a very large number of varieties of paper, all quite distinct, and specimens of some are of considerable rarity." Mr. King then lets himself go and describes some seventeen varieties of paper but, with the exception of two well marked varieties to which we shall make extended reference shortly, they all seem to resolve themselves into minute variations of the wove paper such as can be found in connection with most stamps of the 'sixties and 'seventies with the aid of a micrometer and a well trained imagination! We doubt whether any specialist, however willing and enthusiastic, could follow Mr. King through his intricate listing.

Scott's catalogue lists a sub-variety of all values except the 1/2c on "watermarked" paper. The watermarked letters found in these stamps were known at least as early as 1870 and much speculation was rife as to their meaning. Mr. John N. Luff finally solved the problem by assembling a large number of the watermarked stamps so that he was able to reconstruct the complete watermark, viz:—

E. & C. BOTHWELL
CLUTHA MILLS

The letters are large double lined capitals 12 1/2 mm. high with the exception of the initial letters E, C and B of the upper line, which are 13 mm. high. The "watermark" is, of course, the trademark of the paper manufacturer and, like other watermarks of a similar nature, it is not of very great philatelic importance. It is very generally presumed that the paper watermarked in this manner was used provisionally—an opinion with which Mr. Howes seems to concur by his statement that "the watermarked paper must therefore have been used sometime during the course of the year 1868, probably the middle, when supplies of all values except the 1/2c were printed." But we fail to find from any evidence so far adduced that this watermarked paper was in use only during some well defined period. The fact that it is not found in connection with the 1/2c proves nothing for this value was of a different size from the others and doubtless paper of a different size, but the same quality was used so as to prevent unnecessary waste in cutting into sheets for printing. At best, as we have already stated, it is but a papermaker's trade mark, and it is difficult to understand on what grounds it is included in the catalogue as a variety to the exclusion of similar and well known examples in the stamps of other countries. We must confess that more importance seems to be attached to the variety than is warranted by its philatelic status and we commend to our readers' attention Major E. B. Evans' pertinent comments regarding it, viz:—

We feel bound to state that, unless the paper itself is of a different nature from the plain wove, this watermark seems to us to possess no interest whatever. It is evidently entirely unofficial, and it is quite possible that it only occurred in one sheet out of several of identically the same paper.

The other variety of paper which calls for special mention is a "laid" paper found in connection with the 1c and 3c values. It is obviously a true "laid" paper, the laid lines being very distinct, fairly wide and quite evenly spaced. While the use of this paper was, no doubt, quite unintentional, it is a distinct variation from the normal wove which cannot be ignored by specialists, though we hardly think it is entitled to rank as a "major" variety as shown by the classification followed in Scott's catalogue. The 3c was discovered first and was mentioned in the Philatelic Record for March, 1882, as follows:—"Mr. Tapling informs us that he possesses the 3 cents red, issue of 1868, on laid paper." A few months later Mr. Corwin discovered a copy of the 1c which he described in the National Philatelist for January, 1883, as follows:—

Some time since I saw noted in the Philatelic Record the existence of a 3 cent Canada stamp, emission of 1868, on laid paper. In looking through my Canadian varieties, after reading this note, I discovered also a copy of the one cent red, same emission, on laid paper.

This laid paper was evidently used during the printing of the early supplies of the 1c and 3c denominations. Scott's catalogue lists the varieties under the date "1870" but we can find no evidence of any kind in support of this classification. Messrs. Corwin and King record a copy of the 1c postmarked November 27th, 1868, and the 3c is known dated August 31st, 1868, all of which points to the early use of this laid paper. The 15c on "thin paper, horizontally laid" was mentioned in the American Journal of Philately for October, 1892, on the authority of Mr. F. de Coppet but as the variety is not now catalogued and no copy seems to be known we presume its authenticity is a debatable question. The 1c, orange, was at one time listed on laid paper but this has been satisfactorily proved to be simply a "figment of the imagination".

In his article in the London Philatelist Mr. C. L. Pack describes the 15c as existing on "distinctly soft ribbed paper". Mr. King gives "ribbed" varieties for all values on both thin and thick soft paper but, as in the case of the earlier Canadian stamps found on ribbed paper, we think a lot of proof is yet necessary before these varieties can be accepted as anything better than accidental vagaries of printing.

The perforation used for the stamps of this series had a gauge of 12, as with the stamps of the preceding issue, and was the work of single line or guillotine machines. That is, each line of perforation, both horizontally and vertically, represented a separate stroke on the machine. The Monthly Journal for February, 1899, lists a minor variety of perforation in the 2c, 3c, 6c, 12 1/2c and 15c denominations in which the measurement is 11 1/2 x 12. Whether a machine with a gauge of 11 1/2 was in temporary use at some time or other is uncertain but if such was the case it seems strange that no copies are known perf. 11 1/2 all round or perf. 12 x 11 1/2. Even if it were due to a slight error in the placing of the perforating needles in some part of the full row it is strange that specimens gauging 12 x 11 1/2 are not known. We have been unable to find any further references to these varieties other than that stated above so that, until more information is forthcoming on the subject, they should be accepted with reserve.

The 15c of this series is known entirely imperforate and Mr. Howes records the 1/2c as existing in a horizontal pair, imperforate between.

The only "split" found in connection with this series occurs in the case of the 6c denomination, diagonal halves of which are known to have done postal duty as 3c. These appear to have been entirely unauthorized though, as they undoubtedly passed through the mail, they have an interest to collectors of stamps on cover.

N. Z. PHILATELIC IRREGULARITIES.

Mr. John Mackay, the New Zealand Government Printer, who is shortly retiring on superannuation, is signalling his last year of office by perpetrating quite a list of "philatelic irregularities," shall we call them? First of all comes the installation of a new perforator gauging 14x13 1/2. This was applied to three denominations of the Edward VII. series, the 3d, 6d and 8d, but only in conjunction with the 14x14 1/2 machine, in the manner described by us in our February issue, that is the four top rows are perforated 14x13 1/2 and the remaining six rows 14x14 1/2. The issue of Georgians cannot be classed as irregularities except in so far as concerns the same dual perforation in most of the values. This irregularity, by the by, has not yet been found in the 2 1/2d, 4 1/2d, 5d, 7 1/2d or 1sh values. The increase in the rates of postage and stamp duties for war purposes was the cause of the varieties next in chronological order. The receipt stamp duty was raised from 1d to 2d. The colour of the latter stamp, a rich mauve, was found to be unsuitable for use as a receipt stamp, as the rubber stamps largely used in offices failed to efficiently cancel the stamp. It was therefore decided to transpose the colours of the 2d and 4d; the former has already been issued in the original orange-yellow of the 4d, and the latter will shortly be issued in the original mauve of the 2d. The addition of 1/2d to the ordinary postage rates has had a further effect in upsetting the existing arrangements.

The 1 1/2d stamp originally intended for the parcel rate of 1 lb. has now become the stamp most largely in demand for ordinary letters and therefore unsuitable (from the printer's point of view) for printing from the recess plate. A new plate of similar design but adapted for surface printing has accordingly been prepared and stamps from it have been issued. The newcomer is anything but a creditable production. Philatelists will say that compared with its predecessor it looks like a clumsy forgery, and its appearance should never have been sanctioned. Still, it will serve its purpose from a postal point of view. On the other hand, the increase of 1/2d has rendered the 4 1/2d and 7 1/2d, intended for 3 lb. and 5 lb. parcels, unsaleable, the new rates being 5d and 8d, respectively. The 8d stamp was not included in the Georgian series, and it has become necessary to print further supplies of the Edward VII. stamp of that value. Eightpence is now the minimum rate for a telegram, instead of 6d as formerly. The stamp is therefore largely in demand for that purpose.

Another irregularity which preceded the issue of the 1 1/2d King George surface printed must also be put down to the war. Owing to a threatened paper famine, and to the fact that the Cowan paper specially watermarked for the pictorial 2 1/2d and 9d is no longer required for those stamps, Mr. Mackay, with that care and consideration for the country's purse which has always characterised him, determined apparently to use up the small amount of that paper left unprinted, and has chosen the opportunity for so doing in the demand for a further printing of the 1 1/2d. Accordingly that value is now to be found on the paper described on p. 41 of the "History of New Zealand Stamps," and there marked (b). In this paper the watermarks are 24 mm. apart, and the consequence is that the 2nd and 7th vertical rows have completely escaped the watermark, while in the 4th, 5th, 9th, 10th and 12th rows only very small portions of the watermark appear.

After all it does not seem that any of the above mentioned irregularities were due to Mr. Mackay's "cussedness," as some collectors have thought—and said—but rather to the exigencies of the moment arising from circumstances not under his control.—Aust. Stamp Journal.

POSTAGE STAMPS OF THE CANAL ZONE.

By WILLIAM EVANS.

CHAPTER IV.—First Series.

The first series consisted of three values, 2c, 5c and 10c. These were first issued on June 24, 1904, and continued to be used for twenty-four days, or until July 17, 1904, and were not available for postage after that date.

Fortunately, Dr. J. C. Perry, a surgeon in the U. S. Marine Hospital service, and a philatelic student was stationed at Ancon at this time and to his efforts and investigations we owe much of the information recorded concerning this and some of the later series. In regard to the first series he says:

"The first issue of stamps was authorized by executive order of the Governor of the Canal Zone, which provided that a limited number of stamps of the Panama Republic should be secured and surcharged 'Canal Zone' in order to meet the demands of the postal service until the United States stamps properly surcharged could be obtained from Washington. The supply was carefully guarded and a person was only allowed to purchase, at one time, stamps to the value of one dollar silver, or fifty cents U. S. currency. The executive order also cautioned persons against buying or keeping quantities of these stamps, as they would not be available for postage after a certain date, and such as were in the possession of persons not be redeemed. However, this note of warning was unnecessary as it was impossible to secure any quantity of these stamps." The order as to the number to be purchased at one time was evidently disregarded as blocks of the 5c and 10c values are known containing stamps to a greater value than that specified.

The stamps purchased from the Panama government to meet the requirements of this order were the two centavos of the third Panama surcharge, and the 5 and 10 centavos of the fourth Panama surcharge. A new surcharge was added by the United States authorities, which consisted of the words "CANAL ZONE" in one line of Roman capitals. This surcharge was applied by a rubber hand stamp, the ink

The surcharge on some of the stamps appears to differ slightly from that on others and the question has arisen as to whether one rubber stamp was used or more than one. On this subject, Dr. Perry in the article above quoted says: "I can positively answer that there was only one printing of the genuine specified above, and that only one rubber stamp was used in surcharging the stamps placed in use by the government. Only one rubber stamp was purchased, and the person who supervised the surcharging assures me that only one stamp was used. Some slight differences may seem to exist, but all such are due to the quantity of ink on the rubber stamp or the force with which it was applied in surcharging."

These three stamps are each worthy of special study and will be taken up separately.

The Two Cents Rose.

This value is scarcer than either of the others and presents many more minor varieties owing to its being of the third Panama surcharge which was particularly well supplied with errors. In studying these stamps one must bear in mind that the Panama surcharge, consisting of a colored bar at the top and the word "PANAMA" at each side of the stamp in the same color as the bar, was first applied to the stamps of the Colombian Republic and that afterward the "CANAL ZONE" surcharge was applied to the surcharged Panama stamps.

The errors of the third Panama surcharge are numerous. The most important of these are the one mentioned above showing the word "PANAMA" reading upward and downward on the same stamp instead of in the same direction on both sides of the stamp, and one in which this word is 15 mm. instead of 13 mm. long. This is found to occur on eight stamps in each half sheet or sixteen in the sheet. These are Nos. 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96,

CHAPTER VIII.

The 1c Orange of 1869.

The 1c and 3c stamps of 1868 were so alike in color that it was soon found that confusion was easily possible between the two values. Early in 1869, therefore, the color of the 1c was changed to orange to prevent further mistakes. The exact date at which this change took place is not known, but in the Stamp Collector's Magazine for March 1st, 1869, we read:—

We have just received copies of the one cent printed in brilliant orange. No doubt this colour has been adopted in order better to distinguish it from the 3 cents, which it has hitherto too nearly approached.

From the above extract it would seem that the orange colored stamps were in use at least as early as February and though it has been asserted that the change took place on January 1st, 1869, we believe there are no official documents or early dated specimens in existence that would substantiate this statement.

These 1c stamps may be found in both orange and yellow shades as well as a combination of both. So far as is known they were printed from the same plate or plates as the earlier brown-red stamps.

The paper is the same as that used for the other denominations, i. e. wove, and the fact that this variety is not known with the watermark of the paper-maker's trade mark is generally adduced as the strongest evidence in support of the theory that this watermarked paper was only of a provisional nature and was used some time during 1868.

The perforation is the usual 12 and specimens are known entirely imperforate.

CHAPTER IX.

The Large 5c Stamp.

Although it somewhat interrupts the chronological sequence of our narrative, before dealing with the small "cents" stamps, first appearing in 1870, it will be as well to give the history of the large 5c stamp which, though not issued until 1875, really belongs by virtue of its type and general appearance to the series of 1868.

It is known that the die for this 5c stamp was engraved in 1867 at the same time the dies for the ½c, 1c, 2c, 3c, 6c, 12½c and 15c values were prepared for, in the American Journal of Philately for June, 1868, it is stated:—

The Canadian Government have had a 5 cent stamp prepared, engraved of the same type as the present set, the most noticeable difference being the circle round the head which is corded. The specimen sent us is printed in brown on India paper, bearing the Company's imprint underneath.

Though the die was all ready, as amply proved by the above extract, no plate was made as there was then no postal rate which required such a denomination. In 1875, however, the single letter rate between Canada and Great Britain was reduced to 5c as stated in the Postmaster-General's Report for 1875, viz.:—

tion of uniform postal rates and regulations for International correspondence, was arranged and signed at Berne, Switzerland, in October, 1874, by the representatives of the Post Offices of the chief Nations of the world. This agreement took effect between all the countries which were directly parties to the Treaty in July last. The Treaty did not include the British Possessions beyond the sea, but Canada has, with the concurrence of the Imperial Government, applied for admission as a member of this Postal Union. Meanwhile the letter rate of postage between Canada and the United Kingdom has, by arrangement with the Imperial Post Office, been reduced to the International rate of 2½ pence sterling—5 cents currency—established by the Union Regulations; and this reduction has also been made applicable to correspondence passing by way of New York, making the rate between Canada and the United Kingdom uniform at 5 cents by whatever route conveyed.

Although the Report alluded to above is dated June 30th, it must have been published at a later date as the "July last" mentioned refers to July, 1875, and when the 5 cent rate came into operation stamps to fit this new rate were wanted in such a hurry that, as a temporary expedient, a plate was made from the die engraved in 1867 pending the preparation of a die conforming to the small sized stamps then in general use. There was only one printing and the total number issued is believed to have been about one million. Mr. Howes says it was issued on October 1st, 1875.

In 1877 the 5c single letter rate was, by treaty, extended to embrace the German states of Prussia, Baden, Bavaria, Hanover, Saxony and Wurtemberg and in the same year the rate on a single letter to Newfoundland was reduced from 6c to 5c. At this time, of course, the small sized 5c stamps were in use but it will better preserve the continuity of our study of the postal rates to make one more extract from the Postmaster-General's Reports—that for 1878,—viz.:

At the meeting of the International Postal Congress, which, under the provisions of the Postal Treaty of Berne, concluded in October, 1874, took place at Paris in May, 1878, Canada was admitted to be a member of the General Postal Union from the 1st July, 1878, and in consequence the rate of letter postage between Canada and all Europe became one uniform charge of 5 cents per half ounce. Newspapers and other printed matter, and samples and patterns of merchandise also became subject to uniform postage rates and regulations for all destinations in Europe.

The 5c rate was, thus, now well established, and Canada had obtained membership in the Universal Postal Union, for which she had been striving since 1875.

This large 5c stamp was printed by the line-engraved process, like the other denominations of similar designs. The portrait forming the centrepiece is like that on the values of 1868 though the medallion is enclosed within a "corded" circle instead of an ordinary plain line. "CANADA POSTAGE" is curved above the portrait, as usual, while below is "FIVE CENTS". The numerals, shown in the lower corners, are somewhat smaller than those on the other denominations of this type.

WANTED

I would like to hear from collectors having any stamps or entire sets with

MASONIC CANCELLATIONS.
 I would also like an entire with Ann Arbor, Mich., postmark dated August 17, 1866. I am not particular as to denomination.
E. B. HILL, MESA, ARIZONA.

The stamps were printed in sheets of 100, in ten rows of ten, and with regard to the marginal imprints Mr. Howes tells us that "The sheet bore four marginal imprints, arranged as before, but of a slightly different type for the 1868 issue. This new imprint is in capitals and lower case letters on a colored strip 56 mm. long and 2½ mm. wide, with a border of pearls, and reads: 'British American Bank Note Co. Montreal'. Doubtless the words FIVE CENTS in shaded Roman capitals would be found over the second and third stamps of the top row if one were fortunate enough to possess this portion of a sheet."

The stamps were printed on the wove paper then in use and perforated 12 in the usual manner.

ADVERTISING WE DECLINE.

"Mint parcel post dues" for the reason that the P. O. Department does not permit their sale and we do not care to lend the columns of the WEEKLY to advertising publicity of this kind.

General advertising of stamps at "big discounts." If you want to use a bigger discount than 50%, name the stamps you want to sell. Thus dealer and collector both are protected.

Pound mixtures of any kind, as the ordinary collector expects too much when he buys stamps in this form. The whole WEEKLY staff sleeps better nights for having cut out pound mixtures.

"The repairing of stamps" comes under the ban. We cannot accept advertising of this character.

EDITORIAL.

On—The question of the removal of any of the stamp taxes on July 1, 1916, may be answered by the statement that they will be continued. It is a foregone conclusion that no change will be made before January next; and the internal revenue offices are making their plans accordingly.

Matches—Our attention has been called rather belatedly to an illustration in a London newspaper of the fiscal stamp designed in 1871 but never used in the United Kingdom, to pay a tax on matches. The stamp has central design of torch surrounded by the inscription, "ex luce lucellum," (out of light a little profit) with "Half" at top and "Penny" below. It is said: "The match tax was regarded in 1871 as a frivolous measure, although it was at first favoured by Parliament. A procession of tattered matchmakers to Westminster to protest against it gave the coup de grace to the measure—but not before trial proofs of the duty stamp—printed in a pale blue and now become very rare—had been prepared. The idea was borrowed from America which at that date made 400,000 pounds a year from the tax." From a fiscal catalogue we learn that the stamps authorized by a bill introduced April 20, 1871, were withdrawn April 25, 1916. The stamps were appraised at thirty shillings, imperforate and fifty shillings when rouletted.

Nominations—There is activity in American Philatelic Society circles and nominations have been made that ensure competition for the office of secretary. Cleveland has a candidate in the person of Otto F. Moses of that city who won his spurs in secretarial work for the local society and the United States Revenue Stamp Society; and he has received the endorsement of the Philadelphia Branch. We quote from a letter: "While Mr. Kidder of Arlington, Mass., would be a very acceptable candidate yet under the by-laws he could not serve from the same state as the candidate for president, Mr. Howes." By the same process, W. H. Barnum, a director is eliminated as a factor by Mr. Moses' candidacy. No doubt, there are other candidates and we are pleased to hear that the offices in our oldest national organization are considered the honor that they are.

Primitive—What has become of the old-fashioned postmaster who used a bright shade of purple ink for his cancellation stamp but who would not indulge in the postmark contraption so long as his trusty quill held out and the ink-well did not run dry? Mr. E. D. Swartout of San Francisco is hot on his trail and sends clues that are strong ones. From Forest Knolls, California, there came a letter with a four ring target cancellation in a red purple and the hand-written inscription at the left of the stamp: "Forest Knolls, May 8, 1916, 5.55 P. M." It must be admitted that the inclusion of the time so precisely in the postmark rather disturbs the old-fashioned atmosphere that clings to the markings.

Eloquence—One of our veteran philatelists writes interestingly and suspecting, no doubt, that we would publish his ripe remarks, signs himself, "Old-Timer." He says: "Your observations on philatelic eloquence appealed to me and they started a train of thought that whirled me back through the space of many years. I agree with you that John K. Tiffany was the best orator who ever glorified philately but perhaps in a humbler sense there were others who had their moments of triumph before philatelic congregations. Some of those I have in mind no longer are with us but others of them are. I remember well how Joe F. Beard, Muscatine, Iowa, though not a finished speaker brought down the house at Niagara Falls in 1894 by saying that everything in Iowa that year had been dried up, including himself; and in this connection, it must be explained that Mr. Beard's reference to himself was not without point. We doubt whether Congressman Luther Mott of Oswego, New York, remembers how in the same year at the convention of the Philatelic Sons of America at Niagara Falls, he scored a great hit by his humorous account of the penalties of fame as exemplified by his office of treasurer of the P. S. of A. and of the amazing sort and condition of the unused stamps that were the favorites for remitting dues. Clarence Thurston, the son of ex-Senator Thurston of Omaha, at the conventions held at Minneapolis in 1896, showed a precocity in extemporaneous speaking that charmed his elders and we who followed his career with expectancy were shocked to hear that he committed suicide some years later, according to the newspapers. One of my earliest recollections in an oratorical way is that of an address by Charles H. Mekeel at a New York banquet which created something of a furore. In fact, the speaker had his traducers who said that Mr. Mekeel's speech was not extemporaneous but he was easily vindicated as it was proved that he had made merely a few preliminary notes on his cuff or a card before arising. I could continue in this way,—but I perceive that you are beginning to tire."

June—In this flourishing month when the country hangs on the words of the graduates from the countless seats of learning, the hope is voiced that as usual there will be a few to whom philately is so intimate and interesting that it will be selected, in different of its phases, as a graduation theme. We know that in the past, stamp collecting has been exploited to the advantage of the one who was bold enough to seek his subject beyond the pale of the conventional. For instance, "History as Told by Stamps," affords scope for effective treatment.

Titter—"I must tell you," writes a feminine reader, "of the appalling philatelic accident, I suppose that you could call it, that has befallen me. Anyway, I have been giggling ever since. I was among the guests at an exclusive club affair the other afternoon and it was arranged that each of those present write her name on a blank card that was distributed for the purpose. I wrote my name and put the card in my bag, awaiting its collection. It was gathered up later and the next day all the newspapers included in the list of among those present, the name of Negri Sembilan,—but my own was missing! I had given out the wrong card on which I had made the notation to look up the pronunciation of 'Negri Sembilan' at the library. The club ladies are somewhat scandalized and wondering who this black swan could have been; and it is hard for me to keep a straight face when I hear them express their theories. Of all things!"

Welcome—The editor has been appointed one of the mayor's entertainment committee by states, to attend to the pleasures of delegates to the Chicago Republican national convention. Virginia is his state and it would be a jolly coincidence if there should be a collector or two among the delegates.

U. S. 1c COIL, PART PERF.

A correspondent in the Philatelic Gazette gives an interesting bit of information which we quote:—

Much interest has recently been aroused because of the appearance of the 1910, 1c Franklin, single lined watermark in coils, imperforate between every other pair. This was supposed to have been an official Government issue or rather error but any one familiar with the perforating machines at the Bureau would know at a glance that such a coil could not exist unless intentional.

Thinking that these were made up for some special mailing machine I wrote Director Ralph, knowing that the Bureau would keep a record of such a transaction. He expressed surprise and requested the strip on approval for inspection. After receiving and inspecting these stamps very carefully he writes under date of April 14 as follows:

"I am in receipt of your letter of the 13th instant, acknowledging receipt of the Bureau letter of the 12th instant, and enclosing a strip of four 1 cent stamps, issue of 1910, head of Franklin, from the coils of which every other stamp is imperforate, forwarded to this Bureau for inspection, and information as to how these stamps came to be perforated in the manner shown.

"In reply I beg to state that stamps perforated in the manner in which the 1 cent strip sent by you is, were not executed in this Bureau. The explanation, however, of the unusual perforations of these stamps is simple. This Bureau furnishes sheets of stamps in imperforate condition which are sold by postmasters to dealers for use in specially designed slot machines. These dealers perforate these stamps so that they may be used in the special slot machines manufactured by them. The stamps which you enclose were, no doubt, perforated by some dealer for use in his slot machine."

Under the circumstances this interesting variety will have to rank with the other private perforated coil stamps. But even to establish its place in this class it will have to be shown that there is a machine designed that will feed such a strip and that it was not made for the collector.

The "Premier Bonanza Packet No. 14" bears the stamp of approval of over 50,000 buyers. It is the logical development by a company that for fifteen years has been the recognized leader in the postage stamp assembling progress. Leadership always gravitates to the fittest. When a product ceases to represent the highest value, good-will and leadership are lost. That the "Premier Bonanza" is the leader among postage stamp assemblies is evidenced by the fact that it is highly recommended by the foremost societies and collectors in every locality.

1000 different postage stamps ONLY from all parts of the world. Fine specimens—no trashy junk. Many desirable stamps, choice sets and high values. Plenty list from 6c to 50c each. Lot catalogs $30.00, $2.45 ONLY.

AUSTRALIAN CROWN A WMKS.

The following illustration will help solve the very difficult problems connected with the locating of these watermarks. We are indebted to the Stamp Lover for it:—

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Josephene Hughes to Mr. Harold S. Powell May 24 at Sioux City, Iowa. They will be at home after June 1 at 123 Cayuga St., Storm Lake, Iowa. Hearty congratulations are extended Mr. and Mrs. Powell.

—The Milwaukee Sentinel of May 21 contained a lengthy and interesting story in connection with the exhibit of war stamps now being displayed in the museum of the University of Wisconsin at Madison. The exhibit consists of Mexican war stamps and the writer of the article, evidently a philatelist, treats of the several classes of so-called war stamps in such a manner as would interest even those who are not stamp collectors.

—In paying for subscriptions or books we naturally prefer a money order or check, but if you must remit in stamps let it be high values from 4c to 30c. We can handle these conveniently and dispose of them more readily than the 1c and 2c values.

—If you don't know when your subscription expires look at the Whole Number on the wrapper of this week's paper and compare it with the Whole Number indicated on the first page of the WEEKLY. That tells the story.

—Subscribers frequently ask for receipts on subscription remittances. We gladly send them when return postage is included. In two weeks your whole number will be changed.

—Under the heading of 'Printers Waste' you refer to some stamps, Bela Szekula had bought from an 'Orphans father.' You seem quite puzzled over that title. Please let me explain:—In the smaller communities of Austria and of Hungary there is a man appointed, to look after the orphans seeing that they are well taken care of in their foster homes, etc. The official title of that man is 'Waisenvater' which literally translated into English means 'Orphans father.' He of course has lots of official correspondence and therefore lots of nice stamps.—CORNEL KMENTT, A. P. S. 4712.

—L. G. Snow, manager of the Valparaiso, (Indiana) Independent, wishes us to say that he will be in Indianapolis June 6-8 as a delegate to the state prohibition convention, and will be pleased to have any stamp men look him up. Because of his crippled condition he will himself be unable to do any visiting.

—F. R. Kirk, president of the Coos County Stamp Club of Marshfield, Ore.,

reports a membership at present of twenty. Collectors visiting that portion of the country on the first Thursday of any month will be welcome at the club meeting.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Fordham Stamp Ex., Hugh B. Kiernan, J. C. Alderson, W. H. Kinard, Harry E. Klotzbach, Clarendon Bangs.

—Wm. Lycett of Brooklyn, N. Y., informs us that he is a candidate for re-election as vice-president of the S. P. A. Mr. Lycett also states that Louis A. Missbach of Brooklyn will exhibit his fine collection of unused U. S. at the Arbuckle Institute of that city Friday, June 21, under the auspices of the Brooklyn Stamp Club. Brooklyn collectors are cordially invited to attend.

—"I am sending you herewith a copy of our seventh auction catalogue with prices realized on some of the most interesting items. The sale totaled $10,345.65 and was attended by about thirty people, including Frank P. Brown of Boston, John Klemann, Burger and Company, Samuel R. Simmons, Economist Stamp Company, and Percy Doane of New York, John R. Holloway of Milford, Connecticut, as well as many prominent local collectors and dealers. The New York men pronounced the sale the best of this season and the prices exceptionally high."—PERCIVAL PARRISH.

—Remit $3.00 for a six-years' renewal of subscription to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY and we will send you free of charge Scott's 1916 catalog. We don't care when your subscription runs out. We do not sell the catalog independent of subscription renewals. If you want to buy one, patronize your favorite dealer.

MARRIAGE.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Henry Beach of Ballston Spa, New York, to the marriage of their daughter, Margaret Lee, to Mr. William Reynolds Ricketts on Wednesday, the seventh of June, at eight o'clock in the evening at Christ Church, Ballston Spa, New York. Mr. and Mrs. Ricketts will be at home after the first of November at Elunlawn, Forty Fort, Pennsylvania. Through his remarkable work as a specialist in indexing the literature of philately and his unselfish devotion to the welfare of our pursuit, Mr. Ricketts has attained prominence in this country and abroad. The philatelic clans extend congratulations on the happy occasion.

THE ATLANTA, GA., SOCIETY.

Twenty-eight philatelists have been discovered in Atlanta, as the result of considerable effort by Clarendon Bangs, president, and R. W. Mead, secretary, of the local society.

A philatelist is a stamp bug—the dictionary describes it as a collector of postage stamps—and the twenty-eight persons interested in this hobby have been organized into a club for the interchange of ideas and stamps.

An exhibition of the rare stamps of various countries collected by members of the Atlanta society will be shown all of this week in the window of Tumlin & Company, 50 North Broad street. The stamps have been mounted and framed especially for this exhibit and furnish a rare display.—Atlanta Journal.

NEW ISSUE NOTES.

Chinese Turkestan.—Many months ago the philatelic journals announced the issue of special stamps for this far distant country, the current Chinese Republican stamps being surcharged with five Chinese characters signifying "for use in Sinkiang." We have at last been able to secure a correspondent at Urumtsi, a town in the heart of the province, 1,100 miles from the nearest Railway Station (Andijan), and the letter occupied over three months on the journey to us, via Yarkand and Kashgar, thence across Central Asia and Russia, the first Russian Censor Mark applied to the envelope being that of Tashkent.

North-West Pacific Islands.—We have received further advice that the 5d stamps are still unobtainable, but that fresh supplies are shortly expected. We hope to be able to distribute this value the first week in June.

Togo.—We have received the new issue, overprinted in London on the current Gold Coast stamps. An attempt has evidently been made to copy the type of the local overprint, but the two types are distinctly different, the London type being bolder, thicker, and better printed. The stamps themselves, being also a new printing, show differences in shade from the older ones. The last consignment of the locally overprinted stamps was received a few days before the new stamps arrived, and although received direct from the Post Office, every sheet was mutilated, no fewer than eight stamps having been cut out of each pane of sixty, these eight comprising all the small "F"s in "French," and the thin "G" in "Togo."—Whitfield King's List.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—The following envelope items have been furnished by J. M. Bartels:

In the May 6 issue, the two types A and B of the new design 2c envelope were described, but in some unexplained manner the descriptions were reversed. A becomes B and the description for B becomes A.

No.	Denom.	Issue 1912.	Die.	Size.	Paper.	Wmk.	Kn.
2612B	2c	Dv.5	3	Blue	17	92

	2c	A2	13	Buff	20	83
	2c	G	5	Amber	20	87

The following list of United States envelope knives in current use has also been furnished by Mr. Bartels:

Size.	Knife.	Dimen.
1	46	134x73
2	79	139x82
3	80	149x85
4	84	149x92
5	81	160x89
6	75a	160x89
7	51	225x98
8	59	241x105
9	61	257x111
10	85	117x90
11	82	132x108
13	83	171x95
14	86	160x95

1911-15.
The knives below were first introduced in the 1911-15 issue and used simultaneously with those of the previous issue. The shape is changed (except in size 11), the main difference being in the side flaps which are gradually cut away at the upper edge and meet in the center forming an angle. Size 11 differs from the former issue in dimensions only.

Size.	Knife.	Dimen.
3	92	149x85
5	87	160x89
11	88	140x108
8	91	241x105
13	89	171x95

In the 1915 issue a change of knife occurred in sizes 2, 4, 5, 13 and 14. All have the same general appearance of the 1911-15 issue, except in sizes 5 and 13 the top and bottom flaps have been lengthened a few mm., giving better protection to the contents and increased strength to the envelope.

Size.	Knife.	Dimen.
2	94	139x82
4	95	149x92
5	99	160x89
13	101	171x95
14	93	160x95

AFGHANISTAN.—The 2 abasi stamp of the 1909 issue (Scott says 1910), has appeared in brown instead of green.

Adhesive.

2ab brown.

GILBERT & ELLICE ISLANDS.—The Stamp Lover notes that the 2d and 2 1/2d stamps of the King George series have been issued.

Adhesives.

2d gray.
2 1/2d ultramarine.

JAMAICA.—Our English contemporaries reprint the official circular regarding the overprinted "War Tax" stamps. The 1/2d is for use on letters, and the 3d for use on parcels from abroad containing dutiable matter.

PANAMA.—Bartlett Gatchell has shown us two novelties from this Republic. The first is a piece of a cover with two 1c stamps of the 1915 commemorative issue. One of these is overprinted "Canal Zone." The cover was mailed in Colon, R. P., and evidently slipped by the mailing clerk by accident.

Mr. Gatchell also submits a 2c commemorative stamp printed in vermilion red, instead of the usual brilliant carmine.

PERU.—Bartlett Gatchell has shown us the current 5c stamp in a pronounced shade of purple, instead of the common violet.

THE TWO DIES OF THE 2c ENVELOPE.

By HERMAN TOASPERN.

I note with much interest the article of L. G. Barrett, on the two dies of the 2 cent current circular die envelopes. This article seeks to oppose the methods of differentiating the two dies as given some weeks ago by J. M. Bartels by saying, "the parts are equal to the sum" instead of "the sum is equal to its parts." In other words it seeks to change the major test to a minor one, and vice versa.

The main difference is the spacing of the U from the circle at the left. In die A, it is closer while in die B it is further away and more nearly horizontal.

The minor differences, which take the part of concluding evidence are as described by both Messrs. Bartels and Barrett.

Mr. Barrett's main test would soon disappear should some ink or dirt fill into the triangle of the A of STATES. This test is as weak as one I have noticed; in die B the curl at the bottom of the bust curves under and leaves a tiny red space between the hair and the neck, which is not noticeable in die A. Surely when the die starts to spread it is likely that Mr. Barrett's test will be lost—while that of Mr. Bartels will remain.

PRECANCEL NOTES.

Davenport, Iowa, is using a new small and poor type of precancel.

Old Town, Me., is a new one for me. Who knows how old the town is and where it is? I have the 2c and 3c. (Better make Old Town on your visit East.—Ed.)

Easthampton, Conn., is a difficult one to pick up.

Like the precancel described above for Davenport, Iowa, is another from Cheyenne, Wyo. A type is used so small that it looks as though it is afraid to say where it hails from.

St. Louis has a pretty set.

HEAD OF MISSION ELOPES.

Harold S. Powell, of Storm Lake, head of the World Wide mission, a religious organization, and Miss Josephine Hughes, of Ida Grove, yesterday eloped to Sioux City. Frank L. Foster, a friend of Mr. Powell, accompanied him to the courthouse to obtain a marriage license.

They were married in the afternoon at 4 o'clock by Rev. S. L. Eddy at his residence, 2308 South St. Aubin street. Mrs. Powell is the daughter of a wealthy Ida county farmer, while Mr. Powell is chief executive of the mission, which has branches in 136 countries and colonies. The religious work is main-

THE CHARM OF STAMP COLLECTING.

By MRS. J. V. K. WELLS.

The other day I was searching through the drawers and pigeon-holes in my desk and from way back in a dusty corner I drew out a small bundle of letters. Love-letters? Yes, they were from a friend of mine, a best sort of friend, and they came to me when I was down and out, condemned to a year in the North Woods. The world looked pretty black and my friend knew it. I untied the cord that bound them together. Shall I read you a bit here and there?

"It's hard luck, chum, to be up there by yourself, no wonder you are lonesome. Do you know, you need a hobby to take you out of yourself. I never told you, but I have one, which has long kept me from dull hours. It can cost much or little; it can take you far in its pursuit, though it often yields its best sport pretty near home; it's good for your brain but don't tire it; it's simple enough for a child and yet deep enough for mature and trained minds. Shall I answer my conundrum, before telling you any more of its charms? Stamp collecting, old fellow, just try it! I'll send you the bunch of stamps I have saved off the office mail this past month, and a catalogue, and some other little fixings. Now don't laugh at it. When you locate these Argentinas, just think of the stuff we are shipping down there every month. When you look over those Chinas, just see what a lot of history there is tucked away on every stamp. You'll find something in the rest of them, too, if you look for it."

"So you liked my stamp packet! Good for you! You'll be getting the best stamp paper going, too, this week. I'll give you more on one page than I can write in a dozen letters. You didn't know there was so much to it! Well, read MEKEEL'S for a few weeks and you'll find out. I am sending you some more of my old stuff, not very valuable, but just to keep you busy. You can get the valuable later on,—it's part of the fun to buy a few now and then, and see them go higher in the next catalogue—more interesting than watching a bank account grow. It's good as gold, and a whole lot prettier than figures."

"I am sending you the best album I can find. It pays to get a good one, and these leaves are removable, so it won't be a tragedy if you spoil a few. It'll delight your artist-soul to arrange them. Wish I could help you,—it's big fun when a few of us get together in our library, and spread out our albums and stamp-stuff over a couple of tables. So you found another stamp-fiend in the Woods. That's another of the charms of the hobby, you find people interested, all over. You make some mighty good friends that way, too, as well as see a lot of queer and fine humans."

"You are coming on, old scout! That last letter sounded downright cheerful,—you didn't mention 'temperature.' Isn't it great how one gets away from himself when he is hunting a watermark? You did good work on those '95 shades,—they make fine pages, and they are really 'collected' when you have searched ten pounds through for them. And your three 'caps' are about perfect, mighty few strike a real 'right cap.' It's hunting big game you are, and getting it, too. When I come up next week, I'll bring some of the new issues,—they are so clean and good-looking."

I tied up my "love-letters" and put them back in the drawer. I shall keep them, for they won me firmly to stamp collecting. I sat down before the fireplace where a chestnut stick was sputtering and crackling, and pulling out my albums, was soon under their spell. I turned their pages and thought of the tales of history and romance pictured there,—of brave men and gallant fights; of victorious peace, and the march of progress; of strange far-off lands, and of familiar scenes. Where, but in a stamp collection, could one have so wonderful a gallery? I feasted my eyes upon their beauties of scene, of color, and of workmanship. I gloated over my accumulations and their increasing riches, and yet their great value to me was far beyond the dollar mark. I lived in memory the friendships, associations, and hunts they remind me of. I realized anew, that to fill an idle hour, to refresh a mind or body that is weary, to give one a many-sided interest, there is a mighty lure,—a never-failing charm in stamp collecting.

WITH THE NEW PHILATELIST.

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 2729 Hampden Court, Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

SIMPLIFIED SPECIALISM — NETHERLANDS.

This is the second of a series of articles treating the history of stamps of various countries which can be collected and studied readily by the collector of moderate means. While it is quite possible to spend large amounts on the stamps of any country, yet there are many countries which can be collected and specialized to a moderate degree without the expenditure of a great sum.

Netherlands is and always has been a popular country with the general collector. Its issues are clean. In the straight postal issues, there are no surcharges to confuse the new collector. The lover of surcharges will find some interesting items in the dues and charity stamps.

The collector who wishes to go deeply into the study of the stamps of a country should select Netherlands. This is an ideal country to collect, since it offers a chance to study paper varieties, plate varieties, cancellations, shades, and perforations, yet none of these classes need be included unless desired. There is little need to study watermarks in this country, since the first issue only was watermarked, and there is no important variation. Netherlands is particularly rich in plate types and shades—two popular branches of specialized collecting.

Netherlands will make a dollar go a long way. Dealers specializing in Netherlands do a lot of work for a little money. With the exception of two perforation varieties, the highest priced Netherlands stamp is listed at $5.00 used—this being the ten gulden stamp of 1901-10. The ten gulden Jubilee stamp should be priced about this figure in used condition. Both of these stamps are worth very close to catalogue, however.

In the unused, the same perforation varieties and the other two of the same series may be omitted, with the result that no unused Netherlands stamp catalogues over $7.50—and only three stamps approach that figure. Truly, this is not an overwhelming amount for any real collector to face, considering many other countries.

The collector who wishes to "collect them straight" may secure a fine used copy of each Netherlands regular postal issue for $20.00 and still have enough money left to take friend wife to the "movies."

Netherlands first issued stamps in January, 1852. The first issue was printed at the Government Mint at Utrecht from plates engraved by J. Wiener, of Brussels. The stamps were printed in sheets of 100 which were divided into four panes of twenty-five each. This series bears the portrait of King William III, who ruled the Netherlands from 1849 to 1890.

This first series ranks very high in popularity with collectors, partly because of its great beauty, partly because it is one of the "classical" first issues of imperforates, and partly for the reason that it offers a great field for research work. There are a great many minor differences in design, color, paper, and watermark.

The 5c is listed in five distinct shades and there are many intermediate shades. The ultramarine shade is probably the scarcest, though several of the more common tints approach it very closely. The steel blue is not common, yet is not as rare as its catalogue price would indicate in comparison with other shades. However, in view of the rapidly growing scarcity of this issue, it is not over-priced. The greenish blue shade is almost as common as the milky blue or major shade. The writer recently had the pleasure of looking over the collection of a local enthusiast, and noted as many as thirty different shades of this 5c stamp, though some were very closely resembling others.

Plates of the 5c and 10c stamps show various retouches. These are found principally in the frame lines, and many are not difficult to distinguish. The 10c stamp showing the celebrated horn variety was printed from one plate on which each stamp shows a spot resembling a horn, which projects from the forehead just above the eye. Further varieties of the stamp are known showing the plate retouched with horn removed, leaving merely a small lump on the forehead.

The 10c stamp is also rich in color varieties, though these are not as distinct as in the 5c. There are several which are worthy of the attention of even a moderate specialist, however.

The 15c stamp exists in a rich orange shade and also in a pale yellow, with several intermediate colors. Lightly cancelled copies of the orange shade are indeed very beautiful and warrant the attention they are receiving from collectors.

Several printings of this series were made, and slight variations in paper occurred at each printing, as is to be expected. Papers range from thin to very thick. These may be easily classified into thin and thick papers unless further study is desired.

Unused stamps exist with both brown and white gum, which is thick and cracks readily. Unused copies with gum are much scarcer than those without gum, as is the case with nearly all early issues.

Reprints of the 10c stamps were made in 1895 on heavy white wove paper without watermark. These exist in rose-carmine and also in black, blue, yellow-green and brown. These reprints are by no means common.

Pairs of this issue are not plentiful and are much sought after by collectors, who have recently made especial efforts to buy up any choice pieces offered. In fact a very sharp rise is looked for in these stamps as a result of the heavy buying of certain collectors. Nos. 1 to 6 seem to be more in demand at the present time than any European stamps and are quite as popular as Norway No. 1, so it is logical to expect that they will soon rise as did that stamp. For many years these six stamps have been priced quite low, but the present boom will no doubt send them up to the mark where they belong. (At least, 8,000 more copies will be needed to meet the wants of the readers of this paper who will immediately attempt to speculate in these stamps.)

Pairs of the 5c stamp, if lightly cancelled and with wide even margins are selling around $1.00. Please remember that these prices are not standard, merely observations made by the writer in the course of business. No doubt many dealers can offer these stamps much lower while many will demand higher figures. Also, the appearance of the piece must be considered in placing the value thereon, hence I will not attempt to lay a definite price on any items of this nature. There are many pairs of these stamps for which I should be very glad to pay $1.50 and possibly $2.00, while for others I should not care to pay over catalogue.

Strips of the 5c are very much rarer, and no definite price can be named. Blocks of four or larger are extremely rare. The writer cannot recall ever having seen a block of these stamps. Pairs of the 10c are not uncommon, hence blocks of four of the 5c must have been used also to make up the 20c rate. However, the thrifty Dutchmen found it much more efficient to lick two 10c stamps than four 5c, hence the scarcity of blocks.

Pairs of the 10c stamp are worth in the neighborhood of 50c, some higher and some lower, according to condition.

Two strips of four recently brought $6.90 each at an Eastern auction, and competition was very keen on these lots. They are almost unique in this condition. Blocks of this stamp are also extremely rare.

Pairs of the 15c stamp are not as uncommon as would be supposed, and are worth in the neighborhood of full catalogue and higher. Strips are rare and blocks are very rare. All of the above, when in fine condition, may be arranged to make a very handsome page, as perfect copies are to be had for a little searching.

Many interesting cancellation varieties exist in these stamps. They are quite plentiful with town cancellations, though more commonly found with cancellation of "Franco" in frame. The "franco" cancellation without frame is quite rare. (To be continued next week.)

O, REALLY.

And now it's the innocent postage stamp that has been hit by the war. Only according to foreign Governments, the postage stamp isn't so innocent as one might suppose. Somebody in authority in the Italian Government several months ago discovered what is believed to be a code, depending on the arrangement of stamps. Since that time the Italian Government has forbidden the exportation of stamps. Germany has forbidden the importation and England and France are holding up consignments of foreign stamps from the Central Powers to this country.

The result is that a stamp famine has joined the dye famine, and all the other famines caused directly or indirectly by the tantrums of Europe. Philatelists—which is the fancy name by which stamp collectors call themselves—are in paroxysms of rage and despair. But the foreign governments are adamant. Somebody tried to send out information by means of stamps. Very well. No more stamps go out till the war is over.

Of course, the firms that deal in stamps didn't feel the pinch until lately. They had sizeable supplies on hand which tided them over till now. But many of them admit that at present a Turkish or an Austrian charity stamp is as scarce over here as peace doves over there.

"It is about a year since we got any consignment of stamps through Paris," said a local dealer today. "At that time several dealers had batches of stamps held up by the French Government on the ground that they were contraband, as the money for them had gone to countries which were at war with France."

"For a while we obtained Austrian charity stamps, as well as Turkish and German war stamps, through Italy. Sometimes we get consignments now, but the government has put its foot down except in rare instances. Then we tried to get the stamps sent through Norway. But England seized them, and a number of our packages are at Kirkwall today. It is exasperating when at this time the very unusual charity and war stamps are in such demand. But the foreign governments seem to think the seizure of these stamps is a war measure."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

CHINA AND ITS STAMPS.

By C. A. HOWES, F. R. P. S., President American Philatelic Society.

The "brown bistre" stamp is a pronounced shade and has sometimes been termed an "error" because of its distinctive color and scarcity. It only comes with the 12½ perforation and therefore must have been issued before 1889.

All the stamps of this set were apparently printed with fugitive inks, readily affected by light and moisture, as those who have attempted to soak them may have discovered to their regret. The 1 candarin is listed both on white paper and on yellowish paper, and the difference is quite marked; but the examination of blocks on the yellowish paper shows in many cases that the cause is by a yellow ingredient in the ink—the stain sometimes not extending very far beyond the outer frame, so that the perforations lie in a white border.

The last of the Customs Postal Issues appeared in 1894 and was a much more pretentious as well as extensive set of stamps. It so happened that the sixtieth birthday of the famous Dowager Empress, Tzu-Hsi, occurred on November 16, 1894, and as the completion of the sixty year "cycle" by a Chinese is as much of an event as the attainment of a century is with us, great preparations were made for proper celebrations throughout the Empire. Among these was a commemorative set of postage stamps, extended in the number of values to allow for China's growing needs. As it was a permanent issue and as it forms one of the most interesting series from a symbolical point of view that we have in our albums, China can well be excused for celebrating in this manner.

The designs were prepared by Mr. R. A. de Villard of the Statistical Department of the Customs at Shanghai. They are all symbolical in character, being grouped into four general types, though each value differs in some detail from any other. In the first general type may be placed the 1 and 5 candarin stamps. The central circle in the 1 candarin has an archaic form of the character shou or "longevity", surrounding which appears to be arabesque work; if examined closely, however, it is found to be composed of five somewhat conventionalized bats flying inward. These, in Chinese, are called wu fu and symbolize the "five blessings" desired by every Chinaman—long life, riches, health, love of virtue and a peaceful end. As the word for "bat" and "blessing" is the same, though written with different characters, the punning pictorial allusion is apparent. At the top of the stamp is seen the mou-tan or giant peony, an emblem of illustriousness. At the bottom is the ling-chih-hua, a sort of fungus emblematic of long life.

The central circle of the 5 candarin stamp pictures a carp. This fish symbolizes literary talent from his perseverance in surmounting obstacles when ascending rivers, a common Chinese expression for a student who has been successful being "The carp has become a dragon" or "has leaped the dragon-gate." At the top of the stamp is the ling-chih-hua again and at the bottom the Chinese immortelle, wan-nien-ch'ing or "myriad years green," a name as descriptive, if not as concise, as our "everlasting."

H. F. COLMAN,

SECOND NATIONAL BANK BLDG.,

WASHINGTON, D. C.

The band around the central circle in each of the above stamps bears the Chinese legend Ta Ch'ing Kuo Yu Ch'eng or "Chinese Postal Service," which is separated from the word CHINA beneath by two of the yin-yang symbols already described as the watermark of the 1885 issue. The Chinese values in the upper corners read i fên and wu fên respectively.

The 2, 3, 4 and 6 candarin stamps have the same general design, the rampant dragon with his fiery pearl, already described, occupying the center. The Chinese legends read on all: down the right side, Ta Ch'ing Kuo or "Chinese Empire"; down the left side, Yu Ch'eng Ch'iu or "Postal Bureau." The Chinese values in the upper right corners are er (2), san (3), szu (4) and zu (6), with the character fên for "candarin" in the left corner. The 2 candarin has "hydrangea leaves and fruit of passiflora above; a favorite emblem on auspicious occasions," according to Mr. de Villard. The 4 candarin has the giant peony.

The corners of the 3 and 6 candarin stamps will be observed to have eight little sets of short lines, some whole and some broken, surrounding the figures and characters. These are the Pa Kua or "eight diagrams," a series of trigrams used by Chinese philosophers and geomancers. Upon these figures, expanded into 64 hexagrams by combining the trigrams, two and two, is based one of their classics, the "Book of Changes," which presents 64 short essays on the character and significance of these groups of lines. These will be referred to again later under cancellations for the first issue of the Imperial Post.

At the top of the 3 candarin is the p'an tao or dwarf peach tree, a symbol of longevity, as it is supposed to flower and bear for 3000 years. The 6 candarin shows the immortelle again.

The 9 and 12 candarin stamps, again, have a similar design. Two rampant dragons, each with its "pearl" are seen one on either side of the central circle. This repeats the center of the 1 candarin stamp in the case of the 9 candarin, but in the case of the 12 candarin contains the characters Ta Ch'ing Yu Ch'eng or "Chinese Postal Service" in a hardly recognizable form. It is made to represent a seal, so much used by the Chinese, and the characters are known by that name, they being in a very ancient style now used only for such purposes.

The value is expressed in the upper right corners as chiu on the 9 candarin and shih-er on the 12 candarin (10+2). The 9 candarin bears the Ta Ch'ing Kuo Yu Ch'eng inscription above in an ancient ornamental style of character and the 12 candarin has the giant peony.

The remaining stamp, the 24 candarin, has a type to itself and presents a little marine view with a Canton junk in the foreground. Above is the dwarf peach tree again. The inscriptions at the sides are the same as on the 2 candarin type of stamps, but the value is given as er ch'ien or "2 mace" in the right upper corner, and szu fên or "4 candarins" in the left upper corner. As the mace equals ten candarins, this makes the full value.

These stamps were lithographed, at first in Japan, according to Mr. Menca-rini, and afterwards at Shanghai. The paper is a little thicker than that for the previous issues, but contains the same yin-yang watermark. The perforating was done by the same machine that was used for the later years of the 1885 issue, so that it gauges 11 1/2.

The panes of the 9 candarin stamp contained the well-known tête-bêche, the lower left corner stamp being inverted. Issued November 16, 1894, to December 18, 1896. Perforated 11 1/2.

Mr. Stamp Collector:

Josh Billings used to say that the best thing about a postage stamp was the way it stuck to the job.

The postage stamp deserved that description—and so do I.

For I have undertaken to get you on my list—and I am going to stick to it.

Why not give in now? Reference, please. When you think of stamps remember.

Our price of $17.50 for a quarter page is the cheapest advertising in the world considering our circulation. There are twelve inches in a quarter page and the price $17.50 is less than $1.50 per inch. We make this concession in price over the regular rate, believing that on such a large advertisement such a concession is a very proper one. CHAPTER VI.—Local Issues.

With regard to the so-called "local posts," many of them were purely private, and the flood of stamps issued from 1893 until their suppression in 1897 were mainly for speculative purposes. The following is taken from the report of Mr. Bredon, Acting Commissioner of Customs at Chefoo, for 1894: "The foreign quarter has been much improved during the year, thanks to the energy of the General Purposes Committee and to the philatelic craze, which enabled the local post office to yield a large revenue."

Shanghai, however, has a recognized status in this matter, for it has become since its opening in 1843, and in consequence of its situation near the mouth of the Yang-tse, China's greatest river, the leading treaty port of the Empire. The foreign settlement (then principally British) has a municipal government of its own under which a local post-office and mail delivery was organized, and from 1864 to 1897 stamps were issued and did local postal duty. The local post office also maintained agencies at several other treaty ports where the Shanghai stamps could be used, but in general they were not recognized outside the city, however, and all letters for other cities or foreign countries, by arrangement made with the Hongkong post office, had to be prepaid with Hongkong stamps. Unfortunately there appear to be no early records available relating to the issue of the Shanghai locals.

According to the returns of the Imperial Customs authorities at the end of 1898 the total number of foreigners resident in the open ports was about 13,500, and of these about half resided in Shanghai. The pressing need of the remaining half, distributed among some thirty ports, for the various sets of eight or ten values with numerous changes in color and design, surcharges galore, postage dues, etc., ad infinitum and ad nauseam when it comes to the "P. P. C." surcharges of Wuhu, can readily be appreciated by those who are collecting postal issues which have a true philatelic interest.

Of course it cannot be denied that many will be attracted by these stamps on account of their designs, and the fact that some of them have performed actual postal duty, if only local; but when the postmaster of Wuhu, on the suppression of his local office printed

NEVIS

The stamps of Nevis have always been popular with the great majority of collectors. We offer for sale a splendid "Specialized Collection Of Nevis." If interested write for particulars. No stamps will be sold separately from this collection. We have other collections for sale also and make a specialty of handling them to be sold without breaking up. Is yours for sale? Let us know about it. Our next Auction Sale will contain several hundred "Wholesale Lots" from the H. Wesley Legg stock. "Get On Our Mailing List." Priced catalog of last sale 75 cts.

"P. P. C." (pour pendre conge) or, in other words, "good-bye," upon his stock in two different colors, and sent out sets to dealers, it seemed the acme of absurdity, to put it as mildly as possible, to find these nondescripts all catalogued and priced, as apparently on the same footing with other legitimate postal issues. Happily they all have since been dropped from most of the postage stamp catalogues, except the stamps of Shanghai, whose special claim to recognition is well founded.

SOUTHERN PRECANCEL NOTES.

By W. C. MALONE.

Texas cities only began precanceling stamps a few years ago but they are making quite a bit of precancel history since the start was made, as there are now a number of cities using them and a large number of varieties. I have over 400 distinct varieties of Texas precancels in my collection and lack a number of the earlier issues and have very few complete sets of either parcel post or regular issues. I have seen precancels from the following Texas cities: Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Coleman, Corpus Christi, Dallas, Del Rio, El Paso, Fort Worth, Greenville, Houston, Marlin, Palestine, Paris, Port Arthur, Post, San Antonio, Temple and Waco.

I am informed that the Dallas precancels are printed from a special attachment placed on the multigraph machine, the forms being set up from type and the stamps precanceled in the post office. This accounts for the numerous varieties of precancels from Dallas recently in several different sizes of type, different spacings, etc. Most precancels are printed under contract by local printers from electrotype plates furnished by the Post Office Department.

Fort Worth has recently issued the third type from that office, it being printed in two lines FORT WORTH—TEXAS in small capitals, between lines. The type used during the past Christmas season was printed in large type in two lines, "Ft. Worth—TEX." between lines, reading up and down. These were printed on both regular issues and some values of parcel post.

Most of the other Southern States are well represented with precancels but they are quite scarce from some places, especially Alabama and Mississippi. I have precancels from three Alabama cities, Birmingham, Mobile and Montgomery, but only a few from each place and they are very hard to procure as so few are used. I also have precancels from three Mississippi cities, Hattiesburg, Jackson and Natchez, and find them even scarcer than the Alabama ones.

Savannah, Ga., is now using the large block type of precancel, which is gradually replacing the former smaller types used at a great many post offices. I have seen several values, both normal and inverted, in this large type, but no parcel post except the familiar small type, although the parcel post are about used up, no doubt.

Louisiana is not at all behind the other Southern States in the precancel line, they having been issued from Columbia, Alexandria, Mer Rouge, New Orleans and Shreveport. However, they are rather

The "Premier Bonanza Packet No. 14" bears the stamp of approval of over 50,000 buyers. It is the logical development by a company that for fifteen years has been the recognized leader in the postage stamp assembling progress. Leadership always gravitates to the fittest. When a product ceases to represent the highest value, good-will and leadership are lost. That the "Premier Bonanza" is the leader among postage stamp assemblings is evidenced by the fact that it is highly recommended by the foremost societies and collectors in every locality.

1000 different postage stamps ONLY from all parts of the world. Fine specimens—no trashy junk. Many desirable stamps, choice sets and high values. Plenty list from 6c to 50c each. Lot catalogs $30.00, $2.45 ONLY.

STAMPS OF THE SINN FEINERS.

Brought to Mind by Dublin's Deeds.

During the latest Home Rule debates the British Postmaster-General (Rt. Hon. Herbert Samuel) stated in Parliament (after Mr. Asquith had declared that Ireland should have her own postal system) that that distressful country "would in all probability fall into line with the Colonies in the matter of separate postage stamps" (Times, Apr. 13, 1912). The suggestion that under Home Rule Ireland should have her own stamps was not new. But for the newness of the postage stamp system it would probably have arisen in the days of the Young Ireland rebellion of 1848, and it certainly was suggested during the Fenian risings of the 'sixties. An essay for a stamp of the "Republic of Ireland" was illustrated in the Stamp Collectors' Magazine in the beginning of 1866. In the centre is the harp, surrounded by an oval band bearing the motto LIBERTAS ET NATALE SOLUM. The design is filled out to rectangular shape with a frame inscribed REPUBLIC (at left) OF IRELAND (at right) POSTAGE (at top) 24 CENTS (at bottom). The Fenian postal secretary in a letter dated from New York, December 8, 1865, states that "three designs for postal stamps have been submitted to our department. The designs are upon wood. The values are three, ten and twenty-four cents; the twenty-four cent has been printed in green and lilac as proofs, and the three and ten are printed in green and blue."

The subject was again revived during the discussion on the Home Rule Bill of 1893, and the Daily Graphic illustrated (April 29, 1893) the old 24 cents Fenian essay of 1865, and a 3 cents in a different design with the title represented as "REPUBLIC HIBER."

A somewhat scarce fake, possibly put forward at one period of Home Rule excitement, is the Cyprus key plate design, head of Queen Victoria, with the name IRELAND inserted in the space at the top of the stamp.

In more recent times the Sinn Fein organisation has issued labels in the semblance of postage stamps. The newspaper Sinn Fein explained this issue eight years ago in the following paragraph: "It was to make the sign of Irish nationhood to the other nations that the Irish stamp was designed. It is fulfilling that design, as the Finnish stamp some years ago fulfilled a like design, and called the attention of the world to the fact that Finland was no province of Russia, but a nation, despoiled, but separate and distinct, asserting its individuality and defending its liberties against foreign despotism."

Mr. E. G. Duffy, in writing to the Philatelic Record in 1908, said, "It is interesting to note that Sir Thomas Esmonde, M. P., has written to the Dublin papers, stating that any person who wishes to have an answer from Sir Thomas must put a 'Sinn Fein' stamp on the envelope."

The stamps were sold at 2s 6d per gross. We believe that the British Postmaster-General on several occasions directed the attention of the Sinn Fein organisation to the fact that the affixing of these labels to the address side of letters was contrary to the regulations of the post office. Many of our readers, however, have doubtless got these souvenirs of Sinn Feinism on original covers. They may now regard them with added curiosity as souvenirs of the movement which has filled Dublin's fair city with grim relics of deeds most foul.

—Stamp Lover.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—As will be noted by the advertisement of Bright & Son elsewhere in this issue, a new edition of the firm's catalog is announced. All war stamps will be included and in spite of the great increase in the cost of materials, labor, etc., the book is offered at a very low price.

—Pecos, Texas, on May 5 organized a Collectors Club with the following officers:—Ira Willcox, president; W. C. Hudson, vice-president; Theron Hicks, secretary; Oren Hicks, treasurer. Meetings will be held every Saturday night.

—The interest in the grill story by Wm. L. Stevenson is so great that orders are already being received for the matter in booklet form. A number of blank pages will be added for notes, and the mounting of specimen grills. The price of the booklet will be 10c.

—If too much trouble to procure a money order when you renew your subscription or purchase books from our list, remit in stamps 5c to 15c denominations. We shall appreciate the favor.

—Joseph D. Amey has purchased the business of John H. Frederick of Philadelphia. Mr. Amey has advertised regularly in the WEEKLY during the past season and informs us that in the early fall he proposes to engage in business on a larger scale than ever before. We wish him all success.

—Will Dr. Harry G. Oakland please send this office the name of the city in which he resides, when we shall be very pleased to send him the book he desires? If some subscriber can name the city in which Walnut, Chambers and Twelfth St. may be found the riddle will be solved.

—If you don't know when your subscription expires look at the Whole Number on the wrapper of this week's paper and compare it with the Whole Number indicated on the first page of the WEEKLY. That tells the story.

—I. B. Robinson of Washington, D. C., who has been using adlet space during the past winter, has just been operated upon for appendicitis at a local hospital. He is now on the mending hand.

—We want a few extra copies of the issue of January 29, providing they can be returned to us in the original folds. Subscribers thus favoring us will have sent them one of our current exchanges. Please see that copies sent us are sent in good form.

—We are requested to announce that the correct date of the exhibit by Louis A. Missbach of his fine collection of unused U. S. at the Arbuckle Institute in Brooklyn, will be on Friday, June 16, instead of the 21st as given last week.

—"The results from your ads have been very satisfactory and we will run them each week even during the quiet summer months."—IMPERIAL STAMP CO

—E. J. Gifford sends us a specimen of the current 2c envelope in which the word "Postage" has the letter G in faint outline only. It is very evident that this new work of art will provide the specialist with plenty of material for study.

BIDS CLOSE JUNE 24.

A VISIT TO THE MIDDLE WEST.

The managing editor is planning a visit to the middle west the latter part of July. He will be in Chicago July 16 and 17, and in St. Paul July 18, 19, 20, where he will be in attendance upon the national prohibition convention. From Saturday, July 22, to the following Wednesday he will be in Grand Rapids, Michigan. He will be pleased to make philatelic appointments.

TRY YOUR HAND AT A JINGLE.

How many of our readers are poetically inclined? Here is a chance surely to test your ability in that direction. We publish this week two illustrations representing portions of certain stamps, and we invite poetical effusions based on the designs shown.

Mr. Howes has submitted an entry that we use as an illustration of what is possible and the Jhind stamp is the one he has taken as his subject. His verse follows:—

THE APSARAS.

There was an Apsaras of Ind
Whose clothes were so torn by the wind
That she looked like a fright,
But she danced "out of sight"
In a paradise somewhere near Jhind.

C. A. HOWES.

There are no limitations as to the form of entry. Just do your best in the line of rhyme and we shall print as many of the entries as possible, as a bit of fun now and then is relished by almost everyone. Of course there will be prizes, but this is a matter that can best be decided later on.

Who is the gentleman pictured on the Siam stamp? It looks like Teddy.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

UNITED STATES.—William F. Palmer reports having found the 2c envelope, official size, with return request and stamp printed both on the inside and outside of the envelope.

AUSTRALIA.—Bright & Son have shown us the new Australian registration envelope. The stamp is the 4d King George type.

Registration Envelope.
4d orange on buff, cloth lined.

MAURITIUS.—The London Philatelist notes the issue of the Rs. 2.50c King George stamp.

Adhesive.

PERU.—Changes of color are noted in the current stamps of Peru, Bartlett Gatchell and W. F. Ferguson having shown us the 5c and 20c in new shades.

Adhesives.

20c red brown.

FOR SECRETARY—CLARENCE V. WEBB.

Clarence V. Webb is a candidate for re-election as secretary of the S. P. A., and we are pleased to call attention to this fact, although we are not taking any active part in the political contests of the various philatelic societies. There are some striking things in connection with Mr. Webb's tenure of office that may well be called to mind.

He was elected secretary of the S. P. A. when it had only 290 members and was gradually losing ground. Through his efforts the tide turned and at the end of his first year a total of 356 members had been secured, a Year Book covering the two previous years issued and many other affairs straightened out.

The S. P. A. owes its present progress and power to his indomitable will, energy and enthusiasm, and he has been back of every movement for its benefit. Mr. Webb has personally proposed 425 new members, a record that is indeed marvelous. No other member of the Association can equal his record. He has been on the job every day and the present membership is over 1300.

MARTHA WASHINGTON — DIED 1802.

One hundred weary years had passed,
Ere our first lady came at last,
To stand before our mighty nation,
Upon a stamp for registration.

For many years on Two's and Three's
Her George had roamed the land and seas,
But now at last behold his mate,
Engraved in beauty on an Eight.

1909.

Alas! too short was her career.
The reason for it is most clear.
The postal debt was so immense
That registration rose two cents.

THE CHARM OF STAMP COLLECTING.

A few weeks ago we inaugurated a contest asking designs for the title of the leaflet to be published under the name of "The Charm of Stamp Collecting."

Many entries were received, of varying degrees of merit, and it was necessary for us to exercise a somewhat arbitrary judgment in the selection of the winning entry, having in mind the make-up of the cover page. Particulars as to this makeup could not be made public at the time the competition was launched.

The winner of the contest is Frank Vitolo of New York City. He submitted three designs, one of which will be very suitable for our purpose. We have added two years to his subscription and shall also send him a copy of our new book "Range Tales" as soon as issued.

We wish to add that there were certain entries deserving of honorable mention and in this connection we would name the designs submitted by W. G. Birdseye, Friedel Hoffmann, C. M. Breder, L. M. Coe, P. N. Dean, F. D. Smith, Wm. J. Bates, Henry J. Borsch and L. B. Ferguson.

JAMAICA WAR STAMPS.

The 1/2d and 3d War Stamps were issued April 1st, 1916. The 1/2d tax applies to inland letters and post cards, as well as those destined for the United Kingdom and British Possessions. The 3d tax is on all parcels to and from overseas. Foreign postage rates remain as before.

The use of the War Stamps is not obligatory, as the ordinary unsurcharged stamps may be used for these taxes, and vice versa. A registered letter just to hand bears a 3d and three 1/2d War Stamps. 1 1/2d stamps have been ordered from London, and as soon as these arrive, the surcharged 1/2d stamps will be retired.

A further variety has been found in the 1/2d War Stamp. The error does not occur on all sheets.—HARRY E. HUBER.

DALWICK'S "VIRGIN ISLANDS".

(The following review of Dalwick's latest book is taken from the English magazine Stamp Collecting. Do our readers appreciate the merit of this work? The firm of A. Maury, Paris, France, has made a special request that we allow the reprinting of the entire book in Le Collectionneur de Timbres Poste. We are of course pleased to grant the request.—Ed.)

This little book, the fourteenth of Messrs. Mekeel's series, should prove a most valuable guide to the postage stamps of the Leeward group known as the Virgin Islands. Always a favourite subject with collectors, the Virgin Islands issues yet comprise quite a large number of extremely scarce stamps, and, in a chapter on "Rare Stamps at Normal Prices," the author of this handbook seeks to impress upon his readers that all the earlier issues are rarer than the catalogue quotations suggest. In fact, they are much rarer than is generally supposed.

We have alluded to these stamps as a favourite subject with collectors, and therefore find ourselves at variance with Mr. Dalwick, who remarks that the Virgin Islands issues do not at present enjoy the popularity which they undoubtedly deserve. We doubt whether our friend is justified in making this statement—if he is, then collectors should feel ashamed of themselves for their inattention to the possibilities offered by this group. Mr. Dalwick has some cogent remarks concerning postally used examples, which, he says, assuming that the quotations in our standard catalogues for unused stamps are more or less correct (in 75 per cent. of the early issues they are undoubtedly too low), are worth four times the present rates; the author even goes so far as to say that this increase does not represent the relative degrees of rarity in certain instances.

The handbook is divided into twenty chapters, treating with the geographical and historical standpoints, the mysterious design itself, postal statistics, British adhesives used in the Islands, remainders, forgeries and bogus stamps, postmarks,

ROOM PAPERED WITH STAMPS.

Rev. Alexander Bucci, rector of St. Peter's church, gave a dinner to a dozen Los Angeles newspaper men, recently, at his home, 1039 North Broadway. Attorney Roger Marchetti was a special guest.

Father Bucci's home is remarkable for the drawing room, which is papered with 104,902 postage stamps of thirty-two nations. The stamps are arranged on the walls and ceiling in different designs and mosaics and represent a patient labor of ninety nights on the part of Father Bucci. The Italian priest has been collecting stamps for the past nine years for the room he has decorated and after having completed his task has 160,000 of the current United States two-cent issue left and 50,000 other stamps.

The walls are laid out in diamonds and on the ceiling are various pleasing designs. The task was begun November 8, 1915, and completed February 6, 1916, the last stamp put in place being the likeness of the king of Montenegro. The date of completion is worked in stamps as well as an American flag, the flag and coat of arms of Italy, the name of the designer, etc. The seven red bars in the American flag are wrought in seven different issues of two-cent United States postage stamps. There are also various Greek designs worked out and attractive borders. The total value of the stamps is $2293.20.—L. A. Tribune.

May 18, meeting was held and was given up to auction and exchange. Mr. L. Gwyer was proposed for member. The death of Mr. C. Jancovich was announced. He was a very prominent collector, and it is with sorrow that we have to note his death.

June 1, President Bartels called meeting to order, minutes were read and adopted. Mr. L. Gwyer was elected a member; Messrs. Weiss and Gunther were also elected as members. Messrs. Sommereau and Casper were visitors. Mr. Klein showed us a specialized collection of Shanghai. Mr. Bartels donated two sets of Panama surcharged envelopes (Canal Zone), Messrs. Koller and Mouhib being the winners. Mr. Eugene Klein explained why he thought certain stamps which catalogued less than a $1 were scarce. Prof. Loewy informed us that his son was still an invalid and invited us to call on his son with stamps to exchange. Prof. Loewy entertained us with some of his card tricks, and he

By ROSCOE T. FOUST.

The time has gone by when it was necessary to prove that stamp collecting is a good thing. The fact that there are thousands of men, women and children who find the greatest pleasure in gathering and preserving these interesting bits of paper in itself seems to show that stamp collecting has a value. It is a question, however, of just what the value is. The answer will give the reason for the interest taken on the part of old and young, and the steady increase in the number of collectors. It is not with the money value of stamps that we are particularly concerned. That they have this is shown by sales of stamps held every year, a single stamp sometimes bringing as high as thousands of dollars. One of the best things about stamps is that so many of them, having great value for other reasons and in other ways, can be obtained at small cost. Many very fine collections are the property of boys or girls in moderate circumstances. This small cost, combined with the great value of stamps as a means of giving profitable and wholesome pleasure, accounts for the growing popularity of stamp collecting in the world.

The craving for knowledge is one of our strongest and most worthy desires. Stamp collecting ministers directly to this; its educational value is great already, and is constantly increasing. The knowledge of historical events in a concise and definite form is one of the possessions of the thoughtful stamp collector. There is scarcely a stamp-issuing country which does not exhibit on its stamps the changes of government since it began their issue. Fathers and mothers who have lived through changes of government, but who may have forgotten the dates, will appreciate the means which their children have in stamps for preserving the knowledge in a definite and suggestive form.

Think of having the portraits of all the emperors of Rome, from Augustus to the fall of the empire, upon a series of stamps like our own United States issues engraved by ancient workmen as skillful as our modern engravers! The simple and worn designs upon ancient coins would have small value as historical relics in comparison with such stamps. Had the invention of printing and the use of steam been events of two thousand years ago, we might have had such priceless relics. Now it is reserved for future generations of stamp-collectors to glory in the rare and beautiful issues of the great American Republic, beside which, Rome in her palmy days was as the pygmy to the giant.

Stamps as teachers of history will be more appreciated in the future than they can be in the present. The stamp issuing nations, moreover, are now providing commemorative issues upon the anniversaries of great events. This must add greatly to the value of stamps as teachers of important historical truths.

No knowledge gained in school slips away in later life so easily as the facts of geography; in fact, no learning will long remain in all its fullness unless its details be occasionally recalled anew. Stamp collecting brings the situation of every important nation of the earth again and again through life to the mind of the collector. The lessons that are given to the stamp-collector by his stamps are being constantly increased in number and broadened in scope by the new issues made by the nations. Stamp collecting has greatly advanced and is much more valuable than it was twenty years ago. The advance of the future will undoubtedly increase in a remarkable degree the valuable character of the pursuit from the educational standpoint.

Let a boy become thoroughly interested in stamp collecting, and let him receive the help and encouragement in it from his parents which he does in other pursuits, and we prophesy for him a successful future. He will be more likely to use his spending-money wisely, and the interest in stamps will never leave him.

HANDBOOK COVER DESIGN CONTEST.

This contest was not entered into at all heartily, and we regret that a keener competition could not be aroused.

In the key plate design for U. S. and its colonies the most appropriate and practically the only drawing submitted was by W. G. Birdseye, Roselle, N. J., and we have awarded him the cash prize of $5.00 offered for an acceptable design. We shall use this on the Stevenson booklet "United States Grills" soon to be issued.

No design was received for the English Colonial key plate, nor for the Canada booklet cover that could be accepted, and no awards are made in these sub-divisions. A suggested cover design for Canada entered by Gustave Larson of Worcester, Mass., had some worthy features, but it cannot be used in the form submitted.

THE NASSAU STAMP CO.

118 Nassau Street, NEW YORK, N. Y.

Revised for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

POSTAGE STAMPS OF THE CANAL ZONE.

By WILLIAM EVANS.

CHAPTER V.—Second Series.

The stamps comprising this series were issued July 18, 1904, and consisted of the current stamps of the United States, of the values of one, two, five, eight, and ten cents, surcharged in small caps, "CANAL ZONE," at the left and "PANAMA" at the right, both words reading upward.

The surcharging was done at Washington. Only two varieties are deemed worthy of mention by the writers upon the subject. These both occur on the eight cents stamp. The first is an "I" in place of the "L" in "CANAL," and the second is a badly broken "L" in "CANAL." Other broken letters are to be found with moderate frequency upon all the values, due either to broken type or poor inking, but the two mentioned above are the only ones which are found on all sheets.

The number of these stamps sent to

CANAL ZONE

PANAMA

Current Stamps of the United States Surcharged in Black.

the Zone appears in the following list:

1c—1,000,000.
2c—5,000,000.
5c—2,000,000.
8c—1,000,000.
10c—1,000,000.

This is sufficient proof that the Washington authorities expected that their use would be permanent. The number of each value actually sold was as follows:

1c—43,738.
2c—68,414.
5c—20,858.
8c—7,932.
10c—7,856.

The following plate numbers have been recorded, and are found at either the bottom or left side of the sheet:

1c—2061, 2062, 2063, 2088, 2092, 2141, 2142, 2143, 2144.
2c—2076, 2133, 2135, 2136, 2192, 2202, 2204, 2205, 2206, 2208, 2209, 2210, 2212, 2214, 2217.

5c—1885, 1886, 1887, 1888.
8c—1497, 1498, 1499, 1500.
10c—1590, 1591, 1592, 1593.

All of the remainders of all values were destroyed by burning on January 2nd and 3rd, 1906, a little more than two years after they had been withdrawn from use on December 11th, 1904.

Their withdrawal was due to an agreement entered into between the then Secretary of War, Hon. Wm. H. Taft, and the Government of the Republic of Panama, whereby the U. S. authorities on the Zone are to purchase from the Panama authorities such stamps as are needed for their postal requirements, at sixty per cent of their face value, and these stamps are to be surcharged by the Zone authorities with the words, "CANAL ZONE."

The reference list of this series is:

1c—green.
2c—carmine.
5c—blue.
8c—puce.
a. "I" for "L" in "CANAL" (No. 1 on sheet).
b. "L" badly broken in "CANAL" (No. 5).
10c—orange brown.

CHAPTER 6.—The Third Series.

The agreement between Mr. Taft and the Panama authorities resulted in a flood of varieties, due to two causes. One of these was the fact that the Canal Zone surcharge was printed upon small quantities of stamps, from copper faced type which was reset five or six times for some of the values. The other was that the stamps used were in many instances those which had been surcharged by the Panama authorities, and which were resurcharged with the Canal Zone settings. It would be an extremely difficult and complicated matter to attempt a chronological classification of all these varieties, and for the sake of simplicity each value will be considered by itself.

Before going into the classification it will undoubtedly be best to describe the various Canal Zone settings appearing upon this and some of the following series, as arranged by Mr. J. M. Bartels.

The setting used in the printing of this surcharge was changed five times, thereby giving us six different stages, which appear on the stamps. One description of these six stages or alterations of the setting will suffice, so that it will be unnecessary to describe them under each value, but simply to refer to them by a numeral.

The type used for the surcharge was of Roman capitals. It was set to print a full sheet of one hundred stamps at each impression. Therefore when an error is found in this surcharge it occurs but once on each sheet of 100 stamps.

In the first setting we find the following varieties. On the first stamp of the sheet the letters "C", "A" and "L" are broken. The "C" is only slightly broken, the "A" has the crossbar missing, so that it resembles an inverted "V", and the "L" has the upper bar broken. On the fourth stamp, and in some instances on the third and thirty-fifth stamp also, the "L" is broken in such a manner that it resembles an "I." On the forty-first stamp the spacing between the "A" and "L" is wider than on the other stamps of the sheet. On the sixty-eighth stamp of the first few sheets printed of the two cents rose, the "L" is found sideways. It is probable that this error was discovered after a few sheets had been printed and was corrected. It occurs on no other value and hence it is concluded that the two cents value was the first one to receive this surcharge. On the eighty-seventh stamp of some sheets the "O" and "N" of "ZONE" are slightly below the level of the "Z" and "E." It is difficult to explain why this did not occur on all sheets, or why it does not occur on other values, since it is such a slight error as to be not quickly discovered and corrected.

These varieties of the "CANAL ZONE" surcharge, with the exception of the last named one, which so far has been found only upon the one cent and two cents, and the dropped "L" variety which occurs only on the two cents, are found on the one cent green, two cents rose, five cents blue, eight cents on fifty centavos (third Panama), eight cents on fifty centavos (fourth Panama), and ten cents orange.

In the second setting of the Canal Zone surcharge all of the above named errors have been corrected and the following are found.

On the thirty-second stamp a broken "Z", on the thirty-third stamp a broken "E", sometimes resembling an "F", but more frequently showing most of the bottom stroke, on the forty-second stamp an "L" so broken that it resembles an "I", and on the sixty-fifth stamp an "N" with the serif of the last stroke broken.

The first and last of these broken letters are really very insignificant varieties, and but for the fact that in some of the later settings they have been replaced by letters of a different font of type would in all probability never have been listed or noted, though they occur very regularly on all or nearly all of the sheets. Broken letters occur more or less frequently on other stamps of the sheet but not with the regularity of those named above and consequently they are not noted.

These regular varieties are found upon the one cent green, the two cents carmine rose, the five cents blue, the eight cents on fifty centavos with red brown surcharge, and the ten cents orange with rose brown surcharge.

The third setting differs from the second in only one particular which is that upon the forty-eighth stamp of the sheet the word "ZONE" appears in antique type. None of the broken letters have been corrected but are found as in the second setting. This setting was printed upon the one cent green, five cents blue, eight cents on fifty centavos, ten cents orange, two cents rose (fourth Panama surcharge), and eight cents (third Panama surcharge).

The fourth setting still has all of the broken letters of the second and third settings, the antique type on the forty-eighth stamp, and in addition to these varieties, on the twenty-sixth stamp the word "CANAL" appears in antique type. This is found on the one cent green and ten cents orange.

The fifth setting retains the antique type on the twenty-sixth and forty-eighth stamp, and the broken "E" on the thirty-third one, but the broken "Z" of No. 32, "L" of No. 42, and "N" of No. 65 have been replaced by perfect letters but these are of antique type. This occurs on the five cents blue, eight cents with red brown surcharge, ten cents orange, eight cents with period on third Panama, and eight cents without period on fourth Panama.

The sixth setting differs from the fifth in having on the forty-second stamp an antique "L" in addition to the "Z" of the fifth setting, and on the forty-fifth stamp an antique "Z."

This setting is found only on the five cents value.

One Cent Green, 1904-06.

This stamp and the two cents rose, were of a type of Panama stamps intended by the government to be permanent, but the supply ordered was not large and consequently did not last very long. The design was similar to the old Colombia stamps showing the map of the Isthmus, with the words "REPUBLICA DE PANAMA" at the top, numerals of value in each lower corner, and "CENTAVO" in the center at the bottom. It also has the inscription "3 DE NOVIEMBRE DE 1903" in a curved label near the top.

First Printing—The first Canal Zone printing of this stamp was placed on sale December 12th, 1904. Besides the usual varieties of this printing there occurred a double surcharge and an inverted sur-

Mr. Stamp Collector:

Josh Billings used to say that the best thing about a postage stamp was the way it stuck to the job.

The postage stamp deserved that description—and so do I.

For I have undertaken to get you on my list—and I am going to stick to it.

I have two very good books of this country, particularly strong in the old issues. Vol. II commences with 1879-80 issue. It is useless to quote prices for these old stamps as the value entirely depends upon condition, but collectors who are interested in Queensland, and will write me for these books will find the condition of the specimens right, and the prices quite reasonable. charge. Very few of these ever got into circulation as they were discovered by the postal authorities and destroyed with other errors. Thus far two used copies of the first named variety have been found and three used copies of the second one are known.

Second Printing—The second printing appeared late in the summer of 1905, though the stamps were printed in May of that year.

Third Printing—The third printing was first seen late in 1905.

Fourth Printing—The fourth printing was issued early in 1906 and must have been small as the number of stamps of this value bearing the "CANAL" in antique type is so far as known less than one hundred. The only reason that occurs to the writer for such a small printing is that a few sheets of this value were left on hand after the third printing and that the authorities decided to use them up at this time. There is one other variety that occurs on the one cent green of this printing, viz.: on the 68th stamp the impression of the "E" is very faint and in some instances it is nearly gone.

The list of this value follows. The Roman letters following the variety indicating the printing of the Canal Zone surcharge. This method will also appear in the lists of the other stamps.

Two Cent Rose, 1904-06.

The design of this is the same as that of the preceding value and the surcharge is of the same type. There were not, however, as many Canal Zone printings on this value, only two being known.

First Printing—The first printing was issued December 12th, 1904, and has the usual errors. There is besides these a double surcharge, an inverted surcharge, and the variety with the "L" sideways, mentioned above.

Dr. Perry has this to say in regard to these errors:

"Dealers and collectors have been watching for errors in the current series, and some have occurred. However, these stamps are carefully examined and re-examined for the purpose of detecting any that may have been surcharged.

"There have occurred 2c double and inverted surcharges, and 2c in which one stamp in the sheet occurs with the 'L' dropped and printed sideways.

"All these errors have been detected before the stamps were issued and have been placed aside, and were destroyed by burning on January 23rd, 1905.

"Every effort has been made to secure some of these errors, and two dealers offered $5,000 for the lot, but the postal department of the Canal Zone is conducted strictly for postal needs. Still in spite of the precautions taken, the following have escaped their vigilance and have gone out."

2c—inverted surcharge, 30 to 40.
2c—dropped "L" sideways, about 25.

The 2c inverted—a few of these stamps were sold before the error in the sheet was detected and returned. Again a few sheets containing the dropped "L" were placed on sale and probably about 25 of this error got into circulation. Then this stamp was removed from all sheets before they were issued to the various postmasters. 920 of this error were burned together with the other errors. Although Dr. Perry does not state that the double surcharges were destroyed, no one has yet reported having seen one, and it is probable that all were burned. In the latter part of 1908 two sheets of the inverted "CANAL ZONE" surcharge were placed upon the market. Three sheets of this error must therefore have been printed and issued.

As to the number of stamps printed with this surcharge Mr. Toppan says:

"The fact that these errors were all destroyed on January 23rd, 1905, proves beyond question, that they were all upon sheets of this printing and, as 920 of them were destroyed and 'about 25' are known to exist we should judge that the printing consisted of from 950 to 1,000 sheets, or 95,000 to 100,000 stamps."

Second Printing—The errors which occur in this printing are the same as those found in the other values of the

EDITORIAL.

Hurrah—You will always find philatelists in the van of human progress marching with unfaltering step and with eyes, stary with the light of inspiration, as they are fixed on the heaven-kissed goal of civic and political righteousness. This ebullition is the effect of a week's oratory, organized and independent, undergone by us as a member of the mayor's committee to entertain the delegates to the national conventions at Chicago. In other words there were a number of philatelists among the delegates and visitors to the conventions whom we were glad to see; and our regret is that we were unable to see them all.

Memory—As we were passing a gentleman in a crowded corridor, fond recollection came to our aid; and quite snappily did we accost him to ask if he were the Honorable Luther W. Mott, Oswego, New York, congressman from New York. He was, of course, but he could not understand how we could know him at a glance since we had not seen him since 1894 or twenty-two years ago. The explanation is simple enough, once a philatelist always a philatelist. Mr. Mott is joining philatelic societies again and who knows but that he will start a philatelic scramble among the M. C.'s.

Song—From Ohio, as a member of the Republican Glee Club of Columbus, came Mr. H. S. Adair, ex-secretary of the American Philatelic Society. While Mr. Adair succeeded in telling us of some of his philatelic ambitions and aspirations, yet he was never able to finish his story as he was being forced into song on the slightest provocation.

Two—State Senator E. R. Ackermann, known as one of America's greatest collectors, was a delegate from the state of New Jersey and was a very busy man with many duties to demand his attention. Our old friend, Mr. A. W. Batchelder was one of the moving spirits of the Progressive convention who was in the thick of the fight, but such is the ruling passion that he found that notwithstanding all the distracting influences, he was ever ready to talk stamps.

Disputed—Several weeks ago, we said something about a question in a prize contest that asked what foreign country pictured a United States battleship on one of its stamps. Moreover, we indulged in a self-approving moment by saying that we were the only one in the whole class who answered correctly that it was Uruguay. We have just had our complacency jolted by Mr. Robert G. Montgomery of Philadelphia who writes: "Referring to the May 20th editorial, I am in receipt of the following letter from the Assistant Secretary of the Navy: 'Replying to your letter of the 20th instant requesting a list of the U. S. Naval Vessels which visited Montevideo, Uruguay, on August 25th, 1909, you are informed that a search of the records fails to show that any U. S. Naval Vessel was at Montevideo on the date in question.' As your editorial may have mentioned the wrong issue, there being another one showing naval vessels, I write to inquire if the date I have given the Assistant Secretary is correct." Mr. Montgomery took pains to secure this information in which he is much interested, having been connected with the department for some time. While we think that this statement settles all argument yet there is justification for some remarks on the subject.

Delving—The national holiday of Uruguay is the 25th of August, as it was on August 25th, 1825, that the country's independence was declared. On August 25th, 1908, three stamps were issued to commemorate the independence of Uruguay; and we read that the design is a representation of the Bay of Montevideo with the Uruguayan cruiser "Montevideo" and the gunboat "18 de Julio" in the foreground. We did not assume that the phantom United States battleship was shown on this stamp but on the two bi-colored stamps issued a year later to celebrate the opening of the port of Montevideo, it was our recollection that the vessel was depicted. In the face of the statement of the Navy Department that no U. S. naval vessel was at Montevideo on the date in question, we may only say that we understood that war vessels of different countries including the U. S., assembled at Montevideo but that the celebration was not held because of the countermanding of the program in consequence of the calamity, whereby the liner Columbia was sunk in collision with the steamship Schlesien with the loss of over one hundred lives.

Excise—From Mr. A. Preston Pearce, Plymouth, England, who, fifteen years ago, contributed regularly to our columns as an authority on foreign revenues has redeemed his promise made some weeks since to send a description of the new British excise revenue stamps and particulars of their use. We have received an interesting article on the subject from Mr. Pearce and we are further indebted to him for specimens of the half penny, one penny and two pence stamps that are described in the course of the contribution.

Unordinary—Abnormalities in sheets of United States stamps caused by the doubling under or over of the blank marginal strips surrounding the sheets before they are perforated are uncommon enough to attract attention. Mr. G. H. Peterson of Belleville, New Jersey, shows a block of twenty-five of the current two cent, perforated 10, that has a huge margin in the upper right hand corner due to creasing before perforating. Mr. Peterson shows that Canada is taking no chance by submitting a money-order business envelope of Canada "free under convention" and sent to the postmaster of one of our large cities that is censored, nevertheless.

* * *

Sealed—Writing in the National Geographic Magazine, Prof. A. T. Clag told of the custom in oriental countries that prevails to this day of stamping letters with a seal in lieu of affixing the signature of the writer. Even in ancient Babylonia, almost all of the important citizens had seals or cylinders "the impression of which upon the document or letter served the purpose of signature." About 2000 B. C., there was an officer whose duty it was to cut seals upon a soft material for temporary use for those who did not possess them; and today, in some oriental lands his counterpart exists. As a substitute for the seal it was customary for the individual to impress his thumb-nail mark on soft clay. With this explanation in mind one may better understand some of the characteristics of the designs of oriental stamps.

RETURN OF TWO OLD ADVERTISERS.

This week two oldtime advertisers return to our columns and we give them a hearty welcome. We refer to Bryant Pollard and W. Weber.

Mr. Pollard has an advertisement that will surely be read, especially since he offers a wide range of stamps to choose from. He is an advertiser of whom we can truly say that no complaint was ever lodged against him by any patron of the WEEKLY, and that is something of a recommendation.

Mr. Weber uses adlet space but without doubt he will ultimately become a regular patron of our displayed columns. Many of our subscribers will find the name of Mr. Weber a familiar one.

FULTON STAMP CO., 102 W. 42nd Street, NEW YORK

BRITISH STAMP TAXES.

Dear Mr. Severn:—

A short time ago I promised to send you some account of the new Stamp Duties imposed in this country in pursuance of the British plan of paying a good share of the expenses of the War out of current revenue. The Budget estimate of the amount to be raised by new taxation during the present year was three hundred million pounds, but only a very small proportion was expected to be obtained by the use of stamps.

American collectors who read the cabled reports of our Chancellor's proposals, probably fastened on the new Match Tax as one of the most interesting items. I do not suppose that the actual words with which it was introduced were transmitted, but they had a special interest for fiscal philatelists. Mr. McKenna had been dealing with the increased duties on cocoa, coffee and chicory, and then proceeded:

"Undaunted by the example of Mr. Lowe, I ask the Committee to assent to a duty on matches—(a voice: You will burn your fingers. Laughter and cheers)—which ought to bring in as much as two million pounds. The suggested rate is 3s 6d, Customs duty, and 3s 4d Excise, for 10,000 matches, or a governing duty of 4d, a thousand."

Here, perhaps, I should interpose the explanation that the Customs duty is the one to be applied to foreign matches, and the Excise duty to the home manufactured article. This was the only proposal in the Budget differentiating between native and foreign products.

Returning to the philatelic side of the subject, the reference to Mr. Lowe recalled to some of the older members the ill-fated attempt made by that Minister in 1871 to impose a stamp duty of one half-penny on each box of matches. This was seven years after the successful introduction of a similar tax in your country, which was working well at that very time, but the proposal raised a storm of indignation, and had to be withdrawn. Soft-hearted legislators were moved to pity by deputations of ragged match-sellers, and eventually the whole situation was deliciously hit off by Punch. To explain our national jester's quip, it must be mentioned that the stamps for payment of the new tax were prepared beforehand, and present one very remarkable feature. The design is a flaming torch in a double-lined oval bearing the punning Latin motto "Ex luce lucellum," which may be translated as A little profit out of light. Mr. Punch's smart comment was:

"Ex luce lucellum,' a phrase we all know!

But if Lucy can't sell 'em, how then, Mr. Lowe?"

The failure to carry this proposal led to Mr. Lowe's resignation, but we are living in very different times, and in spite of the comment interjected into the Budget speech, and the traditional objection to this particular duty which undoubtedly exists, Britishers have uncomplainingly shouldered this tax with the rest. It only remains to be said that apparently this duty is not being collected now by means of stamps, for none appear on any of the packages that reach consumers.

The original Finance (New Duties) Bill, promulgated after the Chancellor had spoken, showed that the Inland Revenue authorities had arranged for a new duty on table waters, cider and perry to be collected by means of adhesive labels. Strong opposition was manifested towards this method of collection by manufacturers, who roundly asserted that it would be impossible to affix the stamps to the bottles, and they appear to have carried their point, at any rate so far as aerated waters are concerned. By a modification of the Bill the duty is to be collected on the certified output of the manufactories, but I have not yet been able to ascertain what the position will be with respect to cider and perry.

On the point of the alleged impossibility of collection by means of stamps, it may be said that a certain French municipality has employed this method ever since 1878. Testimony to this is borne by certain labels in my collection inscribed "Octroi d'Epinal—Limonade & Eaux Gazeuses." The same thing is found in Turkey, where they tax everything in heaven and on earth, as well as the capacity of Hades.

The only certain fresh issue of stamps to which I can bear witness is for the purpose of collecting the new tax on amusements, and I take pleasure in enclosing specimens for your inspection. In introducing this duty Mr. McKenna said:

"It is a tax on all contracts and entrance fees charged for amusements—such as theatres, kinemas, football matches, horse races, and other similar shows. The great source of revenue from this tax will be the kinema picture palaces. I hesitate to name my estimate of the number of visitors to these shows in the course of a year. It reaches many hundreds of millions, and it would seem that a large proportion of the individuals of our country, of both sexes and of all classes and of all ages, visit a picture palace at least once a week. . . . The total revenue from this source is estimated at five million pounds, but the material on which to found an estimate is not very precise, and I should not be surprised if this estimate prove to be incorrect."

The scale is as follows: Where the payment does not exceed 2d, the tax is ¼d; from 2d, to 6d, 1d; from 6d, to 2s 6d, 2d; from 2s 6d, to 5s, 3d; from 5s, to 7s 6d, 6d; from 7s 6d, to 12s 6d, 1s; above 12s 6d, 1s, for the first 12s 6d, and 1s, for every 10s, or part of 10s, over 12s 6d.

Broadly, the tax is not to be applied to charges for admittance to a place where you amuse yourself, such as a skating-rink or dancing hall, but if you pay to see other people skate or dance you become liable.

The tax came into force on May 15th, and, writing in the same week, I am able to report that it is being collected in three different ways. One is by means of the adhesive stamps already mentioned, which shall be described presently, and which are attached to the ordinary tickets in use. Another is by means of tickets supplied by the Government in rolls, on which the price of admission is printed and the amount of tax indicated by means of a non-adhesive revenue stamp. The third method is by an arrangement under which the number of admissions is checked by a turnstile, or automatic ticket deliverer, and the management undertakes to pay to the Customs the proper share of the takings.

In the first two cases the attendants at the doors have to tear the stamps across, so that used specimens should only be obtainable in halves; but it already appears probable that amusement caterers will prefer to adopt the third method whenever able to obtain the necessary sanction.

The adhesive stamps are of bold and simple, but not unpleasing, appearance. The imperial crown on a lined background occupies the centre, the words EXCISE REVENUE appear on a long scroll at the top, and the value in words on a smaller one below. Both inscriptions are in coloured letters on a white ground. At each side the value is expressed in large white letters on a solid ground, and the floral emblems of the British Isles are introduced in the corners. The stamp approximates in size to the U. S. Special Delivery, but is a little wider and not quite so deep. It is printed on the British postage stamp paper, and the perforation is 14 1/2 to 15x 14. The colours are: 1/2d, myrtle green; 1d, maroon; 2d, milky blue; 3d, purple; 6d, pale red. I have not yet seen the higher values.

In comparing British and American revenue stamps it is noticeable that the tendency in the New World is towards the use of stamps of very low value. With us it has hitherto been quite the other way, and it is an interesting reflection that the 1/2d stamp just described is the first adhesive of so low a value that has been actually brought into use in this country for purely revenue purposes. Mention has indeed been made of the 1/2d, Match Tax stamp of 1871, but it was still-born; and the only possible rival is a 1/2d, Excise Label, for payment of a duty on Mixtures of Coffee, dating from 1880. This, however, is a long band (190x32 mm.), and, although perforated, was not gummed. The British 1/2d, postage stamp has no claim to consideration, for, in spite of the legend "Revenue" upon it, a single one is incapable of paying any duty.

In conclusion, I should like to suggest that some interesting accounts might be obtained from philatelists in other beligerent countries of the fiscal war stamps that have issued from the present conflagration. Indeed, the invitation might well be extended to residents in various neutral countries, which, like the United States itself, have found it desirable to impose stamp duties as a direct consequence of the reign of evil that has overshadowed our globe.

It is a very great pleasure to find myself once more occupying space in the columns of your hospitable paper, and I have to thank you for giving me the opportunity.

Sincerely yours,
A. PRESTON PEARCE.

BOLIVIA.—Another stamp has appeared in the lithographed series, locally printed. We understand that certain interior mail matter has been carried free in that country but hereafter it must be prepaid with 1/2c stamps, hence the need for a denomination hitherto lacking in Bolivian stamps. The design is an upright oblong, with "Correos de Bolivia" at the top, "Medio Centavo" at the bottom, and "1/2" at either side. The central figure is the "Tiahuanacu Monolith."

CAYMAN ISLANDS.—Hermann Focke and J. A. Galbraith have shown us the 1sh King George stamp printed on paper colored through.

CHILE.—La Revue Francaise chronicles a new envelope, with portrait of Valdivia.

20c orange.

ECUADOR.—Two more of the current stamps have been issued in a single color. These were taken from the Reserve stock according to the official decree reprinted from Whitfield King's list in No. 1319. There are no changes in designs or portraits from the bicolored stamps.

Adhesives.

1c orange.
2c green.

EGYPT.—Marsh's Philatelist reports having found the 2m on 3m orange, recently chronicled with surcharge inverted. It is reported that "the use of all" O. H. H. S. stamps has been discontinued, owing, it is believed, to the discovery that they have been made use of on private letters to prevent their being opened by the censor, official letters being passed unopened.

HONDURAS.—Hermann Focke sends us the new 20c stamp of the lithographed "Puente Ulua" design. This has been overprinted "Oficial" in black.

20c red brown.

Official Adhesive.

20c red brown; overprint black.

MEXICO.—Last week we pictured editorially a proof of the new commemorative stamp with central design showing portrait of Carranza. Specimens of this stamp have now been submitted by S. B. Hopkins and Hermann Focke. It is line engraved in a beautiful shade of blue and was issued to celebrate the arrival of Carranza in Mexico City April 14, 1916. According to the information given last week the stamp will be valid for use in June only and will be good only for use in Mexico.

Mr. Focke also sends us a new provisional from this country, the 5c orange of 1910 having been overprinted "G. P. de M.—20—Centavos" in a fanciful design of scroll work. This appears to be what was promised at the time the first "G. P. de M." overprint was placed on so many values.

Scott's Circular chronicles the 5c value in the new set. It is of large size, similar in shape and design to the 40c and 1p recently issued but showing the Post-office in Mexico City. It is printed in two colors. Hermann Focke shows used specimens of the 4c Morelos stamp, the whole set being now to be found in this condition.

Provisional Adhesive.

NEW CALEDONIA.—Michael P. Hynes has shown us the New Caledonia Red Cross stamp, Scott's No. 251, with surcharge inverted.

NEW ZEALAND.—Ewen's Weekly chronicles the 1 1/2d King George stamp typographed instead of engraved. The color is deeper.

Adhesive.

1 1/2d deep slate.

PERU.—Hermann Focke has shown us five new provisionals from Peru, the 4c and 50c of 1909, having been surcharged "Vale—1 Centavo—1916," and the 5c, 10c and 50c postage due stamps of the same date "Franqueo—Vale 2 cts—1916." The type of surcharges was described in Nos. 1309, 1314 and 1316.

THE CHARM OF STAMP COLLECTING.

By L. M. C.

Step to the front, boys, and be convinced of the many interesting things that Madam Philatelia has in her possession, making her the most interesting and charming of all hobbies.

One of the most attractive things about this little lady is the fact that you can collect her children for years and then still find some little prodigal that you have never seen before. Then there are still other and newer children coming to keep your interest stimulated.

If you are an animal lover, you can collect together a nice assortment of lions, tigers, elephants, monkeys, etc., thus making a pretty complete zoo.

She also affords many opportunities for the study of geography, locating for you many small islands and countries that you would not otherwise hear of. Coupled with this we have a little bit of history thrown in. Such as coronations, battles that have been fought and the passing of the presidents and the rulers of different nations and endless other historical events.

The combination of colors on stamps is something worth noting. Such as beautiful waterfalls in their natural colors, also pretty forest scenes and many other views where natural color abounds.

When one looks at the early issues of postage stamps and then at the very latest adhesives, one can not but wonder at the remarkable strides that have occurred in the making of these small bits of paper.

If you are interested in cancellations, it is wonderful to note the various post marks, circular forms, cross roads, pre-cancels and in one instance that I recall

I saw a stamp with a skull and cross bones cancellation upon it.

There is nothing so restful to the nerves as to get out the old stamp book, benzene cup, tongs and etc., and get busy. Some doctors even prescribe the collecting of stamps for nervous people.

Well, boys and girls, you will find animals, maps, waterfalls, portraits, birds, Greek gods, and many other interesting things on even the smallest postage stamp.

These things alone are enough to show you that Madam Philatelia presides over the destinies of the most charming and interesting of all hobbies.

THE TWO NEW DIES OF THE 2c ENV.

By LOUIS G. BARRETT.

Herman Toasperm criticizing my description of the two new dies of the U. S. two cent envelopes, overlooks entirely the fact that the original "J. M. Bartels descriptions" were in error, and did not agree with the envelopes themselves which had been sent out in their new issue service by the J. M. Bartels Co. In an endeavor to correct this discrepancy I sent you what I considered the more correct descriptions.

Since then, another list of descriptions has appeared in the Philatelic Gazette for May, which still further complicates the matter and is hardly more correct than the first one; for while giving the first feature correctly for both Dies A and B, the second and third features are just transposed between A and B.

A glance at a "deadly parallel" of the published facts to date, will convince any fair minded person, that so far my list is the only correct one of those given, and that Mr. Toasperm is hardly justified in criticizing my description when two successive descriptions given out for publication by the J. M. Bartels Co. have both been incorrect and confusing to the last degree.

I give herewith extracts from the articles referred to:

MEKEEL'S WEEKLY, May 6, by J. M. Bartels:—

Die A—(a) U 1 mm. from circle enclosing 2; (b) NT close at base; (c) Top of S of CENTS short.

Die B—(a) U less than 1/2 mm. from circle; (b) NT much wider at base; (c) Top of S of CENTS broad.

MEKEEL'S WEEKLY, May 20, by L. G. Barrett:—

Die A—(a) U less than 1/2 mm. from left circle; (b) (not easily seen); (c) Top of S of CENTS short and thin; (d) Cross-bar in A of STATES midway, and triangular space above it small; (e) T of CENTS has short and thin top stroke.

Philatelic Gazette May, 1916, by J. M. Bartels:—

Die A—(a) U less than 1/2 mm. from circle; (b) NT much wider at base; (c) Top of S of CENTS broad.

Die B—(a) U 1 mm. from circle enclosing 2; (b) NT close at base; (c) Top of S of CENTS short.

From the above it will be noted that Mr. Bartels has in Philatelic Gazette given to Die A, the complete description previously given in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY to Die B; and vice versa; whereas items (b) and (c) for each die, in the Philatelic Gazette list are still wrong and do not belong with their accompanying items (a) but should be transposed between the two dies.

Omitting items (d) and (e) from my list, which I added as being of service in more certainly identifying the dies, it will be seen that my descriptions of items (a) and (c) are correct for their respective dies, while I remark that Mr. Bartels' item (b) is not easily seen, and might well be ignored.

As Mr. Toasperm says, the real test is the difference in position of the U of UNITED in relation to the left circle, but he does not admit that the first list as published was in error, and that my correction was needed to set things right. Neither does he refer to the incorrect list as published in Philatelic Gazette which, having item (a) corrected (as given in my list) slips up on items (b) and (c). In other words, both lists as given out by Mr. Bartels, one to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY and the other to the Philatelic Gazette, have been incorrect, the former as to item (a) the latter as regards (b) and (c).

Meetings first (informal) and third (regular) Tuesdays, Room 322 Tremont Bldg., 8.15 P. M.

June 12, 1916.

The 360th (regular) meeting of the Boston Philatelic Society, Inc., will be held at the club room on Tuesday, June 20. The application of Mr. Howard S. Wheeler will be voted upon.

The entertainment for the evening will consist of a competition for which three ribbons are offered as prizes. The contest will be:—"Any country, not a British Colony, which has issued at least 50 stamps, exclusive of dues, officials, etc. The marking for same will be—Completeness, 40%, Condition 40%, Arrangement and Neatness 20%. No member can submit more than one country. A competition of this sort should bring out a large number of entries as the field is large enough to enable every one to compete. Even if you do not expect to win a ribbon, bring in your favorite country and show the members some of the interesting stamps which you possess.

Those dining informally will meet at the club-room at 6 o'clock.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

SIMPLIFIED SPECIALISM—NETHERLANDS—Part II.

In 1864, the second issue of the stamps of Netherlands was engraved by J. W. Kaiser at Amsterdam. As before, the set consisted of the three values, 5c, 10c and 15c, picturing King William III. This set being in use but three years, is fast becoming as scarce as the first issue which was in use for twelve years.

The second issue was also printed at the Government Mint, at Utrecht. Several printings were made, on paper varying in thickness, color and texture. Copies are known on a paper of light azure tint. The use of watermarked paper was discontinued with this issue and has never been re-used to date. This issue introduced perforated stamps to this country, a gauge of 12½x12 being used.

Sheets of the second issue were divided into two panes of one hundred stamps each, placed side by side. The line-eraving on these stamps is very fine and they are quite worthy of a place among the early "classics" from point of beauty. There are quite a number of differences of interest to specialists, and it is possible to arrange sets showing the various stages of the wearing of the plates in the different printings.

On October 1, 1866, the firm of J. Enschede and Sons, of Haarlem, was awarded the contract for printing the stamps of Netherlands and Colonies, and has continued to manufacture the stamps of this country and its dependencies. Collectors are also familiar with other work done by this firm, in the issues of Persia of recent years. This company exhibited some fine samples of their work at the San Francisco exposition last year, wherein they showed pairs and strips of unused Netherlands, Dutch Colonials, and Persian stamps in complete sets as manufactured by them, and the writer noted especially that the work was absolute perfection with regard to perforating and register. Several of the other exhibits were arranged without regard to these points so important to the philatelist.

Following the awarding of the contract to this concern, a printing of the stamps of the second issue was made by them, from the original plates.

As in the first issue, there is considerable variation in shade in the stamps of the second issue. The 5c contains the greatest variations, while the 10c exists in several shades, and the 15c in two distinct shades and several minor tints.

Pairs and strips of this issue are rare, yet not unknown. The 15c stamp, which is quite rare in single copies, is very seldom seen in pairs or strips. Blocks of four or larger are exceedingly rare. Covers are to be had at prices approaching catalogue in some instances and higher, depending upon desirability. Many of the postmarks of this period are worthy of attention by specialists. Red and black cancellations are used principally. The framed Franco is quite common while the unframed Franco is somewhat rare. Town cancellations are not common, yet may be found for a little searching.

The third issue of Netherlands was prepared in October, 1867. The plates for this issue were engraved by J. Nussler, of Dusseldorf, and the stamps were printed by J. Enschede and Sons, at Haarlem, under contract mentioned above. Two dies were made of each value, showing variations in the numerals. This series was also printed from line engraved plates, bearing portrait of King William III. Three new values, of 20c, 25c and 50c were added in this set for the first time.

Several printings were made, on paper of different thicknesses and texture, unwatermarked. In November, 1871, a paper with bluish tinge was used for printing the 5c, 10c, 15c, and 20c.

This issue contains some very confusing perforation varieties, as several sizes were used. The 10½x10 series of 5c, 10c, 15c, and 20c, issued in 1869 is the rarest of all Netherlands stamps. The 5c and 10c are quite scarce, while the 15c is a genuine rarity and the 20c is very hard to find, even when one has an inclination to spend $6.00 or $8.00 for it. As the specialist will no doubt be familiar with the various varieties of perforations and dies, I shall not attempt to dwell on them here, since they interest the specialist only. The following perforations were used:

- 12½x12—October, 1867.
- 10½x10—1869
- 13, 13½x14—1869
- 13, 13½—1869
- 14 small holes—1869

The stamps on bluish paper were all printed from Die II and exist with various perforations.

The authenticity of the imperforate stamps of this issue has never been fully established. M. Moens secured several sheets of all values from the Dutch Government in this condition, but no proof that these stamps were ever issued in this condition has ever been found.

The collector who is really desirous of studying some individual issue of stamps will find that the third issue of Netherlands offers a very large field for research work. These stamps are still to be had in small quantities and will pay for any attention given them, since they offer great possibilities in shades and perforations, as well as paper varieties. Other issues will be discussed later.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

This department has been somewhat neglected of late, owing to the fact that we have been somewhat pressed for space, as well as for time. In the future, however, we shall try to give this feature better attention, as well as correspondence requiring personal reply. The writer would prefer to have as many letters as possible addressed for publication rather than for personal reply, as it is our aim to benefit as many of our readers as possible by this service. Let the other fellow have the benefit of your reply. Personal letters will, however, be attended to when desired.

G. E. H.—The provisional issues of Peru are quite a study in themselves. I am not familiar with the 10c stamp surcharged "Pisco" in oval, so can throw very little light on it for you. There has been some counterfeiting done in these issues and it is barely possible that your stamp is fraudulently surcharged, yet it is also quite possible that it is a legitimate issue. I hesitate to say that any of the catalogues offer a complete list.

M. W. T.—I believe your Crete and Portugal stamps are chemical changelings. I have seen startling changes in both of these stamps due to oxidization, though the Crete stamp usually turns a deep red brown. Water will affect the Portuguese issues of this period under certain conditions. In fact, there are countless ways in which stamps can be changed from one shade to another.

P. C. F.—Precancel stamps are stamps cancelled by the post office before selling. They are cancelled thus to save the labor of cancelling individual pieces of mail, and can only be used by concerns having a permit from the office of mailing. A very careful record is kept of the quantity sold and also of the quantity mailed to prevent any discrepancies. Only commercial houses using a large quantity of mail may use precancels. As there are many different styles of type used in precancelling the stamps by the different post offices, the collecting of precancels affords great interest and pleasure to those who gather them.

L. W. H.—Your Mexican stamp 1903, 5c orange has turned brown from ex-posure to the certain elements in the air causing oxidization. Orange changes to brown very readily, as will be seen on the U. S. 2c Civil War revenues and other "old timers." A bath in peroxide of hydrogen, on a little of this chemical applied with a piece of cotton will restore the color. Try it on half of the stamp and see the difference it makes.

H. R. DeH.—Your Ceylon stamp surcharged Cave has a control mark to prevent unauthorized use. "Cave" is a firm.

G. C. F.—Your 10pf Germany on rose paper is a new one on me. It looks, though, as if it had been soaked in the same dish as some U. S. Postage Dues or some other red stamp with fugitive color. Also, the colored envelope lining used by some foreigners will run and cause a discoloration of paper if soaked in the same dish.

F. E. B.—Dealers purchase uncanceled due stamps from certain postmasters who are either ignorant of the postal law or who choose to disregard it. Under the postal ruling, no person outside of the department may have uncanceled postage due stamps in his possession, and same are liable to confiscation. This law is not enforced very rigidly, however, excepting at intervals.

Someone has been "stringing" you. True, the Guatemala peso is worth only a very few cents, but Honduras and Salvador exchange is considerably higher than 2¼c, and all of these countries are issuing peso stamps (Colonies in Salvador) at the present time. The cost of printing stamps is approximately 8c per 1,000, so they can well afford to print them.

M. H.—Sorry, but I haven't the address of C. W. W. who inquired for tobacco stamp information. If C. W. W. sees this and will write me, I shall gladly forward his address to you, and I know he will thank you for any help you give him.

H. S.—Belgian stamps are slightly better with coupon attached. Your revenue stamp is oxidized, causing the brown color. This is caused by exposure to the air under certain conditions and is a somewhat common occurrence, particularly on red or orange stamps.

V. A. B.—I believe the Philatelic Brotherhood of America is open to boy collectors. I know of no booklet on Greek stamps. A very fine series of articles appeared in Philatelic Opinion some time ago, and a letter addressed to Mr. Poole, 312 Washington Bldg., Los Angeles, Calif., will bring you information regarding cost of the back-numbers of this publication.

L. T.—The stamps of Hamburg have been reprinted, and originals are quite scarce. It would be quite impossible to say whether your copy was genuine or not without seeing it. As the genuine are rare, and reprints rather common, it is very doubtful. The Canada War-Tax stamps will not be rare, but should prove to be somewhat scarce before long.

COINS OF NEW DESIGN SOON.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Half dollars, quarters and dimes of new design will be minted after July 1, the first change in those coins since 1891. Each of the new pieces will be of different design. The half dollar and dime models were made by Adolph A. Weinman, the quarter dollar by Hermon A. MacNeel, both noted sculptors.

On the face of the half dollar will be a full length figure of liberty with the American flag as a background. On the reverse an eagle, wings unfolded, perched on a mountain crag. The face of the quarter will show a full length figure of Liberty, bearing a shield up-raised, but the olive branch of peace, too. On the reverse an eagle in full flight. Both these coins bear the inscription "In God We Trust."

Liberty, with a winged cap, will be shown on the face of the dime; on the reverse a bundle of rods and a battle-axe, symbolizing union and the Nation's strength.

Only Half a Stamp

One of the most interesting provisional series of late years was that issued by the Governor of Portuguese India in 1911-12, authorized by the Home Government at Lisbon, and issued at Goa to fill a real need. There was a postal necessity for the stamps and they were used in the regular order of business. Both Scott and Gibbons list these interesting stamps, but with rare exceptions, no prices are given for used specimens. By a fortunate chance we are enabled to supply collectors looking for genuinely postally used stamps with the following list, at the low prices named. In most cases we can supply both right and left halves, but in no case can we supply used unsevered pairs. Prices are net, per half stamp, with postage extra on orders under 50 cents.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

CHAPTER X.

The Small "Cents" Stamps.

In the American Journal of Philately for August, 1869, we read "Canada is shortly to have a new set of stamps. Taking lessons in economy from our own country, it seems they are about altering their stamps to make them smaller, so as to save paper. The head will still remain exactly the same as now, but the frame and the margin around the head will be considerably less. We cannot see how this can be done without spoiling the beauty of the stamp. As to whether they are to retain the same colors we are unable to say." The 1869 issue of the United States was in use at that time and though this series is now generally popular it was regarded with very mixed feelings then as may be imagined from the Stamp Collector's Magazine comments on the above statement, viz.:—"We trust this intelligence is incorrect; that the example of the new United States stamps can have any attractive influence on the Canadian authorities is hardly possible."

The new issues do not seem to have formed the subject of any special official document or notice, nor does the reduction in the size of the labels seem to have been considered worthy of special mention in any of the Reports issued by the Postmaster-General.

These smaller sized stamps were issued as the stocks of the earlier issues became exhausted or, in some cases, presumably as the old plates were discarded owing to wear, but it appears very probable that the dies for the 1c, 2c, 3c, 6c and 10c denominations were all engraved at the same period and, as regards the 2c, 6c and 10c, it is very possible that supplies were printed and held in stock long before it became necessary to issue them to the public.

The 3c was the first value to appear and was probably on sale some time in January, 1870. The Stamp Collector's Magazine for March 1st of that year chronicled this new stamp as follows:—

to which reference was made some months ago, is really to be carried out, and as an earnest of the execution of the project, we receive the three cents red, cut down to the size of the half cent, and with the design made to resemble that of the latter. The numerals in the upper corners are absent; the inscription, CANADA POSTAGE, is in almost microscopic lettering, and in lieu of the full denomination—THREE CENTS—in the lower margin, the word CENTS alone appears, flanked by the figure on each side. The cause of the change is not to be sought in any desire to economise paper; it lies in the simple fact that the smaller size is found the more convenient. The design certainly is not improved by it, and we might call upon these little stamps to "hide their diminished heads," were it not that the head, and that alone, remains as large as ever. The stamps, though in a fair way to become small by degrees as the Canadian idea of convenience increases, are not likely to become "beautifully less." A new value, however, made up from the parings of the old ones—an 8 cents—is said to be in preparation, and will help to make up in quantity, for any deterioration in the quality.

The next value to appear was the 1 cent, which was recorded in the journal referred to above in its issue for April 1st, so that it was no doubt on sale some time in March, 1869. In design it is similar to the 3c, the main difference being in the inscription at base. The denomination is given in full—ONE CENT—and this follows the curve of the medallion instead of curving in the reverse direction as CENTS does on the 3c.

H. F. COLMAN,

hand of some of the values of the 1868 issue for two years elapsed before any more of the small stamps appeared. Then in the Stamp Collector's Magazine for February, 1872, we read:—"We have received by the last mail specimens of a new 6 cents brown of the small size. It is printed of a warm tint, and is as effective as its congeners." The design follows that of the 3c very closely with, of course, the numerals "6" instead of "3" in the lower angles.

In the following month the 2c was chronicled, its color being given as "a delicate chrome-green." The design differs from the 3c and 6c chiefly in the direction of the curve of the word CENTS, which is reversed, as compared with those denominations, and much less pronounced.

The 10c was the next value to appear and it was not on sale until quite late in 1874, probably about November 1st. The design follows the general effect of the 2c but at the same time illustrates a new departure, inasmuch as the numerals of value are repeated in the upper corners in a smaller form. For what particular purpose this value was intended is not clear for there was, apparently, no regular rate at that time which required such a denomination.

The next value placed on sale was the 5c, which was issued in February, 1876, and superseded the large 5c design after it had been in use for only about four months. Though the portrait is the same as that on the other values the frame is of a distinctly different style and CENTS is in much larger letters than before, showing that the previous values, following as they do a general pattern, were engraved much about the same time though many years elapsed before all were actually in use.

Finally in July, 1882, the 1/2c value appeared and was recorded in the Philatelic Record for July of that year in the following words:—

That "history repeats itself" is a proverb that is curiously illustrated by the latest issue of this colony. We all remember that in 1868 a 1/2c stamp of smaller size than the other values of the series was emitted. A few years later, some say for economical reasons, the other values were reduced to the smaller size. Recently it seems to have struck the Canadian authorities that their idea of fourteen years ago was a happy one, and the 1/2c has been proportionately cut down. The general arrangements of the design remain the same, but the ornamentation is simpler. The head and circle containing it are miniatures of the former, and the result is what the ladies would call "a dear little stamp," about the size of our lately defunct "Half-penny," but an upright instead of an oblong rectangle. We trust the price of paper will not again cause a general reduction; for if the Canadian stamps go on growing "small by degrees, and beautifully less," they will in time become too microscopic to be collectible.

After the issue of the 1/2c value the only denominations of the 1868 series not provided with successors in the issue under notice were the 12 1/2c and 15c. Regarding the former value the Stamp Collector's Magazine for May, 1872, says, on the authority of a Canadian journal:—"It is unlikely that the 12 1/2c small size will be issued, as the large ones are very little used, and can now be bought at the post-office for 12 cents." But some three years later the American Journal of Philately asserted that "Canada will shortly issue the 12 1/2c and 15c values of postals in small size, to correspond with the others of the series." These stamps, however, never materialized though that dies and plates were made and stamps printed from them is evident from the existence of perforated essays of these two values. The portrait is exactly like that of the other denominations, and the borders are, on general lines, so like the 1c, 2c, 3c, 6c and 10c as to give considerable support to the belief that these unissued varieties were prepared for use at quite an early date.

The stamps of this series were all produced by the line-engraved process and all values, with the exception of the 1/2c, were at first printed in sheets of 100, arranged in ten horizontal rows of ten. The 1/2c was printed in sheets of 200, arranged in two panes of 100 each, placed side by side. A space of about 11 mm. separated the two panels and these large sheets were cut into halves before leaving the printing establishment, thus making "post-office" sheets of 100 stamps. In the later months of 1892 or early in 1893 the 1c, 2c and 3c values—the ones in most general demand—were printed in large sheets of 200 arranged in ten horizontal rows of twenty stamps each.

A close study of a large quantity of these stamps would probably result in the discovery of many interesting varieties in the way of double transfers. In the few stamps at our disposal we have found but one of any prominence. This occurs on the 3c denomination the top portion of the design having plainly been applied to the plate twice, the doubling being especially noticeable in the inscription CANADA POSTAGE.

As these stamps were in use for a fairly lengthy period—nearly thirty years in the case of the 3c—it is obvious that a large number of plates must have been made, especially for those denominations which were generally used. At different times different marginal imprints or arrangements of the imprints were used, and given sufficient material a study of these marginal varieties should reveal much of interest. Mr. Howes has paid particular attention to these varieties and the following notes are chiefly based on his investigations.

The earliest plates of the 1c, 2c, 3c, 5c and 6c, and probably the 10c as well (as this value was in use before the 5c), had the denomination in words above the second and third stamps on the top row of each sheet. These inscriptions, "ONE CENT," etc., were in large shaded Roman capitals 4 mm. high. In the centre of each of the four margins is the manufacturer's imprint, BRITISH AMERI-

SOUDAN.

CAN BANK NOTE CO. MONTREAL & OTTAWA, in colorless Roman capitals on a narrow strip of color 1 mm. wide and 51 mm. long; this imprint being, in fact, exactly like that found on the sheets of the 1868 issue. These remarks apply to the 1c, 2c, 3c and 6c (and probably to the 10c also), but not to the 5c.

The 5c, which was not issued until 1876, has the denomination shown in the upper margin in large shaded Roman capitals, as in the case of the others, but the imprint is different, being like that found on the sheets of the large 5c stamp, i. e. "British American Bank Note Co. Montreal", in capitals and lower case letters on a strip of solid color 56 mm. long by 2½ mm. wide, with a pearly border. This imprint was shown on each of the four margins.

About this time new plates made for the other denominations also had this new style of imprint. Sheets of the 1c and 3c show the imprint on top and bottom margins only, but whether other plates were used for these denominations with imprints on all four sides is not known for certain, though this is highly probable. The 6c and 10c values of this series have

"BUDDIE" LEWIS, A SHUT-IN.

We take the liberty of quoting from a letter received from Rev. Geo. W. Vorhis, pastor of the M. E. Church of Springfield, Ohio, and feel sure that a goodly number of our readers will respond to the appeal made. We who know the joy in stamp collecting will find here the opportunity of helping one who will appreciate the kindness. We quote from Mr. Vorhis' letter:—

"The subject of this picture was stricken with small pox and spinal meningitis and after long suffering remained here to be in the condition shown in the picture. He has been lying on his stomach for eight years. His body and limbs are so twisted that he cannot lie on his back. Friends have done what they could to find some means of pleasure but all were but transient, until it was my privilege to get him some stamps to start a collection. He has found immeasured delight in this. I have given him duplicates until he has several hundred, and I have thought some others might wish to share the pleasure I have found in thus helping to bring some sunshine to the little wheel bed. His mother is a widow with a large family to support by very hard work, and his only hope of adding to his treasures is by the help of others.

If it would be possible to bring this to the attention of the many collectors that would doubtless be glad to have a part in giving him some joy they can communicate directly with him. His address is "Buddie" Lewis, Rear 121 N. Belmont Ave., Springfield, Ohio."

large numerals, "6" or "10" as the case may be, above the second stamp in the top row, while above the ninth stamp of the same row is "SIX" or "TEN" in shaded Roman capitals. The numerals are very thick and 6 mm. in height, while the letters are 4 mm. high as on the earlier plates, though the word "CENTS" has now been dispensed with. This arrangement has not been noted on other denominations as yet, though there is no reason why it should not be found in connection with the 1c, 2c and 3c.

A sheet of the 3c value, with two marginal imprints, is noted with "THREE" in shaded Roman capitals above the first two stamps of the top row, while the 1c is recorded without any marginal designation of value and with but two of the "Montreal" imprints.

The printing establishment of the British American Bank Note Company was removed from Montreal to Ottawa in 1888 and plates made after that date show a new style of imprint viz:—"BRITISH AMERICAN BANK NOTE CO. OTTAWA", in white Roman capitals on a strip of solid color measuring 40 mm. long by 1½ mm. wide. This, it will be noted, is like the first type of imprint but with the words "MONTREAL &" removed. On the 2c this is known 49 mm. long and nearly 2 mm. wide, this being from a sheet in the 100 arrangement. The smaller style of imprint seems to have been characteristic of the sheets printed in the 200 size, and writing with regard to these Mr. Howes says:—

The "Ottawa" imprint appears three times, once in the middle of the top margin, over stamps 10 and 11, and twice in the bottom margin, beneath stamps 5 and 6, and again beneath stamps 15 and 16. There are no imprints at the sides. The denomination appears in the top margin at both right and left and in a new style of lettering on these larger plates. Thus we find ONE CENT or TWO CENT over stamps 2 and 3 as well as 18 and 19, or THREE CENT over the first four and last four stamps in plain Egyptian capitals.

The ½c value, which we have left until last on account of its different sheet arrangement, had the "Montreal" imprint, described in connection with the other values, arranged six times on the margins—above and below each pane, at the right of the right hand pane, and at the left of the left hand pane—so that there were three imprints on each of the "post-office" sheets of 100 stamps. In addition, to quote Mr. Howes, "over the top inscription of the right pane is the reversed figure 1, 4 mm. high, and in the same position on the left pane the corresponding figure 2, evidently to designate the panes."

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—We are advised of a movement to organize a Tri-State Philatelic Society for collectors in Minnesota and North and South Dakota. A provisional organization has been effected and will be in force until Sept. 1, when an election will be held. J. E. Guest is president, E. R. Aldrich vice president, J. J. Warns secretary, Burt McCann treasurer, V. W. Rotnem sales manager, and Walter Asp exchange manager.

—The Bethlehem Times of Bethlehem, Pa., dated June 8, gives an account of the local branch meeting of the Southern Philatelic Association. We are indebted to H. M. Fry, secretary of the Branch, for clipping just at hand.

—In paying for subscriptions or books we naturally prefer a money order or check, but if you must remit in stamps let it be high values from 5c to 15c. We can handle these conveniently and dispose of them more readily than the 1c and 2c values.

—"Spinks is back from his vacation already?" "Yes. He says he had the time of his life." "A round of gayety, I presume?" "Nothing of the sort. Spinks is a stamp collector. He met another crank with the same hobby. They sat around for ten days discussing stamps and then Spinks came home."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

—If too much trouble to procure a money order when you renew your subscription or purchase books from our list, remit in stamps 5c to 15c denominations. We shall appreciate the favor.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from C. B. Casler, Wm. L. Hamilton, J. A. Bangs, Edw. Frey, S. D. Blake.

—"Should like to know the present address of H. W. Rarrick, formerly of Italy, Texas."—S. L. SHOLLEY.

EDITORIAL.

Excuse—Last week several observations were crowded out of this column but the only one that really affected a waiting world was in reference to the new Mexican commemorative stamp. Our official translator has corrected us in one of the statements made several weeks ago and says that the stamp is good for postage only on the first of June, 1916. He says that on the first day of that month, it was imperative that each letter mailed in Mexico for the interior or for abroad bear one of the commemorative stamps. While it is admitted that the special stamp has no international franking power, it is decreed that all foreign letters show the celebration stamp in addition to the regular postage stamps. Here is an example of popularizing a commemorative stamp with a vengeance; and moreover it is a philatelic ephemeral, in truth.

Guessing—A request has come for an opinion on "the future of the fifty dollar documentary revenue stamp." We shall be glad to give our views feeling that they may have some interest if not value as we have seen a half-dozen or so used specimens. It may be recalled that the WEEKLY was the first medium to announce the recall by the authorities of the fifty dollar and the issuance in its stead of the sixty dollar denomination, on account of the theft of a number of the unused stamps. Approximately, eleven hundred of the fifty dollar documentary were not returned to Washington and consequently, it is assumed fairly that these stamps were sold to the public. It follows that in all likelihood, the stamps were each used as their high face value made it inadvisable to keep them in the drawer. The fifty dollar stamps were bought by firms, according to their immediate requirements. We have told of the sale of a superb pair of the stamps in used condition for one hundred dollars to a collector; and we know that dealers have paid around forty dollars each for used stamps that were beyond criticism. As a side-light in this connection, we may say that all the copies used by Armour and Company, Chicago, were canceled by cuts or perforated initials; and of the hundred odd stamps of this value that were sold in Chicago, Armour and Company got a good proportion. The collectors who aspire to the possession of this stamp seem to demand perfection condition; and it must be admitted that copies of the fifty dollar that fall short of this class command relatively low prices. We think that the future of the stamp is secure and that no considerable number of the fifty dollar will ever descend on the market. In perfect used condition, the stamp will always be a rarity with a value of forty dollars or so, but in ordinary condition, the price will be but a fraction, one-half, one-third or one-fourth of this amount, however.

Anguish—If there is anything that gives the chap who runs a stamp paper a distinct and localized pain, it is the accusation that this or that class of stamps is being ignored premeditatedly in the reading columns for reasons that are presented ramblingly or not at all. The density of dome of the collector who becomes obsessed with the idea that some certain stamps contain all the elements of philatelic virtue to the exclusion of all others is so unyielding that argument is useless. The extremist who dotes on a selected line of stamps consigning all others to limbo is no specialist, as he may fondly think he is. On the contrary, he is one of the most reprehensible types that cumber philately as in many cases his mania for his touted stamps is based on cupidity. His press-agent stuff, the more shame to him, is inspired by sordid motives. We may sympathize with the sentimental booster but a plague on the coldly commercial calculator.

Cute—The jargon of the auction cataloguer has developed some interesting descriptives. "Perforated in the effigy," "generously canceled," "corner sliced," etc.; and now we learn that in one stamp that the auctioneer knows, "the perforations impinge upon the design." For no reason in the world this makes us think of the impromptu rejoinder of a dealer who in answer to a question whether a certain imperforate stamp he had for sale had a good margin, said, varying the usual "wide enough to drive a team of horses around it,"—"It has a boulevard all the way around."

Registered—From Mr. P. M. Wolsiefer we have received a label that reads: "Seaboard Air Line Railway registered label. This label should be pasted on all Valuable and Important Letters and Packages forwarded. Agents and baggagemen must keep record and take receipts for all Registered matter. W. J. Harahan, President." The paster was on a registered package and it would seem to indicate that on part of the trip from Norfolk, Virginia, the place of origin of the registered package to Philadelphia, its destination, the railway, instead of the mail clerks, handled it.

Irish—We find that the London Philatelist quotes the London Times, May 9th, on the subject of the Irish Republic stamps: "I have seen, though I failed to acquire it, one of the Republic's penny stamps. The complete set will probably be a subject of acute interest for philatelists." In the Dublin correspondence in the Christian Science Monitor of May 23rd, 1916, it is recorded that the Sinn Feiners issued their own stamps and bank notes. The account is illustrated by a photo-engraving, four and one-half by three and one-half inches, of a Sinn Fein stamp, which was "photographed for the Christian Science Monitor." The cross, shamrocks, etc., and Gaelic inscriptions are shown on the stamp. As our contemporary says: "The specimens in question will probably turn out to be rather a projected issue in the nature of essays than a regular issue, for which no scope could have arisen within the limited area of the rebellion." We assume that this stamp is not to be confounded with the Sinn Fein label that appeared eight years ago and which has been used as a sort of label of protest by partisans here and there since that time, the details of the stamp having escaped our memory.

Votes—It is apparent that the well-known "political pot" is boiling at a merry clip in the Southern Philatelic Association. This activity is due to a number of causes, chief of which is the conflict of human ambitions which has been staged from the beginning of the race, the "outs" versus the "ins." When we ponder over what the Southern Philatelic Association was before the advent of several workers in the roles of revivers and its present estate, we cannot see how it would be fair of sensible to retire the present officers. As about the third oldest member of the organization, we can say that the Society experienced many vicissitudes before it attained its position of prominence; and on the score of performance, C. W. Kissinger, candidate for president; William Lycett for vice-president; C. V. Webb for secretary and Erwin R. Fischer for treasurer, all deserve re-election.

FULTON STAMP CO., 102 W. 42nd Street, NEW YORK

Revised for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

POSTAGE STAMPS OF THE CANAL ZONE.

By WILLIAM EVANS.

Five Cents Blue, 1904-06.

This is the five cents stamp of the fourth Panama surcharge. The Canal Zone surcharge is the same as in the preceding values, and all of the six settings are found upon this value.

First Printing—The first printing was upon the stamp having the narrow bar at the top. The "PANAMA" surcharge presents a number of errors some of which are peculiar to this value, while others occur on other values. These are as follows: On the 15th and 20th stamps of the sheet a space of 5 mm. exists between "PANAMA" and the bar at the right side of the stamp, instead of 3½ mm. as in the normal surcharge; on the 41st and 46th stamps the "M" of "PANAMA" on the left is tall and thin, being from a different font of type than that used for the other letters. These two errors are so far as known found on all sheets.

There are some other errors which occur on only a few sheets. It is therefore probable that they were discovered and corrected before many sheets had been printed, or it is possible that a few sheets of another printing of the Panama surcharge became mixed with those of the supply furnished to the Canal Zone authorities. On the bottom row of the sheet we find the word "ANAMA" at the left side of eight stamps, Nos. 91, 92, 93, 95, 96, 98, 99, 100 and "PANAM" at the right of three, Nos. 92, 94 and 97. These errors are found upon a few sheets but are not at all common. The spelling "PANAMA" is found on the 41st and 46th stamps of a very few sheets. The final "A" of "PANAMA" is above the level of the other letters on the 15th and 20th stamps of a very few sheets.

The errors of the "CANAL ZONE" surcharge are those of the first setting. Besides these there is known a double surcharge. Dr. Perry says in regard to this error:

"The five cents double surcharge was in a lot sent to Paraiso last August (1905) and it is supposed that practically all went on letters to Jamaica and, falling into the hands of negroes, were destroyed. That it was of the first Canal Zone printing is proven by the fact that copies are known with the errors "PANAM" and "ANAMA", which occur in no other printing."

The number of the first printing issued was 10,000 on December 12th, 1904; 10,000 in January, 1905, and 10,000 in March, 1905, making a total of 30,000.

*It is probable that the "CANAL ZONE" errors exist double but none have as yet been discovered.

Second Printing—The first lot of the second printing was issued May 4th, 1905, and was 10,000 in number, and the second lot, consisting of 20,000, was issued June 22, 1905.

The "PANAMA" surcharge which is the same as that of the first printing has, so far as known, but three errors. The first is the spelling "PANAAAM". This could not be distinguished from the same error occurring in the first printing when on the 46th stamp, unless it were in a block containing some other stamp distinctive of this printing and but four or five copies are known in this condition. Mr. Toppan has it in a block of nine, including Nos. 31, 32, 33, 41, 42, 43, 51, 52, 53, and the Tweedy collection has it in a block of 16, including Nos. 46 and 65.

This surcharge also occurs inverted with the bar at the bottom.

The other error of the "PANAMA" surcharge has the last "A" below the line of the remaining letters of the word, and only three or possibly four copies of this variety have thus far been discovered.

Reference list:

 e—"L" broken (42).
 f—"N" broken (65).
 g—Bar at bottom.

Third Printing—The stamp used for the third printing in the Canal Zone was the one bearing the wide bar with the "PANAMA" fourth surcharge. Of this printing 20,000 were issued August 21, 1905, and 25,000 more on September 23, 1905. The "PANAMA" surcharge exists in two distinct shades of ink. One, probably the earlier, is a bright rose carmine, and the other a dull vermillion. The errors found in the bright shade are "PANAWA" on Nos. 24 and 29, of some of the sheets, "PANAMA" 16 mm. long on Nos. 25 and 30, "PANAMA" 1½ mm. below the bar instead of 3 mm. on the last horizontal row of the sheet, and "PANAMA" 2 mm. from the bar on the second horizontal row. The surcharge is also found inverted with bar at the bottom. These same errors occur in the dull color, and, in addition to them, there is also the spelling "PANANA" on Nos. 95 and 100, and a shifted surcharge with bar at bottom, and a double surcharge.

To distinguish between the inverted surcharge with the bar at the bottom, and the shifted surcharge with the bar in the same position it is necessary to note the distance between the bar and the first letter of "PANAMA." In the inverted surcharge, which was produced by placing the sheet of stamps on the press upside down, this distance is from 2 to 3 mm.

In the shifted surcharge this distance is 4 to 4½ mm. This was produced by placing the sheet in the press in such a manner that the bar fell upon the bottom of the row of stamps above the one upon the top of which it should have fallen. The bottom row of these sheets should show stamps with no bar at all, but except in one instance this variety has not been listed. Some of them will doubtless be found later.

The Canal Zone surcharge of this printing is of the second setting, and is very clear and distinct, such as one would expect to see as a result of the use of new type. It is of a grayish black shade not found in this surcharge in any of the other printings of the stamp with wide bar.

A few sheets of the stamp with the bright carmine surcharge were included in the lot used for the fourth printing and these show the "ZONE" in antique type which characterizes the third setting of the surcharge. Two printings having been made from the second setting, namely the second and third, the fourth printing was from the third setting, and this fact should be borne in mind with reference to this value. It occurs in no other.

The shades of this and the following printings, are, however, considerably mixed and one cannot depend upon them to distinguish between single stamps. Sheets exist showing two distinct shades which goes to show that this feature is not at all to be depended upon.

The "PANAMA" surcharge shows three errors. The spelling "PAMANA" occurs on the 54th and 59th stamps. The "N" of "PANAMA" is double-lined on numbers 53 and 58. This "N" is a peculiar letter. A triangle is formed on its right hand stroke, and extending to the middle of this stroke, and parallel with the middle stroke. The top of the triangle is the serif, the inner side is formed by the extra stroke and the outer side is the right hand stroke of the letter. Whether this is due to a defect in printing, or to a peculiarly made letter is problematical.

The second "A" of "PANAMA" does not appear on Nos. 95 and 100 of some sheets. This "A" was not in reality omitted but became broken and consequently did not print. A wide spacing between "N" and the second "A" of "PANAMA" also exists.

The surcharge is known shifted with the bar at the bottom, and stamps are known without the bar.

The "CANAL ZONE" surcharge is that of the third setting.

Reference list:

- 5c blue and deep carmine.
- a—"PAMANA" (54, 59).
- b—"N" of "PANAMA" double-lined (53, 58).
- c—"PAN MA" (95, 100); not on all sheets.
- d—Shifted surcharge, bar at bottom.
- e—No bar on stamp.

- f—"Z" broken (32).
- g—"E" broken (33).
- h—"L" broken (42).
- i—"N" broken (65).
- j—"ZONE" antique type (48).
- k—"N" and second "A" of "PANAMA" widely spaced.

Fifth Printing—There has come to our knowledge indisputable evidence that this value received the fourth setting of the "CANAL ZONE" surcharge. This evidence is in the form of a photograph of eighty-four stamps of a sheet, and it fortunately contains all of the stamps upon which the errors fall. It was furnished by Mr. R. S. Nelson of Birmingham, Alabama, who is the lucky owner. Before he discovered its extreme rarity he had removed sixteen of the stamps and disposed of them.

This sheet was purchased by Mr. Nelson from the postmaster at Paraiso, and reached him on April 16, 1906. So far as known this is a unique sheet. The printing of this value with this setting of the surcharge must have been a small one and it is probable that it was made to use up a few sheets which had remained on hand after some of the other printings.

The "PANAMA" surcharge contains no errors, but on the ninety-fifth stamp the second "A" is so badly broken that only the first stroke shows. As the one hundredth stamp has been removed from the sheet it cannot be stated whether or not the same break occurred upon that stamp also.

Reference list:

- 5c blue and bright carmine.
- a—"Z" broken (32).
- b—"E" broken (33).
- c—"L" broken (42).
- d—"N" broken (65).
- e—"ZONE" antique type.
- f—"CANAL" antique type.

Sixth Printing—On March 6, 1906, there were issued 50,000 of the sixth printing and on May 9, 1906, 100,000 more, making a total of 150,000.

The "PANAMA" surcharge is in a dull, dark shade in most instances, though copies are known in a bright carmine shade, so that it is probable that a mixing of more than one Panama printing occurred. The "PAMANA" error is found on numbers 54 and 59 of the sheet and the double-lined "N" occurs on numbers 53 and 58. The first named error was on part of the sheets issued May 9, 1906. A double surcharge is known in this printing and a shifted surcharge with the bar at the bottom.

The errors of the "CANAL ZONE" surcharge are those of the fifth setting. A double surcharge is also known.

Reference list:

- 5c blue and dark red.
- a—"PAMANA" (54, 59); on some sheets.
- b—"N" double-lined (53, 58).
- c—"PAMANA" double (20 copies known).
- d—"PANAMA" surcharge shifted, bar at bottom.
- e—No bar on stamp.
- f—"CANAL" antique type (26).
- g—"ZONE" antique type (48).
- h—"Z" antique type (32).
- i—"E" broken (33).
- j—"L" antique type (42).
- k—"N" antique type (65).

Seventh Printing—The seventh printing was issued on August 17, 1906, and consisted of 100,000 stamps. The Panama surcharge is in a lighter shade than that used for any other printing and most of the sheets are more or less blurred owing to the liberal use of ink. The "PAMANA" spelling, and the double-lined "N" are found in the same position of the sheet as in the two preceding printings. In this printing a new error is found which is a space of 4 mm. between the bar and "PANAMA" instead of 2½ mm. This occurs on the second horizontal row of the sheet. The "PANAMA" surcharge is also found inverted.

The "CANAL ZONE" surcharge is that of the sixth stage of the setting.

Reference list.

- 5c blue and carmine-vermilion.
- a—"PAMANA" (54, 59).
- b—"N" double-lined (53, 58).
- c—"PANAMA" 4 mm. below bar (11 to 20).
- d—"PAMANA" inverted, bar at bottom.
- e—"CANAL" antique type (26).
- f—"ZONE" antique type (48).
- g—"Z" antique type (32, 45).
- h—"E" broken (33).
- i—"Z" and "L" antique type (42).
- j—"N" antique type (65).

UNITED STATES.—L. Morrissey writes: In a block of four U. S. current 2c postage stamps purchased a few days ago, the upper right hand specimen is so defectively printed that the design of the Washington face below the nose, (including the chin and lower jaw), is entirely destroyed and Washington appears with an almost perfect beard. The other stamps of the block show defects of a similar nature, but in lesser degree and in other locations.

Athol W. Cliff has shown us the current 3c stamp in a pronounced ultramarine shade. It is difficult to see how this could be either a faded copy or a chemical changeling, but one it certainly is.

ARGENTINE.—The London Telegraph says the Argentine postal administration has in active preparation a new set to mark the centenary of the country's independence. The Argentine Mint has already started on the printing of 90,000,000 of these new stamps, which are to be ready for issue on July 8, the eve of the anniversary. There are three designs in the new set. One portrays General San Martin, the portrait being taken from a bust in the reception-room at Government House. The second subject is an historical picture representing the taking of the oath of independence. The third group of stamps will bear a portrait of Francisco Narciso Laprida, President of Congress and deputy for the Province of San Juan.

CANADA.—We have received from G. Hemond the 5c war tax stamp in the familiar oblong rectangular shape, the color being a pale olive green.

DENMARK.—Maury's Collectionneur says that the 25 ore value of the current series is to be issued in blue instead of dark brown, when the old stock is exhausted.

BARBADOS.—As noted in No. 1324, a new series of stamps has been prepared for this Colony, the first value to be issued, the 1d, having been shown us by G. Hemond. As stated the design is of large size, 25x29 mm., and is a modification of the well-known Britannia in her chariot drawn by sea horses, but with King George seated instead of the Queen. The King is wearing the ermine robe and collar and the imperial crown. The nearer horse has his head turned backward. The vignette is in a large circle, with the motto of the Colony, "Et penitus toto regnantes orbe Britannos," around the upper part of the circle. "Barbados" is printed at the bottom between tablets containing the value. The corners are filled with conventional, and as there is no outside line, the design has an unfinished look, like the "Universal Postage" 1d of New Zealand or the United States 1c of 1902. The stamp is printed on white Multiple CA paper, and perforated 14. Mr. Hemond's correspondent in the Island says the 1d was the only one of the new series issued on that date, June 5.

GUATEMALA.—Stuart Lupton supplements the note in No. 1325 with specimens of the new provisionals there mentioned, and also a third, the 2c of 1902 having been surcharged "Veinticinco—Centavos" in two lines of capitals. The 6c on 1c is spelled out thus, "Seis Centavos," while the 12½c on 1c has the new value in figures, the word "Cen-

MEXICO.—S. B. Hopkins supplements last week's chronicle of the new 20c on 5c, with the information that the new provisional was issued June 1. This value was issued instead of a provisional 10c value, owing to the fact that the rate of postage is now 20 cents, instead of 10 cents. This stamp, as well as the 5c and 10c "G. P. de M." stamps on the "$" surcharges, are sold to the old (depreciated) currency, but only in quantities sufficient to pay postage on letters actually presented for mailing (and mailed at once). Other "G. P. de M." surcharges were sold without limit for five days only, from June 1 to 5, in the new currency, but are now sold only for parcel post packages actually presented for mailing. Mr. Hopkins says the 10c Carranza commemorative stamp was also issued in brown, 200,000 stamps being printed in blue and 10,000 stamps in brown.

Hermann Focke writes: "I learn that the stamps with the new surcharge 'G P de M' are not sold to the public, with the exception of the 5c and 10c values, and that the Government is selling the other values to collectors or dealers at fancy prices. One report has it that the entire set, with many minor varieties, can be had for $100. U. S. gold.

"In our mails I have received in addition to varieties already reported: 3c brown with blue surcharge reading down at right; 5c orange with surcharge 'G. C. M.' in monogram, and new surcharge in blue reading up at left, while the normal stamp has the latter surch. reading down at right; 10c blue and orange, with same monogram surcharge.

"I have found a pair of the 5c with surcharge misplaced; i. e., over two stamps, reading down at right; showing the further peculiarity that the surcharge does not appear between the two stamps, but is broken. The reason for this seems to be the surcharging of part of a sheet, and a crease through the perforating line."

NEW ZEALAND.—Hermann Focke writes: "The report in the WEEKLY regarding present issue New Zealand stamps caused me to look over my stock of these and I find that the 'specialist' will have a great field to romp in."

The 1 1/2c black shows already 4 distinct varieties:

1. Engraved on the normal paper, wmk. "NZ" over crown.
2. The same on paper of the pictorial set, as stated—with wmk. shifted.
3. Lithographed, apparently first printing with heavy network.
4. The same with the network less pronounced.

"As to perforations I find that all values of the first engraved set measure 14x13 1/2 except the 3d brown which is perf. 14x14 1/2; the 1/2d second printing, also with surcharge War Stamp is perf. 14x15; the 1 1/2d engraved comes perf. 14x14 and also 14x14 comp. 14 1/2, whereas the 2 varieties of lithographed stamp are perf. 14x15; the new 2d orange is again perf. 14x13 1/2; the second issue of the 1/2d value may be distinguished by the almost solid background."

THE PHILATELIC TRAVELLER.

By M. E. BUEHLER.

Out on the farm lives Jamie
Where the movies are not known.
But he keeps in reach of the things they teach
And makes the world his own.

For at night when his work is over,
With his album on his knee,
He sails and tramps with his postage stamps
Over the earth and sea.

He ventures with Columbus
In his tiny caravel:
And his heart uplifts when the seaweed drifts
From shore on the strange sea's swell.

He seeks in southern forests
Where the brilliant quetzals go;
And over plains where the Indian reigns Chases the buffalo.

He lifts the Cap of Freedom
In Chile and Colon;
And sees where flies in Chinese skies
The Dragon of the Sun.

So Jamie sits by the fireside
In a cosy armchair curled;
And with his stamps he sails and tramps
Over the wide, wide world.

STAMP COLLECTING IN JAPAN.

A little over three years ago there was started in Tokio the first philatelic society in Japan. It is called the Yurakukai, or the Stamp Lovers' Society, and its journal the "Yuraku," takes its name from the British magazine, the Stamp Lover. From the latest number of this Japanese journal it appears that organized philately has been making rapid strides in the country. Last year the collectors in Nagoya formed the "Aiyukai," which is also to be translated "Stamp Lovers' Society," and in Kyoto the "Kyoto Yukenkai," or Kyoto Philatelic Society, has just been established. There is also a collectors' club in Osaka, which, although not strictly philatelic, includes a large proportion of stamp collectors. The spread of such organisations in Japan should help to clear that country of the counterfeiting which has been rampant for many years. —London Telegraph.

Only Half a Stamp

One of the most interesting provisional series of late years was that issued by the Governor of Portuguese India in 1911-12, authorized by the Home Government at Lisbon, and issued at Goa to fill a real need. There was a postal necessity for the stamps and they were used in the regular order of business. Both Scott and Gibbons list these interesting stamps, but with rare exceptions, no prices are given for used specimens. By a fortunate chance we are enabled to supply collectors looking for genuinely postally used stamps with the following list, at the low prices named. In most cases we can supply both right and left halves, but in no case can we supply used unsevered pairs. Prices are net, per half stamp, with postage extra on orders under 50 cents.

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 2729 Hampden Court, Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

SIMPLIFIED SPECIALISM—NETHERLANDS—Part III.

The fourth issue of Netherlands appeared early in 1869. This issue was designed by J. Nusser, of Dusseldorf. Line engraved plates were made by Virey Brothers, of Paris, while the finished stamps were printed by J. Enschede and Sons, at Haarlem.

This set was printed on white unwatermarked paper, both thick and thin, and also on bluish paper. The thin paper varieties appeared in 1870-71. Three sizes of perforations were used, 13, 13½, and 14.

As in the previous issues, it is possible to find several shades of each of these stamps, though they are not as distinct as in the other issues. The 2c and 2½c offer the greatest variety of shades. The 1c black, 1½c, and 2½c stamps of this series are quite rare in fine condition, and should increase in value. The 1c black is the rarest, as it was only in use for a few months, when it was superseded by the 1c green, which appeared first in June, 1869. This is the first appearance of these low values in Netherlands.

In addition to the perforation varieties noted above, the set exists imperforate. Whether these imperforates were placed on sale or not, I am unable to say. They are rare, however, and the average collector will never get them, so why worry?

A new series of higher values was placed on sale in 1872. This set consisted of eight values, a 12½c and two gulden fifty cent stamp being added for the first time. This set bore a portrait of King William, and was designed by F. C. Ten Kate. The engraving was done by the Official Printing Works at Berlin, while the printing was done by J. Enschede and Sons at Haarlem, as heretofore.

There are several varieties of paper, of minor importance, to be found in this issue, and a flood of perforation varieties sufficient to delight the heart of the most rabid specialist. As in the previous set, imperforate copies are known, but the authenticity of these is questioned.

The colors of this series are inclined to be very quiet. There are no real brilliant shades, the tones being very subdued, excepting in the 2g50c which is inclined to be rather "noisy" in its coat of rose and ultramarine. Nevertheless, it is possible to find several very distinct shades of almost every variety, and these can be arranged into a very attractive set.

As this article is intended to be simplified and space is limited, no attempt to study the perforation varieties will be made. Any collector interested will find a very good list of these in Gibbons' catalogue, wherein much valuable information is appended regarding year of issue and also the various gauges used.

In 1876 a new series of low values, from which the 1½c was missing, made its appearance. This series is of rather plain design, consisting of the numeral of value on a white background in the center, with a very fine border made up of smaller figures of value. Both the engraving and printing was done by J. Enschede and Sons, at Haarlem.

These four values are to be had in quantity, and offer a very good field for the study of types, as there are quite a number of minor varieties of engraving to be found.

The principal variety is to be found on the half cent value. Two types of the fraction in the center are to be found. In the first, the fraction bar is rather thick and only 8 or 8½ millimeters long. In the second type, the bar is thinner and is 9 millimeters long.

In the 1c value, there are also two types to be found. Referring to the upper right hand corner numeral, there is a broken ornament in the frame under the tablet of value. This variety occurs but once in each sheet.

Several kinds of paper were used in printing this series. The ordinary paper varies from yellowish to white, both thick and thin, while the set also exists on bluish paper and on laid paper.

As in the previous set, there are numerous varieties of perforation, and this set also is known imperforate, but the authenticity of the imperforates is questionable.

While the colors are inclined to be subdued, as in the other values current at this time, there are quite a decided range of shades to be had. At least two distinct shades of each value exist, and a collector with a good eye for color and a bit of imagination can easily find three or four, if not more.

Considering that these stamps catalogue only 5c and are quite common, according to the catalogue of major varieties, they present about as fine an opportunity for the amateur to specialize as can be desired. The collector who can gather a complete set of these four values in all perforations, on all papers, in all the various shades, will have a very interesting display, but he will find that there is considerable research work attached. However, as the stamps can be procured for a small sum, and are worthy of the study, it will be well worth his while if he is inclined to be studious. From the prices asked by certain of the "specialistic" dealers for these stamps in their various minor varieties, the writer is of the opinion that it will be quite profitable to hunt for some of these scarce ones. However, the market for these minor varieties is not strong, and sales are few and far between.

In 1888, three new values were added to the current set, in the design of the 1872 series, 7½c, 22½c, and 1 gulden were added for the first time. These three values were only in use for three years, while the other values in the series were used for nearly nineteen years, hence the difference in value. Also, these three values were not as frequently used as most of the others.

These new values are found in comparatively few varieties, since they were not in use long enough to necessitate many changes. They are known only perforated 12½x12. The 22½c stamp is quite rare, and is in strong demand. It is far scarcer than the 1 gulden.

On the 23rd day of November, 1890, William III passed to a higher Kingdom, after a reign of forty-one years of prosperity for his little kingdom. The three stamps issued in 1888 were therefore, the last to bear his portrait, with the exception of the three values (5c, 25c, and 5 gulden) of the Nassau-Orange series of 1913. Inasmuch as Prince William, who was the last male heir of the house of Orange, died in 1884, Wilhelmina, daughter of King William III and his second wife, Emma, Princess of Waldeck-Pyrmont, inherited the throne of the Netherlands. Since Wilhelmina was but ten years of age at the time, her mother ruled as Queen-regent. Wilhelmina was crowned Queen of the Netherlands, on September 6th, 1898.

A further article in this series will appear shortly, covering the stamps of the reign of Queen Wilhelmina.

THE NAURU STAMPS.

Following upon the announcement of the supply of English stamps overprinted for the former German colony of Nauru, in the Pacific, orders for large supplies were forwarded by wireless on behalf of stamp dealers. But as I indicated in my first reference to these stamps, the issue had been planned on an absurd basis, due to the prejudice of the Administrator against stamp collectors. has made it clear that he will not supply these stamps to dealers or collectors; in his anxiety to keep collectors from getting them he will not even supply them to the public, for whose convenience postage stamps are issued in most countries. The Administrator's plan is for the person sending a letter to wait until the post office is open, attend there personally with his mail, hand it over the counter with cash, and the postal clerk has to affix the stamps to the mail without letting them get into the hands of the philistine, lest that philistine pass them on to a philatelist. Needless to say, this ridiculous plan only creates an artificial value for the stamps unused, and puts temptation in the way of the minor postal employees; every precedent of the kind in any part of the world has invariably led to some of the employees getting into trouble. My information is that the Administrator only ordered £100 worth of the stamp, and, seeing that the supply included the denominations 2s 6d, 5s, and 10s, the small quantity ordered suggests there was little, if any, real occasion for the issue. That view is only confirmed by the fact that the stamps are not for any public convenience. The ½d, 1d, and 2½d stamps are said to be intended for letters, and the 2s 6d, 5s, and 10s were requisitioned for fiscal purposes.—London. Telegraph.

This series provides a number of shade varieties, as is only natural in a set having such long currency, and their proper treatment is a matter involving some little perplexity. It was evidently the original intention of the printers to keep the colors of the small stamps as nearly like those of the large ones they superseded as possible, and while many shades match the colors of the earlier stamps to a nicety others show a divergence that at times almost approaches a "color change." As early as May, 1873, the Stamp Collector's Magazine noted a change in the shade of the 3c viz.:—

By the courtesy of a Montreal correspondent we are in possession of specimens of the current three cents, printed in bright orange-vermilion. A supply in this color has just been issued.

The Philatelic Record for March, 1888, says "The 10c is now in carmine-red", and again in May that "the 5 cents has changed its color from bronze-green to greenish grey." More than a year later (July, 1889) the same journal says "the 2 cents stamp is now blue-green;" in December, 1890, the 6c is recorded in "chestnut-brown"; while in April, 1892, the 5c is chronicled as having been issued in "grey-black."

Similar color changes in most values were recorded in other journals but as there is an almost total lack of agreement as regards the names chosen to designate the different shades these chronicles are of little value in determining the chronological order of issue of even the most striking of the tints. It is also more than probable that after a change had been made the original or earlier tints were reverted to later on. The catalogues are equally at variance in their choice of color names and while Gibbons' gives four shades for each of the 1c and 3c values, Scott gives but two for the 1c and of the four given for the 3c not one agrees with any of the names given by Gibbons'. The only point on which both catalogues agree is that a general change of colors took place during the period of 1888-90, i. e., after the printers had moved their establishment from Montreal to Ottawa. But though the later printings of the 6c and 10c do, undoubtedly, differ very materially from the earlier colors—almost enough so, in fact, to be classed as distinct colors—such varieties seem to have been purely accidental and to classify them as separate issues hardly seems correct. In this connection it is interesting to quote Mr. Howes' remarks:—

That the above changes were hardly of a character to warrant dignifying them as a "new issue," which is frequently done, is shown by a moment's consideration. The 1/2c and 1c stamps showed no appreciable difference in coloring and therefore caused no comment. The 2 cent did not retain its blue green shade unaltered, and the 3 cent soon reverted to its former brilliant red hue, as the Philatelic Journal of America for May, 1889, says that "the carmine color recently adopted has been dropped, and the stamps are printed in colors similar to the ones in use before the change was made." The 5, 6, and 10 cent stamps, however, made permanent changes, but only such as might readily be traceable to a new mixing of the inks in the case of the first two. The 10 cent can hardly be so easily disposed of, as lake and brown-red are of quite different composition from a rose-lilac. But there can have been no official intention of altering the shades or colors or more definite and permanent changes would certainly have been made throughout the set. It remains, therefore, to classify them simply as shade varieties of the original set.

Mr. Donald A. King, in his article in the Monthly Journal, gives no less than eight varieties of paper for the stamps of this issue, though all resolve themselves into slight, and in many cases probably imperceptible, variations in quality and thickness of the usual "wove" paper. Mr. Howes gives a thick and thin wove and "a closely ribbed paper." This latter like the ribbed varieties in the earlier issues, is evidently due to nothing more than some eccentricity of printing and is, consequently, of doubtful philatelic importance. The classification of the series into thick and thin papers seems to have more to be said in its favor if the statement made in Gibbons' catalogue is to be relied on. According to a foot note the stamps printed prior to 1888 (that is, in Montreal), are on a thinner paper than was used for subsequent printings. The Philatelic Record for October, 1893, mentions the 10c as being found on "fine laid paper" but this was evidently the variety more generally classified as "ribbed."

The perforation used for the stamps of this series was the usual 12—the work of single-line or guillotine machines. All values are reported to exist perforated 11½ by 12, as mentioned in connection with the issues of 1868, but this statement requires verification before it can be accepted as authoritative. All values are known entirely imperforate, the 3c in this condition being first recorded in the Philatelic Record for December, 1882. Writing in the London Philatelist in 1907 Mr. M. H. Horsley says with regard to these varieties:—"Imperforated copies of various values were sold over the Post-office counter in Montreal about the years 1891-3 at their face value, and have been good for postage whenever people cared to use them." Writing a little later on the same subject Mr. C. L. Pack also vouches for them, viz.:—"I quite agree with Mr. Horsley in regard to the various imperforate copies of the issues of 1882 to 1895. There are a good many specimens of these stamps imperforate, and they were on sale at a Canadian Post Office." Curiously enough Gibbons' catalogue entirely ignores these imperforate stamps though Mr. Howes is able to adduce documentary evidence in support of the statements made by philatelists of such undoubted authority as Messrs. Horsley and Pack.

Scott's catalogue records the ½c as existing in a horizontal pair imperforate between.

The same work records the 2c bisected diagonally or vertically and the halves used for 1c stamps, while Mr. Howes adds the 6c, cut vertically and used for 3c. But as the "Canadian Postal Guide" declares that "a mutilated stamp, or a stamp cut in half, is not recognised in payment of postage" such freaks can only have passed through the mails by carelessness or favor and their philatelic interest is negligible.

In 1875 an Act of Parliament was passed making the prepayment of letters by postage stamp obligatory and imposing a fine of double the deficiency on all insufficiently prepaid letters. At the same time local or drop letters (accepted for 1c) were restricted to ½ oz. in weight.

The Postmaster-General's Report for 1879 says:—

A reduction has been made, from the 1st September last, in the postage rate on closed parcels sent by post within the Dominion, from 12½ cents per 8 oz. of weight to 6 cents per 4 oz. Under this change small parcels not exceeding 4 ounces in weight are admitted to pass for 6 cents instead of 12½ cents as before.

It will thus be seen that this change did away with the chief use of the 12½c value and made it practically useless. Hence the reason it was never included among the series of small "cents" stamps.

In 1889 another Post Office Act increased the limit of weight of single letters from ½ oz. to 1 oz., and at the same time increased the postal rate on local or drop letters from 1c to 2c, though a weight of 1 oz. was allowed under the new schedule. An official notice recording these changes was published as follows:—

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC
CHANGES IN POSTAGE RATES UNDER AUTHORITY OF POST OFFICE ACT 1889.

The rate of postage upon Letters posted in Canada, addressed to places within the Dominion or in the United States, will be 3 cents per ounce instead of 3 cents per half ounce as heretofore. Upon Drop Letters posted at an Office from which letters are delivered by Letter Carrier, the postage rate will be 2 cents per ounce, instead of 1 cent per half ounce. The rate of postage upon Drop Letters, except in the Cities where free delivery by Letter Carrier has been established, will be 1 cent per ounce.

The fee for the Registration of a letter or other article of mail matter, will be five cents upon all classes of correspondence passing within the Dominion. For the present and until further instructed, the registration fee may be prepaid by using the 2 cent Registration Stamps and Postage Stamps to make up the amount.

Letters insufficiently prepaid will be charged double the deficiency as heretofore, provided at least a partial payment has been made. Letters posted wholly unpaid will be sent to the Dead Letter Office for return to the writer.

CHAPTER XI.

The 20c and 50c Stamps of 1893.
The Postmaster-General's Report for 1892 states that "Postage stamps of the value of 20 cents and 50 cents are about to be issued. These will be useful in prepayment of parcel post." These high values were, of course, intended to be used in making up relatively large amounts of postage. They were not issued to be used in prepayment of any specific rates though a study of the postal rates of the period show that the postage on a parcel weighing up to one pound sent to the United Kingdom would require a 20c stamp, while a 2 lb. parcel sent to Japan would take the 50c denomination. The same rates show that the postage on 1 lb. parcels sent to Newfoundland was 15c, though no stamp of this value had been issued subsequent to the series of 1868 nor has one ever since been included in the regular series.

These new 20c and 50c labels were issued on February 17th, 1893, and while

Spend $2.00 or more per selection for stamps of the hard-to-get variety, if you not only got bigger value for your money—but received rare stamps gratis with each purchase cataloging the amount of your remittance?

On a $5.00 purchase, you would thus receive not only $5.00 catalog value of rare stamps free, but also your money's worth of good, clean specimens to fill those blank spaces. The saving would therefore be considerable as my net books are priced on the average, lower than the discount selections, which are necessarily limited, according to the size of the discount.

alike in design, except as regards the denotation of value, they are quite dissimilar from any of the previously issued postage stamps of the Dominion both as regards size and design. The portrait shows Queen Victoria in her widow's weeds and is similar to that shown on the Bill stamps which were first issued in 1868. Above the portrait CANADA POSTAGE is curved, and on straight labels at the foot is the value in words, while between this inscription and the lower part of the medallion are figures of value.

The stamps were, as usual, produced by the line-engraved process, and they were printed in sheets of 100 at the Ottawa establishment of the British American Bank Note Company. The manufacturer's imprint was shown twice on each sheet—in the centre of the upper and lower margins. This imprint consisted of the words "British American Bank Note Co. Ottawa," on a strip of solid color measuring 38 mm. in length and 2½ mm. in height. This colored strip has square ends and is enclosed within a pearled border.

Both values were printed on the wove paper used for the other denominations then current and the perforation was the usual 12 made by single-line machines.

Evidently these values were but sparingly used, for Mr. Howes tells us:—

Both were ordered to the number of half a million copies in 1893, and in 1893 25,000 more of the 20 cent and 30,000 more of the 50 cent were delivered, with a final 200 copies in 1896. These quantities were sufficient to last until the 20 cent was superseded by the newer type in 1901, and the 50 cent by the King's head stamp in 1908. Some 1500 of the 20 cent were returned for destruction and about 10,000 of the 50 cent.

It seems hardly possible that but 200 copies of each were supplied in 1896—i. e. two sheets of each value—if they were the normal perforated stamps. Possibly this small supply consisted of the imperforates—both values being known in this condition—and if so they may have been printed to fill a special requisition. The imperforate 20c is on the normal shade but the 50c is, as Mr. Howes observes, in a "peculiar black blue" shade. There are no marked varieties in shade as can easily be understood from the few printings which took place.

CHAPTER XII.

The 8c Stamp of 1893.

Until 1889 the registration fee had to be prepaid by means of the special stamps issued for the purpose. When, in 1889, a uniform registration fee of 5c was adopted the public were given permission to use the ordinary postage stamps in making up the difference between the old rate of 2c and the new one. This was done largely to enable the old 2c labels to be used up. In 1893 it was decided to discontinue the use of special registration stamps altogether and to permit the payment of the registry fee by means of the regular postage stamps. As the rate of domestic postage was 3c at that time and the registration fee was 5c, a new stamp, by means of which both postage and registration could be paid together, it was decided, would be useful. Consequently an 8c denomination was issued, this being recorded in the Philatelic Record for October, 1893, though, judging from the following extract from the WEEKLY for August 10th, 1893, it would appear that the new value was in general circulation at least as early as August 1st:—

The following orders were posted up in all Canadian postoffices on August 1st:

A new postage stamp of the value of 8c is now being put into circulation. This stamp will be available for the prepayment either of registration fee and postage combined, or of postage only. The 5c registration stamp, when the present supply is exhausted, will be withdrawn.

The new denomination, as stated in the Philatelic Record, "resembles in design the 3 cents of the current series; but the head of the Queen has been turned the other way, and is now to the left."

This stamp was of similar size to the other values of the set then current (excepting the 20c and 50c, of course) and it was printed from steel plates in sheets of 200 arranged in ten horizontal rows of twenty stamps each. According to Mr. Howes, there were no marginal imprints of any kind. This denomination was printed on wove paper and perforated 12 like the others. The variety with gauge of 11½x12 is reported in connection with this value but, like the similar varieties of the earlier issues which we have already mentioned, the statement requires verification before it can be definitely accepted.

The 8c is known entirely imperforate in the blue-grey shade, which was one of the earliest if not the first shade for this stamp. The Philatelic Record calls it "slate-grey" but evidently the tint now generally classified as "blue-grey" was meant.

This stamp provides a large number of very distinct shade varieties. Just 13 months after it was first chronicled the Philatelic Record says:—"Whether by accident or intention does not appear to be quite clear, but copies of the present 8 cents are found in much darker color than we have hitherto seen. Messrs. A. Smith & Son have shown us copies that are slate-black of the darkest kind."

A writer in the Canada Stamp Sheet for October, 1900, says:—

There are three varieties of this stamp, the slate, the lilac-grey and the purple. The first and second tints are comparatively common, but the purple is not found in every dealer's stock nor has it a place in many stamp collections. In fact, it is a variety but little known to the average collector, from the fact that it is seldom offered, either on approval sheets or on the counter of the dealer. There ought to be no difficulty in distinguishing this stamp from its mates of the same denomination, for while the backs of the rest present a white surface, in this case the back or paper is of a decidedly purplish hue. In my opinion this stamp is a good one to pick up now, as its present value is far below its intrinsic worth.

Later still, a German paper referred to three main printings for this stamp a translation of the article appearing in Gibbons Stamp Weekly for June 13th, 1908, as follows:—

The last stamp issued showing a portrait of the late Queen Victoria as a young girl was the 8 cents, Canada, issued in July, 1893. The stamp was intended for a combined postage and registration stamp; 3c for postage (inland) 5c registration fee.

There were three distinct printings of this stamp; they may be easily distinguished from each other by differences of shade.

July, 1893, blue-grey.

October, 1895, slate-grey.

? 1897, purple-black.

The total number issued of these stamps was 5,885,000, but unfortunately there are no records of the quantities of each of the three printings.

It will be noticed that there is no 8 cents in the King Edward VII issue, for the simple reason that the inland rate had been reduced to 2 cents; therefore the present combined postage and registration stamp is a 7 cents.

The above extract, it will be noted, is very explicit as regards the actual number issued as well as the dates of issue of the three most distinctive shades. On what authority these statements are based we cannot say, but Mr. Howes shows from official records that many more than the quantity stated were printed, viz.:—

The first delivery of these stamps, and of course the first printing, was of 100,000, as recorded in the stamp accounts for 1893. As these accounts were made up to 30th June, and there is no record of any "issue to post-masters," the stamps were doubtless delivered just before the accounts were closed, so that opportunity had not been given to distribute the new value. For the next few fiscal years the amount received from the manufacturers averaged over a million and a half annually, so that by the time it was superseded it had been printed to the number of at least 7½ millions.

EDITORIAL.

Gone—The firm of Edward Michael, Chicago, has ceased to be, and no longer will it appear in the advertising columns of the stamp papers. After struggling for some months with financial problems that finally became too intricate for solution, Edward Michael was forced to cry quits and capitulate. In his efforts to defer the day of reckoning, Edward Michael resorted to hazardous extremes; and his many friends did much on occasion to relieve the acuteness of his position. Indeed, it was their belief that with a fair show of good fortune, Edward Michael would weather the financial storms that beset him but all their good words and works came to naught and a failure has resulted that is so jumbled and so complete as to leave the one unacquainted with the effects of business despair almost aghast at the ruin. We should say that the disaster was due to overhead expenses that were unjustifiably high. For instance, Edward Michael's ground floor stand at a high rental was too much of a burden for the business; and since May 1, 1916, not alone was he charged with the rent of the abandoned store (so long as it remained unoccupied) but also that of his new office to which he moved in order to reduce expenses. Just before he closed up, Edward Michael told us that he was making up a statement of his business and wanted to list his creditors; this was ominous, and a day or two later, the collapse came. We understand that practically no stock is on hand while the liabilities are large. Further, we have not been able to get in touch with Edward Michael in order to get particulars from his own lips. Suffice it to say, one of those rare occurrences has come to pass—the failure of a coin and stamp dealer; and even so, Edward Michael was more of a coin man than philatelist and was not by instinct or cultivation a thorough stamp man. We may add that personally, Edward Michael was immensely popular with many of his customers and the loyalty of his followers is something to marvel at, in the light of developments. If, by any chance, Mr. Michael could re-establish himself in business, no doubt the trying experiences he has had would make his course a cautious one but this contingency is so remote as to be practically negligible, we are told. It should be said here that the business of Edward Michael had no connection whatever with that of Fred Michael, who has been advertising with us for nearly twenty years.

Few—A failure of a stamp firm of any real substance is almost unheard of and instances of the kind are so infrequent as to never enter into our calculations. It is true that the personnel of the stamp business is one that changes somewhat rapidly, but failure accounts for little if any of the shifting tide, in the sense that the word is understood in business circles. Of course, the boy dealer is excepted from any general observation of the kind. Just at this moment, the only failure that we can remember as taking place during the last ten years or so, was the Makins' failure in San Francisco, and when the inside history of this fall is known, it was only the expected that happened. However, it is not our purpose to preach at any length on this subject; it is sufficient to say that the stamp business is truly a sustaining one when it is followed with understanding and an idea of proportion.

Military—The very latest communication from the Pershing forces in Mexico is a postal card with the usual Columbus, N. M., postmark and the written inscription in the upper left-hand corner, "Censored,—Capt. M. C., U. S. Army."

* * *

Different—From Mr. Sumner Gary of Grand Rapids, Michigan, we have received the report of his discovery of a variety in the current watermark in United States issues; and he shows us the variation on the one-cent, plate A 5855. Mr. Gary reports the appearance of this watermark variety on the one and two cent, imperforate, and the 1, 2, 4, 5, 6 and 8 cent ordinary. The difference is not imaginary but is apparent at a casual glance and surely is the result of another dandy-roll in the case of the S. of U. S. P. S. In the variety, the opening in the upper part of the S is much wider than in the usual S; and there are other differences as well.

Drastic—According to a circular distributed from Paris and dated the last of May, the importation of stamps into France for sale to collectors, has been prohibited by the government and as a consequence, the French dealers are endeavoring to have this burdensome and seemingly unnecessary restriction repealed.

Monopoly—A clipping from the Sacramento Union, California, has been sent to us by Mr. J. A. Garrison of that city, which reads: "Mexican postal rates are to be doubled June 1 and to be paid in the old currency, according to an announcement made today by Andres C. Garcia, Mexican consul, upon receipt of a dispatch from Mexico City. Supplementing this order, according to the announcement, is one providing that stamps shall be sold only for actual use, it being pointed out that numbers of persons have been speculating by buying large quantities of stamps and hoarding them pending the full retirement of the provisional paper." From these few words we gather that the postmaster-general, Cosme Hionjosa, does not intend to share his monopoly even with the pikers in the speculative division. It is a good plan to make hay while the political sun is shining to say nothing of the philatelic "orb of day."

Anvil—The statement that the "anvil" issue of Sonora in all its values was legitimately in circulation in Sonora and elsewhere in Mexico which appeared in our issue of May 27th, 1916, on the authority of Mr. F. E. Stevens, Nogales, Arizona, has brought forth several protests. There is no controversy over the 5 and 10 centavos, but it is contended that the one, two and twenty centavos stamps were not accredited stamps. Mr. George W. Linn, Columbus, Ohio, whose recent book on the stamps of Sonora stamps him as their foremost historian, has favored us with some interesting particulars to prove that the three denominations in question cannot be regarded as full-fledged stamps but must be considered essays or unissued stamps. Mr. Linn, speaking of the claims made for the 1, 2 and 20 centavos, says: "The fact that many copies are seen canceled on cover and that they may have gone through the mails is no proof of postal validity. In the chaotic condition in Sonora at the time it would have been entirely possible to have placed the stamps on them and had them go through the mails. This would prove nothing, as the so-called Madero issue has been used from Mexico on letters, and would, therefore, have as good standing as these." We do not hesitate to say that Mr. Linn has proved to our satisfaction that the anvil issue other than the 5 and 10 centavos is very "doubtful" in a philatelic sense.

CURRENT U. S. TO BE CHANGED.

(We have stated that unwatermarked paper and a new perforation 11 was soon to be used on U. S. stamps and these statements are now confirmed by the following clipping from the "Philatelic Gazette."—Ed.)

The present contract between the Bureau of Engraving and Printing and the paper mills expires on June 30th. On July 1st a new contract goes into effect, under the terms of which all paper furnished for the printing of postage stamps will be without watermark, and the stamps printed from July on will be upon this paper.

On December 27, 1915, the Third Assistant Postmaster General officially ordered the adoption of the 11 perforation for postage stamps. Owing to the rush of war orders in machine shops, the requisite number of new wheels for the perforating machines have but just been furnished the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Director Ralph has informed me that he will delay the changing of the wheels until July, to correspond with the change of paper, so that July will mark the beginning of the manufacture of the current series of postage stamps upon paper without watermark and perforated 11. It is not likely, however, that any of these stamps will be issued to post offices for sale before September or October.

A. P. S. CONVENTION.

The arrangements are being perfected for the annual convention of the A. P. S., to be held in Boston commencing August 22, and there is every indication that a fine program will be presented.

A committee of arrangements has been appointed by the B. P. S. and another by the A. P. S. Official headquarters have not yet been selected, but the matter will be settled in a few days and a hotel in the heart of the city will be named.

On Monday evening, August 21, there will be a reception and numerous features of entertainment will be provided for the days that follow. It is expected that a trip down the harbor as guests of the Mayor of Boston will be one of the attractions; also, an automobile trip

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish al-
 the news from the various philatelic centers Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—Someone in Athol, Mass., sends 50c to the WEEKLY and no name accompanies the remittance. We shall be very glad to give the party who sent this letter credit if his identity can be revealed to us.

—Bryant Pollard sends us a cover that has had an interesting experience.
 It was mailed from Boston August 27, 1915, and reached its destination, Pro-cterville, Vt., June 15, 1916, being nearly ten months en route. The delay is explained, however, by a label attached
 by the Gardner, Mass., postmaster, reading:—"This piece of mail was found in a rifled mail pouch near Gardner, Mass., June 10, 1916. Evidently it had been exposed to the weather since August 28, 1915."

—In paying for subscriptions or books we naturally prefer a money order or check, but if you must remit in stamps let it be high values from 5c to 15c. We can handle these conveniently and dispose of them more readily than the 1c and 2c values.

—Lieut.-Com. R. L. Clayton, a former subscriber to the WEEKLY, was lost on the Queen Mary which went down in the great naval fight between the British and German fleets.

—Two of our advertisers have answered the call to mobilize, Roger Batchelder of Worcester, Mass., and O.
 J. Richardson of Eden, N. Y. This means a suspension of the dealing activities of both these gentlemen until normal conditions are established between the United States and Mexico.

—Remit $3.00 for a six-years' renewal of subscription to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY and we will send you free of charge Scott's 1916 catalog. We don't care when your subscription runs out. We do not sell the catalog independent of subscription renewals. If you want to buy one, patronize your favorite dealer.

—If too much trouble to procure a money order when you renew your subscription or purchase books from our list, remit in stamps 5c to 15c denominations. We shall appreciate the favor.

—O. Kendall can get no reply to letters sent the MacMillan Stamp Co., 4320 Grant St., Omaha, Nebr. Anyone interested should confer with Mr. Kendall at Winnipeg, Man., Can.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Geo. Kump, O. Kendall, Buell W. Hudson, J. D. McMurtrey, H.
 S. Williams.

—We want a few extra copies of the issue of February 5, providing they can be returned to us in the original folds.
 Subscribers thus favoring us will have sent them one of our current exchanges.
 Please see that copies sent us are sent in good form.

—We have received several clippings from Herman W. Boers, one of which notes the death of A. Henry Schmittiel, who once owned the Michigan Match
 Co., later sold to the Diamond Match Co.

—We desire to secure some copies of the WEEKLY dated July 3, 1915. Any subscriber who mails this copy in the original fold to this office will receive a good foreign exchange in return for the trouble taken. We can use a dozen copies.

—Bright & Son, 164 Strand, London, have just issued a new price list for dealers only. It is worth sending for.

NOTES ON MEXICAN ISSUES.

The Carranza Commemorative stamp was issued in two colors, brown and blue—there were placed on sale in Mex.
 City, June 1st, 190,000 in blue and 10,- 000 in brown—60,000 additional were printed in blue and 40,000 in brown for the Postmaster-General. Of those placed on sale 108,078 in blue and all 10,000 in brown were used (none were sold except for immediate use on letters handed in for mailing), leaving 81,922 official remainders. These have since been offered for sale to the highest bidder, but the private remainders have not been offered yet, at least not in Mexico City.

It is reported that the new 20 centavos
 Mex. surcharge (first issued on 5c 1910, later on other varieties) is in an ink that will wash off in water—have you tried it yet?

It is stated that the complete list of G. P. de M. surcharges on Mex. stamps will comprise 31 varieties, if we include those scarcer ones made for private sale as well as those issued to the public in the regular way.

THE CHARM OF STAMP COLLECTING.

By VICTOR E. CARPENTER.

To me the collecting of the world's postage stamps has always held a peculiar charm. Although I am able to devote but a little time each week to this hobby I surely do put in that small period to the advantage of both my stamp knowledge and the size of my collection.

Of all the hobbies, stamp collecting seems to me to be the most entertaining and at the same time the most educational. Coins are heavy, bulky, and often far from pretty; shells are large; butterflies and moths get worm and moth eaten; stuffed birds get dirty and dusty and take up a large amount of room;
 and so on down through the list of pistols and bills and shells and teeth and what not.

With stamps it is different; they take up a surprisingly small amount of room; they are clean and easy to handle and most of them are pretty.

Some of the most pleasant times I have spent in the pursuit of my hobby were when I had purchased a packet or two of good stamps and sat down to sort them over. This one has never been used and the gum is perfect; see this yellowish one—beautiful to be sure, but ruined indeed if a drop of water touches it; look what an odd color this is; why, did you ever see such a small stamp before?

Now they are sorted and the best are mounted one by one in my album (of course you have a nice album) and the rest are put away to trade perhaps with some friend who also has the habit or maybe to sell to some beginner.

And when, at last you find that, by perseverance and perhaps the expenditure of some cash, you have completed a set of Egypt or Chile are you not really delighted and glad? I know you are for I am and I know that all stamp collectors must be about the same.

And then, perhaps, you get a rare stamp that you prize above all the rest and then ink gets spilled over it or the kiddies get it and chew it up, even if it be a four fifty copy; but this is all incidental.

And then, maybe, you specialize. One young man only collects picture stamps and he is proud of his collection of Newfoundlands, his Labuans and his Argentinas; another boy collects only map stamps; another only stamps with rulers heads; and then there are those who collect merely with the idea of getting as many stamps as possible, it

BRITISH LEVANT.—Provisional issue for Salonika. Whitfield King's List has the following:—We have seen specimens both unused and used, of certain values of current British postage stamps overprinted "Levant." They were issued on March 3rd, 1916, and were on sale at the Field Post Offices in or near Salonika until March 9th, when they were withdrawn by order of the Military Authorities to avoid giving possible umbrage to the Greeks, who might object to special stamps being issued in their territory. The stamps were not sold at the British Consulate at Salonika, as there was no intention to revive the Consular Post Office which used to exist in that City, therefore used stamps are found only with the postmarks of the various Field Post Offices. The overprinting was done at the Army Printing Office at Salonika, and our correspondent at that place sends us the following information as to the numbers and values of overprinted stamps issued, sold and withdrawn, the figures having been supplied by the Army Post Office, on March 29th, after all unsold stamps had been called in and withdrawn:—

	No. Overprinted.	No. Sold	No. With- drawn.
1d green,	3000	1352	1648
1d red	2880	1446	1434
2d orange,	480	480	—
3d violet,	720	620	100
4d slate,	480	480	—
6d purple,	1440	840	600
9d sepia,	360	360	—
1s bistre,	360	360	—

GUATEMALA.—E. W. Fuss, H. Chitraro and the C. E. Hussman Stamp Co. have shown us specimens of the new provisional reported last week. Mr.
Fuss sends all three, and states that the official decree authorized the surcharging of 500,000 each of the 6c on 1c and 12c on 1c, and 1,000,000 of the 25c on 2c, pending the receipt of further supplies from London. Mr. Fuss thinks the stage directions should read, "Exit Nicaragua; enter Guatemala"—as a maker of philatelic surcharges.

MEXICO.—Hermann Focke sends us another provisional just received on the mail from Mexico City. The 1c value of the 1910 set has been surcharged with new value in blue in the same design as the 20c on 5c, noted in No. 1329, except that "10" is submitted for "20".

Provisional Adhesive.

10c on 1c dull violet; surcharge blue.
Donald F. Martin has also shown us the 20c on 5c noted in No. 1329.

NEW ZEALAND.—Whitfield King's List says that owing to a shortage of the proper watermarked paper, a small quantity of the 1 1/2d engraved stamps (now obsolete), were printed on the paper which was specially made for the large pictorial stamps, consequently when used for these smaller stamps the watermark does not fall on each stamp, and several rows in the sheet are without watermark. To show this peculiarity they should be taken in blocks of six.

REUNION.—The New England Stamp
Co. has shown us a new printing of the Red Cross stamp, the fourth in point or time. This last printing was evidently done in Paris, being in the usual type of those printed at the Government Printing Office.

MEXICO, REBEL ISSUES 1913-1916

We offer a specialized collection of Mexico Revolutionary issues, 1913-14-15-16, mounted in blank album comprising nearly all the issues up to date. This collection includes some errors and oddities and unlisted varieties. There are between 225 and 250 singles, strips, pairs and blocks. Our catalog does not price many of these stamps, but basing the catalog valuation on Scott's and Yvert & Tellier's catalog, the catalog value including the Errors and oddities ought to be between $350.00 & $400.00. We offer this collection at the very nominal price of $47.50 net cash. If you were to buy these stamps singly, you would pay more than double this price for a similar collection. Will send on approval to responsible parties, or will refund cash if collection is not entirely satisfactory.

We also offer herewith another collection similar to this but much larger, and comprising in the neighborhood of 350 different varieties.

MEXICO—REBEL ISSUES—1913 to 1916!

Another and much larger and more valuable collection. Catalog value by Scott and Yvert & Tellier between $500.00 and $600.00. NET PRICE $87.50.

MEXICO REVOLUTIONARY ISSUES.

A SPECIALIZED COLLECTION of the various Revolutionary issues of Mexico, including First, Second and Third Issue Sonora, early large G. C. M., Surcharges, various colors, scarce Juarez Local Issue, including many errors, Minor Varieties and oddities, Local Issues of Chihuahua, Ejercito, Transitorio, Monterey First and Second Issues, Torreon, several issues scarce Aguascalientes and Salamanca Issue, Coach Seal and Anvil Issues, in Tete Beche Blocks, Carranza and Villa G. C. M., Madero Issue, Postage Dues, etc., etc. Also a number of Original Covers and part covers.

This collection consists of about 300 stamps, some in pairs, Blocks and Strips, used and unused, but unused predominate. This collection contains quite a number of oddities, Errors of Surcharge, Doubles, Inverts, etc.

It is rather difficult to place a catalogue valuation on this lot of stamps, as the catalog does not even price most of the Surcharges and Provisionals which are listed, but by using Yvert & Tellier's 1916 catalog as a basis, the catalogue value of this lot would be in the neighborhood of between $500 and $600. It is a very interesting collection and some of the issues like the Juarez and some of the early G. C. M., have practically disappeared from the market.

Our price for this collection is $87.50 NET CASH. Money refunded if not satisfactory, or not as represented. If purchased singly, this lot of Mexican Revolutionary issues would cost you not less than $150.00 to $175.00 Net. Will send on approval to A. P. S. members or any responsible collector or dealer. Please send reference if you have no account with us.

This is absolutely a very great bargain, and if you are interested in these issues at all, there is no better or more economical method of getting a good start on these, than by the purchase of this Specialized Collection.

TURKEY.—The Inland Printer says the last (1914) issue of Turkish postage stamps being exhausted, and a second edition not procurable because the first had been printed in England, the Government is now using up various older issues, validating them by surprinting, using for the design a crescent underneath a star, and within the crescent the figures 1331, which are the Turkish equivalent of the year A. D. 1915. Over seventy-five varieties of old stamps will be thus used up, and prove interesting to philatelists. A new issue is now being prepared, which will be printed in Vienna.

THE LATEST NEW ZEALAND.

All stamp-collectors should be careful to note at the present time the 1 1/2d King George stamp of New Zealand. The use of this denomination has increased enormously owing to the war tax on letters originating in the Dominion, a single 1 1/2d stamp serving to pay the penny postage, together with the halfpenny war tax. Owing to the greatly increased demand for this stamp, arrangements were made to substitute a surface-printed (typographed) stamp for the recess-plate printed stamp of the original issue, surface-printing allowing of more rapid production. Before the new plates could be prepared, a new printing was necessary from the plates engraved in recess, and the stamp was printed on a small stock of paper which was left over from the old large pictorial stamp issue. This temporary issue was speedily superseded by a surface-printed stamp, similar in design to the engraved stamp, but very much cruder in appearance. The portrait of the King is extremely poor and unsatisfactory, and it is clearly a local production, and not the stamp from the surface-printing die and plates ordered from London. So the first surface-printed 1 1/2d stamp in the King George series is likely to be in use for a short time only, until the stamp-printing department at Wellington can receive the plates which have been ordered from Messrs. Perkins, Bacon, and Co. (Ltd.), the firm which produced the original dies and plates for the King George stamps of New Zealand.

The 1 1/2d engraved stamp on the old paper may prove to be rather scarce, and in any case it will be worth while watching which of the several recent varieties of 1 1/2d stamps are overprinted for the various dependencies, viz., Samoa, Aitutaki, Niue, and Penrhyn Islands. The mail this week has brought the first of the King George stamps, the 1s, overprinted for use in the former German colony of Samoa.—Melville in London

Meetings first (informal) and third (regular) Tuesdays, Room 322 Tremont Bldg., 8.15 P. M.

June 20, 1916.

The 360th (regular) meeting of the Society was called to order at 8.15 this evening with Pres. Carpenter presiding. The usual business was transacted. The Library Committee reported 22 books still missing and requested that all books be placed upon the desk in the room when returned instead of attempting to put them in the cases, as the cases have been re-arranged, and also that the committee may know that they have been brought back instead of finding them by chance as has been the case in the past. Mr. Howard S. Wheeler was re-elected to membership as No. 616. The applications of Mr. John S. Kelleher, Mr. Owen Bent and Mr. Wilmerton M. Duffield were posted, and will be voted on at a special meeting to be held on the third Tuesday in July. As this is a special meeting any business to be transacted will have to be given ahead of time to the Secretary in order that he may incorporate it in his notice of same. The competition brought out 8 entries. The countries exhibited were Finland, Indo-China, Bulgaria, Bavaria, Netherlands, German Empire, Uruguay and Canal Zone. The first prize was won by Mr. Oscar Hill's Finland, second by Mr. Charles B. Moore's Indo-China and third by Mr. C. A. Howes' Bulgaria. There was an attendance of 28 which is very good for this time of the year.

DANISH WEST INDIES.

These three islands of the Virgin group, St. Croix, St. Thomas and St. John, were discovered by Columbus in 1493. Spanish, British, French, Dutch and Danish flags have floated over one or all of the islands at various times.

St. Croix, the largest island in the Danish West Indies, is 65 miles south-east of Porto Rico. The island is 22 miles long and 1 to 6 miles in breadth with an area of 84 square miles. It was discovered by Columbus in 1493 and was owned in turn by the Dutch, British and Spanish. In 1651 it was taken by France and two years later was given to the Knights of Malta by Louis XIV. In 1733 it was purchased by Denmark. The capital, Christianstad, is situated at the head of an inlet on the North coast; it is a picturesque town and the seat of the government during half of the year.

St. Thomas, which lies only 40 miles east of Porto Rico, was at one time the chief distributing center of West Indian trade. Its capital is Charlotte Amalie, the seat of government for the adjacent Danish islands. The governor resides here one-half of the year. The island is 13 miles long, varies in width from one to four miles, and has an area of 33 square miles. The temporary occupation of the island by the British during several periods of the Napoleonic wars added to the importance of the chief port, Charlotte Amalie, which lies in the center of the South coast at the head of one of the finest harbors in the West Indies. With a depth of from 27 to 36 feet of water, the roadstead accommodates the largest merchant vessels which sail these seas.

The island of St. John is eight miles long and four miles wide in the broadest part. The island consists of a mass of rugged and uneven hills, the highest of which attains an elevation of 1,000 feet. It is considered to be the best watered of the Virgin group, but although possessed of great natural advantages, it enjoys little or no commercial prosperity.

About 49 years ago the American Government offered seven and a half million dollars for the Danish West Indies, but the Senate failed to ratify the treaty. Fourteen years ago negotiations were renewed and a price of five million dollars was agreed upon, but this time the Danish Parliament refused to sanction the sale, although the islands had been governed at a loss to Denmark ever since slavery was abolished in 1848, by which the sugar industry was killed.

On the 25th of October, 1867, a "Royal Proclamation to the Inhabitants of St. Thomas and St. John" was issued by the King of Denmark, in which he states, "We have resolved to cede Our Island of St. Thomas and St. John to the United States of America and We have to that end, with the reservation of the constitutional consent of Our Rigsdag, concluded a convention with the President of the United States." He also states the provisions made for the peoples' liberty and protection of property and private rights; he also expresses sincere sorrow at the severing of those ties which united his loyal subjects to him and commends them to God. On May 7th, 1870, a proclamation says: "The American Senate has not shown itself willing to maintain the Treaty made, although the initiative for it proceeded from the United States themselves."

It is claimed that in 1835 the authorities at St. Thomas received from the home government a lot of the 3c stamps, and while in transit the damp atmosphere of the ocean voyage caused the stamps to adhere to each other. They had to be regummed and part of them was sent to one firm and part to another; two qualities of gum were thus used and climatic conditions made quite a change in the cheaper gum. To prevent forgeries, the paper used for the 3c stamps of 1855 to 1872 was chemically overprinted with wavy lines before receiving the stamp impressions. The overprint is yellowish brown in color and is called "Burelage"; this and the gum gave a yellowish tint to the paper. The "Burelage" does not always appear and in the case of some stamps is developed only by the use of chemicals or heat.

On the 10c postage stamps of the 1873-96 issues and including the provisionals of 1902, there appears a dot between the "T" and "S" in "CENTS." In a sheet of 100 stamps, this variety occurs on eight stamps, Nos. 11, 25, 30, 61, 70, 82, 92 and 94 in the sheet. In the provisionals of 1902 there is a variety with a straight tail to the numeral two which occurs eight times in a sheet of 100 stamps, the positions on the sheet being Nos. 13, 16, 18, 58, 66, 71, 84 and 93.

It is now reported that the United States and Denmark are again trying to agree on terms for the purchase of the Islands.—N. E. Stamp Monthly.

100 ALL DIFF. MEXICO WAR ISSUES $5

Absolutely the biggest bargain in stamps that has been offered since the early white Sonoras were sold for a nickel.

WAR WITH MEXICO

May be a reality before this ad appears in print and in such an event there would be an immediate big demand with a tremendous increase in value of all of these issues besides a shutting off of further supplies in the way of later varieties, all of which would mean advanced prices. We have had this 100 variety packet in mind for some time and are only now able to offer it at this remarkably low price. No other dealer can offer so much for the money and probably no other could make this packet at any price.

We have prepared just 100 of these packets to sell at this price, principally to encourage interest in these fascinating issues. To buy the stamps in this packet singly they would cost you from three to four times the price we ask.

WHAT THE PACKET CONTAINS

Twenty-five different issues are included, representing all factions of the revolution. First white Sonoras, Green seal Sonoras both colorless and black roulette issue. Ejercito Issue, Transitorio Issue, handstamped GCM issue, Coach Seal Issue, Anvil Seal Issue, $ overprint issue, Villa GCM issue, Carranza GCM issue, Madero issue, Denver issue, Denver Revenue issue 1c to 1000 pesos, Oaxaca issue, Sinaloa Issue, Postage dues, E. S. overprints, the late G. P. De M. issue and many others. With the exception of the Denver revenues some values of which were used postally all stamps in this packet are Regularly issued Postage stamps.

A total of 100 all different MEXICO WAR ISSUES ONLY and at the remarkably low price of $5.00. All regular varieties, no minor varieties are included.

REMEMBER—There are just 100 of these packets ready and you are missing a bargain if you don't get one now. As an added inducement and to further stimulate interest in these issues we will send Linn's Stamp Collector, the magazine with the real Mexican stamp news in it, free one year to each purchaser.

THE NASSAU STAMP CO.

Revised for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

POSTAGE STAMPS OF THE CANAL ZONE.

By WILLIAM EVANS.

"8 cts" on 50c Bistre Brown, 1904-06.

First Printing—The varieties of this value are the most complicated of all of the varieties issued in the Canal Zone, and some of them are almost inexplicable. This is largely due to the mixing by the Panama authorities of the sheets of different printings of the Panama surcharge when they were sent to the Zone. For some of the printings the Third Panama surcharge was supplied, while for others the fourth was used, and for one both were mixed together. Besides this, there is now a Third surcharge to consider, and, in some instances, this adds to the problems to be solved.

The stamp used was the fifty centavos of Colombia for Panama of the issue of 1896. Like the other values this stamp was surcharged with a bar through the word "COLOMBIA" and the word "PANAMA" was printed at each side. The Republic had no eight cents value, but the Canal Zone authorities needed this value as it represented the registration fee, and in order to supply it, it was necessary to surcharge the value upon some stamp of a different value. The choice fell upon the fifty centavos. After having received these two surcharges by the Panama government, it went to the Zone authorities and the "CANAL ZONE" surcharge was printed upon it.

In studying this stamp it is necessary to bear in mind the fact that the PANAMA surcharge was set up in two forms, one of which covered a vertical half, and the other an horizontal half of the sheet. For the several printings of this value issued in this series the "8 cts." surcharge was set up to cover twenty-five stamps and four impressions were needed to finish the sheet. There are three types of the "8", called for convenience a, b and c. In each sheet type "b" is found twenty times, type "c" four times, and type "a" seventy-six times. Type "b" always appears on numbers 35, 41, 42, 43, 44; 40, 46, 47, 48, 49; 85, 91, 92, 93, 94; 90, 96, 97, 98, 99;—that is if the sheet is divided into four blocks of twenty-five, we always find this type upon the last or fifth stamp of the

Type "c" appears upon numbers 45, 50, 95 and 100, or upon the fifth stamp of the fifth horizontal row of the block.

The errors of the "CANAL ZONE" surcharge are the same as those of the other values of the first printing, and besides these, two sheets are known with an inverted surcharge. These latter were not reported until 1908 when they were sold by their original owner, who purchased them at the administration building, in the regular course of business, and there can be no doubt as to their authenticity.

Most of the sheets used in the first printing were of the fourth "PANAMA" surcharge, and the only two varieties found are the ones in which the word at the right is 5 mm. instead of 3½ mm. below the bar, and the tall narrow "M" which occurs on the 41st and 46th stamps of the sheet. But three sheets of the third "PANAMA" surcharge were mixed with those of the fourth, and the varieties of this printing are therefore greatly increased in number as a result.

The "8 cts" and "CANAL ZONE" surcharges show the same varieties on these three sheets as on those of the fourth Panama surcharge, and the "PANAMA" surcharge has the same varieties as in the other values of the third surcharge.

The total number of this printing of the eight cents for Canal Zone was 20,000, of which 19,700 were on the fourth Panama, and 300 on the third Panama.

It has been ascertained that one sheet of these stamps escaped the "CANAL

WOULD YOU

Spend $2.00 or more per selection for stamps of the hard-to-get variety, if you not only get bigger value for your money—but received rare stamps gratis with each purchase cataloging the amount of your remittance?

On a $5.00 purchase, you would thus receive not only $5.00 catalog value of rare stamps free, but also your money's worth of good, clean specimens to fill those blank spaces. The saving would therefore be considerable as my net books are priced on the average, lower than the discount selections, which are necessarily limited, according to the size of the discount.

Write today, mention the size of your collection, about what priced stamps you require, etc., and I will do my best to please you.

H. F. COLMAN,
SECOND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

ZONE" surcharge and at least part, if not all of it, was sent to Germany, whence copies have come to this country. One catalog lists this as an error of Panama, but as that country had no use for an eight cents value it does not rightly belong there. It was never issued by the Canal Zone authorities and its existence is doubtless due to the complaisance of some Panama official. The same may be said of the same variety of the eight cents on third Panama surcharge without period after "cts", and though one copy of the latter has been seen canceled, the cancellation is said to be a mere blur or daub which could easily have been applied by any one. We do not consider these stamps worthy of a place in the list of either Panama or Canal Zone.

Owing to the many varieties and the complications it seems best to list each printing of this value, as Mr. Toppan has done, instead of giving one list for all of the printings. Following this plan we have for this printing:

On fourth Panama.
8c on 50c bistre brown; "8cts" type a.
a—"8cts" type b.
b—"8cts" type c.
c—"PANAMA" 5mm. below bar at right (15, 20, or 20, 70).
d—"Tall thin 'M' in 'PANAMA' (41, 46).
e—"C", "L", and "A" broken (1).
f—"L", broken (4 sometimes 3).
g—"AL" widely spaced (41).
h—"L" broken, "8cts" type b (35 on some sheets).
i—"CANAL ZONE" inverted.
j—Shifted surcharge, bar at bottom.

On third Panama.
8c on 50c bistre brown, "PANAMA" reading up, "8cts" type a.
a—"8cts" type b.
b—"8cts" type c.
c—"PANAMA" reading up and down (1, 51).
d—"PANAMA" 15mm. long.
e—1st and 3rd "A" large at right (3, 4, 44, 53, 54, 94).

f—1st and 3rd "A" large both sides (5, 55).
g—All "A's" large at left (6, 7, 56, 57).
i—2nd "A" large at right (35, 85).
j—At left, 1st "A" large, 3rd "A" dropped; at right, 1st and 2nd "A's" inverted "V's"; "MA" raised (42, 92).
k—1st "A" at left inverted "V" (11, 18, 61, 68).

m—2nd "A" at right inverted "V" (3, 34, 44, 53, 83, 94).

t—"P NAMA" at right (83 on some sheets).
u—"P NAMA" at right, 3rd "A" accented (84 on some sheets).

v—Shifted surcharge, bar at bottom, "8cts" type a.
w—"CAL" of "CANAL" broken (1).
y—"AL" of "CANAL" widely spaced (41).

The Second Printing—This printing was issued on September 23, 1905, and consisted of 5,000 stamps. The Panama surcharge is that of the fourth Panama type but is printed in red-brown instead of carmine. This shade being unknown in the Panama stamps, it is fair to presume that this lot was specially printed for the Zone authorities and that the color was changed either intentionally or through error. The errors have been corrected so far as this surcharge is concerned, but the "8cts." is the same as in the preceding stamp, though the red-brown is also used for that surcharge. One quarter of a sheet received a double surcharge of the "8cts." and one stamp has been found from which the value has been omitted. Mr. Toppan says in regard to this:

"Of the other, the figure '8' is entirely omitted; the only copy known is in Mr. Frank Tweedy's collection and came from the left vertical row of the sheet. It is not due to a misplaced surcharge, as the 'cts' is well over to the right of the stamp."

The varieties of the Canal Zone surcharge are the same as for the other values of this printing, viz.: broken "Z" on number 32, broken "E" on 33, broken "L" on 42, and broken "N" on 65.

The list for this printing is therefore:
8c on 50c bistre brown, red-brown surcharge, "8" type a.
a—"8" type b.
b—"8" type c.
c—"8cts" double.
d—"8" omitted.
e—"Z" broken (32).
f—"E" broken (33).
g—"L" broken (42).
h—"N" broken (65).

Third Printing—This printing is another of the exasperating cases of mixing in which the Panama authorities indulged in this value, and is mentioned here for the sake of simplicity and clearness in separating the varieties. Only a few sheets of this setting of the "PANAMA" and "8 cts." surcharge of this printing exist, and these were mixed with the sheets of this value of the fourth series (on third Panama) and consequently were surcharged with the third Canal Zone setting. The stamps used were those with the carmine "PANAMA" and "8 cts." surcharge of the first printing and the varieties of these surcharges are the same as in that printing according to Mr. Toppan, though he fails to place them in his list.

The "CANAL ZONE" varieties are the broken letters on Nos. 32, 33, 42, and 65 and the "ZONE" of the wrong font on No. 48. The number of sheets of this stamp has, so far as I am aware, never been stated accurately but it is probably not far from twenty-five to thirty, as twenty-two copies of the 48th stamp are known to exist and a few may have gone into circulation. The whole issue consisted of 20,000, so that about one-eighth, in round numbers, were of this variety. There is no difference between these stamps and those of the first printing.

ing, except the ones showing the distinctive varieties of the third setting of the Canal Zone surcharge, and unless one has some one of these varieties in a block it would not be possible to determine that it was not the first printing. The list of this printing, giving only the varieties peculiar to it, is as follows:

8c on 50c bistre brown.
a—"Z" broken (No. 32).
b—"E" broken (No. 33).
c—"L" broken (No. 42).
d—"N" broken (No. 65).
e—"ZONE" wrong font (No. 48).

Fourth Printing—Almost nothing of a definite character is known about this printing. Mr. Toppan says concerning it:

"This printing is still more mysterious than the third and, like it, has the 'PANAMA' and '8cts' printed in carmine and is on the fourth Panama type. The mystery of the third printing has been solved but not so with this one. It must have made its appearance late in 1905. My attention was first called to it by Mr. J. C. Morgenthau, who showed me an irregular block from the lower, right half of the sheet which proved that the '8cts' overprint had been re-set.

"The block in question consisted of stamps Nos. 50 to 80 inclusive vertically and was very irregular horizontally. No. 50 was, as in other printings, type c, but type b was represented only on No. 80, which in all other printings is type a. Nos. 48 and 49 were type a, instead of type b, as they are normally.

"I also have a block of four with the bar at the bottom of the stamp instead of at the top. This block consists of Nos. 49, 50, 59 and 60 on the sheet and all are type a, except No. 50, which is type c. Normally No. 49 is type b.

"I have also seen a block of this printing which has no bar at all.

"Errors of the 'CANAL ZONE' surcharge exist in all probability, but what they are I am unable to state, though it is probable that they are the same as in the third printing.

"The only varieties which I am enabled to list as being of this printing are therefore the two following, and I list these only because they are unknown in any other printing.

8c on 50c bistre brown, bar at bottom of stamp.

a—Bar entirely omitted from stamp."

Fifth Printing—This, like the third printing, is due to mixing a few sheets of this type of surcharge with those of an entirely different type when a supply was sent to the Zone authorities. In this case a few sheets of the second printing having the red-brown "PANAMA" and "8cts" surcharge, were in the lot supplied for this value of the fifth series and though an error it is deemed less confusing to place them here. At least ten of these sheets have thus far come to be known. Of these "three are in the collections of philatelists, of Washington, D. C.; one is in a London collection, another has lately been advertised by a New York dealer and one, or possibly two, are in collections on the Zone," says Mr. Toppan. These stamps were issued on April 23rd, 1906.

The 8 cts. varieties are not different from those of the second printing and are arranged in the same manner on the sheet. The Panama surcharge has no errors.

The Canal Zone surcharge shows the same errors as appear on the other sheets of the issue of the same date and are: "CANAL" in wrong font on No. 26, "Z" in wrong font on No. 32, "E" broken on No. 33, "L" in wrong font on No. 42, "N" in wrong font on No. 65, and "ZONE" in wrong font on No. 48. The "8cts." types could not of course be distinguished from those of the second printing except when in connection with some of the distinctive Canal Zone errors, and have for this reason been omitted from the list, which is:

8c on 50c fourth Panama red-brown surcharge.
a—"CANAL" in wrong font (No. 26).
b—"Z" in wrong font (No. 32).
c—"E" broken (No. 33).
d—"L" in wrong font (No. 42).
e—"ZONE" in wrong font (No. 48).
f—"N" in wrong font (No. 65).

Ten Cents Yellow, 1904-06.

All of the printings of this value, four in number, are upon the fourth Panama type of surcharge.

First Printing—This printing was issued on December 12th, 1904, like the other values of the same printing and shows the same varieties. It numbered 20,000.

The Panama surcharge is printed in carmine and a vertical half sheet was printed at a time. There are but three varieties of it, viz.: that having the "PANAMA" 5 mm. below the bar at the right on the 15th and 20th stamps of the sheet, and that having the tall thin "M" in "PANAMA" on the 41st and 46th stamps, and a double surcharge.

I make a specialty of ENTIRE ENVELOPES of the U. S. and Colonies, and have many unlisted varieties. I send out selections at net prices. The envelopes recently issued, and now being issued, are very interesting to collect. There are numerous dies, knives, watermarks, etc., badly mixed up. There seems to be a lack of the usual system in issuing them, which, no doubt is temporary. I can make very low and attractive net prices on current and old issues. GET THEM NOW WHEN THEY CAN BE OBTAINED CHEAPLY. Send your want list and I will quote prices or send on approval. I make up packets of different issues of envelopes to order. Let me know what you want and I will be glad to quote prices. Don't forget that I am HEADQUARTERS for the dies of the 2c envelope 1903 issue, usually called types.

My FOREIGN ENTIRETS AND CUT SQUARES are priced by Bright's latest catalogue, —55c Postfree,—and I give 50% discount from these prices. Ask for the 1c line,—these are Foreign Cut Squares sold in great variety at 1c each net, irrespective of catalogue value.

U. S. AND COLONIES CUT SQUARES. These I price by Scott's and give 50% discount in all cases. Just at present shades of U. S. Postage are very popular. You can make just as attractive a collection of shades of Cut Squares. I have a fine line of these. I also have many dies, oddities, etc., not listed by Scott, all of which I price at net prices. I would be glad to send on approval to any one interested.

I sell U. S. POSTAGE at net prices when sending from want-lists. However, I have many desirable sheets which I send out at 50% discount.

All U. S. REVENUES and MATCH AND MEDICINE are sold at 50% discount.

The varieties of the Canal Zone surcharge are as in the other values of the first setting.

The list is therefore:

10c yellow, carmine.

a—"PANAMA" 5 mm. below bar (15, 20).

b—"M" in "PANAMA" tall and thin (41, 46).

c—Panama surcharge double.

d—"C", "A", and "L" broken (1).

e—"L" broken (4, sometimes 3).

f—"A L" widely spaced (41).

Second Printing—This printing was issued in the fall of 1905. Dr. Perry states that there were 25,000 of these stamps issued, but other writers upon the subject think this number is too high as the stamp is extremely scarce. It is in fact harder to obtain than the second printing of the eight cents of which only 5,000 were issued.

It is on the fourth type of Panama stamps but the surcharge is of a brown orange color instead of carmine. So far no varieties of this surcharge have been recorded.

Of the Canal Zone surcharge the varieties are four in number, being the same as those of the second printing of the other values, and are the broken letters on Nos. 32, 33, 42 and 65 of the sheet.

The list of this printing is:

10c yellow, rose-brown surcharge.

a—"Z" broken (No. 32).

b—"E" broken (No. 33).

c—"L" broken (No. 42).

d—"N" broken (No. 65).

EDITORIAL.

Tax—News of great importance is presented to our readers, even though it is only relayed by us from an account in a newspaper. We have hinted on several occasions recently that it could not be predicted what new revenue measure would be invoked or how the provisions of the law now in force would be affected. A correspondent on the staff of the Chicago Tribune had furnished "a complete outline of the administration's new revenue measure which will be reported to the house tomorrow afternoon by Majority Leader Kitchin." It is said that the present income tax is practically doubled; that an inheritance tax of a heavy rate has been adopted, and that a drastic tax on war munitions has been levied. Now we come to the crucial part from the collecting view; and we quote the Tribune's staff correspondent: "The existing stamp taxes in the revenue act, which was passed in 1914 and extended to January 1 next, are repealed, but other features of the war revenue act are maintained in force." It is the intention to rush the bill through so that it will be effective in its provisions in almost record time, or about one week. It is a subject for speculation, of course, what effect the discontinuance of the special stamps will have on the visible supply and the sudden removal of the necessity for revenue stamps rather involves the question. While having no definite information on this phase, we are of the opinion that the action to repeal the stamp tax was not plainly foreshadowed, as our Washington friends gave no word to us of the likelihood of this course.

Crack—From Mr. Wallace R. Bostwick, Upper Montclair, New Jersey, we have received word of the existence of a crack on a plate of the current two-cent, that does not, however, touch the stamp design: "There is a crack in what appears to be the upper right pane of plate 7582, of the current two-cent. It begins, as nearly as I can judge, in the lower pane, for it is quite strong at the lower edge of this one. It extends up the first space to the right of the lower plate number and ends opposite the bottom of the 2 in the fourth stamp from the bottom. In no place does it touch the design. I should be interested to know if the crack is found in the lower pane. If there is any further information with which I can furnish you, I shall be glad to send it." It is possible that attention has been called before to this variety.

Hear—At any rate, we have made that esteemed yeoman, Mr. H. E. Deats, cease his arduous labors for the moment, to indite the following bill of particulars from Minneakoning Farm: "Here is another railroad registered letter label for your collection. Most roads use them for valuable papers, (not money) monthly pay checks, watches to and from the watch inspector, etc. They come in books, four to a page and about 25 pages to a book, interlined with wax paper, in the manner of telegraph franks. They have no face value or market value, either, so far as I can see." The registered label in question is one issued by the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

Grin—In our at times humble estimation, the most brilliant member of the American Philatelic Society, brushing aside philatelic considerations, is Ellis Parker Butler, the author of "Pigs Is Pigs," that humorous masterpiece that brought Mr. Butler almost as much fame as Charles Lamb achieved through his dissertation on roast pig. One of the stories in Mr. Butler's series starring Gubb, the paper-hanger-correspondence-school detective, is named "The Two-Cent Stamp"; and if the captious complain that this straw is not enough to indicate the way the wind blows, we bring our exhibit to a triumphant climax by citing "Philo" as the given name of "Gubb", the great "detective". "Ah, me," we sigh, "how many Philos have come and gone across philately's inky page!" What a legion of Philos have seen their clever pseudonymic conception appended to articles in the philatelic press. Where have all the old Philos gone? Echo answers, "Where?" Sotto voce: Mr. S. B. Bradt, who as a Philo wrote one of the first real philatelic juveniles in book form, "The Bluffton Stamp Club," is still on deck in Chicago, at last reports.

Various—From Mr. V. D. Angerman, Chicago, we have received a cover prepaid with three two-cent United States stamps, current issue, postmarked Roatan, Honduras, C. A., while the stamps have the regulation Honduras cancellation. In an interview with Mr. W. H. McDonald, Chicago, who has traveled extensively in southern lands and waters in the western hemisphere, he explains the use of the stamps in question as follows: "It is the custom for mail to be accepted on the steamers of the United Fruit and Pacific Mail companies from passengers when it is prepaid by the stamps of any of the countries that the ships touch on their voyages. Usually, the purser carries a stock of stamps of the different countries. I have mailed cards, for instance, with Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Honduras and United States stamps, respectively, at the same time, on shipboard. As for the cover under notice, it evidently was handed to the purser by a passenger who had the two-cent U. S. stamps with him (since the envelope bears three of these stamps) and when Roatan, one of the chief ports of Honduras on the Caribbean, was reached, the purser took the mail to the post office there, where it was postmarked and the stamps canceled. From that port connection was made with New Orleans, in due time."

Misdirected—A member of the American Philatelic Society, Oscar F. Jackson, Los Angeles, California, was sued by his wife for separate maintenance, and on her accusation that "he squandered his money on a postage stamp collection," was awarded sixty dollars a month. The judge said: "You should be ashamed to let a fad carry you away when you might have devoted more of your money and time to your family." Mr. Jackson admitted the impeachment and said "that he probably spent more money than he should in collecting stamps. The collection was estimated to be worth more than $5,000." Our information comes from a Los Angeles newspaper. If the collection is worth so large an amount, we do not think that Mr. Jackson "squandered" his money; and moreover, a dealer at our elbow says that the A. P. S. members have not a reputation for squandering their money on stamps, smiling enigmatically the while.

Candidates—Speaking of the American Philatelic Society, there are several new candidates in the field. Dr. H. A. Davis of Colorado Springs, Colorado, is named for the secretaryship, and Mr. B. W. H. Poole, Los Angeles, California, has been nominated as director-at-large. Both of these candidates are worthy ones, Dr. Davis having won his spurs as secretary eight or nine years ago. Mr. Poole is one of our foremost philatelists, and as a keen and intelligent student of stamps, he has few equals. WEEKLY readers in particular have reason to admire Mr. Poole through his contributions to our columns. Mr. Davis' name appears on the official list on the ballot, but that of Mr. Poole evidently was received too late for inclusion.

(Assembled up to a Standard, Not down to a Price) bears the stamp of approval of over 50,000 buyers. It is the logical development by a company that for fifteen years has been the recognized leader in the postage stamp assembling progress. Leadership always gravitates to the fittest. When a product ceases to represent the highest value, good-will and leadership are lost. That the "Premier Bonanza" is the leader among postage stamp assemblings is evidenced by the fact that it is highly recommended by the foremost societies and collectors in every locality.

FULTON STAMP CO., 102 W. 42nd Street, NEW YORKNEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—The C. E. Hussman Stamp Co. would like to know the present address of B. O. Hinckey, who has been U. S. Consul at Santiago, Cuba.

—The H. S. Powell Co., Storm Lake, Iowa, would like the address of H. S. Ottley, formerly vice president of the Rochester (N. Y.) Philatelic Society. Can any Rochester subscriber supply the needed information?

—Kemit $3.00 for a six-years' renewal of subscription to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY and we will send you free of charge Scott's 1916 catalog. We don't care when your subscription runs out. We do not sell the catalog independent of subscription renewals. If you want to buy one, patronize your favorite dealer.

—The stamp business of A. W. Cliff, East Stroudsburg, Pa., and part of his stock, has been purchased by Leon V. Cass of Great Bend, Pa.

—A correspondent writes us as follows:—"Now that warm weather has set in, a word of warning should be given collectors to take good care of approval selections sent them, especially those made up of unused stamps. They ought not to be carried around in the pocket nor left in damp places."

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Theodore H. Ames and E. M. Oleson.

—If too much trouble to procure a money order when you renew your subscription or purchase books from our list, remit in stamps 5c to 15c denominations. We shall appreciate the favor.

—Julian Park, in sending in his A. P. S. proxy to the managing editor, regrets that he will be unable to attend the convention, much as it would give him pleasure, in view of the fact that he has an even more important function just at that time—getting married. The many friends of Mr. Park will certainly congratulate him upon the happiness that is his. Those who attend the A. P. S. convention at Boston will feel that it would have been a very proper thing for that city to have been included in the honeymoon trip.

—We want a few extra copies of the issue of February 5, providing they can be returned to us in the original folds. Subscribers thus favoring us will have sent them one of our current exchanges. Please see that copies sent us are sent in good form.

—Carlos Reyes Saldivia, with the approval of the Philatelic Society of Venezuela, has just compiled and published a history of the different issues of Stamps of the Venezuelan Government, from 1858 to the present time.

—I. T. M.—We do not know of any American dealer who carries the Lincoln catalog. A line to W. S. Lincoln, London, England, will reach him.

—We desire to secure some copies of the WEEKLY dated July 3, 1915. Any subscriber who mails this copy in the original fold to this office will receive a good foreign exchange in return for the trouble taken. We can use a dozen copies.

KING GEORGE'S COLLECTION.

His Majesty The King.—Very many happy returns to our beloved King, the fifty-first anniversary of whose birth was celebrated Saturday, June 3rd. At this time a few notes concerning the Royal stamp collection may not be out of place which reminds us that responsibilities of accession have not robbed philately of its attractions for His Majesty, who, a stamp collector since his early youth, still maintains the liveliest interest in the hobby. While a midshipman in the West Indies and elsewhere, His Majesty embraced the opportunities of acquiring desirable specimens at ports of call, laying a strong foundation for the collection which has been steadily continued down to the present day. Food for reflection for those cynics who would have it that philately has no rightful place in the present scheme of things!

Philatelic Presents.—On several occasions His Majesty has been pleased to accept presentations of stamps from his loyal subjects. On the occasion of his marriage, the Philatelic Society, London, presented him with a rare selection, on his tour of the Empire in 1907 presentations were made by the Maharajah of Kashmir, the philatelists of Malta and Sydney, and by the Commonwealth of Australia. The Canadian Government has, on two occasions, presented His Majesty with albums containing special issues of the Dominion. The Maharajah of Nepal presented a collection of the stamps of that country, on the occasion of His Majesty's visit to the Coronation Durbar in 1911.

The Royal Collection.—The collection is confined to the postal issues of Great Britain and the British Dominions, and, while it is exceeded in value by several other collections, it contains, nevertheless, some exceedingly rare specimens. Chief among these, in popular esteem, are the 1d and 2d "Post Office" Mauritius, the latter an unused copy—the finest known—acquired at auction in January, 1904, and the former, a used copy obtained shortly afterwards from the collection of the Earl of Kintore. In the other issues of the stamps of this country, specimens are shown, used and unused, from the earliest to the latest states of the plate, notably three fine 2d unused, one with the error "Penoe," and an unused block of five, containing the same error, purchased in 1910. All other issues are practically complete, including specimens from the imprimatur sheets.

The collection of British stamps includes such unique items as the original pencil-sketch of the famous "Mulready" envelope, Rowland Hill's rough watercolor sketches for the first 1d and 2d postage stamps; specimens cut from the imprimatur sheets of all issues; many essays and trial impressions of the Edwardian stamps, including a proof in black of the unissued £5 value, specimens of the 2d Tyrian plum, and many other unique items of great interest.

More recent additions to this portion of the Royal collection include the only known copy of the 5s Telegraph stamp, plate 3 watermarked Cross, perforated 12 1/2; several unique Private Telegraph stamps, and a number of rare specimens from the collection of the late Earl of Crawford.—Stamp Collecting.

55th STAMP AUCTION SALE

MONDAY, JULY 24TH, 1916

By B. L. VOORHEES, LA GRANGE, ILL.

The stamps in this sale belong to five different owners, being their duplicates or countries which they have discontinued collecting and which they wished to dispose of at once. The total is too small for a regular public sale and the stamps are therefore offered in this manner, all bids to be sent in by mail; however, the usual terms applying to my Public Auction Sales will govern in this case, and bidders can be assured of my usual fair and square treatment, and the accurate description of the stamps offered.

Descriptions and prices are from Scott's Standard Catalogue and numbers in brackets refer to Scott's Catalogue numbers.

All stamps are in GOOD CONDITION when not otherwise described. Star (*) means UNUSED. Circle (o) means USED. Send all bids to

UNITED STATES.—Envelope collectors have had another surprise this week in the discovery of the new current design 2c envelope on amber paper of the 1911 contract, reports J. M. Bartels. Die B continues to be scarce and is known so far only on white and amber. If anyone has seen it on blue or buff, collectors would like to know it. There has been a lull in new discoveries during the past month, namely, only five new ones in three weeks, but no one is complaining.

The following new issues have been noted by Mr. Bartels:—

Issue 1915.
Denom.	Die.	Size.	Paper.	Wmk.	Kn.
2c	H	5	White	20	87
Issue 1916.
2c	A	5	Amber	18	87
2c	B	13	Amber	19	89
2c	A	3	White	20	92
2c	A	13	Blue	20	89

E. W. Murray has shown us the 12c, Scott's No. 361 with a double impression plain to be seen; also, the 12c in the new color, with a very faint line about ½ mm. outside the right hand frame line.

CAYMAN ISLANDS.—Harry S. Huber reports that the new 1sh stamp recently noted, on green paper colored through, was put on sale at Georgetown, May 15, 1916, thus completing the series. This stamp is printed from plate 5.

ICELAND.—The Philatelic Journal of Great Britain writes:—"We have received a fairly large number of stamps used on letters during the past few months, and find that many values of the 1907-8 issue (double head) are again in general use, though with the exception of the 3 aur, which, as reported in October last, is on the new paper, watermarked multiple crosses, all are with the old crown watermark. It looks as though the stamps of the 1911 type were gradually being used up, and that the remaining stock of the 1907-8 issue will be employed as long as it lasts, while the fact of the 3 aur being reprinted on the new paper seems to suggest that other values of this issue may also appear on the new paper."

INDIA.—Gwalior.—According to the Philatelic Journal of India, the following quantities of Indian stamps were overprinted for use in Gwalior in 1915: Ordinary—3p, 960,000; ½a, 160,000; 1a, 81,408; 2a, 16,640; 3a, 26,880; 4a, 8,192; 6a, 5,120; 8a, 2,048; 12a, 1,280; 1r, 2,016; 2r 960; 5r, 480; service—3p, 320,000; ½a, 320,000; 1a, 160,000; 2a, 16,128. Ewen's Weekly reports finding the 3p with small "i" in "Gwalior", a sheet each of 1r, 2r and 5r, with the top half showing a double impression, one in albino.

NEW ZEALAND.—Ewen's Weekly mentions the 1d of the 1901 issue with the upper portion of the design doubly printed.

OUBANGUI-CHARI-TCHAD.—This colony has a Red Cross stamp, which indicates (?) that the people of that far away place are charitable as well as patriotic. Red Cross Adhesive.

10+5c carmine and blue, surcharge black.

SWITZERLAND.—Le Journal Philatelique de Berne says that the next printing of the 3c will be in a changed colour. The sale of this stamp has greatly increased since the rate for printed matter has

EDITOR WYLIE AT ST. PAUL.

Olaf J. Olson, 20 W. 5 St., St. Paul, Minn., is arranging an occasion when the Managing Editor of the WEEKLY will be able to meet the collectors of the Twin Cities. It will take place Tuesday evening, July 18, or the following evening, and any collector in St. Paul or Minneapolis interested is urged to communicate with Mr. Olson. It is needless to say that the Managing Editor will be glad to meet WEEKLY subscribers and others at this time. It is his intention to be in Grand Rapids July 22 to 26, and later in the week at Detroit, en route to Boston.

MR. NAST DECLINES.

Charles A. Nast writes us as follows: "Having just learned that I have been nominated by the Cleveland Branch for Director of the A. P. S., I wish to say that while appreciating the compliment implied thereby, I still must decline to have my name considered for any office. The use of my name was without my knowledge or consent. I have joined the other Colorado collectors in nominating Dr. H. A. Davis, our former efficient secretary, and I urge my friends, since only one name from a state can be considered, to vote for him."

A VAN DYCK OF PHILATELY.

By DEREK INGRAM.

It may be a matter of surprise to some to know that Philately has its own Van Dyck, a personage quite distinct from the famous Flemish painter. The Van Dyck of philately was a Belgian lover of art and bric-a-brac. He was the "originator" of the famous "Laureated Reprints" and a gentleman of considerable private means, who resided on and off in Sydney, New South Wales, some years ago. At that place he lived in good style, paying cash for everything and was generous in his hospitality. No trouble would be too great if it meant his securing a coveted stamp, and he would often spend five or six times the value of the stamp in travelling, lunches, and incidental expenses, before he secured the object of his desire.

D. A. Vindin, the eminent Australian stamp dealer, related how Van Dyck, when "in town," always invited him to lunch and often aroused his curiosity by hinting at some great philatelic discovery he was about to make. Mr. Vindin knew there was "something good" on the board, and would not have been greatly surprised at anything, knowing how indefatigable he was in his investigations and searchings. Every year or two Van Dyck took a trip to Europe, and it was directly after one of these trips that he started to warn the dealer in regard to the "Laureated." One day Mr. Vindin was staggered with the information that Van Dyck had found a complete sheet of the 8d orange, "Laureated." Most decidedly this was something unique, for the sheet was nicely "backed" with real "ancient" gum, passed by the dealer's verdict as "beyond reproach." Mr. Vindin became so enthusiastic that he actually stood a large bottle of "Heidsieck, '84," to drink to the future success of "these lovely eight-pennies." How Van Dyck must have smiled!

About a month or two after Van Dyck had first produced the sheet of the 8d "Laureated," he one day announced that he had discovered in the Colonial Treasury Office a wonderful lot of unused "Laureated." These, he said, had been put aside in a large envelope at the time the stamps were current, and must have been mislaid. Eventually, by a curious coincidence, this envelope was turned out from an old account book by one of the officials, who at once passed them over to Van Dyck for his inspection. Just at this time he "half lived" between the Colonial Secretary's and the Government Printing Office, but it is rather remarkable that he should have happened to be immediately available when the wonderful "find" was made. Van Dyck's story to the dealer was to the effect that he offered the official £500 to pass the stamps over and "shut up," and Mr. Vindin was persuaded to go halves. There were eight sheets of each value, that is four hundred each of the 2d "stars in corners," and 8d yellow, and two hundred of the 6d brown. They all looked nice and clean. Van Dyck explained that they were all stuck together; so he had washed the gum off the stamps, and "ironed" them out in (otherwise) mint condition.

Naturally, Mr. Vindin was much excited over this transaction, which he regarded as one of the greatest value in every way. It was agreed to fix the price low in order to get a quick return, and so the minimum was placed at £200, the one hundred and twenty-five stamps. As he agreed to personally guarantee the stamps, he did not expect to have any trouble in selling the lot, and so clearing £550 as his share. He sent away four sheets on approval to Europe. One of these sets he sent to Mr. M. P. Castle, at that time the leading collector of Australians. The stamps created some excitement, particularly when exhibited at the meeting of the London Philatelic Society. There was a distinct feeling of distrust and suspicion, and although the critics could not say positively what was wrong, they did not like the look of things, and so placed them on the doubtful lists, and deferred judgment.

We can imagine their feelings to be somewhat akin to those awakened in art critic circles, on the discovery of an alleged new Van Dyck.

At any rate, there was clear evidence that none of the Government departments had any knowledge of the plates being in existence. No trace of reprints could be found, and as the paper and colours of the stamps under suspicion tallied exactly with used copies of the same stamps, it seemed like condemning what could not be understood. One day, Mr. Vindin chaffingly told Van Dyck that the police had called to see him about the "Laureated." This was pure fiction, but it had the effect of frightening the "originator" of the find, who then confessed that on calling on a dealer in second-hand furniture and curiosities, he was told that something very fine in his line had turned up. To Van Dyck's intense surprise, the dealer produced for his inspection the original copper plates of the 2d "Star," 6d and 8d "Laureated," and of several unadopted designs for New South Wales stamps. These, the dealer said, were found in an old desk he had bought at a sale; he had no idea what the things were, and sold them to Van Dyck for a few shillings. It seems that every dealer in second-hand goods and curios in Sydney knew him as an occasional buyer.

Van Dyck proceeded to Europe with the plates, had the paper specially made, and a number of stamps printed off. He then returned to Sydney and made his "great find," as previously explained. The plates were completely destroyed, however, on this story being made known, and the remains were dropped over South Head, Sydney, into the Pacific. Thus closed the operations of the would-be creator of a second edition of New South Wales "Laureated!"—The Philatelic Magazine.

By LeROY C. BROWN.

To the uninitiated we may as well say to begin with, that Stamp Collecting or Philately as it is technically and scientifically termed, is more than a fad or pastime. It is a splendid school for acquiring practical knowledge. The boy collector learns to recognize at a glance the faces of all the rulers of stamp-issuing countries of the world, (a thing his father couldn't do to save him). He learns their coat of arms, their flag, the kinds of money they use and whereas before such a name as "Straits Settlements" was an abstract thing that only served to make a geography lesson hard, now, after he once has a stamp from there and has looked the place up, it becomes a concrete thing; it means something, he has something to nail his knowledge to, and he never forgets. And not only do boys and girls find profit and pleasure in philately, but men and women, young and old, find recreation and knowledge in the delightful pursuit which study and literature have made a veritable science. Stamp Collecting began almost with the invention of the stamp, and has had a steady growth for about two-thirds of a century.

Today, stamp collectors are numbered by many thousands, and are found in every civilized spot on the globe. The lad who wisely puts his pennies into stamps instead of candy and cigarettes, is a brother collector to the wealthiest philatelist, who also finds his albums a refuge from business cares, and who gladly pays hundreds or even thousands of dollars for a single rare stamp, knowing that he is making a good investment.

The demand for stamps is constantly increasing. Prior to the great war which is now annihilating many thousands of our European brethren, no doubt the proportion of stamp collectors was much greater than that of the U. S., but the war has been as great a factor in stimulating stamp collecting in this country as was the issuance of the Columbian stamps of '93. Thousands of people bought Columbian stamps that never thought of a stamp before, thus the reason for Columbian stamp being sold for "face" or less today.

Stamp clubs and societies are being formed in nearly every city of size in the United States. Some clubs have over 200 members. These societies embrace and carry out every possible means to incite the young collector to join their ranks. All of our leading periodicals, especially MEKEEL'S, stand up for what is right in keeping the "crook" from advertising "junk" and swindling "beginning" collectors.

Revised for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

WESTERN FRANK SERIES—VOL. II, No. 1

THE "NOISY CARRIER" OF SAN FRANCISCO.

By HENRY B. PHILLIPS.

The creator of this title, Charles Proctor Kimball, eighth in descent from Richard Kimball who came from England to New England in America on the good ship "Elizabeth" in the year 1634, was born at Bangor, Maine, July 11th, 1821.

In the year 1849 he emigrated to Alta, California, arriving in San Francisco in July of that year, and made that city his home for the remainder of his span of life.

He was a member of the society of California Pioneers, also belonged to the fraternal orders of I. O. O. F. and O. C. F. Was a member of the historical Vigilante Committee of 1856 in San Francisco, but perhaps he was best known, (saving the local title of "Noisy Carrier") as the publisher of the first business directory of the young city of San Francisco. This work he brought out in September, 1850, a modest publication of 136 pages and containing about 2500 names.

This book is now of the greatest rarity, and eagerly sought for by book collectors, as owing to the numerous fires that several times destroyed the city soon thereafter almost all copies were destroyed within the two following years. We might add that the book has been reprinted in a limited edition quite a good many years ago.

To him must be given the credit of establishing and operating the first "City Letter Delivery" in San Francisco. The brief history of this enterprise is taken from a diary he kept at that time and in which he recorded, day by day, his impressions of events current, as well as personal and business matters.

The plan of this business enterprise was to put up boxes at convenient places throughout the city for the reception of letters to be delivered locally, the delivery charge to be deposited in cash together with the letter, he to make stated calls at every box throughout the day and immediately deliver to the addresses the letters or notices found in them.

The first mention of this business was made under the date Tuesday, January

22nd, 1850; when he wrote—"arranging for City Letter Delivery, making boxes for collecting letters."

Friday, February 1st, 1850, the entry reads—"Had 35 boxes made." Friday, February 14th, "Put labels on boxes and wrote advertisements and hand bills for City Letter Delivery."

February 20th complains that his boxes are filled with letters addressed to the Eastern States and, nothing deposited in the way of his charges, he could only deposit the letters in the postoffice. He also called on the postmaster that day, after which call the following record appears—"Called on P. M. and was very kindly informed that it was against the law to give a privilege to any one (to operate a local letter delivery business) but who was appointed by the Post Master General." And he adds—"so my nose is out of joint."

Under date of February 26th, 1850, comes the tragic entry—"Took in 15c from my boxes, this the first and all I have taken so far; and took down all my boxes."

So ended the first City Letter Delivery of San Francisco. It is not known that any evidences of this enterprise have been preserved. It must be remembered all this occurred before he had earned the title of "Noisy Carrier," and the enterprise must not be confounded with that later activity of Mr. Kimball.

The manner in which he obtained the appellation of "Noisy Carrier" may be given in the language of his daughter, Miss Rebecca M. Kimball:—

"My father carried several of the papers; getting them on the arrival of the steamer. He would call out the names and prices of each, and in rhyme suiting the wording, he gave the name of every paper he had from any part of the world, and its price, in his own rhyming language, which he varied from day to day always making rhymes. He had a rich, powerful baritone voice, could be heard a long distance, and was liked by every one."

Very fortunate is it that he wrote of these matters in his journal. We find therein recorded the beginning of his career as Noisy Carrier. An entry under date of March 12th, 1850, records—"Commenced today as Printers Devil or Paper Carrier selling Daily Journal of Commerce."

H. F. COLMAN,

SECOND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

On Monday, March 18th, 1850, the record says, "Used for the first time doggerel to help sell the Journal."

This first effusion is worthy of being recorded here, it is—

"Come all of you for gold so free
And buy a 'Journal of Commerce,'
'Twill tell you where it can be found
By washing in the stony ground."

Gold was uppermost in the minds of every one and many of his daily rhymes had gold for their inspiration. Each day he composed and used a new rhyme; a few exemplars may not be amiss in this record. On April 3rd, he cried—

"If now you read of gold in lump Enough to make your heart go bump,
That late was found in Auburn ground
Just buy the Journal as I go round."

When there was no particular news any catchy thing would do, as—

"If married now you like to be
And don't know how to do it,
Just buy a Daily Journal of me
And that will put you through it."

April 4th brought to light the following on "Americanism,"

"Of rhyming now a yarn is spun
For Alien not American,
They are to mine just where they please
By paying of a License Lease."

Some days when news of the day could not be compressed into one rhyme he had several in one day and he confessed to eight rhymes in one hard, exciting day.

On April 8th one of his "songs" turned to politics and external relations of this country:

"If now you'd like to know our station
And how we stand with the British nation,
What their great paper engines say,
Just buy the 'Journal' I have today."

With one more Gold jingle we close these extracts.

"Oh, for the Nevada now I'll speak
'Tis said that there they've found a streak,
Where gold sticks out so very plain
That they get thousands for a claim."

In this manner he rapidly increased his business and soon opened a book and newspaper stall at the corner of Sansome and Pacific Streets. He had an established line of subscribers and made regular deliveries of his subscribers' papers and magazines at their places of business. His business evidently prospered as he is soon found in larger quarters at No. 77 Long Wharf, now Commercial Street. Being in the newspaper and periodical business he was of necessity a large patron of the Post Office Department, and letters and other matter occasionally are found bearing his hand stamps which he used for advertising and cancellation purposes, and later when he had established the corporation entitled "Noisy Carrier's Book and Stationery Company" made use of an adhesive label on the mail delivered from its place of business.

In 1856, the following business announcement was made by him:—

"NOISY CARRIER'S

BOOK AND STATIONERY COMPANY,
97 Battery Street, 64 & 66 Long Wharf,
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

Incorporated according to an Act of the Legislature of California, Jan. 1, 1855.

Chas. P. Kimball, Pres.; Chas. P.

Kimball, Thomas N. Hibben, G. B. Haywood, Trustees; D. E. Appelton, Secretary; Chas. Galacar, Agt., New York."

Afterwards he drifted into other lines of business, but at one time he owned a carrier's route belonging with the old Daily Alta newspaper, at that time the leading commercial paper of the City.

The records of those early days are few. One can only get a bit here and a bit there and patiently piece them together and even then the result is often a disappointment and a colorless record.

Any evidence of the activities of these pioneers should be treasured and carefully preserved. A more extended account of his business life could be made, but in a philatelic publication that would probably be uncalled for. He died in San Francisco April 28, 1894, and his memory was duly and properly set forth in the records of his cherished Society, the California Pioneers, of which he was one of its notable members.

Josh Billings used to say that the best thing about a postage stamp was the way it stuck to the job.

The postage stamp deserved that description—and so do I.

WOULD YOU

Spend $2.00 or more per selection for stamps of the hard-to-get variety, if you not only got bigger value for your money—but received rare stamps gratis with each purchase cataloging the amount of your remittance?

On a $5.00 purchase, you would thus receive not only $5.00 catalog value of rare stamps free, but also your money's worth of good, clean specimens to fill those blank spaces. The saving would therefore be considerable as my net books are priced on the average, lower than the discount selections, which are necessarily limited, according to the size of the discount.

Write today, mention the size of your collection, about what priced stamps you require, etc., and I will do my best to please you.

PHILATELY ON THE RACK.

Philately is undergoing a stern test, but stamp collectors may rest assured that its stability will remain unquestioned, notwithstanding. Owing to the decree of May 11th last, prohibiting the entry into France of certain goods—including stamps for collections, either unused or used—our friends the French dealers are notifying their correspondents abroad to suspend any consignment of stamps they might have ready until the obnoxious decree has been cancelled. The German Government have introduced a similar drastic measure, while the Italian authorities have forbidden the exportation of stamps, either unused or used. The object of the French and German vetoes is fairly obvious, being the result of a decision to prevent remittances being sent out of the country in payment of things which are not essential to the maintenance of the nation's physical needs. The man in the street would probably ejaculate "Quite right, too," but our readers, who are conversant with the enormous ramifications of the stamp business and who appreciate how the national coffers can and are actually augmented by the sale of current postage stamps, will at once recognise the illogicalness of the embargo.—Stamp Collecting.

PHILA. STAMP CO.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.
POSTS BEFORE POSTAGE STAMPS.

By MRS. E. M. APPELEY.

Our earliest known posts were 2452 years before the use of the postage stamps. The invention of the first post and couriers is ascribed to Cyrus the Great, King of Persia.

When his empire, after his great conquests B. C. 536, became so extensive he required all his governors of provinces and commanders of his troops, to write to him, all that was going on in the districts and armies. To render the correspondence more sure and rapid and also to send his orders with greater haste, he had post houses built, and messengers appointed in every province.

Estimating the distance a good horse could travel in a day without being injured, he had stables built at the proper distance, furnished with horses and grooms to care for the horses. At each of these places he appointed a postmaster to receive the packages from the couriers as they arrived, and to give them others to carry on, also to change
the horses for fresh ones.

In this way the post went day and night with extraordinary speed. Rain, snow, heat, cold, or any inclemency of the weather never interrupted their progress. The superintendent of posts, became a great employment. Herodotus tells us of the same sort of couriers in the reign of Xerxes.

Posts are spoken of four times in the Old Testament. Jeremiah says, "Our post shall run to meet another." Esther says, "Posts that rode upon mules and camels."

THE CHARM OF STAMP COLLECTING.

By MRS. FRANKLIN R. FLOWER.

Each winter my husband and I get out our collection, add a few stamps and look over the accumulation of U. S. saved through the year. If it were not for two dear little boys who like "tamps" too, we might indulge in more expensive additions to our collection which money could not buy.

Years ago my small brother and myself each started a collection. We traded and sorted and in our small way spent many happy hours together—then he passed away and the collection was mine to be laid away tenderly, for the memories of each stamp was too keen and heartbreaking.

Years after, a young man whose sister boarded with us began to call frequently and discovered I was interested in stamps. The next week he brought his collection in a large Scott's album and gave it to me. Then I brought out the collection of years ago and altho not as large as his I could fill many vacant spaces in the book. Instead of flowers and candy he brought me more stamps and together we spent many happy evenings over the collection. We studied shades and watermarks and I soon discovered that he was very distinguished looking when bending over a stamp with a magnifying glass in his hand. Of course the collection is not mine any longer but ours and as we turn the pages we say "Remember the night we found this?" "Wasn't it queer we didn't find this stamp before?" and similar sentences which mean little to the reader but much to us, and now in the winter evenings, after the baby boys are in bed, we get out our stamps and the charm of filling a few spaces makes us young again.

Oh where is the charm?
Why, in memories of old
Of the dead and the living,
And of love's story told.

—C. H. Marsh, Marshfield, Ore., believes that Buddie Lewis (rear 121 No.
Belmont Av., Springfield, O.) would like to earn a little money working on stamps and suggests that if someone will send him a bunch of the current 2c in used condition, he (Mr. Marsh) will pay a dollar for a sheet of shades. Mr.
Marsh writes us in part as follows:—

"You see there are other kinds of Shut-ins, those who are pegging along in the old world's marts and have not the time and perhaps not the chance to do this work. Now if some one can get a bunch of the current 2c to Buddie, I have a dollar that will go to him for such a sheet. I will not say how many shades there must be on the sheet. We will leave that to Buddie. I believe that a dollar will do him more good than a bunch of duplicates."

—"Regarding the Mauritius 25c with white back. This is the only one that has not been issued yet. We have sent eight remittances at various times to Mauritius, all of which were returned with the statement that these stamps are not on sale yet and no period can be stated when they will be on sale; not to miss this "elusive white back" we have asked one of our clients in Mauritius to keep a sharp lookout for this parcel, and he has promised to do so."—HUGO GRIE-

—"In a recent issue of a stamp publication appears a photographic reproduction of the Mexico 5p stamp, with the surcharge 'Gobierno v Constitucional-ista', accompanying an advertisement.
In this surcharge, as illustrated, the letter 'S' is reversed; no such error occurs on the original stamps. The illustration differs in several other respects from the stamps. It may be that the surcharge is not part of the original photograph but was added later."— HOWARD C. HOPKINS.

—"I certainly appreciate the splendid part you did in bringing the matter of Buddie Lewis before collectors. He has had a number of responses already. I will be pleased to give you a report later, and I believe it will be one that will be worthy of the constituency of your splendid paper. Please accept my personal appreciation as well as that of Buddie and his mother for your kind interest. It is worthily bestowed."—

EDITORIAL.

Revenue.—According to the program, the house of representatives took final action on the new tax measure on July 10th; and the senate is to consider the bill immediately after the deliberations so that it will be ready for the signature of the President soon afterwards. We have not yet seen a copy of the new enactment as it was prepared in caucus, but from what has been learned, there is a likelihood that the wine and cordial stamps will be continued in use in view of the retention of the tax on these beverages.

Split.—A reader has shown us a memorandum of sale given by a large Chicago firm that bears no revenue stamps, but instead has the rubber-stamped inscription: "Part $1,000 stamp No.—used for this amount." Permission for the use of this notice flanking the written amount of tax due was granted by the authorities, but we understand that one or more other applicants for the concession fared unsuccessfully. While unquestionably the privilege of rating up the tax charge on a multiplicity of memoranda of sales on the board of trade in order that they may be paid by a revenue stamp of a large or the highest denomination when its figure is reached, is of distinct advantage in a utilitarian sense, yet the fact remains that from the philatelic viewpoint, an avenue is opened for obtaining high value revenue stamps that was not known to exist heretofore. We are pleased to give this information as we think that its significance will be recognized by collectors.

Away.—In answer to several inquiries that have come to us as a consequence of our report of the failure of Edward Michael, Chicago, we have to report that Edward Michael is still absent from the city and for that reason there has been a delay in the procedure that attends the legal phase of a case of the kind.

* * *

Compromise.—We have sometimes wondered why we had never found a soldier's letter of the civil war period with the "soldier's letter" printed on it for the convenience of all concerned.

* * *

Mixed.—A question has been propounded by Mr. Edwin B. Hill, Mesa, Arizona, with which many collectors are temporizing, trusting to some inspired suggestion to point out the satisfactory solution. "Here is a point that I have pondered these many years,—used and unused together, indiscriminately, or, shall I say discriminately? The point is, when a collector yearns for postally used and finds a stamp worth a few cents unused and a few dollars used, or perhaps unobtainable used, what shall be done? I prefer used. They do not look well with unused, the purists say. One may have a used stamp so lightly canceled that it appears unused. What shall be done? Can one mix? I shall be glad to have a symposium of opinion from the discriminating." Our own philosophy in this regard is a most convenient one. We please ourselves and the philatelist who criticizes the plan is asked to submit a better one; and the comments of the outsider are not feared.

* * *

Retroactive.—"What," asked the technical high-school teacher, "would you do if you were transplanted back to 1866 (or fifty years) and yet retained your present day knowledge?" The answers of the scholars were interesting as a whole and most of them, as showing the ruling passion, had to do with opportunities for financial gain. One boy said that he would buy selected sheets of stamps then current in the countries of the world, not neglecting the United States. This idea was a credit to the youth, evidently a philatelist, who conceived it. If a systematic plan of selection were adopted to cull out the stamps that show the greatest increases in value, the advance in dollars and cents over face value, practically speaking, to today's market prices, would be unbelievably great.

Scarcities.—Collectors usually are interested in cheap stamps in catalogue price that are decidedly scarce and we have often reverted to examples of the kind. On this general subject, Mr. J. Arthur Wainwright, Morganton, North Carolina, writes: "In 1912, you published a series of letters from subscribers on hard-to-get stamps that catalogued under two dollars each, and as I had the honor of being the first one to send in a letter on the subject, I thought that you might like to know how I succeeded in filling my want-list as then set forth. I succeeded in obtaining two of the Bavarian delivery tax stamps from a friend who is a dealer but when it came to the 100 centavos Bolivia, 1894, perforated 14½, he did not have it." After having tried dealer after dealer without result, a Boston dealer sent him a beautiful unused copy,—"but it had a hinge on it and that told the whole story. That particular stamp is not in stock used or unused, so far as I can find." Elsewhere, Mr. Wainwright gives his listing of the 1894 Bolivia. In this connection, we believe that the Peru, 1871-73, when it catalogued at forty cents in 1911 was the most popular stamp in this class.

More.—That there are many obscure stamps catalogued low that are hard to get is to be expected as it may take a period of years sometimes to season or stabilize quotations. The old issues though, yield a quota of stamps in the same category, i. e., stamps much scarcer than the prices appended to them in the catalogue would lead one to infer; and, if, off-hand, we should be compelled to name a few we would proceed: Russia, 10k, 1858, watermarked, catalogued, $1.00; Norway, 3s, 1863-66, $3.00, and Austria, second issue, 2kr orange, $4.00. We have followed these stamps for many years and in the aggregate have owned many copies of each of them. That these stamps are priced too low, comparatively speaking, cannot be gainsaid. Let the 2kr orange of Austria be cited, for instance. In Austria, the stamp is held in high regard and a dealer has told us that he was able to obtain but two copies of this stamp through his Viennese agent when his last order went in. For that matter, the stamp centered and in fine used condition would bring full catalogue from the collector here who appreciates the stamp's aloofness. It should be said, however, that as early as 1897, for instance, the stamp was listed at $3.50, when the 3s gray lilac of Norway was priced at $1.75 and the first perforated 10k of Russia, was quoted at sixty cents. We believe that the gradual disappearance from the common haunts of the market of stamps such as these, while not reflected in changed catalogue prices so promptly or so markedly as we might wish is yet recognized in the slow but steady advance; and really, under close analysis, a very good reason would have to be given for a strong and sudden increase in the price of an old-time stamp.

BOLIVIA 1894.

The color of Bolivia, 100c perf. 14½ 1894, is far more beautiful than the catalog would indicate and I am more than pleased to have it in my collection, as I thought that stamp settled the question of paper and perforation. The 14½ perforation comes on thin paper and the 13½ on thick. The color of the Canada is to have a new 3c stamp. The rumor has already been given circulation in the WEEKLY, but definite information is now at hand from O. Kendall of Winnipeg. The new stamp is to be in purple and similar in design to the current 1c and 2c stamps. It has been found that the present 3c stamp is too much like the 2c and is confusing to postal clerks.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF CANADA.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

CHAPTER XIII.The Diamond Jubilee Issue.

The year 1897 was an eventful one in the history of the British Empire, for on June 20th the greatly revered Queen Victoria celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of her accession to the throne. Naturally such an epochal event was marked in one way or another in even the most remote corners of the Empire. In some cases there were public celebrations and rejoicings with, perhaps the erection of memorials, while some of the colonies marked the event by the issue of special series of postage stamps. The Dominion of Canada commemorated the "Diamond Jubilee" by the issue of a highly ornate set of stamps comprising no less than sixteen different denominations, and the inclusion of what were widely termed "unnecessary" high values and the unbusinesslike and somewhat discreditable manner in which they were placed on sale by the Post Office Department cast a slur on Canada's postal history which took many years to live down.

Early in 1897 the idea of issuing a special series of stamps was mooted as witness the following extract from the Weekly Philatelic Era for January 30th:

Many suggestions are being made and many plans laid for the fitting celebration of the sixtieth year of Her Majesty's reign. In Canada . . . a proposal has been made and an agitation started for the issue of a commemorative set of postage stamps by the Dominion government. . . It has been suggested that the new stamps be made a trifle larger than the present ones, that a somewhat recent picture of Her Majesty replace the present one, and that the figures and colors be made more pronounced. . . The agitation for a new issue is quite pronounced and is by no means confined to philatelists. There appears to be a general desire on the part of the people to have a change.

At first the intention seems to have been to issue only a 3 cent stamp but, alas, this original intention was stifled like many other good ideas and the Departmental officials, giving their enthusiasm free rein, finally decided on a set to consist of sixteen denominations ranging all the way from 1/2c to five dollars. The announcement of the forthcoming issue of the stamps aroused so much general interest that the series formed the subject of a question in Parliament and according to the Canadian Hansard—the official and verbatim record of Parliamentary proceedings—the Postmaster-General (Mr. Muloch) replied to his interrogator as follows:—

It is the intention of the Government to issue a set of Jubilee postage stamps. Such stamps will be put into public use by being delivered to postmasters throughout Canada for sale to the public in the same manner as ordinary postage stamps are sold. There will be a limit to the quantity to be issued. The denominations of Jubilee stamps, and the total number of such Jubilee stamps to be issued, are set forth in the following schedule:

Number to be issued.	Denomination.
150,000	1/2c stamps.
8,000,000	1c "
2,500,000	2c "
20,000,000	3c "
750,000	5c "
75,000	6c "
200,000	8c "
150,000	10c "

100,000	15c stamps.
100,000	20c "
100,000	50c "
25,000	$1 "
25,000	$2 "
25,000	$3 "
25,000	$4 "
25,000	$5 "
7,000,000	1c postcards.

Total value of one stamp of each kind $16.21 1/2.

As soon as the total number of stamps mentioned in said schedule is issued the plates from which they will have been engraved will be destroyed in the presence of the head and two officers of the department. On the 10th of June the Post Office Department will proceed to supply Jubilee postage stamps to the principal post-offices in Canada, and through them minor post offices will obtain their supply until the issue is exhausted. If this Jubilee issue were to wholly displace the ordinary postage stamps it would supply the ordinary wants of the country for between two and three months, but as the use of the ordinary postage stamps will proceed concurrently with that of the Jubilee stamps, it is expected that the Jubilee stamps will last beyond the three months. Inasmuch as the department is already receiving applications for the purchase of Jubilee stamps, it may be stated that the department will adhere to the established practice of supplying them only to postmasters, and through them to the public, who may purchase them on and after the 19th June, 1897.

It will be noted that the Post-Office Department made no pretense about the matter but stated quite candidly that the issue would be limited and before very long, by means of different official notices and communications it was made quite plain that the issue was intended to sell and that restrictions would be placed on the scale of the more desirable values, which were issued in but small quantities. With the first supply of these stamps sent to postmasters the following circular was sent:—

N. B.—Requisitions for full sets of the Jubilee stamps will be filled until the issue is exhausted.—E. P. S.

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT, CANADA,
 POSTAGE STAMP BRANCH,
 OTTAWA, June, 1897.

Sir:—I am directed by the Postmaster-General to send you herewith a supply of the Jubilee stamps and 1c post card, equal to one month's ordinary requirements of your office. Should this quantity prove insufficient it will, on your requisition addressed to this branch, be supplemented; but as the Jubilee issue is limited, it would be necessary for you to apply early in order to secure further supplies of the same.

I am also to instruct you not to sell any of the accompanying stamps or postcards before the opening of your office at the regular office hours on the 19th June instant—the eve of the anniversary they are intended to commemorate.

These stamps and cards are, of course, like the ordinary issues, to be sold at face value.

I am, Sir, Your Obedient Servant
 E. P. STANTON, Superintendent.

P. S.—As there appears to be a somewhat general desire on the part of many persons to purchase, for souvenir purposes, complete sets of the Jubilee stamps, it is hoped that you will so manage the sale of such stamps that persons applying to pur-

The stamps were placed on sale throughout the Dominion on the morning of Saturday, the 19th of June the eve of Jubilee day proper. Naturally there was a big rush on the part of the public to obtain specimens of the much heralded stamps and in the larger centres the post offices were literally besieged. Speculators tried to corner the 1/2c and 6c denominations, which advance particulars had shown to be the most desirable of the lower values, but the stamps were doled out carefully and large orders were promptly and firmly refused. But though care was exercised the department was convinced, from the result of the first day's sale, that steps would have to be taken to further restrict the sale of the desirable denominations. The demand for the stamps at the chief office was so great that a circular letter was prepared to be despatched to applicants, this reading as follows:—

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT, CANADA,
 POSTAGE STAMP BRANCH,
 OTTAWA, 26th June, 1897.

Sir,—With reference to the numerous demands upon this office for the 1/2c and 6c Jubilee stamps, I am directed to explain that the respective quantities of Jubilee stamps ordered bear, relatively, the same proportions to the actual requirements of the Postal Service, but the tendency to exhaust the HALVES and SIXES has increased to such a degree, that it has become necessary to restrict their sale to the purchasers of full sets. Hence I am to express the Postmaster-General's regret that he is unable, having regard to the limited character of the UNITED STATES.—William H. Webb has shown us an oddity. It is a postal savings 2c stamped envelope which has had the penalty legend printed across the stamp, while the original return card has been obliterated with a large black overprint, and this new card just below: "Post Office Department—Washington—Official Business." Economy at Washington! Wonders will never cease.

Ivan L. Butters reports having in his collection a copy of the 2c brown, 1883 issue, as described by Gardner in MEKEEL's of April 29th and mentioned by Harry Gilchrist and Geo. W. Bye in issue of May 20.

BARBADOS.—J. A. Galbraith has now shown us the complete set of stamps, with King George in the role of "Rule Britannia." All are of the same design and size. The description of the 1d in No. 1330, applies to all.

FRANCE.—Offices in Egypt.—D. C. Alexander has shown us a cover from Alexandria, Egypt, franked with French Alexandria stamps. Not only was the outside cover opened and closed by the censor, but the enclosed envelope containing stamps was similarly censored. Incidentally there were abstracted from the parcel a part of the stamps enclosed, valued at 6 francs. Who wouldn't be a censor? Talk about the safety of the mails!

HONDURAS.—George J. Carter has shown us a specimen of the 5c "Teatro Bonilla" stamp vertically imperforate.

PANAMA.—Another of our old "Paquebot" friends has turned up, this time on a cover from Panama with a 2c Balboa stamp, but postmarked at New Orleans. As usual the "Paquebot" is done with a rubber stamp. D. C. Alexander sends the cover for examination.

CHEMICAL FORGERIES OF THE ROMANIAN 5 BANI BLUE ERROR.

By PHIL DENGLER.

Many of these forged errors have found a place in medium as well as advanced collections and have never been doubted by their respective owners. This forgery can easily be detected and recognized, mainly by the color of the paper. The genuine error is on a creamish ivory white paper, the chemically changed or forged error is always on bluish-white paper.

An unfailing test is the comparison of doubtful copies with the 10 bani blue of same issue (1876) from which plate the original error was printed. If color of paper does not harmonize, the forgery is proved beyond doubt.

The origin of this bluish-white paper is found in the 5 bani green (1879) from which these forgeries are made.

For the printing of this stamp at least three different compositions of ink were used, yellow green, bluish-green and dark bright green and it seems that only the bluish-green shades react in the chemical changing process. It is to be noted that the paper of the bluish-green shades is always bluish-white, while the yellow-green shades are on creamish white. As all other values of this issue (1876) were printed on creamy white paper, it is not likely that a genuine bluish tinted paper was used for this one value or shade, and its existence must, therefore, be attributed to the chemical influence of the printing ink. This obstacle, the forgers have not been able to overcome, less to produce that soft cream paper of the originals. The printing ink of the 10 bani blue, from sky-blue to ultramarine, never affected or changed the color of the paper; it is always creamy white, and it is logical that the error cannot be but the same.

The color of these forged errors is in most cases a bright sky-blue, sometimes also approaching nearly the dull blue of the originals. The reprint of this error in full sheets (1880), can be recognized by its bright dark blue color and the smooth, glossy appearance of surface. (Originals dull surface.)

The means of detecting forgeries are not exhausted by the test of paper, others exist (see Phila. Stamp News, Vol. IV, No. 47, Page 831) which, however, require minute study of the different issues and printings of these stamps.

SAVE MONEY ON YOUR ADVERTISING.

Important hints from experienced advertising man:

Now is the time to plan your advertising. Get your customers early in the Fall. It will lengthen your "sales season." It is wisest to decide now what you can invest in advertising during the year. Then plan your campaign accordingly. Notice the word "invest." A campaign carefully planned is a good investment, but in a campaign like yours experience is most necessary if advertising is to pay big profits. One high-priced young folks' paper helps retain its leadership as a stamp advertising medium through its aid to dealers.

First, make a careful examination of the various magazines in the field. Select one or two where subscription price guarantees both money and good bring-up on the part of the readers; and where stamp articles constantly encourage interest in Philately. Notice also if leading stamp dealers endorse the magazine by using it year after year. If the paper and printing used give your announcement the touch of quality, and if the magazine itself positively sets out to make new stamp collecting converts among its readers, so much the better. Among the few such magazines, St. Nicholas holds first place. Dealers with limited funds for advertising prefer it, because experience shows it turns in a larger percentage of orders to inquiries. It, therefore, makes considerable saving in postage, time and detail. Concentrating on St. Nicholas also saves the 25% discount given to those who run on yearly contracts in the Stamp Directory. This is a considerable saving and effects a double economy.

Further details may be obtained by writing Mr. Alfred D. Guion, St. Nicholas Stamp Directory, 353-4th Avenue, New York. He is ready at all times to assist in planning your advertising. Help in preparing follow-up letters, circulars, cuts, etc., is also gladly given. These play an important part in the real success of a stamp dealer's business. Remember, the earlier in the season you get started, the bigger your success. This year ought to prove the stamp dealer's golden harvest. Never in recent times has there been so big an incentive to stamp collecting as the great war is making right now. It ought to be "Now or never," for you to build up a strong patronage among the best homes in the country. A carefully planned advertising campaign will bring you this success quicker than anything else. But as pointed out, an early start gets a mortgage on Old Father Time. (Ado.)

SOME EXPERIENCES AND A MORAL.

By E. CULLIS.

(His name really is not Cullis, but the facts given will touch a responsive chord in the minds of many. The article is from the standpoint of the collector though we are well aware that the dealer also has his troubles. What is needed generally is a toning up of the morals of society so that honesty will not become a lost art. The incidents connected with the last experience herein described are familiar to us and we are sorry to say that it concerns a Massachusetts dealer, who, however does not advertise in the WEEKLY.—Ed.)

A copy of the A. P. S. membership list came to me, the other day, and, casually looking through its pages, one name caught my eye,—the name of a dealer who, more than thirty years ago, nearly broke my boyish heart, temporarily obliterated my love for stamps, and destroyed my youthful faith in human integrity. It was my first experience with the greed—alas! much too insatiable!—of the dealer who cared more to grasp a bargain than to be just or even generous enough to make a friend.

To this dealer of yester-year I sent my little hoard of stamps, with the request that he send me "what it is worth to you." Impatiently I waited his reply. Would he send me as much as eight dollars? I would accept six, but how much I hoped for the greater sum! In due time a letter came. I opened it tremulously. Out dropped a brief note: "The stamps are worth fifty cents to me, which sum I enclose in unused one cent stamps."

The passing years have not softened my sense of wrong, and of the many dollars spent for stamps since that dark day not one has gone to this fellow.

It is a long leap from those days to the later dealer who found in me a friend in his dire need. The sum which helped to set him up in business,—a business which paid him well and gave him living for several years,—destroyed our friendship and left me again to feel the way of finance not wholly uncrowned with thorns. His perfidy, however, had its nemesis in later loss of friends, business, credit.

The hours of leisure of this the twilight of life I have devoted more or less assiduously, when the spirit moved, to increasing my stamp collection. It is of these experiences, though only in a general way, I would speak.

I am a purist in collecting. I seek perfection. My orders almost invariably bore this proviso. Yet I have had reputable firms with whom I have done business try to turn the trick by slipping in a reperfected stamp,—an expertly repaired copy,—or one with a minute defect. Sometimes the price equaled the crime. One time I wrote firmly and to the point. The dealer was insulted. Did I accuse him of fraud? Of deliberate falsification? I certainly did. Then, he would have me to know, he sold his stamps at a price which showed at once their comparative condition. As I had previously paid him a good price for a thirty cents Navy, which had been reperfected south, as my glass disclosed, I felt he was wabbling on the point at issue, and this one lucrative source of revenue ceased for him with our correspondence.

Another concern sent me, unsolicited, a book of stamps from which several had been already removed. I sent them a money order for those I retained. They wrote, demanding pay for stamps I had never seen in the book,—stamps which, enumerated by them, I never even collected and could have no use for under any circumstances. I paid under protest.

Another concern from whom I purchased several dollars worth of stamps, after the lapse of two months, sent me a bill. I knew I had paid for the stamps at the time, but nevertheless, I sent a check at once. Later, I found my post office money order receipt, and investigation showed it had been paid to the firm in question. I wrote them at once. They sent an apologetic letter, and a check for the amount, less ten cents for collection on my check!

Four years later, this concern put out a certain pamphlet which I wished very much to possess. I sent them the amount in silver, well protected. Their reply was that they were charging my account (which by the way I did not carry) with the sum, as I had forgotten to enclose it, and sending the pamphlet. It did not come. I sent the concern the price of another copy, and also paid again for the one which never came. I may say that it was worth the three prices, which fact they are welcome to state in their advertising!

My last and most bitter experience was with a dealer who ardently solicited me to allow him to sell my entire collection on a commission basis. I yielded, he said, against my better judgment. He had been established several years, was fairly well known, and inquiry showed him to bear a reputation for probity. I sent the collection. Returns were prompt for a month or two. Then there was little doing. Then I was treated to a few months of silence. I was advised by a friend in the business to get at once all of the unsold portion of the collection. This I succeeded in doing after vexatious delay and vague promises.

When I opened the package containing the sheets on which the collection had been remounted, I was astounded. More than sixty per cent of the stamps returned as mine had never been in my collection. All my rarities (I had Canada complete, and Cape of Good Hope nearly so, besides Chile complete, specialized) besides many others, were gone. Of my United States, of which I had among other gems, a pair of the five cents 1847, five copies of the New York Postmaster's, 1845, and some beautiful things besides, were missing. A few common stamps and some new to me replaced them. British colonials in unused condition were in profusion, but as I collected only used stamps, these did not seem more than utter strangers to me. To add to the indignity, several counterfeits and many reprints had found place on the sheets. And of my fine collection of U. S. revenues, one solitary stamp, worth a few cents, represented the entire collection!

I wrote at once to the mis-dealer. His only refuge was in denial. I found myself poorer by $700 to $800 cash outlay, but richer in experience. I shall cherish the flotsam of my treasures, however, and seek to rebuild that which has been torn from me as if by travail.

Is all this only proof positive that honesty is almost unknown in the stamp trade? Is integrity a dead virtue? Is the fellow who can rob one and "get away with it" reckoned an astute business man? I cannot wholly believe it, in spite of my varied experiences.

I would ask in finality to those of our dealers who may read these little experiences to pause long enough to commune with their own souls, and decide which has paid the better,—the knowledge of honest upright dealing, or the lapses which the wooing dollar have caused in the battles for principle. And so deciding, may they act. Their reward may be only in the doing. Then, say I, if done at all, let it be well done.

Jubilee issue, to comply with any requests for the ½c or 6c denomination, apart from those for full sets. These sets may be obtained as long as the series of Jubilee stamps last, but as the demands upon it are unusually heavy, it would be advisable to apply for full sets at the earliest possible moment.

When Postmasters obtain such sets to fill orders actual or prospective at their respective offices, they must not, in any case, break the sets.

I am, Sir, Your Obedient Servant,
E. P. STANTON, Superintendent.

P. S.—Under no circumstances will there be any issue of Jubilee stamps, beyond the limits mentioned in the accompanying extract from Hansard, containing the Postmaster-General's statement on the subject.

At the same time instructions were issued to postmasters that they were not to sell the ½c, 6c, 8c and dollar denominations except in the complete sets of sixteen values.

Later this ruling was modified and sets to 50c and $1 inclusive were allowed to be sold resulting in the issue of another circular to postmasters worded as follows:—

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT, CANADA,
POSTAGE STAMP BRANCH,
OTTAWA, August, 1897.

Sir,—I am directed to transmit to you the accompanying partial sets of Jubilee stamps. These sets consist of two kinds: one from a ½c to $1 (value $2.20½), the other from ½c to 50c (value $1.20½). You are instructed to sell these stamps as sets, and as sets only, representations having been made to the department that in various parts of the Dominion there is a desire to obtain such sets for souvenir purposes. You must not, under any circumstances, break a set; for, besides the disappointment that such a course would cause, you would render yourself liable to loss, the department having decided not to allow credit for any broken sets returned to it by a postmaster who, notwithstanding the instructions herein given, sells any denominations of the stamps making up a set apart from the rest.

I am also to ask you to use your best judgment in the sale of these sets, checking, as far as possible, any attempt on the part of speculators to monopolise them, and thus securing as general distribution of such sets in your vicinity as the circumstances may permit. To enable you to make change in connection with the sale of the enclosed sets I include a sufficient quantity of ordinary ½c postage stamps.

I may add that the accompanying supply has been based strictly upon the annual revenue of your office, and, having regard to the total number of sets available and the extent of their distribution, represents that proportion to which you are entitled.

I am, Sir, Your Obedient Servant,
E. P. STANTON, Superintendent.

So anxious did the department show itself in its efforts to circumnavigate the speculator, and so obvious was the fact that the Jubilee stamps were issued, like our own Columbian stamps, for the pecuniary profit the Government would derive from their sale, that it is small wonder that the series was condemned and discredited by the philatelic press almost universally. The following extract from the Monthly Journal for June, 1897, is typical of many:—

We are indebted to various correspondents for papers and cuttings with reference to the Jubilee issue of this Colony which will have taken place by the time this is in print. While acknowledging that the design of the stamps appears to be a very handsome and appropriate one, we feel bound to add that the affair possesses no other redeeming feature whatever. The Canadian Government has made a new contract for the supply of stamps, etc.

I make a specialty of ENTIRE ENVELOPES of the U. S. and Colonies, and have many unlisted varieties. I send out selections at net prices. The envelopes recently issued, and now being issued, are very interesting to collect. There are numerous dies, knives, watermarks, etc., badly mixed up. There seems to be a lack of the usual system in issuing them, which, no doubt is temporary. I can make very low and attractive net prices on current and old issues. GET THEM NOW WHEN THEY CAN BE OBTAINED CHEAPLY. Send your want list and I will quote prices or send on approval. I make up packets of different issues of envelopes to order. Let me know what you want and I will be glad to quote prices. Don't forget that I am HEADQUARTERS for the dies of the 2c envelope 1903 issue, usually called types.

My FOREIGN ENTIRES AND CUT SQUARES are priced by Bright's latest catalogue, —55c Postfree,—and I give 50% discount from these prices. Ask for the 1c line,—these are Foreign Cut Squares sold in great variety at 1c each net, irrespective of catalogue value.

U. S. AND COLONIES CUT SQUARES. These I price by Scott's and give 50% discount in all cases. Just at present shades of U. S. Postage are very popular. You can make just as attractive a collection of shades of Cut Squares. I have a fine line of these. I also have many dies, oddities, etc., not listed by Scott, all of which I price at net prices. I would be glad to send on approval to any one interested.

with an American firm, which will apparently involve a new issue of stamps within a short time. If the occasion had been taken for the issue of a permanent series appropriate to the Jubilee year, nothing could have been more agreeable to philatelists throughout the British Empire; but to bring out a set of labels, including unnecessarily high values and printed in limited numbers, to be issued concurrently with the present stamps, is to reproduce all the most objectionable features of the unnecessary and speculative emissions, which we all desire to put an end to. We cannot expect that on such an occasion as this loyal British subjects will be able to abstain altogether from purchasing Jubilee mementoes of this description, but we would most strongly recommend them to be satisfied with copies of one or two of the lower values. Outside the British Empire we trust that this discreditable issue will fall as flat as it deserves.

To add to the unsavory tale we have only to say that there was much scandal on account of the openly expressed statements that the desirable values were, in many instances, cornered by postal employees who had, of course, "first option" on the supplies reaching their respective offices. Thus, in the Philatelic Messenger of New Brunswick, we read:

But now that the stamps have been issued in certain given numbers and in the Postmaster-General's peculiar way, where are they? That is what a great many want to know and that is a question which must be answered. I know where some of them are. I had a letter from a postmaster's son at a small office in Quebec, asking me what I would give for 45 8c Jubilee stamps. I had a letter from an office in P. E. Island, asking my prices for ½, 6, and 8c Jubilee stamps. Collectors in the principal cities of the Dominion have seen whole sheets of ½c stamps in the possession of post-office employees. These little incidents may give one some idea where the stamps are. I also have a pretty good idea where the stamps are not. A prominent Toronto dealer laid $100 on the stamp counter the first day of sale, and was tendered two specimens of the ½c and 6c stamps. At Montreal, Toronto, St. Johns, Halifax, and all the principal cities, not more than two specimens of the ½, 6, 8, 10, 15, 20 and 50c stamps were sold to the same person, that is, of course, outside the post-office staff. I have it on good authority that there is not a stamp dealer in Canada who has 100 of the ½c value unless he happens to be a post-office employé also. The stamps are not in the dealers' stock books then, for they have not been able to get them. I wrote to Fredericton the other day for a few 10, 15, 20 and 50c stamps and the postmaster returned the money and said they could be supplied only in complete sets. One meets with the same reception at nearly every post office. What were the stamps made for if not to be sold to the public as the public wants them? What would be thought of a furniture store where one could not purchase a table or a chair but must take a whole set? The thing is ridiculous.

UNITED STATES GRILLS.

1867 TO 1872—AS ACTUALLY ISSUED.

By WM. L. STEVENSON.

CHAPTER X.

General Remarks.

As the result of previous articles, I find considerable interest shown in this grill subject. Not a few are asking pointed, and, generally, intelligent questions. Some find the remarks so far made are too technical and detailed. Others call for still more details and a still more technical and mechanical study. In writing these articles I have not by any means exhausted the subject or my own notes on hand. I wished to lay the foundations for further study and to indicate to collectors in general the possibilities of a reasonably complete understanding of the grills as subjects for their collecting. I will not at present attempt a fuller treatment. That must wait for further study of essays, etc., and some time someone can try to work out the final treatment of this subject. I will, however, add a few remarks on particular matters that have come up in correspondence with collectors.

Cylinders Used—How many cylinders were used to produce the normal issued grills of the three issue periods?

I don't know. It is of extreme importance to understand to begin with that there were a certain number of cylinders, and no more. As we gain added information we may possibly be able to absolutely limit those known. Here is the way this matter now appears to me.

Cylinder No. 1—The female cylinder. Appears entire in the essays and in the A grill as issued experimentally in 1867. Appears further in the B and C grills as issued and in essays in the C sizes.

Cylinder No. 2—Pin-point grill. Appears only in essays. Used apparently only in 1867. May be earlier than No. 1 but not probably.

Cylinder No. 3—Truncated pyramid grill. Appears entire in essays of 1867 period. Very possible, if not probable, that this appears again in the 1870 period. See later.

(It is possible but improbable that a Cylinder was made for the grilling of the plain shield on essays made according to the patent requirements. Until we know more about this item we can leave out this possible cylinder.)

Cylinder No. 4—Cross grill cylinder. Apparently produced the D grills and part of the E grills.

Cylinder No. 5—Cross grill. Produced the Z grill only, as shown both on essays and on issued stamps.

Cylinder No. 6—Cross grill. Produced the F grills and possibly part of the E grills.

(Note.—As regards the Cylinders No. 4 and No. 6, I do not as yet say that two cylinders, or more, were used to produce the D, E, and F families. Two seem indicated by present evidence. More than two may have been used but not at all probably.)

Cylinders No. 7 and No. 8—Produced the G grills of the 1869 period as issued.

The 1870 period is still a problem. The work is not at all good as issued. Nothing seems to indicate that they made nice new cylinders for this period. The indications to date are that they used a revision of a previous cylinder, say the No. 4, for making the H grills, and it is almost certain that they dug up and stripped in the two directions the No. 3 cylinder for the I grills. As previously noted, the H-2 and I-2 grills seem to come from these same cylinders after a recutting of the grooves each way to produce better penetration.

These manufacturers were not making grills for their health. They made no cylinders except for business purposes during these issue periods. All the cylinders of 1867 are truly experimental in efforts to produce better results. The 1869 grills are about the nearest we find them getting to a final solution. The 1870 grills are very certainly not experimental and are probably simply attempts to "get-by" with an imitation of grilling.

Any grill rectangle not shown on one of the apparently normal cylinders is, as a matter of course, quite open to suspicion. That is the first test for the genuineness of any grill. Any rectangle of grill on one of the normal cylinders, certainly produced, very nearly exactly, its certain proportion of all the grills made by that cylinder, one at each application of that cylinder to a sheet. There is therefore, a limit, quickly reached, to the rarity of any particular impression. To assume that on any cylinder in any period there was one rectangle that produced a grill impression differing fundamentally from all the other rectangles produced by that cylinder is silly, just silly. Any such rarities must show their own credentials and a different origin. Some odd sizes may come from nearly unknown essays. They require study and are not open to listing as issued grills without the clearest evidence. A few essays do exist, period of manufacture unknown, that almost certainly come from a single rectangle of grill on a flat surface, not on a cylinder. These would be a natural product and, as I say, may be perfectly normal, as essays. The only one about which I am at all satisfied seems to be either a Continental or an American product, probably the latter and probably related to the Peruvian grills made by the American Co.

H. F. COLMAN,

Yes, There is quite a bit we don't know yet. See if you can do your share toward the final solution of our grills.

Pressing-Out of Grills.—There seems to be a general notion, not strictly an idea, that all grill impressions were pressed out, intentionally, as a part of the manufacturing process. There is no evidence to indicate this, quite the contrary. It is certain that the earliest experiments contemplated this. Such experiments were certainly made, the idea being, at that time, that the printing was to be done on previously embossed paper. As a manufacturing process, this later certainly became an unnecessary, and largely an undesirable step. Beginning with some of the E grills, it is fairly certain that embossing always came after printing on unembossed paper. The pressing out became unnecessary and undesirable and is indicated by nothing whatever in the nature of evidence. After that family, faintness of impression is due largely to faulty impression, originally, not to later intentional removal. It is, of course, certain that mightily few embossings are as strong as when they left the grilling mechanism. There were several pressings, in addition to storings, to tend to partly remove depth of impressions.

Except in the issued female grills, issued grills were not generally thus processed. Forget it.

Regarding Faintness.—It is frequently stated, especially with regard to the 1870 grills, that faintness of impression is in favor of the genuineness of a certain specimen. This is silly. Nothing is in favor of any grill except what can be seen with the eye or with a glass and the eye. Faintness naturally obscures definiteness and is not, of itself, of the slightest value as evidence. The grills are an impossible study except as "footprints" of the rectangle of grilling units from which they came. Get that fixed in mind.

Gumming and Grilling.—As indicated in Steel's patent, Steel fully understood that his embossing, if successful, required that the sheets should be gummed before embossing. So fully did he understand this that he claimed as one of the advantages of his scheme that a stamp so embossed could not be successfully re-gummed for a second use without the gum coming through on the face of the stamp. This, in connection with the original printing on embossed paper made the original process that of Gumming, then Embossing, and last Printing. This shows in the female grills with certainty and possibly extends, as before remarked, into the D and Z families, to the "dry" printings of that period.

Experiments were tried in 1867 in gumming previously embossed paper in efforts to make the gumming come last. They were not fully successful. There seems to be no evidence among actually issued stamps that this was followed, quite the contrary. In general, they gummed their sheets before grilling them. Look for yourselves.

Z Grill on 15c 1867.—Is the Z grill to be found on the 15c, 1867? I don't know, but I do know that it is extremely doubtful. The Z grill was evidently used on issued stamps only up to about March, 1868, as the latest, possibly not after February, 1868. Grilling of the 15c did not begin before about May, 1868. It is highly improbable that anyone will find this value showing the Z grill.

1c With D Grill?—The 1c has been reported as issued with the D grill, or rather, as showing the catalogue size 12x14 mm. There is no present reason to believe that it exists with the D grill. Examination of such a specimen will probably show the Z grill in about this area of grill. Look it up. I have a 1c in the Z grill and it would probably be listed, under the catalogue, as 12x14. Yes, it is quite rare.

5c and 30c Entire Grills.—I have seen some 5c and 30c showing entire grill. They are very evidently essays, not issued stamps. Has anyone any real evidence that they were ever issued, or used, before about 1890? Sure! They are quite good for postage today.

Cancellation after Grilling.—Used copies occasionally bear their own proof that they were canceled after grilling, in other words, that they were grilled before cancellation. This has mighty little evidential value, except where every other item of evidence is also favorable. Not a few of the best fakes were made on unused stamps that were then sent through the mails, and may even be found on cover. The same identical fake grills may be found on stamps not printed before 1890, as on the 1890 issue and even on the Columbian issue.

In a much earlier article in the Collector's Journal, I called attention to a 7c, 1870, that I had purchased, showing a grill about 9x11 mm. I have now identified this to my own satisfaction as a perfectly genuine fake, a fake made apparently to apply to the high values of the 1867 period. It was numerous so applied and is a most dangerous counterfeit grill, possibly the most dangerous one for collectors not absolutely familiar with the normals.

I could add considerable more along these same general lines, but as my articles were not intended to cover every bit of detail, I will not say anything further at present. As different

Mr. Stamp Collector:

Josh Billings used to say that the best thing about a postage stamp was the way it stuck to the job.

The postage stamp deserved that description—and so do I.

For I have undertaken to get you on my list—and I am going to stick to it.

Why not give in now? Reference, please. When you think of stamps remember.

WOULD YOU

Spend $2.00 or more per selection for stamps of the hard-to-get variety, if you not only get bigger value for your money—but received rare stamps gratis with each purchase cataloging the amount of your remittance?

On a $5.00 purchase, you would thus receive not only $5.00 catalog value of rare stamps free, but also your money's worth of good, clean specimens to fill those blank spaces. The saving would therefore be considerable as my net books are priced on the average, lower than the discount selections, which are necessarily limited, according to the size of the discount.

Write today, mention the size of your collection, about what priced stamps you require, etc., and I will do my best to please you.

WHAT DO MY WAR-TIME COVERS TELL?

By JOSEPH LOWELL.

To a neutral, one of the most noticeable results during a world-wide war such as is raging at the present time is the marked interruption or actual suspension of mail service between the various nations on the face of the earth.
Steamship schedules in general are suddenly discontinued and the outlying provinces and insular possessions of many countries are left without any certain means of communication with the outer world. In many of the countries actually engaged in war the railroad service itself is most seriously affected and the same result follows. The public as a whole has been aware of a disrupted state of postal service abroad during the past two years either through reading casual paragraphs in our papers or through experiencing personal losses or delays but it remains for philatelists, collectors of stamps on the entire cover to learn of the real trouble and pains many countries must go to today in order to continue any kind of postal service, however poor it may be. It is not natural for a people used to the modern order of things to remain in isolation, and therefore there are now many and curious means of communication employed abroad today which would never have been countenanced by a service-loving public a few years ago.
Cover collecting has always appealed to me on account of the mute story each cover tells but not until I began asking myself "What do my war-time covers tell?" did I fully realize what really could be learned from them. How many readers know that it now takes as long as seven months for a letter to reach America from Papua, that it takes four months to hear from the Gilbert and Ellice Is., three months from the Falklands, eighteen months from Thibet via India, fourteen months from Afghanistan via camel post to India, six months from interior Persia via Petrograd and that it has taken as long as ten months for a letter from Constantinople to reach its destination in America? These are but a few of the interrupted mail service stories that my covers tell me.
What else do they tell? Everyone has heard of censored mail, yet how many people know to what extent this has been done? Did you know that most of the mail from Greece is censored on French warships, that France and Italy censor Switzerland's mail, that mail from China, Persia, Siam, the Dutch East Indies and other neutral countries, including the Scandinavian, almost invariably comes censored by England? There are thousands of distinctive styles of censor stamps and labels. It is no wonder that they are "all the go" abroad. But did you know that even seemingly similar marks, etc., are different in order to enable officials to locate the censor using any one? This has helped many people to recover things, such as enclosures, etc., lost from the envelope while the contents were being examined. The fact that there are over seventy censors in the Soudan alone shows that a vast army of these people must be employed in that capacity. Did you know that most of the mail from Germany and her allies comes via Scandinavia, that mail from northern Persia reaches us via Petrograd, and that many other similar round-about routes are now employed? These are but a few of the things I have learned from my war covers. Hundreds of facts of a similar nature could be given for each one has a story all its own. Is it difficult to secure these covers? No!

They can be secured by the dozen or hundred from most dealers at very moderate prices. One need not spend a large amount to secure a very representative and exceedingly interesting assortment. When one has them, what fun it is to read their stories! One can learn more postal history from a dozen late foreign covers than can be learned from all newspapers put together. Why not buy a few and ask yourself, "What do my war-time covers tell?"

THE CHARM OF STAMP COLLECTING.

By RAYMOND V. SEAMAN.

There is a charm to stamp collecting.
That word describes the feeling better than any other. It is however, a feeling of a changeable sort, one that has its certain phases and periods just as man has his "seven ages."

The first period comes upon most of us when in our youth. It then has its greatest real charm, for it fascinates, enchants and holds us in its grip. Then a stamp is a stamp,—something to be treasured along with rabbits, puppies and birds-eggs. It matters not if it be torn or off center—it has come from far away lands which were only known through story books before. This tangible evidence of their existence brings them much closer to us and we somehow feel that we now understand them better. The bright bits of paper also speak of boundless fields of snow, of ancient cities, of glittering rivers, and of men and women who have changed the destinies of nations. A history of the world for the past fifty years could be written with the use of postage stamps.

And now the second period is upon us. The change is gradual, unrealized, and yet it comes inexorably. So the boy grows into manhood and leaves the golden days of his life behind—yet it is long before he realizes it. It is better
so. Romance now is gone from collecting, that indefinable vague something which thrilled the heart at the sight of a foreign stamp—that brought to our minds thoughts of bygone days and old-world loves and hates. Something else has taken its place, perhaps of a finer grain, it would be difficult to say.

We now have a desire to study stamps to learn as much as possible about them and to acquire as many as we can. Incidentally, we learn much of the history of the country which they represent.
At this time our own nation's stamps are beginning to take a prominent place in our thoughts. Formerly foreign stamps had precedence. And another door is opened into greater happiness!

Soon the time comes when we think seriously of going into the stamp business—some of us do—a few remain, and find a pleasant vocation. Next in line is the issuance of a stamp paper. And the thousand or so that have come and vanished over night haven't hurt Philatelly any.

And now the day of specialism has arrived,—new joys open before us.
Here completeness may be attained and the personal touch added which makes the collection of the true philatelist so individual in character.

In concluding, therefore, it may be well to state for the benefit of those who have never collected, that real enjoyment and profit are the rewards of the faithful philatelist. Not only these but he also gains an artistic sense and a keener perception of the world at large which are not obtained in any other way. Why not then adopt the greatest hobby of all time and find out for yourself what the charm of stamp collecting really means?

BRITISH IVORY HEADS.

The bluish appearance in the early impressions of the 1d and 2d stamps of Great Britain is caused by the action on the paper of the chemicals contained in the ink used for printing. In those parts of the stamps where there was little ink like in the portrait the bluish tint is more or less absent, causing the head to appear more or less white. This staining differs considerably in depths of shading. The untinted portrait—and in consequence the whole stamp—bears the name of "ivory head" and can be told either by looking at the front or at the back (but it is plainer at the back). In the front the background appears almost solid, the white spots showing up very little, while the Queen's head appears almost white, with a slight glazed appearance, making the features hard to discern plainly. When viewed from the back (the stamp being placed flat) in the 1d the head is seen through the paper, appearing faintly as a yellowish green or bluish yellow head while the rest of the stamp is undiscernible.
When an "ivory head" is held to the light, the head shews through the stamp far more than the rest of the stamp does, where as in an ordinary specimen the whole of the stamp appears through to the same degree. In the 2d stamp the "ivory head" appears even more plain than in the 1d stamp and shews up whiter.

Used copies of the 1d and 2d ivory head are worth about .25c each. Unused the 1d is worth $2.50 and the 2d $3.75 to $5.—Stamp Collector.

EDITORIAL.

Activity—We have never experienced a summer season in philately when interest in stamps has held so strongly into midsummer as during the present time. For some weeks past, it has been customary to say in explanation of the pleasant circumstance that the activity was due to the backward arrival of warm weather, but now that waves of torridity are breaking over us and no complete and sudden abatement of interest follows, what shall we say? It does not seem to be emphatic enough merely to voice the bromidic opinion that the philatelic seasons, hot and cold, are becoming more equable.

Primeval—The following contribution to the curious annals of mankind is made by Mr. P. M. Wolsieffer, who rescued it from the pages of the Shelby, Ky., Record: "A few days ago, George Terrell, of Anderson County, walked into the postoffice at Sparrow and asked Postmaster Mitchell if he had such a thing as a 2-cent stamp, explaining that he wanted to mail a letter and that he had been told that he would have to have a stamp. He said that he was 32 years old and that was the first stamp he had ever purchased and the first letter he had ever mailed." Here is a subject for a "human epic" from the pen of the philatelist who has been brought up on postage stamps.

Mail—The censored mails are in full flood and many an interesting cover is being laid aside by collectors. Italy is now using a great variety of markings and German mail originating in and postmarked Hamburg has been received with the British censor marks. We call attention to an article in this number elsewhere by Joseph Lowell on an allied topic, the mails in war-time.

Brevity—A postmaster writes that each stamp of the Sonora set, coach type, was surcharged Baja Cal. (Lower California). It will be remembered that Mr. Hugh C. Barr, Buffalo, told us of the existence of this surcharge well over a year ago and that we illustrated the 5c with this overprint. Mr. Edwin B. Hill, Mesa, Arizona, shows that the registered railroad label is no new thing. He has one dated in 1907—Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Ry. Co. Bill Bloss is now home from a vacation.

Antiquated—We have received with the compliments of Mr. C. M. Eames, Jacksonville, Illinois, Volume I, Number 6 of The Stamp Collector's Monthly Gazette, St. John, New Brunswick, dated November, 1865. During its brief tenure of existence, this old journal was the equal of any of the others published during the same period, on our continent, but viewed through the haze of more than fifty years, its philatelic characteristics take on quaint forms. The fact that the editor was so self-sufficient as to assume a somewhat quizzical or detached air when it came to the consideration of philately in the "States" did not make the Gazette the warmest of favorites on our side of the boundary but from a journalistic view the contents were well-balanced and of good quality. Editorially, "Stamp Collecting" is discussed and the familiar note of congratulation, rung in thousands of different keys since, is sounded: "It is pleasant to notice the advance that has been made in stamp collecting during the last few years. Well do we remember the first indications of this spirit especially among the young persons of our population, spirit of emulation, enterprise and rivalry actuated the minds of all and he was to be envied who possessed the largest and most unique collection. The minds of those thus employed were stimulated to some good purpose; habits of patience, perseverance and assiduity would be formed and he would be rewarded who regarded the task as one of love and laboured diligently in it. Nor do we believe that the stamp business of stamp collecting at the present time has in any way depreciated. But on the contrary, we think that it has materially advanced," and so on down the much-traveled philatelic verbal highway.

Extracts—The new issues in The Stamp Collector's Monthly Gazette of 1865, included the type-set Hawaiians, Vancouver's Island, the first set of Bermuda, British Columbia, and the publisher is gracious enough to acknowledge the supremacy of a stamp album published in Hartford: "The best American album we have yet seen is one manufactured in Hartford, and is really a beautiful article as regards workmanship, style and finish. It can be purchased in Boston at a moderate sum. We advise all stamp collectors to secure one. An album well filled with rare and valuable stamps is a beautiful souvenir which all lovers of art should carefully prize." Further, the wish is expressed somewhat dolorously that the superfluity of stamps will not deter the young collector "from securing well-filled albums." If the editor spoke in this way in 1865, what would he or his shade say in 1916 on this subject when it is commonly argued that the many cheap stamps that are available are an inducement to collecting? There is a philatelic puzzle department and the inevitable answers to correspondents; and philatelic fiction has place. In fact, "Lawrence Danton, the Man of Feeling," was "written expressly for the Gazette." The title suggests Bulwer-Lytton and the story is one of those comfortable, conversational ones in which philately is dragged in rather unceremoniously.

Ads—Among the advertisers in the old Gazette were A. C. Kline, Philadelphia, who had just published the third edition of his Stamp Collectors' Manual; A. B. Mason, a Chicago dealer, who offered his Coin & Stamp Journal, and T. J. Church of New York City who advertised from 36 Liberty street. The United States dealer with the largest advertisement was G. W. Winterburn & Co., N. E. Cor. 4th & Vine streets, Cincinnati, Ohio, who had a 28 page catalogue listing nearly 1700 stamps, for sale at 15 cents and who gave a written guarantee with some of his scarcer stamps. The Canadian advertisers were numerous and references to the pence issues of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, etc., which had recently become obsolete, were plentiful. One of the offerings was a collection of 1,000 stamps in a Lallier album, including the "full sets, old issue, N. B. and N. S." for $80.00.

Irregular—From Mr. Ralph L. King, Atchison, Kansas, the question has come: "I have a number of one-cent stamps that were canceled by the postmaster at Perkaspie, Pa., before they were placed on the mail. They were canceled with a regular postmarking stamp. Would these be considered legitimate precanceled? I have also some Chicago precanceled, spelled 'Chiago'." Around the holiday season, for several years past, postmasters were allowed to place the stamps, previously postmarked, on mail, postage paid for in cash, handed in at the office, as a labor-saving measure. These stamps are not regarded as collectible varieties, we believe, by precanceled purists. Such stamps would have a distinction only when on the letter or wrapping.

DOUBLE CATALOG

sounds terrific, doesn't it? But imperf first issue revenues in pairs and blocks are cheaper at 150% to 500% of catalog prices for singles than single copies at half catalog, for pairs are often several hundred times as rare.

Some comparatively common singles are almost unobtainable in pairs, and quite unobtainable in blocks, unless you happen to have an unlimited bank account.

Many rare items I have sold in the past few weeks I cannot supply at any price, reasonable or unreasonable, but I have many fine things left to sell at reasonable prices, and if you want to invest in the kind of stamps many collectors want and only a few can have, tell me about it.

By WILLIAM EVANS.

Third Printing—This printing was issued early in 1906, and consisted of 20,000 stamps. The Canal Zone surcharge of the III stage of the setting does not vary from the same stage of the other values, but the latest information tends to the belief that two Panama printings, known as the fifth and sixth, were included in the sheets sent to the Zone authorities. These differ from each other in the shade of the surcharge and in having the spelling "PAMANA" upon one and not upon the other. Otherwise they are the same. The varieties which are common to both printings are: Inverted "M" on Nos. 24 and 29, "PANAMA" 16 mm. instead of 15 mm. on the right of Nos. 25 and 30, "PANAMA" 1 1/2 mm. below the bar on Nos. 92 to 94 and 97 to 99 of the fifth, and 92, 95 and 97-100 of the sixth. The "A" of "PANAMA" touching the bar on the left of Nos. 91 and 96.

A double surcharge of the former printing is known, but not of the latter. Dr. Perry says of this:
 "This occurred in the third printing, four vertical rows. Only 40 copies were printed."

10c Panama surcharge double.
 a—10c with error "PAMANA" in double surcharge (1 copy known).
 b—10c with inverted "M" in double surcharge (2 copies only).

This statement at first glance appears puzzling, since the inverted "M" occurs on numbers 24 and 29, and the "PAMANA" on numbers 95 and 100, it seems unlikely that two copies of the former and only one of the latter could be included in the double surcharge, as the printing of the surcharge was done in vertical panes of fifty stamps. A talk with Dr. Perry has, however, thrown some light upon the subject. He is positive that only one sheet received the double surcharge and that only four vertical rows of the sheet were included in it. He also thinks that the above mentioned errors did not occur double upon the same stamp but that one of them was found in connection with three normal spellings of "PANAMA," and that "PAMANA" occurred upon the 96th stamp in single surcharge. These things being so, it is probable that the left half of the sheet first received an impression covering all of its stamps. Then when the right half was printed the sheet was placed in a wrong position in the press and the sixth row escaped the surcharge. Then, in order to make the surcharge appear upon this row, the sheet was again placed in the press in such a position that the imprint which would normally fall upon the left half of the sheet, came in this instance upon the second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth rows. This would cause the inverted "M" to fall upon the 24th and 25th stamps in connection with three normal spellings in each instance. "PAMANA" would be found upon the 95th stamp with three normal spellings and upon the 96th stamp in single surcharge. The end of the bar would fall upon the sixth row, giving this row the same appearance as one would expect to find on the fifth row of an ordinary sheet. In addition to these errors there must have been the one with "A" touching the bar on the 92nd stamp, "PANAMA" 16 mm. long on the 25th stamp, and "PANAMA" 1 1/2 mm. below the bar on the 92nd, 93rd and 94th stamps. The 91st stamp would show the "A" touching the bar but it would be in single surcharge. The margin at the right, if the sheet had one, would show the imprint which, under the usual conditions, would have fallen upon the tenth vertical row. In addition to these errors there must also have been the broken letter errors of the "CANAL ZONE" surcharge in combination with double "PANAMA" surcharge.

It is possible that another sheet received the double surcharge, which escaped the notice of Dr. Perry, since Mr. Toppan informs the writer that he has had several blocks and several pairs with double surcharge and that with two exceptions these have all had the stamp with single surcharge at the left, that this stamp was number six in the row, and that the exceptions noted had the double surcharge on all the stamps so that it could not be told from what position in the sheet they had come. Judging from this data the double imprint must have fallen upon the 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th rows of this sheet. The errors appearing upon such a sheet would be, inverted "M" on numbers 29 and 30, "PAMANA" on number 100, "PANAMA" 16 mm. long on number 30, and "PANAMA" 1 1/2 mm. from the bar on numbers 97, 98, 99 and 100. The "ZONE" in antique type would also be found on number 48. This sheet, like the one described above, would have the margin at the right, if it existed, showing the imprint which should have fallen upon the tenth vertical row. None of the errors mentioned in this connection, except those which could have existed on the other sheet, have been reported, and it is thought best not to list them until they are known to be in existence.

The list of this printing is:
 10c yellow, carmine or orange red surcharge, wide bar.
 a—"PAMANA" (95, 100).
 b—"PANAWA" (24-29) (24, 29).
 c—"PANAMA" 16 mm. (25, 30) (25, 30).
 d—"PANAMA" 1 1/2 mm. below bar (92 to 94, 97 to 99) (92 to 95, 97 to 100).
 e—"A" touches bar (91, 96).
 f—Panama surcharge double.
 a—"PAMANA" in double surcharge.
 b—"PANAWA" double surcharge.
 c—"PANAMA" 16 mm.
 d—"A" touches bar.
 f—"PANAMA" 1 1/2 mm. from bar.
 g—"Z" broken (32) 1 copy.
 h—"E" broken (33) 1 copy.
 i—"L" broken (42) 1 copy.
 g—"ZONE" antique type (26) (26).
 h—"L" broken (42) (42).
 i—"Z" broken (32) (32).
 j—"E" broken (33) (33).
 k—"N" broken (65) (65).

Fourth Printing—This printing comprised 20,000 stamps and was issued in June, 1906. The Panama surcharge is still that of the fourth type with the wide bar. The shade of the ink, however, is of a dark red differing considerably from that of all of the other printings of this stamp and is quite distinctive. All of the errors of this surcharge have been corrected so that there are no varieties of it.

There seem to have been two settings of the Canal Zone surcharge, both of which are used for this issue viz., the IV and V stages.

The list of this stamp is:
 10c yellow, dark red surcharge, wide bar.
 a—"CANAL" antique type (IV-V-26).
 b—"ZONE" antique type (IV-V-26).
 c—"L" broken (IV-42).
 d—"E" broken (IV-V-33).
 e—"Z" broken (IV-32).
 f—"N" broken (IV-65).
 g—"N" antique type (V-42).
 h—"Z" antique type (V-32).
 i—"N" antique type (V-65).

CHAPTER VII.—Fourth Series.

This series consists of two values, a two cents and an eight cents.

Two Cents.

This stamp is the same as the one used for the first series but has the Panama surcharge of the fourth type, and the surcharge is in two shades, carmine and vermilion, the latter being more common than the dark shade. It was issued 2sh, .65; 3sh, .95 cents.

 Error said to exist in Latin words.
J. A. GALBRAITH, 16 Beaver St., N. Y. City.

In December, 1905, and consisted of 150,000 stamps, including both shades of surcharge. A copy on a cover postmarked at Cristobal December 30, 1905, proves that it was in use there before January 1, 1906, which has been the date assigned for its issue.

It was necessary to use this stamp instead of the two cents permanent type because the supply of the latter was exhausted. Dr. Perry states that "The Zone postal authorities were opposed to doing this" (changing from one type to another) "as it has been the endeavor of the Director of Posts to conduct a simple and as clean an administration as possible, but no choice existed as stamps must be had, and the law provides that such shall be Panama stamps surcharged 'CANAL ZONE'."

The varieties of the Panama surcharge are three in number which are common to both shades, and one which exists only in the lighter shade. The three found in both shades are: An inverted "M" on the 24th and 29th stamps; "PANAMA" 16 mm. long at the left on Nos. 25 and 30, and "PANAMA" 1 1/2 mm. below the bar. The error found in the vermilion surcharge is an inverted Panama surcharge.

The Canal Zone varieties are those of the III stage of the setting and exist on both shades of the Panama surcharge. The list of this value is:

2c rose on 4th Panama, vermilion surcharge.
 a—"PANAWA" (Nos. 24, 29).
 b—"PANAMA" 16 mm. long (25, 30).
 c—"PANAMA" 1 1/2 mm. below bar. d—Bar at bottom.
 e—"Z" broken (32).
 f—"E" broken (33).
 g—"L" broken (42).
 h—"N" broken (65).
 i—"Z O N E" wrong font (48).
 2c rose on 4th Panama, carmine surcharge.
 a—"PANAWA" (24, 29).

A PINE TREE SHILLING FIND.

A coin that was already 124 years old when the Declaration of Independence was being signed, one of the rarest finds in many years in the line of old money, was the discovery some days ago in the form of a pine tree shilling, bearing the date 1652. It is, therefore, 264 years old. It was turned up in the garden patch of the estate of the late Gen. John Marshall Brown, at Falmouth Foreside (near Portland, Me.), and is now the property of Herbert Payson of Bowdoin street.

The pine tree shilling was the earliest colonial coin made in Massachusetts. It was coined in 1652, when a "mint house" was established at Boston and coins of the value of three pence, six pence and 12 pence were struck. The Encyclopedia Americana says of it:

"These coins were to be of the fineness of 'new sterling English money,' and every shilling was 'to weigh a threepenny troy weight and lesser pieces proportionately.' They were soon after in circulation, but owing to the excessive plainness of their finish they were found to be greatly exposed to 'washing and clipping.' To remedy this, in the same year it was decided that 'henceforth both shillings and smaller pieces shall have a double ring on either side, with the inscription Massachusetts and a tree in the center, on the one side, and New England and the date of the year on the other side.' In 1662 a twopenny piece was added to the series. These coins are known as the 'pine tree shillings,' etc.

"The Massachusetts mint existed about 34 years, but all the coins issued bear only the dates 1652 and 1662, the same dies being used probably throughout that period."—Portland (Me.) Telegram.

UNITED STATES.—J. M. Bartels notes the following new envelope varieties:—

CANADA.—Mrs. E. W. Oughtred sends us a used copy of the new King George 2c envelope of Canada. The design is the same as the King Edward envelope, except that the portraits are changed, of course, and the value in the circular tablet just below the portrait is printed "2 Cents?" instead of "Two Cents," as on the King Edward envelope.

Envelope.
Portrait of King George.
2c carmine on white.

FRANCE.—Offices in Morocco.—Stamps of 2 and 5 pesetas have been issued for use in the French Zone of Morocco. The current 2 and 5 franc stamps of French Morocco have been overprinted "Protectorat Francais" in small black type.

GERMANY.—Offices in Belgium.—The Philatelic Gazette says that the Governor General of German Belgium has issued a decree ordering that hereafter the German stamps used in Belgium will be surcharged "Cent." instead of "Centimes" or "C," and "F" instead of "Franc" or "Fr." The denominations to be surcharged "Cent." will be the 3, 5, 10, 25, 50 and 75 cent. and the higher denominations will be the 1F, 1F 25 cent. and 2F 50 cent.

MEXICO.—Linn's Stamp Collector says the 40c map and 1p light house stamp are to be superseded by other designs. There appears to be a scandal in connection with the issue of the Carranza stamps, the "pernicious activity" of the Postmaster General of the Carranza Government and his satellites having found expression in this stamp. Several colors have appeared, but the bulk are held for private sale. The makers of the catalogue need to be wary of these "made for collectors" stamps which are infinitely worse than Seebecks.

ROUMANIA.—D. C. Alexander has shown us a vertical pair of the 1b black with large head, imperforate. The stamps are separated with a heavy ruled line. They were postally used at Bucharest in June.

BY-PRODUCT PAINTS.

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing at Washington uses 20 to 25 miles of 22-inch cloth a day in wiping surplus ink from plates used in engraving stamps and bills. A cloth can be used only once. A company in Relee, Va., buys these rags, and from them, by a patent process, recovers 3,500,000 pounds of ink a year. This ink is in four basic colors of black, green, red and orange, which have all passed the severe tests of the Bureau of Engraving for purity and permanency of color.

From these four basic colors this company makes practically all shades of paste and, by addition of linseed oil and volatile driers, ready-mixed paints as well. The company is the sole owner of the patented process by which the color products are recovered and claims to be able to produce paint colors at lower prices than any other manufacturer.—Wall Street Journal.

THE STAMPS OF HAYTI.

By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

Year books are generally very valuable reference works, but they cannot cope with the mutations of the political life in the mutinous Black Republic on the mountainous isle of Hayti. Even the day-books, or daily newspapers, have to be content to let much Haytian blood flow under the bridge without record. Any would-be archivist of Haytian affairs would find it a restless and a difficult task. A Haytian President is here today and gone tomorrow. It seems that the politicians of Port-au-Paix only rise to the summit of the Presidential Palace that they may have the greatest possible fall.

If Haytian politics be so complicated on the spot, it will be recognised that they are vastly more difficult to follow and record at a distance. Who is the President of the Republic today? My latest year-book of political information tells me that the President is General Orestes Zamor, elected February 8th, 1914; but several chiefs of state have come and gone since Zamor gave place to Theodore. In this restless isle things may move so fast, and conditions are so volcanic, that it is never wise to say in England who is President; it is safer to speak or write of the latest occupant of that high, but unstable office of whom we have knowledge.

In most countries political upheavals are reflected to some extent in their stamp issues. This is the case with Hayti, but the Republic is peculiar in that its changes are so numerous and sudden that it would tax the energies of the most brilliant postal administration to keep pace with them in the way of new stamp issues. Some of the recent stars in the political firmament of this land of high mountains have flashed for so brief a spell that they have not even left us the impress of a surcharge.

It is a long time now since I endeavoured to put together in a little book a connected story of the stamps of Hayti, and now, after more than a decade, my indiscretion in publishing such a book arises to mock me. The Editor of the Stamp Collectors' Annual it was who brought the old book to light again, and asked me to add to its fifteen chapters some notes to bring the story of these stamps up to date. I enter upon the task with some misgivings, for since I wrote "The Postage Stamps of Hayti" (London, 1905), my leisure has been all too scanty to keep pace with the later issues.

First I may take the opportunity of directing students to newer works on the issues prior to 1904: My good friend, Captain Lionel Crouch, in whom my early booklet created a very keen enthusiasm for Haytian study, wrote a series of articles dealing with all the issues up to that of 1907-8 in the first volume of the Stamp Lover (1908-9), and he returned to the subject of the intermediate issues 1887-98 in a paper published in the Stamp Lover in September and December, 1912, (Vol. V. pp. 71, 164). These add much to the information in the booklet of 1905, and if, as I sincerely hope, Captain Crouch be spared to return victorious from the war, our oft-discussed project of a new and collaborated book on Haytian stamps may yet be accomplished.

Two other friends have contributed important studies on the "Liberty Head" issues, the stamps which are the most classic in their philatelic interest amongst Haytian issues. The articles in question are:

"The 'Liberty Head' stamps of Hayti. A paper read before the Royal Philatelic Society on December 21st, 1911." By L. L. R. Hausburg. London Philatelist XXI pp. 121, 138.

"The 'Liberty Head' stamps of Hayti." By Bertram W. H. Poole. The Postage Stamp, XIV pp. 116, 123.

My little book closed with the two issues of 1904. Two years later Nord Alexis was still President. 1906 was a prolific philatelic year in Hayti. The 20c orange and the 50c claret of the regular issue of 1904 were issued in March, surcharged for use as 1 and 2 centimes respectively, the surcharge consisting of a large figure and the word "centime (s)" in a double-lined hexagon (1c) or a double-lined heptagon (2c). Whether by accident, or "accidentally for the purpose," the 50c can be had with the 1 centime instead of the 2 centimes surcharge.

In the same year pending the issue of stamps of new designs on order from the American Bank Note Co., a further provisional issue was created in 1906 by overprinting the balance in stock of the stamps of President Sam's regime (issue of 1899). This was necessitated by the depreciation of the Haytian gourde, and from this date we get two currencies on the stamps, viz.—the paper gourde (of very small value), divided into 100 "centimes de gourde," and the gold piastre (equivalent to 4s 2d) divided into 100 "centimes de piastre." The surcharge is a two-lined oval, reading "SERVICE EXTERIEURE PROVISoire—EN PIASTRES FORTE." All values received the overprint in red, including both issues of the 1, 2 and 5c.

The new issue of 1906 from the workshops of the American Bank Note Co. comprises four denominations in "centimes de gourde," for domestic postage, and twelve in "centimes de piastre" for foreign postage. They are all engraved in taille-douce, and perforated 12, as is usual with the productions of this firm.

The subjects depicted are:

FOR INLAND POSTAGE.
1c de gourde, blue (President Nord Alexis).
2c de gourde, orange (Arms).
3c de gourde, slate (President Nord Alexis).
7c de gourde, green (Arms).

FOR FOREIGN POSTAGE.
1c de piastre, yellow-green (Arms).
2c de piastre, vermilion (President Nord Alexis).
3c de piastre, sepia (The iron Market Hall, Port-au-Prince).
4c de piastre, carmine-lake (Castle of Sans Souci).
5c de piastre, deep-blue (President Nord Alexis).
7c de piastre, slate-grey (Independence Palace at Gonaives).
8c de piastre, deep rose (Catholic Seminary, Port-au-Prince).
10c de piastre, orange (Catholic Church, Port-au-Prince).

The volcanic republic erupted again in 1908, a year of rumours and realities of revolutions. But the rebellion which succeeded in driving Nord Alexis out of his palace took place towards the end of the year. Legitimate was made Provisional President in December, but we have no trace of him on the stamps of the period, and his rule was short, for General Antoine Simon was elected President on December 17th, 1908. By 1910 his portrait replaced that of Nord Alexis on the 1c de gourde (For Inland Postage).

5c de piastre (For Foreign Postage).
2c de piastre (For Foreign Postage).
20c de piastre (For Foreign Postage).

In 1911, the colours of the 2c de gourde, and 3c de piastre in the types of 1906 were changed to yellow and yellow-orange respectively.

President Simon had a lively term of office, quelling revolutions at the rate of several per annum, and narrowly escaping a war with the Republic of San Domingo. In 1911 (August) Simon had to seek refuge in flight, and Cincinnatus Leconte was elected President August 16, 1911. He met his death in August of the following year (1912) in a fire caused by the explosion of ammunition stored in the cellars of the presidential palace. His death took place prior to the issue of the only stamps bearing his portrait, viz—

1912. FOR INLAND POSTAGE.

2c de gourde, orange.

FOR FOREIGN POSTAGE.

5c de piastre, deep blue.

In 1913 the colours of seven stamps in the 1906 types were changed to 4c de piastre, olive.

7c de piastre, red.
8c de piastre, olive green.
10c de piastre, red-brown.
15c de piastre, yellow.
50c de piastre, yellow.
1 piastre, vermillion.

Of Tancred Auguste and Michel Oreste, who in turn succeeded to the Presidency, there is only the solitary 7c de piastre with the former's portrait amongst our philatelic records, but General Orestes Zamor, elected February 8, 1914, made up for their deficiency by overprinting almost all the available stamps with his initials and the date of his coming into power. Although three or more Presidents have come and gone since Zamor filled the high but hazardous office, it is still premature to attempt a complete list of the "GL. O. Z. 7 FEV. 1915" overprints, but the lists of those known already fill nearly a page in Gibbons' and Scott's catalogues, so I shall not take up more of the Annual's space to go into a detailed list of them now. Zamor's portrait on the 1, 5, and 10c de piastre stamps appeared in 1915, and within the past few weeks the 50c claret of the 1904 issue has been received with a new surcharge of a large numeral in a rectangle.

I have heard little of Hayti since last summer. Now that the greater part of "civilisation," and all the "barbarian" Empires of Central Europe are at war, the troubles of this rebellious little republic can claim little of our attention. For those who like to try to keep pace with the events which count in the Republic, let me conclude by reporting that Zamor was succeeded by Theodore in 1914, and Theodore by Guillaume early in 1915. The latter, or his regime, was said to be responsible for the massacre of 160 political prisoners, including the ex-President Zamor in the first half of last year, and he himself was dragged out of the French legation and shot dead by a mob of infuriated Haytians on July 28 last. Rosalvo Bobo was then proclaimed President, and he may be President to this day.

But, on the other hand, he may not!—Stamp Collectors' Annual.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—E. A. Steiner sends us a copy of "Mexico," a price-list of the stamps of that country issued by the C. H. Mekeel Stamp & Publishing Co., at St. Louis. Mr. Steiner asks "How old is this book?" We cannot state the exact year of publication but presume it was issued in 1896 or 1897. The book lists and illustrates not only Mexican postage but revenues and post cards as well.

—H. F. Colman of Washington, D. C., was a visitor to the Hub during the past week and on Tuesday, July 11, it was the pleasure of the managing editor of the WEEKLY to meet him. By the kindness of A. W. Batchelder, formerly manager of the New England Stamp Co., an automobile trip along the North Shore was greatly enjoyed.

—"Dealers are warned against sending approval selections to Barros, P. R. I think there is a gang there as in Brooklyn, N. Y. I have several selections out there and am unable to get money or stamps. List of names for postage."—A. A. JONES, Herrin, Ill.

—Greetings have been received at the WEEKLY office during the past week from Dr. L. A. Micheloni at Montevideo.

—C. A. Ploch informs us that a letter addressed to Charles Murphy, 212 E. 22 St., Chicago, Ill., has been returned marked "Unclaimed." He will be glad to know Mr. Murphy's correct address.

—"I am interested in the notice in your paper of July 1, that O. Kendall had had unsatisfactory dealings with the MacMillan Stamp Co., 4320 Grant St., Omaha, Nebr. Now, I have been unable to collect an account against the Northern Stamp Co., same address, and have been informed by a stamp dealer in Omaha that the company (Northern Stamp Co.) is a fraud."—FRED L. PAULY.

—From Mr. Lowell J. Ragatz, Prairie du Sac, Wisconsin, we have received word of the operations of one Rayford T. Goode, Salem, Oregon, who using the address of 1136 Jefferson St., calls himself variously the Precancel Co., the Oregonian Stamp Co., etc. The case will be turned over to the post office department.

—If too much trouble to procure a money order when you renew your subscription or purchase books from our list, remit in stamps 5c to 15c denominations. We shall appreciate the favor.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from W. F. Ferguson and C. M. Breder.

—We wish to correct a statement made in our issue of July 8. The C. E. Hussman Co. states that B. O. Hinckey, whose address they desire to know, was not U. S. Consul at Santiago, Cuba, but the last address he gave was in care of the U. S. Consul at Santiago, Cuba.

This stamp was issued November, 1905, and the issue numbered 20,000.

It is an altogether different stamp from the preceding ones of this value. It is of the third Panama type, as the fourth type had by this time become exhausted. The "8cts." is a new type. The "8" is taller and more slender than in the former stamp of this value and only one type of it is found. The letters "cts." are also smaller and thinner and a period appears after the letter "s."

The Panama surcharge was applied to a horizontal half sheet at a time, and shows the many varieties of this third Panama type, and besides these, which it is unnecessary to enumerate here, we find the bar at the bottom, an extra bar at the bottom and no bar at all.

The Canal Zone surcharge presents the same varieties as the preceding stamp, viz.: The broken letters and the Zone in wrong font, or the III stage of the setting.

The list as usual in the 3rd Panama type is rather long. It is 8c on 50c bistre-brown (Panama reading up) with period after "8cts."

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

Notes on Controls. Part II.—Edwardian and Georgian Periods. By R. B. Rowell. This book is published from the office of Stamp Collecting and forms one of the series issued by this publication. The price is 12c. As the name indicates, it is a study of the control letters and numbers upon English stamps issued in the two periods indicated. Undoubtedly the book would prove of great interest to the specialist in the stamps of Great Britain.

PHILATELY'S ROLL OF HEROES.

It was inevitable that in the long list of casualties resulting from the recent naval battle in the North Sea there would be some more names to be added to the philatelists' roll of honour. Amongst the philatelists who surrendered their lives in the service of King and country in the North Sea battle was Lieut.-Commander Ralph L. Clayton of H. M. S. Queen Mary, an active member of the Junior Philatelic Society. The deep sympathy of many philatelic friends will go out to Sir Thomas Esmonde, Bart., another member of the Junior Philatelic Society, who mourns the loss of his son, Midshipman John H. S. Esmonde, who was in H. M. S. Invincible. Yet another member of the J. P. S., and a keen student of modern British stamps, Staff-Paymaster Percy Cruise, was believed to have been on H. M. S. Hampshire, the vessel which was sunk while conveying the late Earl Kitchener and his staff on his special mission to Russia. Mr. Cruise was an occasional contributor to the Stamp Lover.—Postage Stamp.

I make a specialty of ENTIRE ENVELOPES of the U. S. and Colonies, and have many unlisted varieties. I send out selections at net prices. The envelopes recently issued, and now being issued, are very interesting to collect. There are numerous dies, knives, watermarks, etc., badly mixed up. There seems to be a lack of the usual system in issuing them, which, no doubt is temporary. I can make very low and attractive net prices on current and old issues. GET THEM NOW WHEN THEY CAN BE OBTAINED CHEAPLY. Send your want list and I will quote prices or send on approval. I make up packets of different issues of envelopes to order. Let me know what you want and I will be glad to quote prices. Don't forget that I am HEADQUARTERS for the dies of the 2c envelope 1903 issue, usually called types.

My FOREIGN ENTIRE AND CUT SQUARES are priced by Bright's latest catalogue, —55c Postfree,—and I give 50% discount from these prices. Ask for the 1c line,—these are Foreign Cut Squares sold in great variety at 1c each net, irrespective of catalogue value.

U. S. AND COLONIES CUT SQUARES. These I price by Scott's and give 50% discount in all cases. Just at present shades of U. S. Postage are very popular. You can make just as attractive a collection of shades of Cut Squares. I have a fine line of these. I also have many dies, oddities, etc., not listed by Scott, all of which I price at net prices. I would be glad to send on approval to any one interested.

I sell U. S. POSTAGE at net prices when sending from want-lists. However, I have many desirable sheets which I send out at 50% discount.

ROMANI 15 BANI ISSUES, 1879-80.

By PHIL DENGLER.

Very little or rather superficial attention has been given these interesting stamps. Kohl's Handbook lists them as follows: 15 bani venetian-red Type I (Scott No. 70a dull red) 15 bani flesh red Type II and III (Scott's No. 70 rose red).

It states also that all values of the 1879 issue were printed from the 1876 plates with the exception of No. 52 that is the 15 bani value. This contention is entirely erroneous and misleading. These two stamps represent two distinct issues, and printed from two different plates.

The first issue of the 15 bani 1879 (dull red) was printed from the original plates,—comparison of these two printings will prove it. There is not one single deviation of any line or design in the later printing.

The second issue (rose red) the so-called Type II and III (May, 1880) was always considered as a retouched type of Type I, but close examination proves beyond doubt that this stamp was printed from another plate than the previous issue.

The discovery or detection of a plate defect made it possible to trace the original plate used for this printing and this plate is none other than 30 bani plate of 1878. The only alteration made was the removal of the numerals of value and the insertion of new ones. Judging from the great number of varieties of these numerals, it is evident that they were inserted singly in a certain number of clichés, perhaps in every one on the plate.

The correct number of types is unknown so far and only further research will fill this gap in philatelic knowledge.

The only plausible explanation for the use and alteration of the 30 bani plate for the 15 bani value can be found in the following facts: First, that the original 15 bani plate did not exist and was perhaps destroyed. Secondly, the new plates in preparation with change of design (July, 1880) were not finished, and Last, the 30 bani plate wasn't needed any more, through the discontinuance of the value (1879 when foreign letter rate was reduced to its former rate.)

This printing could, therefore, be considered as a provisional issue in circulation May and June, 1880. Another newly discovered fact is that the 30 bani plate itself is an alteration of the original 5 bani plate of 1876. The same plate defect led to this discovery, besides the fact that the Romanian Printing Office was hardly in a position at that time to order new plates in Paris and was equally unable to have any made in their own country. Another fact was that this value was needed urgently, following the increase of foreign letter rate for the purpose of raising revenue after the costly war 1877-78. (Nearly a war stamp.)

This all important plate defect is found on these values (5, 15, 30 bani) only and can be traced to its origin on Paris proofs. The fully developed defect is found already on the 5 bani Paris Print, 5 bani Bucharest Print (76) on the 30 bani 78 and the 15 bani 79 (May, 1880) Type II proving that all these values were printed from one original plate and altered only to suit the purpose of immediate need.

The plate defect distinctly visible is found in the upper right triangle, the longest vertical line (next to outside border) is curved toward left forming a shape of a book.

Another plate defect of the 5 bani, 1876 broken rosette in lower corner, although occurring perhaps but once in the plate, is found also in the 30 bani and the 15 bani.

A third plate defect which is mostly found on the 30 bani and 15 bani is the shortened vertical line of letter R in Romana not reaching level of bottom line.

There is still a great field open for the specialist in the plating and research of types in the so-called Type II of the 15 bani of (May), 1880.

POSTAGE STAMPS OF THE CANAL ZONE.

By WILLIAM EVANS.

CHAPTER VIII.—Fifth Series.

This series consists of three values which are one cent, two cents and eight cents.

One Cent on Twenty Centavos, Violet.

First Printing—In regard to this issue Dr. Perry says: "These stamps became necessary on account of exhaustion of the supply of 1 cent and 2 cents stamps both in Canal Zone and Republic of Panama post offices."

"The new permanent set for Panama has been promised for some months, but delay in ordering the same resulted in a complete exhaustion of stamps of these denominations, of both the new Panama and the old Colombian design."

"The Canal Zone authorities desired that the 1 cent and 2 cents of the Republic of Panama stamps be furnished, and requested the Panama authorities to have a sufficient amount printed and forwarded. This they did not do, as the complete series of stamps for Panama, in new design, had already been ordered, and they did not want more printings made of the 1 cent and 2 cents. The Panama authorities offered the 1 cent and 2 cents provisionals that they had prepared to meet their postal needs for stamps of these denominations, but the surcharging has been so poorly done that the Zone authorities would not accept them, and, after several days' delay and much correspondence, the old Colombian stamps were furnished. All the surcharging, Panama, bars and value, was done by the Canal Zone authorities."

"This type of Canal Zone is entirely different from that on previous issues, as a new setting was made, the word "CANAL ZONE" being smaller and the letters being closer together. The stamps were surcharged in panes of 50. The quantities printed are: 2c, 200,000; 1c, 100,000.

"Both a double and inverted surcharge have been detected in both denominations. The stamps are carefully examined, and I doubt if any errors pass in circulation. Still such may happen, and I record such as have been detected:

1c—Inverted surcharge, 50, 1 sheet.
1c—Double surcharge, 50, 1 sheet.
2c—Inverted surcharge, 50, 1 sheet.
2c—Double surcharge, 50, 1 sheet."

None of these errors having been reported from any other source it is fair to presume that none escaped detection, but that all were destroyed.

A.—The space between "1 ct." and bar is 1 1/2 mm. Figure "1" is thick with long serif and long thin foot.

This stamp was issued in April, 1906. It was printed upon the twenty centavos Colombian stamp of 1892, and a horizontal half sheet was printed at a time. The whole surcharge, "PANAMA," bars, value and "CANAL ZONE" was set up to print at one impression instead of the "CANAL ZONE" being printed separately as in the former series. The surcharging in this instance is done in black ink, with a bar at both the top and the bottom of the stamp. The word "PANAMA" reads upward at the left and downward at the right and is in small capitals. Between these two words is the "CANAL ZONE" and below this near the lower bar the value. The type used for the "CANAL ZONE" differs from that used on all of the previous issues, and is of the style used in the errors of the third and fourth printings of the third series, i. e., the wrong font "CANAL" of the 48th stamp of those printings. The "1" of "1ct." is thick, with a long, thin foot, and rather long serif, the upper side of which is concave and the lower one horizontal. The "ct." are in small pica type and followed by a period.

Measurements. The bars cover ten stamps or a horizontal row and are 2 mm. wide.

The "PANAMA" is 10 1/2 x 1 1/2 mm.; "CANAL" is 12 x 2 mm.; "ZONE" is 9 x 2 mm.; and "1ct." including the period, is 8 1/2 x 2 mm.

The Russian stamps used provisionally for small currency, 10, 15, & 20k (types of the Romanov issue but on thick card paper with Russian Arms & Inscription on reverse) are one of the most remarkable Philatelic products of the War and form a unique set which should be in every collection. It is stated that their export from Russia is now prohibited, as they are looked upon as coin. I offer the set of 3 values unused for38

The remarks as to possible breaking or wearing away of these accents apply here as in the first printing.

The "CANAL ZONE" and "PANAMA" measurements are the same as in the first printing. The "1ct." is 8x2 mm.

and in the upper half of the sheet it is 3 mm. from the bar above, while in the lower half it is 4 mm.

The error on the 49th and 99th stamps is in the space between the "1" and

"ct.", it being 1 3/4 mm. instead of 2 3/4

mm.

On the 36th and 86th stamps there is a wider space between the "Z" and "O" of "ZONE" than is found on the other stamps of the sheet. The list of this printing therefore is:

1c on 20c violet.

a—Accent on one or more "A's" of "PAN-AMA."

b—"1" and "ct" 1 3/4 mm. apart (49, 99).

c—"Z" and "O", widely spaced (36, 86).

Third Printing—This printing was issued in September, 1906, and consisted of 300,000 stamps. The surcharge is as in the former printings in black, and the spacings are the same as in the second printing, but the "1" of "ct" is the same as that of the first printing.

Third Printing—This printing was issued

PHILA. STAMP CO.

21 SOUTH 17TH ST. PHILA.

Nos. 36 and 86; and the "1" and "ct" 2 mm. apart instead of 3 mm. on Nos. 2 and 52, while on Nos. 1 and 51 the space is 2 1/2 mm. If a whole sheet was printed at one impression it seems strange that these small differences should be found in exactly the same position on the lower half of the sheet, as they occupy on the upper half, and without further evidence we should conclude that only a half sheet was printed, and that the sheet was then pushed forward upon the bed of the press and the remaining half printed.

There are, however, varieties which appear only once on the sheet and if the above method had been pursued these varieties should have appeared upon the complementary stamps. On the 49th stamp there is a wider space between the "P" and the first "A" of

"PANAMA" than is found on any other stamp of the sheet, on the 50th stamp

the space between the "C" and "A" of

"CANAL" is 4 mm. instead of 1 mm., and the "ct." is on a higher level than the

"1"; and on No. 100 the word "CANAL" is 13 mm. long instead of 12 mm.

What really occurred was that the upper half of the sheet was printed first, and then instead of sliding it forward on the press and printing the lower half at once, it was removed and the whole lot of 3000 sheets was printed on the upper half before any of the surcharging was done on the lower halves of the sheets. During the printing of the upper halves and before they had been finished, the spacing of the

"C A" of "CANAL" was discovered and before the lower half was printed the error was corrected, and the 49th stamp being contiguous to this one the spacing of that also was corrected. The other errors being some distance removed were not discovered and show in the lower half of the sheet. The spacing on the 50th stamp was as we know not made absolutely correct but it was so much improved that a millimeter scale is needed to detect that it is not correct, since it is 13 mm. long instead of 12 mm.

The accented "A's" in "PANAMA" are more numerous in this printing than in either of the others, there being seventy-two stamps on which they occur, and from a clearly printed sheet are taken the following combinations:

1—On 1st at left, none at right; Nos. 1, 8,

18, 22, 26, 40, 44, 51, 58, 72, 76, 90, 94,

2—On 2nd at left, none at right 17, 29, 47,

67, 79, 97.

3—On 3rd at left, none at right 4, 10, 20,

24, 54, 60, 70, 74.

4—On 1st and 3rd at left; none at right

32, 82.

7—On 2nd at right; none at left 14, 35,

9—On all at right; none at left 13, 16, 48,

63, 66, 98, 21, 71.

10—On 1st and 3rd at right; none at left

13—On 1st and 2nd left; 2nd and 3rd right

15—On 3rd at left; 2nd and 3rd at right

16—On 2nd and 3rd left; 2nd at right 27,

17—On 2nd and 3rd at left; 1st and 2nd

at right 33, 83.

As in the former printings these accents are very liable to changes.

There is in this printing a shifted surcharge having both bars at the top of the stamp and also showing but one bar at the top.

The list for this printing is:

1c on 20c violet.

a—Accent on one or more "A's" of

"PANAMA."

b—"1" and "ct" 1 3/4 mm. apart (49, 99).

c—"Z" and "O", widely spaced (36, 86).

EDITORIAL.

Slightly—We have just published a little book, "Range Tales," by Edwin B. Hill, Mesa, Arizona, that is as handsome a production as can be imagined. The price, fifteen cents, is not in keeping with this book of tales, and we are more anxious to circulate it as examples of the best philatelic fiction ever written, rather than to profit from it in a material sense. The edition is a small one and in reality should "sell on sight."

* * *

Interposes—We have received word from a source of information that we respect, that our statement that appeared in an issue several weeks ago to the effect that the wine and cordial stamps would probably be retained under the provisions of the new revenue act is to be accepted with reserve. First of all, the treasury department is anxious to get rid of the three sets of revenue stamps which were to have a term of existence for thirteen months only, it was first thought. While the elimination of the documentary and proprietary stamps would mean much, yet the withdrawal of the wine and cordial stamps would have to be accomplished to achieve complete satisfaction. The internal revenue department does not like the green set because it is associated with bother and worse, in the minds of the officers, as the collection of the taxes by means of the wines and cordials stamps has almost become a farce. The percentage of stamps actually used to the number that should be is so small as to leave no room for doubt that the evasion of the payment of this tax is general. The department knows that it is being hoodwinked, and it happens through force of circumstances that no sustained steps have been taken to instill a respect for the law in the hearts of the criminal or careless. If, as reported, the tax on wines and cordials will not be withdrawn, it is incumbent upon the department to find a surer way to secure the payment of the tax than by a stamp tax illy enforced.

Change—A reader in a moralizing mood says that he sees few advertisers to-day who were in the business twenty years ago. It is true that the complexion of the advertising pages of the stamp paper changes in a generation, but if it is thought that the condition is one peculiar to philately, a glance at the firm names in any business twenty years ago and now will prove that philately does not monopolize this characteristic.

* * *

Dubious—A man who was a collector died, leaving a widow who was not interested in stamps. Scarcely had the husband been buried before "an odd-appearing man" made a call to ask if the stamp collection that belonged to the decedent was for sale. He said that he knew what the collection contained and would give fifty dollars for it. The widow was not favorably impressed by her visitor, and resented his intrusion,—but he would have got the collection for fifty dollars if an old friend had not appeared at the opportune moment and said, when he saw how the land lay, that a thousand dollars would be a fair price for the albums. Exit the first caller. The all too enterprising gentleman was on the fringe of philately in the town, but he was within "the black of a finger-nail" of obtaining the collection. It is a good idea to give the family an idea of the value of the stamp collection, especially when its value mounts up into the hundreds of dollars.

* * *

Ignorance—Cosme Hinojosa, Mexico's Postmaster-General, as the most consistent exponent of the multiplicity of unnecessary issues to-day, is being soundly smacked in the stamp papers, and if the aforesaid Hinojosa is made aware of this verbal castigation, he will be genuinely puzzled by it all, we think. From our observation of the gentleman, whom we have met, we believe that he feels that he is proceeding along approved and accepted lines in furnishing stamps for philatelic consumption and that he is the benefactor of the collecting public. It has probably never entered Hinojosa's head that he has overstepped the bounds of philatelic righteousness, and if he were in a position to realize that the disregard of philatelists has been brought upon himself, he would say that he was trying to befriend them in spite of themselves. Of course, Hinojosa profits; but is not enterprise to be rewarded? he might ask.

* * *

Excess—We have been receiving so much material on the subject of the Sonora stamps, pro and con, that it would be fatal to stage the conflict in our columns at this time of year. The combatants might be overcome by the heat, and the onlookers might dislocate their jaws by yawning.

Unfathomable—If there is one thing of which to be sure, it is the lack of certain knowledge as to the future of this or that class of stamps. We remember how the old Society for the Suppression of Speculative Stamps placed, over twenty years ago, certain stamps under the ban, and some of these stamps are decided collecting favorites to-day and move in the best philatelic circles. So we do not know what verdict on the recent Mexican issues the future will return. The unexpected happens so often in philately that the proverb is fully justified. Comparatively few years ago, it was gravely said by some of the solid stamp papers that collectors would make no distinction between the single CA watermarked British Colonies and the multiple when the news of the change of watermark was first heard. In 1899, when the newspaper set was sold by the government at five dollars each, it was shown by careful calculation that the set would have a minimum value of six dollars. While philately affords a setting for a go-as-you-please contest that sometimes degenerates into a scramble, yet its inherent strength compels respect for all who engage in the pursuit. The man who knows most about stamps is slowest to prophesy, and the predictions of those who are not in the best positions to anticipate are of small moment. So we come to one of the attractions of philately, which is the necessity of working out to a great extent one's own salvation.

Cold—A collector who works with his stamps during the summer says that he uses one of the compartments in his big refrigerator for his albums. Consequently, he has no fear of softening gum during the hot nights. He asks that we hand the idea to Mr. McCray, the refrigerator man of Kendallville, Indiana, who is widely known as a philatelist, for such use as he may see fit. The time may come when there will be a little ice box in every philatelist's home.

A. P. S. CONVENTION PROGRAM.

The A. P. S. convention committee held a meeting last week and decided on the following program for the week of the convention, August 21-25.

The Boston Society will hold a special meeting at the Bellevue on Monday evening, August 21, at 8 o'clock, which will take the form of an informal reception to allow the members to get acquainted with the visitors.

Tuesday forenoon the convention sessions open at the Bellevue. In the afternoon a trolley trip is planned, going first to Waltham where there will be an opportunity to inspect the Waltham watch factory, after which the trolley will be resumed and Concord and Lexington visited with a short time in each place to see the points of historical interest.

Wednesday afternoon there will be a harbor trip as guests of the City of Boston. In the evening the firm of B. L. Drew & Co. has arranged to hold an auction at the Society rooms.

Thursday afternoon train will be taken for Salem, where the visitors will be met by automobiles and taken on a ride along the North Shore, returning to the Salem Willows or Marblehead for a shore dinner. Return to Boston will be made by train.

Friday it is expected, if a sufficient number of visitors remain over, to hold an all-day trip to Plymouth, going by boat and returning by train. During the forenoons, while the convention is in session, small parties of ladies will be escorted to different points of interest in or near Boston, in charge of some of the local ladies.

COMMUNICATION.

To THE EDITOR:

It may no longer be of interest to you, or the readers of the WEEKLY, but I have been waiting for some contributors to inform you that the Canadian stamps "overprinted" with a large "R" in oval were used on registered letters, and the "overprint" will be found to have been applied with a rubber stamp. I have seen many registered letters and packages bearing this insignia, and as often as not it was used to cancel the stamps on the article.

Very truly yours,
H. A. THATCHER.

FULTON STAMP CO., 102 W. 42nd Street, NEW YORK

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF CANADA.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

CHAPTER XIII—Continued.

While the idea of issuing special stamps to commemorate the Diamond Jubilee was laudable enough, the restrictions applied to their sale and the inclusion of unnecessary high values was,
 to put it mildly, an official faux pas. It has been asserted that the values from $2 to $5 inclusive were quite unnecessary as it was not possible to use either of these denominations in prepayment of any legitimate postal charges. But it was also pointed out that as there was no limit to the weight of a package sent by first class mail a heavy letter could easily call for more postage than $5.
 Indeed, in his article in the Monthly
Journal, Mr. Donald A. King stated:—

At a post office with which I am somewhat familiar the posting of letters and parcels for the United Kingdom and other Postal Union countries that called for postage from $1.00 upwards was, at certain periods, a matter of daily, often hourly, occurrence, so much so that the only comment it excited was from the clerk cancelling, who would audibly wish that there were higher values in the permanent issue than 50c and thus save time cancelling the entire length of a large envelope.

Within my own experience there has been more than one case where a letter has been mailed on which there was not space to place the stamps; an entire sheet (100) of 15 cents stamps was pasted on, obliterated, and then another with some odd values completed the prepayment; and the case can be recalled of a letter on which $40.00 postage was prepaid. While the Jubilee set was in everyday use the sight of the higher values was quite common on any mail for the United Kingdom and Europe, shipping and commercial houses prepaying their mail with the "dollar" values simply as a matter of convenience.

But though there may have been isolated instances in which high values could be used with convenience their very limited use is obvious from the fact that the Canadian government has always, both before and since the emission of the Jubilee set, found a 50c value high enough for all practical purposes. Had postal requirements called for such constant use of high values as Mr. King's remarks lead us to infer it is hardly likely that, when the remainders were finally withdrawn and destroyed in 1905, out of a comparatively small total issue of 25,000 of each of the dollar stamps 94 of the $1, 66 of the $2, 1,835 of the $3, 2,013 of the $4, and 1,240 of the $5 would be returned and destroyed.

The design is the same for all denominations and, as we have already stated, is a very handsome one. The stamps are of extra large size and show two portraits of Queen Victoria. That on the left, with the date "1837" below it, is identical with the portrait shown on the old 12d and 7½d stamps, while the one on the right, with date "1897" below, is from a full length portrait painted in 1886 by Professor von Angelo of Vienna. This shows the Queen in her robes of state as she appeared on the assumption of the title "Empress of India." Above the portraits is CANA-DA POSTAGE and between these words is the so-called Tudor Crown of Great Britain with the letters "V. R. I."

 below—these latter, of course, standing for Victoria Regina Imperatrix, (Victoria, Queen and Empress). At the base the value is shown on a straight tablet and in the angles, and between the two dates, are maple leaf ornaments.
 These Jubilee stamps were printed by the American Bank Note Company, who had recently secured the contract for the printing of stamps, bank notes, etc., for the Dominion. In the Montreal
Herald for January, 1897, the following particulars are given with regard to the change of printers:—

The contract for the Government engraving, for which tenders were called two months ago, has been awarded to the American Bank Note Company, of New York, for a period of five and a quarter years. The contract is worth $600,000, and may be renewed for a similar period. The work consists of engraving the Dominion bank notes, revenue and postage stamps, postal cards, etc. At present the British American Bank Note Company, better known as Burland and Company, formerly of Montreal, have the contract. They tendered this time, but the New York company was the lowest. The New York company is one of the largest and best known in the world. The firm engraves notes for some of the banks in Canada, including the Canadian Bank of Commerce. Under the terms of the new contract, the Company will require to establish a place in Ottawa to do the work, where the Government can have supervision of it. As compared with the prices paid under the Burland contract, the Government will effect a saving of $120,000 by the new contract.

The stamps were, like all Canadian stamps, produced by the line-engraved process, the values from ½c to 5c inclusive being printed in sheets of 100 in ten horizontal rows of ten, and the other denominations in sheets of 50 in ten horizontal rows of five stamps each.
 The only marginal inscription consists of the name OTTAWA followed by the number of the plate. This inscription appears at the top of the sheets only—above the centre of the fifth and sixth stamps in the case of the ½, 1, 2, 3 and 5c values and above the third stamp on the values from 6c to $5. The name is in thin Roman capitals, 2½ mm. high, the total length of the inscriptions being about 40 mm. The following are the numbers of the plates used:—

½ cent, plate 9.
 1 cent, plates 5, 6, 15, 16.
 2 cents, plate 7, 8.
 3 cents, plates 1, 2, 3, 4, 11, 12, 13, 14, 28, 29, 30, 31.
 5 cents, plate 10.
 6 cents, plate 17.
 8 cents, plate 20.
 10 cents, plate 19.
 15 cents, plate 18.
 20 cents, plate 21.
 50 cents, plate 23.

UNITED STATES.—In No. 1330, we noted the current 3c in a pronounced ultramarine shade. Allan Greeley now sends us another specimen of the same shade. He says the stamp was taken from a catalogue wrapper which had been on a desk exposed to a bright light for a short while. He doesn't know whether it was received in the ultramarine shade, or has been since changed. Therefore it may be well to reserve judgment on this variety, until some one is able to buy it at the postoffice in mint condition.

E. W. Murray has shown us three of the Railroad Register stamps recently called to the attention of collectors. These are the Kansas City Southern, Queen & Crescent Route, and the Missouri Pacific Railway. As these are to be used "Positively for Company business only," they hardly come under the head of postage stamps, though possibly of similar character to the Railway stamps of Great Britain.

J. William Harmon reports having found a 2c stamp of the 1894-95 issue with Triangle III in the left corner, while the right corner has no lines at all in the triangle. Imperfect inking or a worn plate might account for this freak. The stamp is postally used.

AUSTRALIA.—The following from the Melbourne Age indicates that the warning regarding the threatened shortage of stamp paper was not as remote as some of the philatelic wits supposed:

The threatened shortage of postage stamp paper is still a serious problem in the Postal department. Yesterday, Deputy Postmaster General C. E. Bright issued an appeal to the public generally, and to merchants and business firms in particular, to assist the department in its efforts to minimise the possibility of a shortage in postage stamp paper by availing themselves of the facilities afforded by the department in regard to the impressing of stamps on envelopes, etc. The facilities offered in this connection are as follows:—

"Postage stamps to the value of either one halfpenny, one penny or twopence may be impressed on envelopes, envelopes combined with sheets of notepaper, newspaper wrappers, or circulars with reply halves intended to be used as orders for publications, goods, etc. Not fewer than 500 envelopes, wrappers, or such circulars of any one size must be supplied by the public at one time, and the paper for the wrappers must be in sheets, and not cut in slips. Coloured envelopes, or wrappers, approved of by the Deputy Postmaster-General may be accepted for impression, but envelopes or wrappers too thin to bear the impression of the die will not be accepted. Envelopes or wrappers provided by the Postmaster-General's department, with the proper stamp thereon, will be substituted for any which may be spoiled in the operation of stamping.

"The charges, which must be paid in advance, are:—The value of the stamps, and 2 shillings per 1000, or portion of a thousand, for the work of stamping. Envelopes, etc., for stamping will be accepted at any post office. Registration envelopes, impressed with 4d stamps (representing 3d registration fee and 1d postage) are sold at the rate of 4 1/2d each. Ordinary envelopes impressed with 1d stamps are sold in bundles of five at 5 1/2d per bundle."

The following is from the Australian Philatelist:—

"A new printing of the 4d King George has appeared in a very pale yellow shade instead of orange. A twelve months' supply has been printed. The old colour being exhausted, every effort was made to get an orange, but the colours available were so bad that recourse was had to the yellow only. It is possible that trouble will arise with other colours as soon as fresh supplies are required.

"The 2sh Kangaroo has been issued on the new paper with narrow crown. 1916. Adhesives.

4d pale yellow. King George. 2sh brown. Kangaroo.

"The 1d and 3d Postage Due are now appearing on a thinner paper perforated 14.

"Military Letter Cards, for use by the public to the Australian Imperial Forces have been issued with six lines of inscription, for regimental number, rank, full name, brigade or unit, squadron, battery or company; and regiment or corps. A note is added, 'Above address sufficient. Additions may delay delivery.'"

FALKLAND ISLANDS.—The Schweizer Briefmarken Zeitung has received specimens of the 1d in a changed colour, brick-red instead of vermilion, and the 6d, which up to the present has been orange, they have now received in deep orange colour.

MALTA.—The Schweizer Briefmarken Zeitung says that the 1d King George has appeared in a changed colour, scarlet, instead of rose.

NEW ZEALAND.—The Australian Philatelist says that the inland postal card had been issued several months ago, impressed with a 1d stamp in lieu of the 1/2d King Edward, issued to cover the additional 1/2d war tax. A letter card impressed with the current 1 1/2d King George stamp was issued about the same time.

RUSSIA.—The West-End Philatelist says that the 5r value of the Romanoff series is in future to be issued bi-coloured.

SALVADOR.—The C. E. Hussman Stamp Co. has shown us a new set of provisional stamps from this Republic, the 1915 National Palace series in a single color on bank safety paper, brown tint, having been overprinted "S" in black in large Roman type. This appears in the vacant space just under the "U. P. U." By the way, this 1915 set, like the King George set of New Zealand, has not yet been listed by Scott, nor does Scott mention the fact that Salvador Nos. 415 and 416 are printed on the bank safety paper, with a brown tint. The stamps seen with the "S" are the 1c gray green, 2c red, 5c ultramarine, 6c pale blue, 10c yellow, 12c brown, 50c violet, and 100c black brown, all used.

TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO.—The Australian Philatelist says the 1/2d value has come to hand in a paler shade.

The accented "A's" in "PANAMA" appear on the same stamps and in the same combinations as in the third printing of the one cent on twenty centavos, the same errors are also found as are found in that printing except those of the uncorrected setting, and are those of the corrected setting which were used in printing the lower half of the sheet of the one cent on twenty centavos with, of course, the value changed. The errors are: the last "A" of "PANAMA" is an inverted "V" on Nos. 7 and 57; the "N" of "PANAMA" is inverted on Nos. 2 and 52; the "zo" of "ZONE" are widely spaced on Nos. 36 and 86; "CANAL" is 13 mm. long on Nos. 50 and 100; the spacing between "2" and "c" on Nos. 1, 2, 51, 52 is the same as on these stamps of the third printing of the 1 ct.; and both bars at the bottom.

From this data I concluded that it is therefore probable that after the printing of the one cent value was finished the block of type was taken from the press and unlocked, the value changed, and the block relocked and replaced in the press, and used for the surcharging of this stamp, without disturbing any other part of it than the value.

The list for this printing is:
2c on 1p lake.
a—Accent on one or more "A's" of "PANAMA."
b—Last "A" of "PANAMA" an inverted "V" (7, 57).
c—"N" of "PANAMA" inverted (2, 52).
d—"CANAL" 13 mm. long (50, 100).
e—"ZO" widely spaced (36, 86).
f—"2" and "c" of "cts." close (1, 2, 51, 52).
g—Both bars at bottom.

THE COLLECTION OF LOCALS.

By SYDNEY R. TURNER.

Local postage stamps are a greatly-neglected byway of philately. Though many of these stamps, issued in the first days of collecting, received a certain amount of attention from early philatelists, they have for the most part been ignored by modern collectors.

The local stamp, as its name suggests, is a stamp having only a limited franking power in contradistinction to the ordinary State-issued postage stamp whose franking power extends to places outside the country of its origin. Although the proposition is not accepted by philatelists, all stamps issued by a State prior to its entry into the Universal Postal Union should be in reality classed as locals.

We may divide local postage stamps into four groups as follows:

(a) Government-issued stamps for use in special districts. Example: the Turkish local stamps used in Constantinople.

(b) Stamps issued by local councils by special permission of the State. Example: Russian local stamps.

(c) Stamps issued by companies or persons by special permission of the authorities through whose territory the post is in operation, as those of the Russian Steam Navigation Company and also La Guaira.

(d) Stamps issued by companies or private persons without permission of the authorities, as were those of the English circular delivery companies.

The philatelist taking up the study and collection of local stamps will find a very large field for his activities, and one which has in no way been exhausted. As many of these stamps have yet to be properly catalogued, information as to their origin, use, and value will require considerable research. The volumes of the early stamp journals are a mine of information, though this is not always to be relied on. Another point the collector has to bear in mind is that many of these stamps have been reprinted, and in some cases forged.

The collecting of locals is not a very costly matter, a fact chiefly due to the small demand for them at the present time, though a number of varieties are extremely rare. How large a field there is for the collector will not be fully realised until he has studied the catalogue of local stamps issued by Messrs. Stanley Gibbons in 1899, which is far from complete, as it neither lists the English or German issues. The collector will then see that it will be advisable to restrict his activities to one or more groups.

To the British philatelist probably the most interesting locals will be those of his own country.

The college stamps of Oxford and Cambridge issued between 1870 and 1886 are a unique series, some of them being extremely rare. The post itself was the outcome of special privileges granted by Parliament as early as 1656. The stamps of the circular delivery companies, issued between 1865 and 1868, for use in various towns in England and Scotland, were the forerunners of halfpenny postage in this country, the local post itself being suppressed as an infringement of the Postmaster General's monopoly. Many of these locals are scarce, and I cannot say with certainty that a complete collection exists. Even to obtain a representative set would probably take some time. A huge quantity of forgeries of these locals were produced, which, though easily recognisable by the expert, add considerably to the difficulties of the collector. The letter stamps issued by the various British railway companies form a highly interesting series, well worthy of more attention than they have hitherto received.

The largest as well as the most interesting group of European local stamps are those of Russia. Commencing as early as 1869, they were issued under special instructions from the Imperial Government by local councils in provincial districts, where the Imperial post did not find it profitable to extend the general postal facilities. Many of these stamps are of peculiar design and shape, crudely produced, and have a tendency in some cases to imitate one another, added to which the Russian lettering often makes the stamps difficult to place. In one series particularly an attempt was made to imitate various contemporary stamps of other European States.

Finland was responsible for some well-designed locals issued between 1866 and 1887. Unfortunately many of them have been extremely well reprinted, and the re-impressions are difficult to detect.

Norway, Sweden, and Denmark have each given us a considerable number of local stamps, many of them well worthy of study. Here again knowledge is required to distinguish originals from the numerous reprints.

From Austria come the well-known locals of the Danube Steam Navigation Company. This series has not yet received the attention it deserves, the numerous reprints probably being responsible for neglect of recent years.

Of all the European locals those of Turkey are probably the most difficult to collect and study, as so little is known concerning them. The steamship stamps of the Imperial Turkish Admiralty Co. and Bell's Asia Minor Steamship Company are extremely scarce. The "T. B. Morton and Co." stamps were, I fear, issued more for the collector than for the postal service which the firm did undoubtedly carry on. The Constantinople local post of 1865 to 1867 was responsible for postage, newspaper, and postage due stamps. Of the postage stamps there was a huge remainder which came on the market when the service ceased. The newspaper handstamps are very scarce, those generally met with being either reprints or forgeries; and the postage dues have never yet been satisfactorily catalogued. The Government issues overprinted for use as locals in Constantinople from 1873 to 1881 are of great interest, but owing to the overprints having been forged, they require considerable study before any attempt can be made to form a collection. The only remaining local, the single stamp of Kustendjie and Czernawoda, is rather a scarce stamp used, but it has been reprinted many times, both on the correct and on coloured papers.

The local stamps of the United States form a large group, mostly issued by private letter-carrying companies between 1843 and 1894. Of these the "Wells Fargo" stamps are the best known to collectors. This company carried the mails overland by coach during the days of the Californian gold rush, when the cost of postage was as high as four dollars the ounce. Nearly all the American locals have been both reprinted and forged; also there are a number of bogus labels, which add considerably to the difficulties of the collector. The Tapling collection in the British Museum, though not quite complete, forms a most useful guide to these stamps. The provisionals issued by the various postmasters during the Civil War are locals, but so difficult are they to obtain that I need only mention their existence here, as it is scarcely possible for any philatelist to hope to make even a small collection of these historic stamps.

Of Central America, the principal locals are those of the seapost of La Guaira. They were issued by a private company, who carried the overseas mail for the Venezuelan Government from 1864 to 1870. The route followed was from Caracas, the capital, to the ports of La Guaira, Puerto Cabello, Curacao,

$12,000 COLLECTION OF MEXICO

We want to raise $5,000 within the next 60 days and in an effort to do so we are offering for sale the finest collection of Mexican War stamps (only) in existence. Our own private collection, the result of three years' work and study, will be sacrificed. This collection is most complete in all issues, including many very rare pieces in all issues and including many pieces that are in no other collection. We would prefer to sell the collection to someone who would continue to add to it, but, failing to find a buyer, we will break the collection at once.

In pricing this collection, we have priced all items which have been generally offered for sale at current selling and asked prices, and other items have been priced at what we consider a fair price for the various pieces. The sum total of the prices as placed on all the items in this collection is around $12,000. We will offer the entire collection for spot cash at one-third of the total price marked on the individual items. The collection can be submitted to anyone who has a desire to purchase.

If this lot can not be placed at once as a whole we will break it and sell all items at very low prices. In fact we offer practically every stamp in the collection at a price much lower than any current asked price.

Send us a list of what you want and WHAT YOU WILL BUY if price is right, and we will either submit the stamps or quote you a price that will astonish you. REMEMBER—this is not a general reduced price sale on our stock of these stamps. In fact we are offering only the items contained in this collection at the cut prices. We are selling only the collection and there is only one identical piece of each kind in the entire lot. Every issue is highly specialized and what you need is here. Get in touch with us at once.

Large purchases carry an especially low price and we will give the preference to those who are specializing and wish first pick at any one particular issue. Let us know what issues you want to see. Tell us exactly what you want, and we will submit a proposition that will appeal to you.

Just as an example of what we are offering we will note that the White and Green Seal Sonora section of this collection alone is priced at over $4000. A big reduction from current marked prices will be made on every item in the lot. Let us hear from you at once. Anticipating an enormous demand for these stamps we will endeavor to attend to all orders and requests promptly. Unused, used, singles, pairs, blocks, sheets or covers; what do you want? More information and details may be had in the next issue of our "Stamp Collector" which will be ready early in August.

ANVIL ISSUE - - 9 Var. 50c

We still maintain that only the 5c and 10c values of this set were regularly issued. A WESTERN DEALER claims that all are regularly issued and he asks ONLY $1.50 for a little set of five varieties. Read Our Offer:

A set of nine varieties as follows: 1, 2, 5, and 10c values without the word PLATA. 1, 10, 20, and 50c values with the PLATA overprint and also the RARE 50c value with PLATA overprint but without the seal, a total of nine varieties, all for the small sum of

and St. Thomas in the Danish West Indies.

The chief locals of South America are those of Buenos Ayres, issued between 1858 and 1862. These stamps seem to have appealed to the old collectors, and are today very scarce. They have been fully described by Mr. F. J. Peplow in the last volume of the Philatelic Record.

Passing on to Africa, the largest group are those of Morocco. The native local post came into existence in 18—; the stamps were of very crude native design, hand-struck on the covers of letters. This was followed by adhesive stamps issued by various postal companies, principally of French origin. Unfortunately, the majority of these latter were of a speculative nature, the stamps being produced for the benefit of collectors.

The Suez Canal Company issued a series of four stamps in 1868, which, however, had a very short postal existence; but they seem to have attracted the attention of the forger, as there are at least five sets of imitations.

Asia also has been responsible for quite a number of separate local posts, notably those of the Native States of India, whose stamps are fully listed in the catalogues. In the Chinese Empire the chief local post was that of the treaty port of Shanghai, which commenced to issue stamps as early as 1865. Many of these are today extremely scarce. The posts that were set up much later at ports such as Chefoo and Chinkiang, though they certainly executed a small amount of postal business, catered principally for the collector, and should be looked upon with suspicion. They were suppressed in 1897 on the creation of the Imperial Chinese Post.

From these brief notes collectors will see that there is a great deal of scope for research in this branch of philately. The fact that local stamps cannot be obtained so readily as the majority of ordinary postage stamps should heighten their attractiveness in the eyes of the collector who delights to wander in quest of philatelic treasure.—Stamp Collectors' Annual.

The paper was the usual wove variety and the perforation gauged 12—the production of single-line or guillotine machines. Even in the case of values of which large quantities were printed, like the 3c, variations in shade are remarkably slight. The 1c is known split diagonally and the halves used as ½c and while this practice was disproved of by the Post Office Department the half stamps undoubtedly filled a local need as shown by an extract from a Canadian newspaper printed in the Weekly Philatelic Era, viz:—

The Railway News last week on account of not receiving permission from the Post-Master General to allow papers to go through the mails free, was compelled to pay postage. No half cent stamps being available, the post office department allowed one cent stamps to be cut in halves for postage. This is the first time on record we believe where such was allowed and the stamps have been eagerly sought after, one dollar being paid for a single stamp with the post office stamp on it. The News will pay twenty-five cents each for the one cent Jubilee stamps cut in halves bearing the post-office stamp of November 5th, 6th, or 8th, which was allowed to pass through the mails on that date owing to there being no regular half cent stamps available.

One set of Jubilee stamps—said to be the first one printed, though of course this statement cannot be taken literally as meaning the stamps were printed one at a time—was mounted in a specially designed portfolio and presented to the Duke of York, now His Most Gracious Majesty King George V. An account of this presentation set, taken from an old issue of the WEEKLY, is worthy of reproduction:

A very unique and handsome piece of work is the postal portfolio which is to be presented to His Royal Highness, the Duke of York, by the Dominion Government, and which is on exhibition in the window of Kyrie Brothers, Jewelers, Toronto. The portfolio is in the form of an album, the cover of which is of royal blue morocco leather, handsomely decorated in gold. In the centre of the front cover is a raised shield in white on which are the words in gold letters, "Dominion of Canada, Diamond Jubilee Postage Stamps, 22nd June, 1897." The corners of the portfolio are decorated with guards of Canadian gold made from British Columbia and Raney district ore. The right hand upper corner decoration is a design of maple leaves, and the lower corner of English oak leaves and acorns. The portfolio is fastened with a clasp of Canadian gold in the form of oak leaves, while the bracket on the front holding the clasps in position, is entwined with maple leaves with the monogram of H. R. H. the Duke of York—G. F. E. A.—George Frederick Ernest Albert. On the third page is the inscription, "This collection of postage stamps issued at Ottawa by the Dominion of Canada in commemoration of the Diamond Jubilee of Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria is presented to H. R. H. the Duke of York, K. G., by the Government of Canada, 1897." The last page of this unique stamp album will contain the certificate of the destruction of the dies and plates in the presence of Hon. Wm. Mulock, postmaster-general of Canada. . . . This is probably the dearest stamp album in the world, and contains only a single specimen of each denomination of the Jubilee issue.

And now we conclude our history of this Jubilee issue by another extract from the WEEKLY giving an account of the destruction of the dies and plates from which the stamps were made:—

On Friday afternoon, September 10th, I presented myself at the Post-Office Department and joined a party who were just leaving the building to go over to the American Bank Note Co.'s building, a couple of blocks away. Arriving, we were conducted to the top floor by the manager. The plates, dies, etc., were brought out by those in charge, and the seventeen original dies after inspection by those present were placed one by one under a press and an obliterating roller passed over them several times; proofs were then pulled which faintly showed the outlines of the ovals, etc., but the words showing the values could not even be made out. Next, the rolls for transferring the impression from the dies to the plates came in for their share of attention. There were nineteen of them, and a few burns from an emery wheel quickly put each one "out of sight." The plates, 31 in number, were subjected to the same treatment as the dies, and the total time occupied in the destruction of the various parts occupied almost two hours.

CHAPTER XIV.

The "Maple Leaf" Issue of 1897.

Soon after the printing contract was awarded to the American Bank Note Company it was rumoured that a new series of stamps would be issued, but for a time public expectations of the new stamps were overshadowed by the appearance of the Diamond Jubilee issue. A cutting from an Ottawa paper dated September 28th, 1897, shows, however, that preparations for a new set were well in hand, viz.:—

The design for a new postage stamp has been approved by the Postmaster-General. There is a portrait of Her Majesty as she appeared at the coronation, except that a coronet is substituted for a crown. The portrait has been engraved from a photo procured during the Jubilee ceremonies, and upon which was the Queen's own autograph, so that it is authentic. The corners of the stamp will be decorated with maple leaves, which were pulled from maple trees on Parliament Hill and engraved directly from them. Everything indeed is correct and up to date, and the new issue will reflect credit on Mr. Mulock's good taste. The engravers will take care to make this permanent and ordinary issue a tribute to their skill. The present stock of stamps it will take some months to exhaust, and not till they are done will the new stamps be issued. It may be about November of this year.

About a month later a circular was addressed to postmasters announcing the issue of the new stamps as follows:

Circular to Postmaster.

NEW ISSUE OF POSTAGE STAMPS, ETC.

The Postmaster-General has made arrangements for a new issue of postage stamps, letter cards, stamped envelopes, post cards, and post bands. These will be supplied to postmasters in the usual way. Postmasters are, however, instructed not to sell the stamps of any denomination of the new issue until the stamps of the corresponding denomination of the present issue are disposed of. The filling of requisitions by the Postage Stamp Branch will be regulated by the same principle—that is to say, no item of the proposed issue will be sent out until the corresponding item of the present issue has been exhausted.

To conform to the requirements of the International Postal Union the color of the new 1c stamp will be green and that of the 5c stamp a deep blue.

R. M. COULTER,

Deputy Postmaster-General.

Post-Office Department, Canada.

OTTAWA, 25th October, 1897.

The Postmaster-General's Report for 1897, issued after the stamps had made their appearance, also refers to the new issue and to add completeness to our history we extract the following:—

Owing to the change of contract for the manufacture and supply of postage stamps, a new series of stamps became necessary at the beginning of the present fiscal year. New stamps ranging in value from the ½c to the 10c denomination (inclusive) were printed, and the first supplies thereof sent out to postmasters as the corresponding denominations of the old stamps became exhausted. A considerable quantity of the higher values of that series (15 cents, 20 cents and 50 cents) remaining over from the late contract, these three stamps continued to be issued, so that the department, previous to the introduction of the same denominations in the new series, might, in accordance with the universal practice, dispose of the old stamps in each case, before issuing any of the new. The design of the new stamps is of a uniform character, and consists of an engraved copy (reduced) of an authorized photograph of Her Majesty taken during the Diamond Jubilee year. This, placed within an oval bearing the usual inscriptions, is enclosed within a rectangular frame, a maple leaf on a lined ground occupying each of the triangular spaces between the two frames. To conform to the regulations of the Universal Postal Union, the color of the new 1 cent stamp is green, and that of the 5 cents a deep blue. This necessitated corresponding changes in the colors of the other stamps of the new series; for example, purple instead of green being selected for the 2 cent denomination, and orange instead of slate for the 8 cent.

The first denomination of the new series—the 1/2 cent—was placed on sale on November 9th, 1897. About the end of the same month the 6c made its appearance, and this was quickly followed by the 1c, 2c, 5c and 8c in December. The 3c and 10c were issued early in January, 1898, so that official instructions that the new stamps were not to be issued until the supplies of the old issue were exhausted were fully carried out, though all values were on sale within the space of about three months.

The design of the new stamps is at once simple and effective. In the central oval is a three-quarter face portrait of Her Majesty, with head to left, which was copied from a photograph taken by W. & D. Downey, of London, at the time of the Diamond Jubilee celebrations. Around the oval is a band of solid color containing the words CANADA POSTAGE above and the value in words below, all being in Egyptian capitals. The spandrels are filled with a ground of horizontal lines on which maple leaves rest. While, as Mr. Howes observes, "much criticism was engendered by the fact that the portrait was too large for its frame, making the design appear cramped," public verdict, as a whole, expressed unqualified approval of the new design.

The stamps, like those of the preceding issues, were printed from line-engraved plates and, with one exception, these plates contained one hundred impressions arranged in ten horizontal rows of ten each. The exception referred to occurred in the 1/2c, the first plate for which contained 200 stamps, arranged in ten rows of twenty stamps each. This is mentioned in the Weekly Philatelic Era as follows:—

By some misunderstanding the contractors, the American Bank Note Co., set the sheet up with 200 stamps, and the first five hundred sheets were so printed. The sheets were afterwards cut in two through the imprint, and we have these half sheets with a close imperforated margin on either the left or right edge. Afterwards sheets of 100 stamps were issued, all the stamps perforated on all four sides. Plate number collectors will find the earliest sheets difficult to obtain. Both sheets bear the plate number 1.

The imprint on the sheets followed the plan originated with the Jubilee series, "OTTAWA—No. 1," etc., being placed in the centre of the top margin. Each value began with No. 1 and apparently for the 5c, 6c, 8c, and 10c the one plate sufficed. For the 1/2c, as we have already shown, there were two plates, both numbered "1"; while for the 1c there were two plates, for the 2c, three plates, and for the 3c, six plates.

The stamps were printed on stout white wove paper, similar to that used for the Jubilee stamps and at some time or other a slightly thinner and more brittle paper seems to have been used. The paper for the 5c is of a distinctly bluish color—this being the first occasion on which colored paper was used for any of the postage stamps of the Dominion.

The perforation was the regulation gauge of 12, which has been in continuous use since 1858, and, as the Philatelic Record stated when first chronicling the issue, "many of the stamp are badly centered, a characteristic defect of the American Bank Note Company's work." The 5c is known entirely imperforate.

CHAPTER XV.

The "Numeral" Issue of 1898.

The "maple-leaf" issue had not been long in use before complaints were made that owing to the lack of plain numerals it was a difficult matter to distinguish the various denominations. In its issue for April 2nd, 1898, the Metropolitan Philatelist stated another ground for complaint and also referred to a forthcoming change, viz.:—

Much dissatisfaction is expressed by the French speaking inhabitants of the rural parts at the lack of figures of value on the stamps, the denomination in all cases being printed in English which they are unable to understand. It has, therefore, been decided to alter the new stamps by removing the maple leaves from the lower corners and inserting large numerals of value in their place. The space occupied by the head will also be somewhat enlarged and the value will be placed on a straight band below.

A few months later the re-drawn stamps made their appearance, for the Monthly Journal for July 30th, 1898, records the issue of the 1c and 3c denominations as follows:—

The design is certainly improved, the oval being enlarged so that its outer line covers the outer line of the rectangle at each side and at top and bottom. The band being the same width as before, this allows a larger space for the head, which no longer appears so closely "cribbed, cabined and confined." The inscriptions remain unchanged, but in each of the lower corners is a plain rectangular block, containing a colored numeral.

Mr. Howes states that these two values were issued on June 21st, 1898, and, following its usual custom, the Canadian Post-office did not place the other denominations on sale until the corresponding values of the old series were all used up. Thus, the 1/2c, 2c and 6c did not appear until early in September, the 8c was placed on sale in the first few days of October, the 10c was issued in the early part of November, while the 5c, which was the laggard of the series, was not on sale until July 3rd, 1899.

Although the design was entirely redrawn and the wider oval gave the portrait a less cramped effect, it did not satisfy all the critics—though, so far as this fact is concerned, it is doubtful if any stamp issued anywhere at any time has met with universal approbation!

The stamps were produced by the usual method of steel engraved plates and they were printed in sheets of 100, in ten rows of ten, as had now become the regular custom. The imprint is like that on the sheets of the "maple leaf" issue and, again as with that series, the numbering of the plates started with "1" for each denomination. So little interest seems to have been taken in these marginal varieties that no authoritative record of the several plates employed has been kept. Mr. Howes gives but one plate for the 1/2c, 6c, 8c and 10c values, three for the 5c, four each for the 2c and 3c, and six for the 1c but it seems highly probable there were many more especially for such values as the 1c and 2c which were used in very large quantities.

In 1901 there were rumours that some of the stamps of this type had been re-engraved, the foundation for the canard being the following paragraph from the WEEKLY:—

Mr. H. A. Chapman has sent me a specimen of a re-engraved 1c Canada

P. M. WOLSIEFFER, President-Mgr.
CHARLES BEAMISH, Secretary-Treas.

numeral, in which the differences from the first issue demand recognition. The re-engraved type is shorter and wider than the one preceding it. I note also that the 2c is said to exist in the same condition.

In reprinting this statement the Philatelic Record observed "Can this be true; or is it only another case of a slight difference caused by the shrinkage after wetting the sheets for printing purposes?"

The Monthly Journal for September, 1901, soon set the matter at rest as shown by the following extract:—

Miss A. L. Swift very kindly informs us that a friend of hers made enquiries at headquarters in Ottawa, and was assured that no re-engraving whatever has taken place, and that any differences that exist must be due to shrinkage or expansion of the paper during the process of printing. Our correspondent, who is a well-known American writer upon philatelic subjects and a careful philatelist, tells us that the 1/2c, 1c and 2c of the numeral type and several values of the Maple Leaf type, show these variations, and adds that in the case of the 1/2c of both issues one size is found in grey-black only, and the other in deep black only. It is possible that the amount or thickness of the ink employed may have some effect upon the varying shrinkage of the paper.

The same journal refers to the matter again in the following month, viz.:—

In reference to the question of the variations in the size of the stamps of the last two issues of this Colony, a correspondent tells us that he has been studying these stamps, and has come to the conclusion, no doubt correctly, that the variations are due to differences in the quality and thickness of the paper. As in the old case of the Ceylon stamps the longer copies are on thicker paper than the short ones. All stamps that are printed on damp paper, and especially those from plates engraved in taille-douce, are liable to vary in this way.

The above seems to be the most reasonable explanation of the differences for the measurements of the so-called long and short stamps are practically constant, which one would naturally expect to find if two sorts of paper, differing slightly in thickness and quality, were used.

JAMAICA WAR STAMPS.

A second printing of the 1/2d War Stamp was made the early part of July. The stamp surcharged is different in shade from the first printing, being blue green on a seemingly heavier white paper.

Most of the varieties in the first printing have been corrected. However, the no period variety still continues, and a new variety makes its appearance, the letter "P" of "STAMP" on one stamp in a sheet, is in a small font.

The 3d on the lemon yellow through paper has also received the "WAR STAMP" surcharge, superseding the first printing on the white back stamp.

A new value, 1 1/2d orange, made its appearance on July 13th. This to take care of the combined letter rate and war tax. The design is the same as the current 1d George.—HARRY E. HUBER.

EDITORIAL.

Done—The Danish West Indies finally have come under the wing of the United States by purchase. Particulars of the sale appeared in the newspapers, and we shall spare our subscribers any comment on the transaction, now that the sale has actually been consummated. The change of title to the islands from Denmark to the United States has long been anticipated by stamp folks, and upon the reports of the impending sale at different times in the past ten or fifteen years, we have valiantly, even if somewhat vaguely, dwelled upon the philatelic aspect of the transfer of ownership. About ten years ago, when the sale seemed certain, we issued a Danish West Indies special. At any rate, the earlier rumors had a good effect, and the interesting issues of the islands were studied closely by students such as J. M. Bartels, G. L. Toppan, and John N. Luff, in an exhaustive way, for the first time. The Danish West Indies will be welcome to our sisterhood of states.

Visitor—Cosme Hinojosa, postmaster-general of Mexico, has just made a short visit to Chicago, where we had the privilege of meeting him for the second time. Our interview with the gentleman was not a free-flowing one, even though the translator strove manfully to bridge the lingual chasm. We hope to whip the statements of Senor Hinojosa into shape for presentation in the next issue. By-the-way, the remarks on the Mexican philatelic situation and Senor Hinojosa in the preceding number were merely a coincidence and written before the postmaster-general had made his appearance, and with no knowledge of his impending visit.

Also—Comes now another distinguished visitor almost from Mexico, in the person of Mr. S. B. Hopkins of Laredo, Texas, into the north, and all but suffers prostration from the heat. Mr. Hopkins is certainly in touch with Mexican philatelic affairs, and incidentally he showed us a specialized collection of the stamps of Oaxaca that he claims is without a peer; and we can imagine no more complete a collection of these stamps from the important district in question. As mentioned, Mr. Hopkins is intimately acquainted with the recent Mexican issues, and in his remarks we could detect the strain of conviction that while there are some black sheep among the stamps, the majority of the issues are uncontaminated under close philatelic scrutiny.

Service—We were pleased to receive a card from Dr. Carroll Chase, celebrated through his wonderful studies of the first three issues of United States stamps, who recently entered the French military service. Under date of July 10th, he says: "I have been assigned to a military hospital in this quiet old city of Orleans. I spent over two weeks in Paris and nosed around the stamp dealers until my nose was sore, but found practically no early U. S." Dr. Chase's article on the 1847 issue of the United States, which is running in the Philatelic Gazette, is easily the most masterly treatise on the subject that ever has appeared.

Sport—A reader, Mr. Silas Chapman, Jr., Hartford, Connecticut, writes: "For several days I have been getting circulars and begging letters to vote for certain persons for various positions in different stamp societies. It is so puzzling and annoying that I do not understand why this actual scrapping should occur. What have you to say regarding it?" Philatelic politics is a summer sport much engaged in when the weather is unfavorable to stamp handling. Played cleanly, the game is not uninteresting, although the philosopher might say that it is much ado about nothing. One thing may be said: The average philatelic candidate does not ask what is there "in it" for him if successful. His reward is in glory which too often palls before the work entailed by the affairs of office in which he serves gratuitously. A well-balanced interest in philatelic politics is defensible, and only the extremes should be avoided.

Convention—Judging from the account of the convention of the National Philatelic Society at Lynn, Mass., during the week ending July 22nd, that appeared in Lynn Daily Evening Item, the sessions were very satisfactory ones. While the outside social features were marred by unfavorable weather, yet the time was employed to good advantage. Elsewhere, we present a summary of the newspaper account of the proceedings of the National Philatelic Society at its annual convention.

Reported—There has been some inquiry at the St. John's, Newfoundland, post office for the one and two cent Cabot issue, which has been due, we assume, to the careless assertion that has appeared in some of the stamp papers to the effect that the Cabot set was still on sale there. It is hinted that not a few enterprising dealers in the United States sought to replenish their stocks of the one and two cent, Cabot, at face. At last accounts, the following stamps were on sale at St. John's: One and two cent, coronation issue; three cent, Queen Alexandra, 1898-99; four cent, Princess of Wales, 1901 issue; five cent, coronation; six to sixty cents, inclusive, Cabot.

Righted—The department at Washington has been circulating the following correction of a mis-statement that appeared in a recent issue of the July, 1916, Postal Guide: "Unsealed fourth-class domestic mail is prohibited registration, but such matter may be registered when sealed and not in excess of the weight prescribed for first-class mail, upon the payment of the usual registry fee and postage at the first-class or letter rate."

Character—Through the kindness of Mr. Maitland Milliken, we have received the subscription of Mr. Joseph Newzil of New Zealand, a man whose career truly has been one varied and picturesque. Mr. Newzil presents himself pictorially on a camel "as a gold digger in central western Australia, 1895-9." He says: "In this region are no rivers, no creeks, no running sweet water. It seldom rains, the ground is salty. . . . Good water comes from the coast, 400 to 1,000 miles away. It is dear. I had a camel. It carried my food, water, tools, tent and my blankets. The camel got a drink once a week. It ate salt bush leaves. Many have perished here. There are terrific dust storms. I nearly perished here. My mate perished here. My bed was a blanket on the ground. I had a wash when it rained heavy. No rain, no wash." Mr. Newzil, "a native of Bohemia and a citizen of San Francisco, California, since 1878, and a resident of Wellington, New Zealand, since 1902", is a philatelic character of pronounced type; and we infer that he meets with some degree of success as a stamp handler.

LYNN'S N. P. S. CONVENTION.

With two lively business sessions, journeys through the big Lynn stores, visits to some de luxe movie, and a banquet at King Joy's in the evening, the second day of the fourth annual convention of the National Philatelic Society was an eventful one, despite the wet weather.

The first session was held at Hotel Hamilton at 10 A. M., and it was devoted to the reading of several reports that revealed progress in all the departments, especially membership, which has practically doubled in the past year, and to the annual election of officers. The minutes of the last meeting, held in New York City last summer, were read by Secretary A. M. Wright, and approved by the gathering. A discussion of one-cent postage followed, and the members voted that the idea advanced by parties fighting two-cent postage be rejected.

E. H. Thompson of Portland, the newly elected president, made a very short speech of what might be termed the official greeting in his new capacity: "Howdy."

The newly elected officers are: President, E. H. Thompson, Portland; vice president, C. R. Goetz, New York City; second vice president, Hugo Meyer, Portland; secretary-treasurer, A. M. Wright, Boston, re-elected; international secretary, Oscar Hill, Boston, re-elected; directors-at-large, M. M. Herbert, New York City; F. W. Stiles, Boston; M. Ohlman, New York City.

The oldest member present at the fourth annual is Sherman Follansbee of Swampscott, a member of both the national and local branch, who is 68 years of age. Master John S. Mangan of Lynn is the youngest, at 11 years. He is a member of the national, and will join the local branch later.

To-day's program will be more pleasure than business, for after the session devoted to unfinished work, there will be a breathing spell, and then a trip to Nantasket, where the bowler members will fight it out among themselves, and decide on the champion stamp-collecting ten-pin punisher.—Daily Evening Item, Lynn, Mass.

MR. WYLIE AT ST. PAUL.

It was a distinct pleasure for the managing editor to meet the collectors of St. Paul and Minneapolis on Tuesday evening, July 18. A score of collectors were present at a dinner served at the St. Paul Commercial Club, the arrangements having been effected by Olaf J. Olson.

It is needless to say that the evening was a very enjoyable one, both collector and dealer being represented in the assembled company. There was no set program, and the informality of the occasion rendered it all the more pleasant. The managing editor of the WEEKLY desired to express his thanks to Mr. Olson for his courtesy in arranging so delightful an occasion.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—The publishers of the Standard Catalog inform us that advance sheets of the 1917 edition are to appear this week. The early issue of this catalog will mean much in stimulating a good fall business.

—Our subscribers cannot fail to have noticed the appearance in our columns of a new advertiser, who is making a specialty of United States revenues. We refer to F. P. Gibbs, of Olean, N. Y., who will be regularly found in our columns in coming months. Mr. Gibbs comes to us with excellent recommendations, and we know that our readers will find it a pleasure and a satisfaction to deal with him. He has a large stock of good material.

—O. W. Lindquist of N. Y. City has sent Buddie Lewis of Springfield, Ohio, a supply of covers which had accumulated, feeling that as a shut-in Mr. Lewis would find them of interest. We are grateful to numerous of our subscribers for the interest they have taken in Mr. Lewis.

—From "somewhere on the Atlantic", W. F. Ferguson, whose adlets of last winter were patronized by our readers, sends us greetings. The envelope bears a fine "U. S. S. Kentucky" cancellation. Mr. Ferguson is remembering some of his friends that he believes "would be interested in a battleship postmark."

—M. Ohlman, the New York dealer, is recuperating from an operation performed recently at the Polyclinic Hospital. He was away from the office some two weeks.

—The Stamp Shop of Chicago calls our attention to the fact that another firm is doing business under a similar name. The firm urges our readers to note this fact.

—We are in receipt of greetings from Carroll Chase, M. D., who writes us from Orleans, France, where he has been assigned to hospital service. Two weeks were spent upon his arrival abroad in Paris.

—Mann's Catalog of United States Postage Stamps, to be issued Sept. 1, 1916, while a price list, will not be at all cramped or abridged, but will be an entertaining work, with copious notes and references. Mr. Mann insists that the catalog will be most complete, original, and comprehensive, and the beginner or specialist will find it a very handy work on the stamps of the United States.

—Greetings of various kinds reach the office of the WEEKLY daily. A card is at hand from Roger Batchelder, with the 8th Mass. Inf.

—In our issue of July 29, the statement appeared that a Philatelic Press Club and Literature Society was organized July 22 at Lynn, during the convention of the National Philatelic Society. We are in receipt of a communication from E. L. Clark, in which he states that the N. P. S. had nothing to do with the newly organized Press Club. Mr. Clark writes us that the American Philatelic Press Club organized June 1 has for its purpose the bringing together of philatelic editors, publishers, and prominent writers, and also has no connection with the organization previously referred to in our news gleanings.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from C. H. McBride, Hollis Thacher, Chas. H. Hermann (4).

—L. B. Peaslee of Milwaukee, Wis., also offers Buddie Lewis one dollar for a sheet of shades of the current 2c stamp with perforation 10. This is in keeping with the idea advanced by Mr. Marsh of giving Master Lewis some definite work along stamp lines.

—A batch of four clippings has been received from Charles H. Hermann. One of the number informs us that Berlin is compiling regulations and a scale of charges for a submarine postal service between Germany and America. Government correspondence is to have precedence.

—While the managing editor was in St. Paul, he met among other collectors William Hoyt Yale, who advised him that he had in his collection a 2c brown 1883 United States on distinctly laid paper. It was secured from a Washington friend, and in a letter just at hand from Olaf J. Olson is the following:—"This is certainly a very distinct variety in paper, and is in fact the most distinct laid paper I have ever seen on any stamp." This is interesting in view of the contention that no U. S. stamps have been printed on paper of this kind.

—If too much trouble to procure a money order when you renew your subscription or purchase books from our list, remit in stamps 5c to 15c denominations. We shall appreciate the favor.

—Frank M. Mason of Providence, R. I., would like the present address of John S. Watts. Who can assist?

—Occasionally we are compelled to call attention to the fact that the name of our firm cannot be used as a reference by our subscribers doing business with advertisers. The latest offender is a New York subscriber residing in the Bronx, and as this is the first offense, we shall spare him the publicity of personal mention. Advertisers will please note that bank or commercial references should be insisted upon in connection with approval applications.

—We learn that while France has prohibited the importation of postage stamps, Italy has forbidden their exportation. Great Britain has adopted the policy of allowing dealers to send stamps to the United States providing a special permit be taken out. We note that Whitfield King & Co., and Hugo Griebert & Co., have both availed themselves of this governmental privilege, and no doubt the other English dealers will do likewise.

—Burt McCann, Minneapolis, Minn., is seriously ill, and confined in a hospital, so will not be able to attend to his stamp business for a few weeks. He is improving daily and hopes to return to his home shortly.

—A foreign correspondent of the WEEKLY is anxious to procure some of the 12c stamps in the copper-red color, and if any of our subscribers can indicate to us post offices where they may be secured we shall greatly appreciate the favor. These stamps show quite a distinct tinted back.

A. P. S. PROXIES.

Several subscribers have already sent the Managing Editor their A. P. S. proxies and we wish to say that we shall be very glad to serve any members who may wish to use us in this manner. It will not be necessary for the proxy sender to affix the 10c revenue stamp that is called for, as the society will itself furnish the stamps needed from its general fund. Any instructions will be carefully complied with.

CAYMAN ISLANDS.

In the early part of the year the matter of issuing a Red Cross stamp was discussed at a meeting of the vestry, and passed upon favorably. The Governor of Jamaica, to whom all such matter must be submitted, would not approve, and the issue did not take place. It remains to be seen whether the Islands will now fall into line with St. Vincent, St. Lucia, and Grenada, in establishing a 1d War Tax on inland letters, and those destined to the British Empire.—HARRY E. HUBER.

PARCELS POST CONVENTION BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND CHINA.

Office of Second Asst. P. M. Gen.,
WASHINGTON, July 25, 1916.

A parcel post convention having been concluded between the United States and China to take effect August 1, 1916, parcel post packages for China will be admitted on and after that date to the parcel post mails for that country made up in and dispatched from this country.

Parcel post packages exchanged between the United States and China must not weigh more than 11 pounds (5 kilograms), or measure more than 3 feet, 6 inches in length, and 6 feet in length and girth combined, and, in the case of parcels for or from non-steam-served places in China, must not exceed 25 cubic decimeters (one cubic foot) in volume. A list of the only places in China to parcels for which the limitation of one cubic foot in volume does not apply is printed hereunder.

Postage must be paid in full at the following rates, viz.: In the United States, on parcels for China, 12 cents per pound, or fraction of a pound; and in China, on parcels for the United States, 35 cents (Chinese currency) per pound, or fraction of a pound, except that on parcels for or from non-steam-served places in China an additional Chinese domestic parcel post may be levied and collected by the Chinese service.

Parcel-post packages for China may be registered.

The Parcel Post Regulations on pages 47 to 49, and 147 and 148, of the Postal Guide for July, 1916, apply to parcel post packages for or from China.

Parcel post mails for China will be made up, for the present, at the post offices of San Francisco, Seattle, and Honolulu.

Postmasters will cause due notice of the foregoing to be taken at their offices, and the widest possible publicity to be given thereto.

[Note. There are over 600 "steam served" offices in China.]

BARBADOS.—Ewen's Weekly is informed that all values of the 1912 issue were called in by June 15, 1d and 1d burned publicly, and the higher values reserved for revenue purposes. Special embossed revenue stamps are being prepared in London, and meanwhile the postage stamps of 1912 have been made to serve by means of various provisional overprintings.

BRITISH HONDURAS.—Ewen's Weekly is informed the 5c registration envelope was overprinted with violet network, and sent to Belize over a year ago. The number so overprinted was 10,057. They have not yet been put on sale.

CANADA.—George L. Berry sends us a specimen of the current 2c stamp raised to 3c as a result of the war tax, showing a perforation 12 at the top and bottom and 8 at the sides. Mr. Berry advises us that he has a block of four, but is unable to give any reason for the variety of perforation. We hope to give some official information concerning this stamp at an early date.

DOMINICA.—The Colonial Journal says that the 1d view design has been supplied overprinted "War Tax One Half-penny" in red.

ERITREA.—Smith's Monthly Circular says that the current 40c stamp of Italy has been overprinted "Colonia Eritrea," for use in that Colony.

FRENCH OFFICES IN THE LEVANT.—Champion's Monthly Bulletin gives the following particulars of the new issues for the small islands of Rouad and Casteliorizzo, both of which have recently come under the control of France:

Rouad.—The French occupied this island in September, 1915. A short time afterwards they found it necessary to establish a provisional post office which received a supply of 5c, 10c and 25c adhesives and also postcards from Port Said. This bulk consisted of 1,200 specimens of each value. In the parcel was a horizontal seal bearing the words "ile Rouad" and it is with this seal that the post office officials, authorized by the Lieutenant of the War-vessel, who performed the duties as Governor of the Island, forthwith surcharged the stamps and postcards they had received. Naturally the stock was very quickly used up, and when on March 22, the decree appeared, officially establishing the Post Office at Rouad, not a single stamp was left, and the Postmaster was obliged to send to Port Said to ask for a new supply, and also for the other values of the series up to the 1 franc.

Casteliorizzo.—This island, situated on the borders of Asia Minor, near to the Island of Cyprus, and which belonged to Greece, was taken by a detachment of the French on the 28th December, 1915. Although not officially announced, a post office was established under the supervision of the Naval-forces. This office, just like Rouad, used the stamps of French Levant without any surcharge, which were given to it, by the post office at Rhodes, and the few copies received bear an obliterating seal of the Navy.

Only four values are on sale; these are the 5, 10, 25, and 50 centimes of the French Levant series. It is probable that very shortly there will be likewise officially established at Casteliorizzo a French post office, and perhaps we will see there, as at the Isle of Rouad, surcharged stamps.

GILBERT AND ELLICE ISLANDS.—The Australian Philatelist reports the 1d King George, printed from plate 2. The shade is similar to plate 1, but the design shows slight alterations.

JAMAICA.—J. A. Galbraith has shown us the new 1 1/2d stamp, which we understand was received in Kingston June 21. It is printed on white, multiple paper and perforated 14. Hermann Focke has also shown us a used copy of this stamp.

Adhesive.
1 1/2d orange.

Ewen's Weekly says that notwithstanding the Postage Stamp announced in its issue of June 3 that the 1d value had been overprinted "War Stamp," the same has not yet appeared, and Ewen's Weekly quotes the Postmaster at Kingston as authority for the statement that the value had not been so overprinted at the date of writing, June 22. Ewen's Weekly also states that the following errors have been found in a sheet of 240 stamps of the 1d value, overprinted "War Stamp":

- "WARISTAMP". 35th and 43d stamps on third pane.
- No stop after "STAMP". 44th stamp on third pane.
- "W AR" spaced. 55th stamp on third pane.
- Double stop or ";". 7th stamp on fourth pane.
- "STAMP" 18th stamp on fourth pane.

The error, "WARISTAMP" also occurs on the 3d value. It is not yet known whether the new 1 1/2d will have the "War Stamp" overprint, Mr. Galbraith's copy, noted above, being without.

MONTSERRAT.—The Colonial Journal says that an entirely new series of stamps is in preparation, the design showing a portrait of King George and the arms of the Colony, similar in type

NEW ZEALAND.—According to Ewen's Weekly, the 2d and 4d values deep yellow and 4d bright violet, the new colors of the current series, have been found perforated both 14x13 1/2 and 14x14 1/2.

ST. LUCIA.—Ewen's Weekly reports having seen the 1d scarlet stamp of this Colony overprinted "WAR-TAX" in two lines.

ST. VINCENT.—According to the Colonial Journal, the 1d value of the current series has been overprinted "War Stamp" in black.

SPAIN.—According to Scott's Circular, the issue to commemorate the centenary of Cervantes has taken an unexpected form. Instead of an issue for the use of the general public, two series of official stamps have appeared, one for the Senate and one for the Chamber of Deputies. There are four designs, showing the House of Deputies, the Statue of Cervantes, the National Library, and a portrait of Cervantes. The centers are printed in black, and the frames in different colors for the two legislative branches of the Government. There is nothing about the stamps to indicate value, the order in which they should be listed, or the department to which they belong.

NEW WORLDS TO CONQUER.

By D. B. ARMSTRONG.

If novelty is the spice of life, it is likewise the essence of popular Philately. New issues, new discoveries, and more particularly the rise of new stamp-issuing countries, serve to impart that topical element that renders stamp collecting a continuously "live" hobby.

In the career of every stamp collector comes a time when he is imbued with the desire to break away from the limitations of the printed album and try a prentice hand at philatelic specialism. If he is wise his choice will fall upon one of the newer and less exploited countries, so that not only can the foundations of a really ambitious specialised collection be laid at a minimum outlay, but it can afterwards be extended and developed in accordance with the country's philatelic progress.

In newer stamp-issuing countries there are greater probabilities of an early increase in the values of initial issues, instances in point being found in the Cayman Islands, British New Guinea and Papua, Tibet, the British Solomon Islands, and the Gilbert and Ellice Islands, to quote only a few recent examples.

Quite a number of new countries, or groups, with infinite possibilities from the view-point of the specialist in embryo, owe their origin to the Balkan Wars and to the Great War of 1914-1916. A few of the more important may be indicated here for the guidance and possible influence of philatelists on the look-out for New Worlds to Conquer:—

Albania: The postal issues of this distressful country, whilst not wholly free from the taint of speculation, are none the less both historically and philatelically interesting, and still provide a fruitful field for research. Many varieties are genuinely scarce.

Epirus: Another outcome of the Balkan imbroglio. An interesting and not too complicated group of issues, but little exploited by British philatelists.

Gilbert and Ellice Islands: Now that this Protectorate has been elevated to the dignity of a Crown Colony, further philatelic developments may be anticipated, and the present is therefore an opportune moment to undertake the formation of a moderately specialised collection. There are a number of elusive postmark varieties. The first set is still obtainable at a fairly moderate figure.

Morocco: Apart from the Foreign Postal Agencies, the Land of the Setting Sun has not hitherto figured prominently in the stamp album, since in most cases the purely local issues of the private posts are not provided for. Two or three issues have, however, recently appeared under the French Protectorate, and as the foreign post offices are being gradually closed down the collector intent upon group collecting might do worse than turn his attention to this country.

Australian Commonwealth: Already, with paper and other varieties, the stamps of the Australian Commonwealth form quite an imposing array, with the possibility of important innovations in the near future.

Persian Gulf (Bushire): The provisional stamps issued in Bushire during its brief occupation by the British were amongst the most discussed stamps of 1915, and incidentally seem likely to prove the scarcest. This is the first distinctive postage stamp issue to emanate from this region, but there are excellent reasons for believing that it will be by no means the last.

Nauru (Marshall Islands): "Specimen" copies are reported at the moment of writing of a set of six British postage and revenue stamps overprinted "Nauru" for use in the chief island of the Marshall group, formerly a German colony.

Chinese Turkestan: One of the very newest stamp-issuing states. At present Chinese Republican stamps overprinted in local currency are employed, but owing to the exigencies of exchange, a permanent issue is not improbable.

N. W. Pacific Islands: Now that a provisional issue, with this overprint, has been provided for use in the ex-German territories under Australian administration, further philatelic developments will doubtless follow on the conclusion of peace, when localised overprints may be adopted for the Commonwealth dependencies, as in the case of New Zealand.

Togo, New Britain, Samoa, Cameroons: These countries, transferred to Part I. of the Catalogue in consequence of recent political events, are likely to maintain their philatelic popularity for some considerable period, and their issues will never be lower in price than they are at present. The various settings and varieties of the overprints, despite all that has been published on the subject, still offer an excellent field for philatelic investigation. These four territories in particular may be regarded as "coming countries."

Poland: The solitary national postage stamp by which Poland has been represented for a great number of years has lately been augmented by special issues for the German and Austrian military post offices in operation there; whilst in Warsaw some local stamps for the municipal town post have just appeared.

Kelantan, Kedah, and Trengganu: An attractive series of British colonials whose philatelic history is as yet in its infancy.

Mexican Revolutionary Issues: These stamps already enjoy a very considerable amount of popularity with American collectors, and will repay the efforts of collectors who have a ready faculty for separating the wheat from the chaff.

These are a few only of the many philatelically young countries which in the writer's opinion hold possibilities for the would-be moderate specialist. There are, of course, in addition, the comprehensive and ever-increasing stamp issues of the Great War, with their subdivisions of Occupation, Red Cross, Charity, and Military stamps.—Stamp Collectors' Annual.

COUNTRY LOTS.

These are nice lots and easily worth their price. Last year we noticed that buyers were chary, ordering but one or two lots, but that every one came back with second orders very much larger, so we sold every lot finally. We have many more of these which space does not permit us to mention, many being smaller and cheaper. We will send a typewritten price list of these to any who ask it.

CHAPTER VII.—The New Imperial Post.

Such, then, was the postal service of the Empire up to 1897—the exclusive Imperial courier service, the Customs postal system, the private posts, the local posts, and the foreign postal agencies at the Treaty Ports—surely a good field for improvement.

As early as 1893 Sir Robert Hart, Chief of the Imperial Maritime Customs, recommended the establishment of a postal system for the Empire modeled upon the European pattern and the plan received the Emperor's approval. The proposed scheme intended that the service at the Treaty Ports should retain its connection with the Imperial Customs Department. For the other ports and the interior of the country the scheme was to have a Director of Posts for each province, with a deputy in each city of the first class, all these officials, as usual, to be non-residents appointed from Peking. Their assistants might be Chinese, but must be acquainted with the English language. In cities of the second or third rank, and the country towns, the post-offices were to be managed by the Chinese.

By the end of 1896, under the Imperial decree of March 20 of that year, arrangements had been completed; Sir Robert Hart had been appointed General Postal Director at Peking, and notifications and instructions were being sent out relative to the operation of the new system. The Customs post office at Peking was made the chief Imperial post-office and had control over all the Customs post-offices in the Treaty Ports, which were thereafter to be known as Imperial post-offices. As Shanghai was the most important Treaty Port, and naturally the most important office of transit, special officials were appointed for it and the general supervision of the postal service was placed in the hands of the Director of the Statistical Department, to whom all reports of postmasters, etc., were to be made. He in turn prepared them for the General Postal Director at Peking, who presented the final report to the Tsung-li Yamen.

With the advent of the new system came the closing of all the local posts, Shanghai included, and all transportation companies were notified that they were to receive mail matter for transmission only from Imperial post-offices, under penalty. In the inland districts, however, where the private postal establishments were practically the only facilities for forwarding the mails, the Imperial post-offices were to make special arrangements with them for such duty.

The Shanghai Local Post establishment, however, because of its importance and equipment for delivery and collection of mail, was taken over and operated by the new Imperial post, and the "Shanghai Local Post" cancellation is often found on the low values of the first two Imperial issues, showing their use on local postal matter in that city.

The foreign postal agencies were allowed to remain at the open ports, however, in a somewhat similar manner to the foreign post-offices in the Turkish and Levantine ports. But the inter-port mails were required to be given to an Imperial post-office for forwarding. For such inter-port mail matter, even if transmitted in the foreign office mails, only Chinese stamps were to be used. Special arrangements were made with Hongkong and Macao by which mail matter prepaid with Chinese stamps alone would hereafter be delivered without collecting any "postage due."

The Imperial offices at the Treaty Ports, as far as the rates on foreign mail matter applied, were considered as belonging to the Postal Union, but as China had not then joined the Union, although she notified the Berne office of her intention of doing so, the Imperial post-offices had, as before, to give the foreign mails to a foreign postal agency where they were supplied with the proper amount of Postal Union stamps before they entered the Postal Union mails as prepaid matter. Conversely, foreign mail matter arriving at a foreign postal agency had to be given to the Imperial post-office for delivery to the addressee; and if the latter was in an inland place the domestic rate from CANCELATION DESIGNS.

By WM. L. STEVENSON.

Just to live up the pages of the Journal and to take your minds off your troubles, if any, here are a few cancellations seen in my own collection and elsewhere. No guarantee goes as to the pedigrees of the animals represented. They are as near the cancellations as we could make them. Where there has been any real doubt, we have given the animal, or other design, the benefit of the doubt and improved it a bit.

If you know anything whatever as to where these designs come from or if you can add any information whatever of any kind, please let's have it.

So far as we know, we have avoided repicturing any very well known designs, such as the "kicking mule" of Port some more ornate, occur in this and several later issues. I have seen mighty few of any one design.

6. Star and Crescent. Possibly Turkish, possibly Masonic. 3c, 81. 2c, 83.

7. Pigeon. A real "carrier" cancellation. Used on small envelopes for billets doux from Rockford, Ill. 3c, 67.

8. Horse. A bit "off" in the legs and the tail a bit unnatural, etc., but a horse nevertheless. Some extra ink on the stamp may indicate that a man should be in attendance. Possibly this is simply the halter-shank hanging down. 3c, 67.

9. Elephant. The tail, in my specimen, falls off the stamp. The notches at the left are not anatomical but repre-

Townsend, etc. If we have repeated someone else we didn't mean to do it. We hope no feelings are seriously injured at any rate and will apologize if required.

1. Double interlacing triangles. 3c, 1851.

2. Single interlacing triangles. 3c, 73.

3. Lyre. From Canton, Mississippi, 3c, 57. There is another type of this lyre from the same place with the extensions missing from the sides of the frame and with three bars across the top. Yes. This postmaster who made this LYRE is the one accused of producing the latest added split provisionals of the catalogue. Any connection?

4. Plain grid. Not a remarkable design in some ways but of some interest as it seems unusual. 3c, 57. 3c, 61. Columbus, Ohio.

5. Masonic. Square and compass. 3c, 61. Variations, some more crude and sent where the cancellation ended with the stamp. Probably this, when complete, is quite a presentable elephant. 2c, 83.

10. Conventional leaf. 3c, 67. Some in several issues and in all sorts of variations. This is about the neatest of the truly conventional ones.

11. Clover. 3c, 73. Several designs of clover in this period, and possibly in others. This is the only one I have seen showing the veins.

12. Conventional leaf. Different style from most others. 3c, 73. I have seen this in this issue only.

Next time we will show more of them, possibly fifteen at one sitting. Then there are at least as many more already on tap. If you have anything you are especially proud of in the way of a cancellation, tell us about it. Possibly there will be room for it in this gallery. —Collectors' Journal.

THE NEW BARBADOS STAMPS.

(A New York subscriber, J. R. Wilson, sends us the following clipping from a Barbados paper. It is interesting in the fact that it gives us a bit of local opinion as to the merit of the new issue.—Ed.)

A new issue of Barbados stamps of extraordinarily ugly and inartistic design has just been made. The penny stamp is a very large and ungainly size, some of the plates are evidently defective as the "T" in Regnantes does not show and the "D" in Barbados appears unfinished. The designer has a figure, apparently King George, sitting one-sided on a kind of tumbrel with the tires gone from the spokes of the wheel, holding at arm's length a huge trident; the left hand, apparently resting on his knee, holds a slack pair of reins by which two sea horses, one of which seems to be harnessed by the nose. The other elements of the harnessing to the car have evidently been forgotten by the artist.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Carroll J. Agnew, Philadelphia, Pa., who advertised with us quite regularly last season, branches out this week with displayed advertising and will be heard from regularly during the coming months. Mr. Agnew has proven a very satisfactory advertiser and no complaint of any kind has ever been filed against him. We consider him a reliable party with whom to do business and recommend him to the favorable consideration of our patrons.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Hollis Thacher, George A. Kump, S. D. Blake, and F. C. Turner.

—A foreign correspondent of the WEEKLY is anxious to procure some of the 12c stamps in the copper-red color, and if any of our subscribers can indicate to us post offices where they may be secured we shall greatly appreciate the favor. These stamps show quite a distinct tinted back.

JAMAICA WAR STAMPS.

On some few sheets of the early printings of the 1/4d War Stamp, the spaced W and AR variety appears on the 55th stamp of the 3rd pane, and the no period variety on the 44th stamp of the same pane. A sheet of 240 (four panes of 60) is surcharged at one operation.

In the July printing on the blue green stamp, the small "P" variety is on the first stamp of the second pane, and the no period variety on the 7th stamp of the fourth pane.

The postal authorities at Kingston have refused in some cases to fill large orders from dealers, requesting them to wait until others arrive from London. Perhaps we are to have a London surcharge.—HARRY E. HUBER.

EDITORIAL.

Change—An important change has been made in the manner in which the Treasury Department is sending currency from Washington to the national banks throughout the country. Some time ago, the new and "washed" currency was sent by express, but later it was transferred by mail. On the packages from Washington the postage was paid by stamps of the higher denominations, and to this fact it was due in some measure that the 9, 11, 20, 30, 50 cents and $1 values are comparatively plentiful. The use of postage stamps is now dispensed with, and Permit No. 111 of Washington, D. C., is impressed on penalty envelopes of several kinds. The first line of the "permit" is "C. Paid", and the amount of the postage is filled in with ink. One form before us has "220" inserted in it and on another insured and registered official label are the lines: "By directions of the Post Office Department these articles are to be handled and accorded the same treatment as Registered Mail." We thank Mr. Milton D. Smith for examples of the permits. Mr. Geo. G. Umstead says: when sending a permit: "This no doubt will cause the higher values of U. S. stamps to go up in price, as the government used a great number of these stamps in sending the money to the national banks all over the country."

Mexico—The postmaster-general of Mexico, Cosme Hinojosa, recently in Chicago says that in January, 1917, a new and permanent set will be issued, thereby closing for some years the somewhat tempestuous philatelic history of Mexico. An emission of the kind will do much to clear the atmosphere, which is becoming somewhat clouded with doubt. Senor Hinojosa evidently feels that he is within his rights in handling the Mexican issues in quantity, notwithstanding that his activity in this regard may be looked askant by collectors, but it was strongly represented to him that such a course persisted in will have a sinister effect on the reputation of the stamps. While Senor Hinojosa was not concerned in the issue of the Oaxaca provisionals, he gives them a clean bill of health.

Visitors—When Senor Hinojosa was in Chicago, the guest of Mr. A. Rotenberg, Mr. A. O. Tittman and Mr. S. B. Hopkins were there. These two gentlemen are greatly interested in the recent Mexican issues and are convinced that while some of the irregularities in connection with scattered stamps make them objects of suspicion, yet that the virtues of the great majority thereby are in no way impaired. The hope is expressed that no handicap will be placed on the popularity of the stamps by official methods that may be criticised and there is strong likelihood that a check has been imposed upon any further attempts that will be likely to bring discredit upon the issues.

Adjusted—Several weeks ago, we mentioned briefly, on the authority of a Mexican postmaster, that the coach type stamps of Sonora in all values was prepared for use in Lower California. This statement was tantamount to saying that the Dutch had taken Holland, as the existence of the stamps in question was generally known. Instead, the more or less momentous information should have been given to the effect that the very small surcharge, "Gobierno Constitucionalista", in letters about a millimeter high, that we chronicled a good while ago through the courtesy of Mr. Hugh C. Barr, on the 5 centavos, federal type, for use in Lower California, exists practically on the entire federal set, through the 50 centavos. At any rate, the 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 15, 20, and 50 centavos surcharged with the overprint in black or purple or both colors, have been seen as having come from an authentic source. It may be remembered that Mr. Barr first noticed the existence of this surcharge on the 5 centavos, federal type, when a number of the stamps came to him in the regular course of business, in payment for a subscription to his publication.

There—We have been receiving philatelic news from several correspondents in West Indian waters with particular reference to the stamps of Haiti. Writing from the seat of trouble, as it were, Robert A. Wilson, 17th Co., 2nd Regt., U. S. M. C., says: "Although the emission of 1914 stamps of Haiti are seen in the United States and were authorized by the congress of Haiti, yet they were never actually in use. According to postal officials, the full shipment of the stamps was never delivered. When the stamps were ordered by the president, they were shipped by a Royal Dutch West India mail steamer which docked at Port-au-Prince just at the time the president was killed. The stamps were unloaded and stored in the custom-house when the rebels captured it. Some high officials promptly confiscated the stamps and large quantities were offered at cut prices. However, only a part were sold, and upon the entrance of the U. S. landing forces in Port-au-Prince, the stamps were kept in official hands. Nevertheless, these stamps were never good for postage, even though a comparatively few of them may have passed through the mails. In June, 1916, Congress passed a bill to relieve the scarcity of stamps. One member of the Banque National d'Haiti and three other officers of finance were appointed a board to surcharge all the stamps except a 15c, in order that they might become available for postage. I have the 1, 3, 5, and 10c, but know nothing about the 15c. The issue of 1898 was done much the same way. These details have been vouched for by different officers, and may interest you." Mr. Wilson adds that the postmark used in Santo Domingo by the U. S. S. Dolphin is similar to the postmark used previously in Haiti.

Muddled—Stamp conditions in Haiti are very much involved at present, and the indications are that there will be many varieties produced as a consequence of the demoralizing influences that have held sway. So soon as order prevails, we hope to give particulars of the stamps recently prepared or now in use. In Haiti, the sale of postage stamps is under the direction of the Banque National d'Haiti, as the bank vaults are to be trusted preferably to those of the post office. In fact, in some sections of the island, we are told that the post office is not the first place that one would go for a stamp; rather the bank or a tobacconist would be the more likely to be visited.

* * *

Early—The advance sheets of the coming new edition of the standard catalogue in this country have begun to make their appearance, thereby giving promise of the publication of the catalogue itself, somewhat earlier than usual. Price changes are not so numerous as anticipated; and in the United States section there are no spectacular increases to catch the eye. The popular favorites, the 5 and 10c, 1847, have been advanced to $2.50 and $6.00, respectively, and that good old standby, the 6 cent Proprietary, has been boosted from $50 to $60. Some of the early Austrian stamps are given a deserved price promotion.

* * *

Chile—From Sr. Braulio Bittencourt, Valparaiso, Chile, we have received the 10c blue and black with lithographed frame of the set whose lower values were received some time ago. From another source we have seen a Chilean envelope, sent from Antofagasta to

THE DEALER AND HIS STOCK.

By BILL BLOSS.

(This series of articles is designed to help the prospective dealer in his attempt to gain a footing as a representative leader in the stamp trade. The several chapters will treat with the elementary principles in stamp dealing and should prove very helpful! Questions will be gladly answered.—Ed.)

CHAPTER I.—Foreword.

In taking up this subject, we will assume that the reader has had no actual experience as a stamp dealer, but that he has some knowledge of stamps as a collector, and that he has a large quantity of ambition and determination. Without these assets, he cannot hope to succeed. As practically all dealers started out as collectors, it is safe to make the first assumption. At any rate, no one can hope to build up a successful business in a line he does not understand.

The ambition and determination are equally important factors. The stamp business is vastly different in many respects from any other line of business. At first thought, the collector is apt to be impressed with the "easy money" in the stamp business. Dealers with experience will confirm me when I say that there is no more "easy money" in the stamp business than in any other line. The money is there, but it requires labor and head-work to get it. However, I believe that the same money, say $5,000 or so, invested in the stamp business that is invested in some other small business, will bring considerably larger returns. Of course, I do not mean to imply that such an outlay of capital is necessary. In fact, it would be sheer folly to consider such an expenditure until experience was gained.

If it is the intention of the reader to start a stamp business, and to push it to the heights of success, let him keep those heights in view and plug for them. When discouragement enters the game, the only way to overcome it is to take it outside and gently but firmly exterminate it. Otherwise, it will exterminate even the best of ambitions. When you make a "bad deal" remember that you were not the only one to make such a mistake. Bear in mind that every dealer has had the same troubles. Keep your eye on that high place, and devote your energies to building up the business that will reach to that height.

Make Your Business Better.

Don't be satisfied with a few sales to a few collectors. Go after big sales from every collector. Aim to give satisfaction to every one you do business with, except yourself. Aim to make your methods the best. When you accomplish something you have worked hard for, do not be satisfied that you have succeeded in that, but aim a little higher, and accomplish something bigger. If you start out to put out the best line of approvals in the business, do it. When you have accomplished it, start out to make them better.

In the stamp business, like every other business, there are many obstacles to be overcome. The rule of life is the survival of the fittest. The stamp business is no exception. Remember that these obstacles are put there to prove whether you are fit to be a success, and to share in the spoils of success. At heart, you believe you are capable of doing anything you set out to do. If you did not believe this, you would not set out to do it. When you meet a loss, even though it wipes you out, get busy and make it up. The picking will be slow and hard, but the longer you stick to it, the easier it will become.

The same basic rules apply in the stamp business as apply in any line of business.

Honesty Must Be The Foundation.

Of course, in these days of keen competition, every one will realize that the mere honesty is not enough. Don't only be honest. Give absolute satisfaction and stand back of every deal, with a money-back guarantee. Business Integrity is equally important. Use the same strict business methods in this business that you would in any other, and demand them from those with whom you deal. Keep your eye on your "credit department" and keep your credit with the wholesaler. When you agree to pay in thirty days, live up to your agreement. Credit plays an important part in business, and must be respected in order to be retained. Keep your finger on the costs and sales end of your business, the same as you would in a hardware store, a clothing business, or any other line. Watch every expenditure, and cut out the unnecessary ones. Don't buy stock unless you can see a quick profit. Use modern methods in carrying on your stamp business. (Detailed information on the subject of systems will appear at an early date.) Use your head when you prepare an advertisement or publicity campaign. Any old thing will not bring the best results. Anything short of the best results means a waste of your money.

One great reason why the stamp business does not command more respect from the world is that the average dealer does not use progressive methods, the same as the clothier, grocer, merchant, or manufacturer. Taken as a whole, the Stamp Dealers Are Behind the Times.

There are quite a number of enterprising dealers who are making good, however, and more are joining this number. They are getting the business, and this is only fair. If the dealer wants to sleep, no one should disturb him! More than one home-loving spider has picked out the doorway of a stamp shop to build his roost, and if the stamp dealer does not object, certainly no one else should. Remember, Rip Van Winkle was the only man who ever gained fame for sleeping.

If the average stamp dealer were asked his profit on a certain stamp, or even collection, the chances are that he could not give it accurately. Ask a merchant what he paid for any line, even a spool of thread, and he can tell you. Why not in the stamp business? It can be done.

Statistics show that there are Many Thousands of Collectors.

These include men in all walks of life, rich and poor. The stamp business is a clean, interesting field of work. It is little known to the general public, and does not command a great deal of respect for this reason, but the money is there, just the same. If a man is known to be honest in his dealings, and is engaged in an honorable industry, he will gain the respect of his fellow man, whether he be a cobbler or a captain of industry. More than one great man in this country is fond of collecting, and the business of supplying stamps to collectors should no more be despised than the business of supplying jewels or paintings. In fact, these three are, in my mind, closely allied. In cold reality, none of them are of use to the world. A man may collect stamps, jewels or paintings, but he has the same object in view,—to secure something handsome to look upon.

Diamonds are beautiful, but they are no more useful than a canceled stamp. They will neither clothe nor nourish the body. They are merely ornaments. Why then should a stamp dealer not command the same respect as a jeweler?

Don't Be Ashamed of Your Business.

If you are, you have a barrier to overcome that will prevent you from reaching success. If you seek success, make yourself known. If you are ashamed to be known as a stamp dealer, quit the game, and let someone else take your place. We'll never miss you.

Perhaps it would be well to caution the new dealer against over-buying, since I have preached ambition and determination. Don't let these two virtues overcome you. Too much is as bad as too little. If you rush off and buy everything you see in order to have a big stock, you will find yourself a dumping ground for trash, and will be short of money when "that bargain" comes along. Take it easy, and only buy such items as you can see a use for, and buy them in small quantities. Be conservative, even though you are ambitious.

Edited by HENRY A. KIDDER.

Information regarding new issues gratefully received. Address HENRY A. KIDDER, Arlington, Mass. Letters calling for a reply should contain a self-addressed stamped envelope. We cannot give addresses of our correspondents.

CANADA.—In re a recent statement in the WEEKLY by Mr. Perry, Bright & Son, write:

"We have lately seen an article which appeared in your paper of April 29, on Canadian War Tax stamps by Gladstone Perry. We notice he mentioned the 5c, 20c and 50c issued on Feb. 12, 1915, for one day only as revenue stamps, but makes no mention whether these were ever authorized for postage use. We have seen undoubtedly postally used copies of these stamps with registered postmarks which have been noted in the English papers, and if not already chronicled by you, think they may interest your readers."

Last week we chronicled the 3c W. T. perforated 8x12. Mrs. Oughtred in sending us a specimen of the stamp says that only a small quantity was issued, the sheets having plate numbers 1 and 2. We are also indebted to E. H. Patterson and Gladstone Perry.

CHINA.—Maury's Collectionneur notes that the 1c and 4c post cards have been issued with an overprint signifying "Shang Tung" in Chinese characters.

GUATEMALA.—Edwin W. Fuss sends us a clipping from the new Postoffice Guide of Guatemala, giving the new postal rates which are three times the former rates. Local letters are sent at a cost of 12½ centavos, letters to the interior at 25 centavos and foreign letters at $1.50, Guatemala currency. This is for 15 grams, or about one-half ounce, for local and interior mail, and 20 grams for foreign mail. Part of the increase is no doubt due to the debase-ment of the local currency. Mr. Fuss calls attention to the fact that there is no place for the 6c value in the new tariff. This is corroborated by a letter to Mr. Fuss from a correspondent, who says that the surcharges of this value are no longer being printed, and it is difficult to get them in Guatemala City.

JAMAICA.—Edmund S. Wright reports having found a ½d War stamp with the top of the "R" in "War" badly broken.

MEXICO.—Hermann Focke has shown us several philatelic novelties from "below the line". First, and most important is a new engraved 1c stamp, possibly the first of the long promised series. In the main, the design is the same as the recent lithographed series though more carefully worked out in detail. The new stamp is 20x26 mm., while the lithographed was 19x23½ mm. The usual imprint of the engraved series, "Oficina del Gobierno," is printed below each stamp. The color is mauve, in sharp distinction to the familiar purple of the lithographed stamps.

Mr. Focke also sends other varieties of recent Mexican issues, including: The 1c with surcharge 10c on a distinct blue paper, which may, or may not, be due to insufficient cleaning of the plate used for the surcharge, still the colouring of the paper is so even, that the stamp might be regarded a variety; and the 5c with the surcharge of 20c in a decided jet black, as against the original brown color of the surcharge.

Adhesive.
1c mauve.

NEW ZEALAND.—Last week we noted the fact that the new 2d and 4d stamps have been found perforated 14x14½ and 14x13½. Bright & Son write us that the 14x14 perforation reported in the Postage Stamp was a mistake.

It may interest readers to know that these two perforations come on the same sheet, the four top rows being perforated 14x13½ and the six bottom rows are perforated 14x14½. One can therefore get on every sheet 12 vertical pairs showing the two perforations together. It would be interesting to know whether the other values of the King George New Zealand set were perforated in the same way.

SPAIN.—Ewen's Weekly gives the following translation from the Schweizer Briefmarken Zeitung:—A special series of stamps for the Post Office Savings Department, which has only recently been introduced into Spain, has just appeared of which we have the 5c value. It is a very ordinary looking stamp. At the top of the adhesive is the Spanish Royal crown, guarded either side by the horn of cornucopia. Underneath on a small flag is the word "ESPANA", at the side a money-box and a winged-letter. On a band which borders the stamp are the words "CAJA POSTAL DE AHORROS". The inscription repeated about 32 times in very small characters forms the background of the stamp.

SHORT-PAID LETTERS FOR NEW ZEALAND.

WASHINGTON, July 27, 1916.

The following notice was issued April 17, 1915, (Daily Bulletin No. 10716 of the 19th of April, 1915, and Postal Guide for May, 1915), and, in view of reports reaching the Department that many letters prepaid at the United States domestic rate continue to be received in New Zealand from this country, said notice is repeated for the special attention of postmasters with regard to letters for New Zealand, as letters for New Zealand are subject to the Postal Union rate of 5 cents for the first ounce or fraction thereof and 3 cents for each additional ounce or fraction thereof and not to the United States domestic rate:

"Notwithstanding special attention has been called repeatedly through official publications of the Department and also through the press to the rates of postage applicable to articles mailed in the United States addressed for delivery abroad, the Department continues to receive complaints on account of the receipt in foreign countries of much short-paid mail from the United States. Postmasters are directed again, therefore, to give the widest possible publicity to the rates of postage applicable to articles for foreign countries as indicated on page 116 of the Postal Guide for July, 1914, and to the regulation which requires the collection of double the amount of the deficient postage upon the delivery of short-paid articles in international mails. Whenever it is practicable to do so, postmasters shall also promptly inform the senders of short-paid articles mailed at their offices of the amount necessary fully to prepay the postage on such articles and to hold the articles until the senders supply the necessary postage stamps or specifically authorize the dispatch of the articles as short-paid.

"As the failure properly to prepay letters for foreign countries appears to be the result in many cases of an erroneous impression as to the application of the United States domestic rate, postmasters should adopt all measures practicable to give notice to the public that the only destinations to which the two-cent letter rate applies are Canada, Cuba, Mexico, Republic of Panama, the Canal Zone, Bahamas, Barbados, British Guiana, British Honduras, Dutch West Indies, Leeward Islands, Newfoundland, Germany (by direct steamers only), England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland, and the City of Shanghai, China; and that to all other places the rate is five cents for the first ounce or fraction of an ounce and three cents for each additional ounce or fraction of an ounce, which must be fully prepaid or the letters become liable on delivery to a

THE CARLIST STAMPS.

Were the Carlist stamps recognised by the Spanish Government?

No. If the Government had recognised the stamps, that would have acknowledged the right of the "Pretender to the Throne," Don Carlos I., and have raised his supporters from the position of Rebels to that of "Recognised Belligerents."

Hints on Stamp Collecting says: "During the Civil War, 1873-75, stamps of various types were issued by the Carlists in the districts occupied by them in the provinces of Biscay, Navarre, Catalonia and Valencia."

The names of the two last mentioned provinces appear on two types, but all stamps have the head of Don Carlos. At the height of his successes he is represented with a laurel wreath, the Napoleonic French postage stamps being apparently used as a pattern.

The first Carlist stamp, the 1 real, blue, made its debut in 1873. Of this issue there are two distinct types, the second of which has an accent over the "N" in "Espana". The ½ real stamp for Valencia has a narrow lined and wide lined background, so that the whole set of revolutionary stamps numbers eight distinct varieties, exclusive of shades. As the then occupied districts are coast provinces, many of the stamps were probably used for conveying letters by sea, and as the rebellion lasted a considerable time, several of these historic mementos are unused fairly common, although great caution must be exercised in buying used copies. There are a large amount of remainders in existence, and the first issue (the blue 1 real) was largely reprinted privately since 1881.—Stamp Collector.

Your chance! A "warm weather bargain" for someone. Part of dealers surplus of high grade stock. One lot only, consisting of good stamps, and no junk whatsoever, being mainly high grade items such as old U. S., British Colonials, old European, Africa, War stamps, etc., many of the lot cataloguing 50c, $1.00, $2.00 each and over, as well as many at 10 to 25c each. There are so few duplicates in this parcel, that it is a splendid bargain for collector or dealer alike. Hardly any of these could be bought for less than half catalog, yet the catalog value is many times the price, and space will not permit me to enumerate all the good things in this lot. As I do not deal in original covers, I will throw in for good measure a lot of old U. S. on original envelopes, also Foreign covers with censor marks and labels, Mexican Revolutionary, South American, etc. Only one of these bargain parcels on hand, and to clear at once, first check or money order for $17.50 takes the whole package, charges prepaid. THE OTHER SIDE OF THE QUESTION.

By HUBERT LYMAN CLARK.

(The article written by Mr. Cullis in a recent issue of the WEEKLY is no doubt fresh in the minds of our readers. We feel constrained to publish the following rejoinder by Mr. Clark.—Ed.)

I have read and pondered on the article in MEKEEL'S for July 15 entitled "Some Experiences and a Moral," by "E. Cullis," and the more I think about it the less I like it. If it were to be read only by dealers, I should not feel called on to take exception to it, but since it will be read by thousands of collectors, some of whom may not as yet have had any experience with dealers, I beg to rise in defence of my friend, The Dealer.

I have not had as long an experience as "Mr. Cullis," for I have only been collecting about eight years, and my financial condition does not warrant my being a "liberal spender." But I have had business relations, both buying and selling, with more than fifty dealers, of whom fourteen are in foreign countries. Most of these dealers advertise in MEKEEL'S of course; that's how I got hold of them. In all these eight years I have seldom had an unpleasant experience and I have rarely had occasion to fairly doubt the honesty of the man with whom I was doing business. I know of no line of trade in which the dealer has to depend so much on the reliability of his customer as in the stamp business, and to my mind it is remarkable how few causes of complaint there are. I could recount many instances of frankness and courtesy, and of generous dealing which I have experienced. If it were permissible, I would like to publish the names of firms and individuals who seem to me models of business honesty, courtesy and good sense.

The last instance of mistreatment given by "Mr. Cullis" is such a gross example of dishonesty that in my opinion the writer should publish the name of the dealer concerned provided he is sure of the facts. I find it very difficult to believe that any dealer whom I know would do such a contemptible thing.

In closing, it may perhaps be permitted me to make one little complaint. Why don't dealers "follow up" a customer? The great majority of the fifty dealers referred to have never sent me more than one or two selections. Finding that what I wanted was a "side-line" a little out of the ordinary, they have simply dropped me. The first dealer to whom I wrote has never forgotten me. I may go several months without hearing from him but sooner or later, a lot comes to rejoice my heart. But there are hardly more than a dozen dealers who have persisted in keeping me "on the list." Presumably I am not able to spend enough to warrant the attention I covet! A prominent western dealer wrote in response to my inquiry why he no longer sent me stamps, that I was only one of ten thousand customers and shouldn't expect any special attention. Our dealings ended then and there! But it would be hard to estimate the amount of satisfying pleasure my dealer friends have given me in these eight years past.

VIRGIN ISLANDS BOOKLET.

(The philatelic magazines of Great Britain have given our handbook on Virgin Islands very favorable notices and the clipping below is from the "Stamp Collectors Quarterly," the new magazine edited by Derek Ingram. The price of this booklet is only 10c.—Ed.)

This little book, the fourteenth of Messrs. Mekeel's series, should prove a most valuable guide to the postage stamps of the Leeward group known as the Virgin Islands. Always a favourite subject with collectors, the Virgin Islands issues yet comprise quite a large number of extremely scarce stamps, and, in a chapter on "Rare Stamps at Normal Prices," the author of this handbook seeks to impress upon his readers that all the earlier issues are rarer than the catalogue quotations suggest. In fact, they are much rarer than is generally supposed. The handbook is divided into twenty chapters, treating with the geographical and historical standpoints, the mysterious design itself, postal statistics, British adhesives used in the Islands, remainders, forgeries, and bogus stamps, postmarks, etc., the whole forming a very readable and instructive guide. It is, indeed, a veritable vademecum for the collector of Virgin Islands stamps.

In consideration of the fact that mail to and from European countries is very uncertain and the exportation of philatelic material from some of those countries is strictly forbidden it is considered advisable to suspend operations of the purchasing department of the society for the present; consequently all efforts to secure an agent for this department will also be suspended.

WITH THE NEW PHILATELIST.

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 2729 Hampden Court, Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

J. E. C.—Almost all postmasters will supply stamps if money order is sent, together with list of stamps wanted, and self-addressed envelope for return mail. Postage and Registration for return mail should be included, otherwise it will be deducted. It is advisable to address your letters to postmasters in the large cities or the capital of the country. I should hesitate to send money to many of the South American countries or to the warring nations. British Colonies are good countries to import stamps from.

H. J. B.—The stamp you picture is a label issued by the National Return Letter Association and is without value. This association undertook to handle mail returned for non-delivery. The number 1139 is no doubt the subscriber's number. This system was not successful and did not live long.

H. C. M.—I have never had much trouble in distinguishing single and multiple chalkies. I am more apt to hold the stamp to the light than I am to use benzine and by a very careful examination, either by light or benzine, can usually make out the watermark. I know of no fixed rule for overcoming this difficulty. The color watermark detector offered by Lincoln, the London dealer, might be useful in some cases. This is a part of the science that requires practice more than anything else. I can generally tell by the general appearance of the stamp, regarding shade, etc., though of course this cannot be depended upon.

Dr. R. C. F.—Your Sweden stamp watermarked P. O. is caused by the poor placing of the sheet on the press, so that the stamp was printed on the margin of the sheet. These varieties are quite uncommon, but are known. Even though the sheet is unwatermarked otherwise, there is an inscription on the margin. This also accounts for the name of the paper-maker being watermarked on certain Canadian stamps.

R. H. P.—"Variety is the spice of life." Fortunately for philately, we do not all care for the same thing. There is no explanation for this. I hold that a collector can collect any country in the world and get enjoyment from the hobby. Personally I would not collect the stamps of Persia and I dislike Native Indian States, and I am fond of Colombian Republic and Nicaragua, while one of my very good friends has a most enjoyable time collecting and studying the Native India and Persias, and looks with pity on my Colombias. We are both right. What would philately be if we were all U. S. collectors, or all wanted to collect early Netherlands or Sydney views. Of course, the popularity of U. S. is based primarily on patriotism, while the stability of the issues and the strong prices maintained affect the standing somewhat. On the other hand, the more complicated and speculative states are not as popular because of those facts. That is the only explanation I have to offer. If you are interested in Germany, you will collect German stamps, in all probability. If you are interested in Argentine or Greece, you will collect the stamps of those nations. All of which gives Mr. Dealer a chance to clean out his stock and make his profit.

(2) The letter G.R.I. signify Georgius Rex Imperator, meaning Imperial King George. The letters G. C. M. signify Gobierno Constitucionalista Mexico, or Constitutional Government of Mexico.

(3) Telegraph stamps are priced high principally for the reason that the Scott Company chooses to price them that way, and as the book is their work, they have the right to price them as they wish. However, many telegraph stamps are very rare, though in little demand. In fact, many are much rarer than price would indicate, as you will find out if you ever try to complete them. However, like a four footed duck, they may be rare, but who will pay the price unless he wants them? If you find the right collector, he will buy them at a good figure, for anything can be sold to someone at a good price. Probably you haven't found the right one, for sometimes he is as rare as the stamps.

(4) U. S. stamp designs are really not changed as often as those in some other countries, considering the vast number used. As the plates wear out, it becomes necessary to make new ones, and usually each P. M. G. has his own ideas regarding the beauty of a stamp, and accordingly is apt to order a change when the occasion offers. Aren't you glad they do?

(5) Parcel Post stamps were discontinued because their use was unnecessary and proved an inconvenience to the public. Their purpose was to act as a check on the business done by the parcel post, and as sufficient data was collected in the period they were in use, it was unnecessary to use them further. Registration stamps were discontinued because they were also unnecessary and somewhat inconvenient. The Merry Widow Special Delivery stamp was discontinued because the size and color caused it to be confused with the ordinary 1c stamp, resulting in a delay of special delivery mail. The 13c value was discontinued shortly after the registration rate was increased from eight cents to ten cents. This value was intended for use on foreign registered mail, requiring thirteen cents postage, and when the increased rate made fifteen cents postage necessary, there was very little use for a thirteen cent stamp.

(6) I do not know the reason for the very unattractive appearance of the current revenue stamps, unless it is to save a little of the cost of the finer appearing specimens. Of course, the large numerals show up to good advantage, but beyond this I cannot account for the crude appearance of these stamps.

(7) There is no organized method of starting collectors for the reason that the stamp trade is not organized, or rather is very recently organized. The A. S. D. A. may at some future date take up the work of starting collectors. Until very recently every dealer was out for himself and could afford to spend very little money in "missionary" work. However, now that the dealers' association is organized, a campaign of this nature would not come amiss. I would suggest that you take the matter up with Mr. Clarence V. Webb, Perry, Ohio, who is Secretary of the A. S. D. A.

K. A. K.—Your stamp inscribed "comunicaciones" is from Spain. The "young girl" is King Alfonso, in his younger days.

BACK IN THE HARNESS.

After a very busy season, both in and out of town, in which little time could be devoted to stamps and philately, the writer is again able to take up the work of editing this page, and will be glad to answer any questions on stamps that may be troubling any of the readers. During the past few months, owing to unsettled conditions and several removals, I was quite unable to handle correspondence, and no doubt some escaped my attention entirely, for which I am duly sorry. However, I am now in position to devote a limited amount of time to work of this nature, and will be pleased to hear from any reader, whether it be a question, suggestion, complaint, or just a letter. Whenever possible, I prefer to answer questions through the columns of this paper, but will answer privately when postage accompanies the letter. Only, please write often and do not send twenty-five or thirty questions at once.

If you were trying to please the ten thousand readers of this paper, what would you give them? Write and tell me what you would put in this column, or what you would like to see in it. Do you like articles about philately in general, or "write-ups" of special countries, or "philatelic fiction" or what?

For every suggestion made which can be accepted, I shall be pleased to send a few stamps worth having to the collector offering the suggestion. I'll promise to use every suggestion that I think will prove of interest to the readers of this paper,—so get busy and sell your ideas.

PRECANCEL NOTES.

W. C. MALONE.

Among the new precancels I have seen lately are most all values below 30 cents from the grape juice city, Westfield, N. Y. They are printed in small capitals between lines and are rather poor prints on most of the stamps I have seen, they being blurred.

A number of collectors I know are specializing, on a small scale, in the first or small type issue of Newark, N. J. There are a number of varieties of this issue, there being three distinct types, the difference being in the space between the letters N. J. In Type I the letters are rather close together (NJ), in Type II they are a little further apart (N J), and in Type III they are still further apart (N J). There are inverts of most of these and a few doubles, and some of them in both perforations, 12 m.m. and 10 m.m., so altogether the possible varieties in this issue would make a small collection in itself but some of them are quite scarce if not really rare.

Recently I have seen a few values from Henderson, Ky., printed in a small but clear type between lines. These were evidently used during the past Christmas season. Lexington, Ky., is now using the large block type, which is much easier to distinguish than the former roller type reading up and down.

West Grove, Pa., seems to use several different sizes of type in printing precancels. I have noticed three different sizes on the regular issues and I have a strip of three 5 cent parcel post from there, each being printed in a different type. They are evidently printed from typeset forms.

Most precancel collectors think that inverts are caused by the printer making a mistake and feeding the sheet of stamps in the press upside down but such is not often the case. As most collectors know, the stamps are originally printed in large sheets of 400 and then cut into four sheets of 100 each, leaving two wide margins perforated and two narrow and straight edged. When the printer sets the electrotpe plate or typeset form for printing the precancels, say he first prints a sheet with straight edges at the left hand side and bottom, the precancels being printed normal, and the next lot of sheets printed have straight edges at the top and the right hand side, unless he has instructions to print them only normal, he will save the time of changing his form and turn the sheets over and feed them into the press upside down so as to make the type on the plate or form fit the stamps squarely.

I have two different types from Three Rivers, Mich., both new. The first is printed in large capitals between lines reading up and down and the other in small capitals between horizontal lines. I also have some from Three Rivers precanceled with the office stamp.

Menominee, Mich., is now using a precancel with the full name spelled out. It is a small print between lines. Formerly that office precanceled with a large letter M only.

Sag Harbor, N. Y., is now using precancels. I have several of the higher values from there including the 9c, 11c and 12c, in the large block type.

Yonkers, N. Y., still precancels with lines, four to the stamp. I obtained several values from there last Christmas and have seen some more lately. I have them with the lines running both horizontally and vertically.

A. P. S. PROXIES.

Several subscribers have already sent the Managing Editor their A. P. S. proxies and we wish to say that we shall be very glad to serve any members who may wish to use us in this manner. It will not be necessary for the proxy sender to affix the 10c revenue stamp that is called for, as the society will itself furnish the stamps needed from its general fund. Any instructions will be carefully complied with.

Collection of 12,000 varieties consisting of 7,800 varieties in two volumes of Scott's International albums, and 4200 varieties of 20th Century mounted in two volumes of Scott's 20th Century International albums. There is about $200.00 Face Value among the low values alone, and the total catalog value of the collection ought to be in the neighborhood of at least $2500.00. This collection was made by a collector; it was not made up by a dealer with a view of selling it at a low price. It is a splendid collection, the albums are Morocco bound and the condition of the stamps is good. There may be a few damaged, but they are the exception.

Our net cash price for the collection is $500.00, which is about one-fifth of the catalog value. Terms cash.

Revised for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.
POSTAGE STAMPS OF THE CANAL ZONE.
By WILLIAM EVANS.

CHAPTER VIII—Fifth Series, Continued
Eight Cents On Fifty Centavos.

This is a new setting of the "8cts." surcharge. It was issued April 23rd, 1906, and there were 20,000 stamps of this printing. Concerning this stamp Dr. Perry says:

"Another printing of the 8 cent has also been issued, and this differs from all others in the following essential points. The figure "8" is long and narrow in proportion to its length, in fact is larger than in any previous printing. The "cts" is closer to the figure "8" and the letters are smaller than those in the first and second printing, and slightly larger than in the third printing."

There is no period after "cts". The stamps are on the third Panama series.

This surcharge is easily distinguished from the former stamps of this value. The "8" differs materially in shape and size from the first two "8 cts" and the third Panama type is used instead of the fourth as in those two issues. It resembles more the third "8cts." i. e., that of the fourth series but can be readily differentiated from that stamp, which is upon the third Panama type, by the absence of the period.

Being upon the third type of Panama surcharge we find the characteristic errors of that type here. It is not necessary to enumerate them at this place. They will be given in the reference list.

The "CANAL ZONE" surcharge which as usual was printed upon one hundred stamps at once, presents the following errors: "CANAL" in wrong font on No. 26; "Z" of "ZONE" in wrong font on No. 32; "E" of "ZONE" broken on No. 33; "L" of "CANAL" wrong font on No. 42; "ZONE" in wrong font on No. 48; and "N" of "CANAL" in wrong font No. 65.

There is also one error in the "8 cts" surcharge. One stamp of this issue has been found having this surcharge double. This stamp was upon a cover and it is not known how many of this variety were issued, but it is probable that all were used and that very few will be recovered.

The reference list is:

8c on 50c bistre brown ("PANAMA" reading up).

a—"PANAMA" reading up and down (1, 51).

b—"PANAMA" 15 mm. long.

c—"PANAMA" 1st and 3rd "A" at right large (3, 4, 44, 53, 54, 94).

d—"PANAMA" 1st and 3rd "A" both sides large (5, 55).

e—"All 'A's' at left large (6, 7, 56, 57).

i—"1st 'A' at left inverted "V" (11, 18, 61, 68).

j—"2nd 'A' at right inverted "V" (3, 34, 44, 53, 84, 94).

k—"3rd 'A' at left inverted "V" (14, 25, 64, 73).

m—"N" at right inverted (12, 40, 62, 90).

q—"P" at right wrong font (49, 99).

t—"8cts" double (one known).

u—"CANAL" in wrong font (26).

v—"Z" in wrong font (32).

w—"E" broken (33).

x—"L" in wrong font (42).

y—"ZONE" in wrong font (48).

z—"N" in wrong font (65).

aa—No bar on stamp.

CHAPTER IX.—Sixth Series.

This series consists of only one stamp, eight cents on fifty centavos, which differs very materially from all other issues of this value. It was issued in September, 1906, and 20,000 were printed.

The Panama surcharge is of the fourth type of that surcharge on the fifty centavos stamp of Colombia and is in carmine. It differs from the fourth Panama of the first eight cents of the third series in having the word spelled "PAMANA" on the 54th and 59th stamps and a double lined "N" on the 53rd and 58th stamps similar to that found upon the later printings of the five cents stamps. The surcharge was printed upon a vertical half sheet at a time.

The "8cts." surcharge is similar to that of the last stamp except that the lines of the "8" are thinner in all parts and the letters of "cts." possess the same characteristics as the figure. In this stamp a period follows the letters and this is the only eight cents value on fourth Panama having the period. A new variety of spacing appears upon the fifth and tenth vertical rows of each sheet, the distance between the "8" and "c" in these two rows being 3 mm. instead of 2 mm., thus giving twenty stamps of this variety to the sheet.

hence we have one stamp existing without this surcharge and with "PAMANA", one with double lined "N", one with "CANAL" in antique type, and one with "ZONE" in antique type.

The varieties of the "CANAL ZONE" surcharge are the same as in the preceding stamp.

The list of this stamp is:

- 8c on 50c bistre brown.
- a—"PAMANA" (54, 59).
- b—Double lined "N" in "PANAMA" (53, 58).
- c—"8cts." omitted.
- d—"8cts." omitted and "PAMANA" (1 stamp).
- e—"8cts." omitted and double lined "N" (1 stamp).
- f—"8cts." omitted and "CANAL" antique type (1 stamp).
- g—"8cts." omitted and "ZONE" antique type (1 stamp).
- h—"CANAL" antique type.
- i—"Z" antique type (32).
- j—"E" broken (33).
- k—"L" antique type (42).
- l—"ZONE" antique type (48).
- m—"N" of "CANAL" antique type (65).
- n—"8" and "cts" 3 mm. apart instead of 2 mm.

All of the stamps of the third, fourth, fifth and sixth series which are upon the third and fourth Panama types are to be found with the Panama surcharge shifted horizontally, in some instances to the right and in others to the left, so that on some stamps the word "PANAMA" appears but once, on others twice on the same side of the stamp, and on still others twice on one side and once on the other side. It can readily be seen that an attempt to classify these varieties would be a task of Herculean proportions and of no great value.

CHAPTER X.—Seventh Series.

The stamps used for this series were those of a new issue of Panama. They were printed in New York by the Hamilton Bank Note Co. on soft thick paper. The five values used by the Canal Zone government have a central portrait in black surrounded by a colored frame. The value is expressed in "centesimos de balboa" at the bottom of the stamp. The words "REPUBLICA DE PANAMA CORREOS" are printed at the top of all except the eight centesimos de balboa, on which the first three words occur in a curve extending around the upper half of the stamp and the word "CORREOS" in small letters just beneath the center of this curve.

The 1c, 5c, 8c and 10c values the Surcharge Reading Down.

Vasco Nunez de Balboa's portrait appears upon the one centesimo de balboa, that of Hernandez de Cordoba upon the two centesimos de balboa, of Justo Arosemena upon the five centesimos de balboa, of Manuel J. Hurtado upon the eight centesimos de balboa, and of Jose de Obaldia upon the ten centesimos de balboa. The colors of the frames are green, vermilion, ultramarine, red-violet and purple, respectively.

The first value issued was the two centesimos de balboa in October, 1906, when 20,000 stamps were sent out. The Canal Zone surcharge on this lot reads upward with "CANAL" at the left and "ZONE" at the right of the central portrait in black letters of antique type of a larger size than appears upon any of the former issues. This surcharge upon the succeeding printings of this value and upon all the other values is in the same type and occupies the same position on the stamps except that instead of reading upward it reads downward and the word "CANAL" is at the right and "ZONE" at the left.

The second lot of this value issued was printed in November, 1906. It was the intention of the Director of Posts for the Zone that the surcharge should read upward on these, but by some accident they were printed with it reading downward. When this came to his notice he was very much put out, and ordered that, in future, all surcharges of all values should be printed reading downward, but, in order that there should be a large enough supply of the first variety to go around, and so that no one could accuse him of intentionally producing a limited issue of this form of the surcharge, he ordered 30,000 more to be printed with the words reading upward. There were, therefore, 50,000 of this variety issued in the two lots. There is a difference of 1/2 mm. in the spacing between the words "CANAL" and "ZONE", between the early and late printings of these stamps, but this seems to be unimportant.

The other values appeared in December, 1906, with the exception of the one centesimo de balboa, which was issued in January, 1907.

A few errors have been recorded as occurring in connection with this issue. On number 8 of the sheet of the first printing of the two centesimos de balboa the "N" of "ZONE" has broken serifs, and on a few sheets of the second printing of the same value the same error occurs on the 93rd stamp, which in the reversed position of the surcharge is complementary to the 8th stamp of the first printing. The error was soon discovered and corrected.

de balboa occurs with a wide imper-
the first two vertical rows of the sheet. Three sheets were sold at the Cristobal office showing this variety, and one of the stamps was used before the variety was discovered. Another sheet containing this variety was sold at Gatun, and ten of these, or half of the number in the sheet were used for postage.

The two centesimos de balboa exists in pairs, one of which has no surcharge, but very few of them are known.

There is a wider spacing than normal of the "CA" of "CANAL" on the fiftieth stamp of the sheet of the eight centesimos de balboa.

In 1907 the two and five centesimos de balboa appeared upon a thinner hard paper, and the shade of color was changed, probably unintentionally, to carmine lake on the former, while the latter is known in four distinct shades of blue. In 1908 the one centesimo de balboa also was issued upon this thinner paper, and it is found in two shades of green, one of which is very nearly the same as that of the same value on soft paper, and the other a dull shade.

In March, 1908, a sheet of this value with the head in the center inverted was sold at the Cristobal Office to a clerk in the employ of the Panama Railroad Company, in a lot of stamps purchased for the use of the Company.
Before the error was discovered all but nineteen of these stamps had been used in mailing letters and only a very few of these have been recovered. The nineteen unused ones passed into the possession of a collector and have been preserved. This value is also known imperforate horizontally, one-quarter of a sheet being known in this condition, though it would seem that there must have been at least a half sheet issued.

A sheet of the five centesimos de balboa with double surcharge was sent to the Tabernilla Post Office in a lot of stamps sent there in filling a requisition dated February 20, 1909.
This sheet passed into the hands of a collector and was finally sent to the United States. This value has the second "A" of "CANAL" missing on the fourth stamp of the sheet in a few instances, and the "L" is broken so that it resembles an "I" on one stamp of a few sheets, believed to be number 71. It is also known with "L" of "CAN-NAL" missing and with "A" missing and
"L" so broken that only the down-stroke appears. Two sheets of the two centesimos de balboa were discovered during the summer of 1909 with a double surcharge. One of these sheets has the second surcharge in a diagonal position so that on part of the stamps a portion of it falls in the space between the stamps. In a few instances the second
"A" of "CANAL" is so badly broken that only a trace of it shows. Twenty horizontal pairs of this value are known imperforate between the stamps.

On the one centesimo de balboa the
"Z" of "ZONE" is omitted on the 35th stamp of the sheet of a late printing, and the "C" and "L" of "CANAL" are omitted on one stamp of the sheet in what is probably the last printing of this value, and which is believed to have numbered one hundred sheets. A double surcharge, one of which is very faint, is also known on this value, and four copies of a double surcharge both perfectly plain are also known, having emanated from the Gatun office.

The "CA" of "CANAL" widely spaced is known on all of these values on the hard paper.

CANADA 3c WITH COMPOUND PERF.

We have noted the appearance of the current 2c Canada with "1Tc" recessed in the plate, perforated 8 x 12. We anticipated that the sheets of this stamp were primarily issued for use in coils, and this has been confirmed by a letter just received from the Post Office Department of Canada. Under date of August 9, the Superintendent of the postage stamp branch writes us as follows:—

"The explanation of this lies in the simple fact that owing to quick deliveries of this stamp being required by the Department, the manufacturers were obliged to use part of stock which had been prepared for roll postage, and perforated sideways with the wide perforation. The sheets were then perforated endwise with the regular perforation and issued."

"NO PAPER LIKE THE WEEKLY!"

How often we hear these words:—"No paper like the WEEKLY!" We give all the live news, maintain an up-to-date chronicle, answer all the questions put to us, sandwich in an occasional story, and yet every week use the first page for a "heavy" article.

What a fine menu we spread before our readers every week, just the one for a live newspaper! Not too scientific in contents, nor yet the organ of the novice, but a good, wholesome purveyor of stamp news.

Not the least of our admirable features is the department of advertising—some say it's most attractive. Many a subscriber writes his favorite dealer:—"I always look for your advertisement the first thing."

Every stamp collector reading a stamp paper will save many dollars every year. There is no better paper than the WEEKLY, and we rely upon you to introduce it to your friends.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Bill.—As stamp collectors know, the Emergency Revenue Law of October 22, 1914, was extended one year by joint resolution of Congress, approved Dec. 17, 1915, or to December 31, 1916. Recently, a new enactment was formulated by the House and the Senate and referred to the Committee on Finance. When the new revenue bill was first projected, it was predicted that the bill would be made law with great expedition, but the weeks have gone by and the work of revision has not been completed. A copy of the Senate bill has been received and sections of it have their appeal to stamp collectors. For instance, Section 305 repeals the Act of October 22, 1914, and the joint resolution approved December 17, 1915, is "hereby repealed except sections three and four of such Act as so extended, which sections shall remain in force till January first, nineteen hundred and seventeen." This declaration in effect is the abolition of the stamp taxes with the exception of the wines and cordials set which is exempted from this ruling by special provision. Under the proposal of the new bill, an important change is made in the method of taxation of wines and cordials and it is one that commends itself to the person who may have wondered at the blundersome manner of taxing these liquors under the first law. Wines and cordials are to be taxed at the source and not, as it is now, when they are placed in the hands of the consumer. There has been a change in the tax rate, as will be seen from the following citations: "On each bottle or other container of champagne or sparkling wine, 3 cents on each half-pint or fraction thereof. On each bottle or other container of artificially carbonated wine, 1 cent on each half-pint or fraction thereof. On each bottle or other container of liquors, cordials, compounds, or preparations containing distilled spirits of wine, 1½ cents on each one-half pint or fraction thereof." Any further stamps that are advisable under the new order are authorized, under the customary sanction of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue and the Secretary of the Treasury.

Consequence.—After our analysis of the bill in its stamp phases, it is necessary to consider the recommendations of the Finance Committee which instead of abolishing the stamp taxes, adds to them, so far as the documentary stamps are concerned. While at this time there has been no definite action taken in this regard, we copy the following schedule of stamp taxes as having been added to the bill:

"Bonds, debentures, and certificates of indebtedness, a tax of 5 cents on each $100 of face value; express and freight receipts, 1 cent each; telegraph and telephone messages, 1 cent for each message for which a charge of 15 cents or more is made; custom house entries not exceeding $100 in value, 25 cents each; succeeding $100 and not exceeding $500, 50 cents each; exceeding $500, $1; insurance policies, 1 cent on each dollar or fraction of amount of premium charged; foreign steamship tickets, if costing not to exceed $30, $1; not exceeding $60, $3; more than $60, $5; all tickets costing ten dollars or less to be exempt from taxation, and Pullman car tickets, 2 cents each, an increase from 1 cent in existing law."

Printed.—In a recent issue, we expressed mild wonder that we had never found a soldier's letter of the civil war period with "soldier's letter" printed on it for the convenience of all concerned. At the time, a letter with rubber stamp inscription of the kind was under notice. Through the courtesy of Mrs. W. E. Underwood, we have seen a letter postmarked Washington that bears the imprint in a panel scroll, "U. S. Christian Commission," and just underneath the device in plain type is: "Soldier's Letter." The U. S. Christian Commission, it may be added, was an organization founded soon after the outbreak of the war, to minister to the spiritual and material needs of the boys at the front; and in good works and influence, it was a close competitor of the U. S. Sanitary Commission.

Worth.—If it is something to have survived the squalls of the oft-invoked "sea of philatelic journalism" for seven years or so, the record of the Collectors' Journal is entitled to a word of commendation. If mere existence for so long a period of time—in stamp journalism—bids one pause to bestow pats of approbation, the Collectors' Journal is entitled to more sounding praise, as not merely has the publication lived, but it has enriched the store of philatelic knowledge through its reading columns as a consequence. We hope that the editor, H. L. Lindquist, will continue to cultivate his field to good advantage. This reminds us that the lot of the philatelic publisher is being made harder than ever. You know the increased cost of paper is adding another furrow to the brow of care of the editor; and he adds the new name of a subscriber to his list with many misgivings in view of the rumors of greater scarcity of paper than ever.

Reported.—We are indebted to Mr. Ralph L. King, Atchison, Kansas, for the information that Mr. S. H. Barnes has come into the possession of a strip of seven of the one dollar parcel post stamps. Mr. King adds: "Somewhere a post office clerk is short $6.93, as without doubt, he used them for 'one centers'. There is no possible way that seven dollars' worth of parcel post stamps could be used on one package, unless it were a piece of letter mail weighing 22 pounds. An assistant postmaster in the Atchison, Kansas, post office once used a two dollar stamp instead of a two cent one; and the department refused to allow his claim for $1.98." Ever since we received years ago, two of the four cent Columbian stamps on an ordinary letter, we have taken some stock in similar instances that are brought to notice. Speaking of the limit of weight of first class matter, the Official Guide, July, 1916, says that it is the same as for fourth-class matter; and the limit of weight for fourth-class matter is 50 pounds within the first and second zones, and 20 pounds for all other zones.

Samoa.—The Royal Philatelic Society, London, has distributed to members, copies of an important work, "The Samoa Express Postage Satmps," by R. B. Yardley. The sumptuous edition is limited to but few copies over those assigned to members, and the publication ranks in merit with the productions previously of the London society. There are ten pages of autotype illustrations "of unsevered and reconstructed sheets of the stamps and reprints, also enlargements of the main types and the principal forgeries," which in reality make a graphic history of the stamps. The contents exhaust the possibilities of study of these fascinating but "difficult" stamps, and the reference list of "the issued stamps" and "stamps prepared for use but not issued" must stand for finality, one may well say. The "preliminary chapter" is of engrossing interest, as in it the history of the stamps is summarized from their inception down through all the various printings. This noteworthy contribution to philatelic literature is a typographical delight and we cannot help but voice the regret that it will not have a somewhat general or extended circulation. We may add that the illustrations are completely satisfactory in their treatment of detail.

THE STAMP DEALER AND HIS STOCK.

By BILL BLOSS.

(The younger dealers who are now using our columns should read carefully every word of this series of articles. It will do no harm for the dealer to read it who is no longer young in the business. Mr. Bloss will cover every phase of stamp dealing and his aim in writing is to help you make the stamp business a profitable one. The WEEKLY is published in the interests of both dealer and collector, and we realize that what concerns the one concerns the other.—Ed.)

CHAPTER II.—Getting Business.

In every industry that depends upon selling goods, the selling end is the most important, and is the division that receives the most attention from the executive in charge. No matter how profitably the merchant buys his stock, or prepares it for sale, if his methods of drawing sales are at fault, his business will suffer. Since it is the sales department that brings in the money, it is highly important that that branch of the business be the most perfect in the whole organization.

The work of the Sales Department may be divided into two classes:

Getting the Business.

Service, or Keeping the Business.

Publicity is the recognized business builder in all lines. There are many ways of gaining publicity, but all tend to influence sales. A concern may have a good or bad reputation, according to its merits, and since this reputation is publicity in a certain sense, it is necessary that the good name of the house be maintained. In these days of competition, every concern must

Give Absolute Satisfaction

and service or fall by the way-side. The concern that can deliver the goods the way the people want them and is not afraid to back their product to the limit will gain a reputation that is the best possible advertising.

I have paid considerable attention to the advertising feature of modern business, and believe I can offer a few hints to the new dealer, (possibly one or two to some of the old fellows, as not a few seem to know little of this most important end of their business). Let us imagine that we are in charge of a stamp business, and are "after the customers." We have an advantage over the real dealer, inasmuch as we can do anything we please. We are unlimited in our stock—of imagination.

Advertising begins farther back than the columns of the paper, or the circular letter. It begins when the first stock is purchased.

Let Us Cite Two Examples:

Anderson has ideas on advertising and decides to feature a certain line of stamps, say the stamps of America. Accordingly, he designs two series of books. One series is by countries, the other is sold at large discounts to work off the "culls" and stamps out of his line, or surplus stock. He wishes to feature the first as "Anderson's American Approvals," accordingly he buys his stock with the intention of making the finest possible series of American approvals. The picked copies he lays aside for his first class series, and the others he discards for sale through the cheaper books. Whenever he buys a lot, he considers the saleability through his books, and the advertising possibilities of the lot. He intends to make a name for his series, and to help his advertising, he designs a unique campaign featuring "Anderson's American Approvals."

This method will help him, inasmuch as it attracts attention, and keeps his name before the public.

Jones also intends to put out a series of approvals. He has little advertising ability, and cannot see the advantage of buying stock to feature any one line. Accordingly, he prepares a very ordinary set of books, including good, bad, and passable stamps in his books. He uses ordinary stock approval books, rubber stamps his name on the cover, and on his stationery, and does not adopt a trade name. He advertises as follows:

50% DISCOUNT APPROVALS.

from a large collection. 50 stamps free to every applicant who encloses 2c for postage.

H. E. Jones, Noplace, Iowa.

He offers not a thing to attract the collector's attention. His display, instead of featuring a name that the collectors can place his books by, announces that he has to offer just the same thing that some several hundred others are selling. His books themselves do not create any additional interest to the collector. His stock may be fine, but it is so carelessly prepared that the buyer is dissatisfied, and as a result, will certainly neglect to recommend H. E. Jones to his collecting friends. This, while it may not hurt Jones' reputation, will do nothing to increase his business.

A grocer may start business in a small town. His shop may be commonplace and his apples wormy, yet he will do business until competition comes along. Then he will either wake up, or close up. Competition is lively in the stamp business, and the successful dealer or close up his shop. Business will not come to any dealer without attraction. Certain Eastern dealers do not advertise. Very well. But don't they advertise? True, you never see their name in print, but ask a New York collector where he can get such and such a stamp in fine condition. You have tried every dealer without success. He will tell you to go to the — Company, that their stock is very large and their service unexcelled. They have been doing business for forty years and carry a very large and fine lot of stamps. They never advertise, because they have the best possible advertising, a name for efficiency in supplying wants and service in handling orders. They may not know it, but every satisfied customer is an indirect advertisement. Therefore, they advertise.

Must Keep Abreast of the Times

Every dealer must attract attention in some way to himself, and put individuality into his business. Colman, of Washington, has won fame because he is known as the "Headquarters for U. S. & Colonies," "P. M." was well-known for his "Large Selections" Stanley Gibbons have gained note as "The People with the Goods," etc. Suppose that all of these dealers advertised "50% approvals." Would they draw trade from one another? Not in ten thousand years, unless each had something better than his rival. No buyer is going to patronize a dealer unless he believes he will do better there than elsewhere. If you want success in advertising,

Put Yourself Back of Your Product, feature some line of your business and begin to advertise from the beginning. Of course, a good salesman can sell anything, but it is far easier to sell something good. Also, the people come back for more, and it is continued buying that spells profit, seldom the first or second order. Before you start to sell, prepare your goods in some attractive manner that can be featured.

It is not necessary to have a large stock, nor even a fine stock. Personally, I have a very small stock, yet I am selling with satisfactory results to patrons of the big dealers. Every dealer can offer something attractive to the public. It may be "1c approvals" of cheap stamps, or "Simplified Selections" for the beginner, or "Big Books" for the busy buyer, or "Square-deal Packets," according to the circumstances of the dealer.

It would be useless to outline unique methods in these columns, as a certain amount of originality must enter into every sales plan. Later, some of the schemes that have been successful and unsuccessful in advertising stamp business will be discussed, and we will continue the adventures of Anderson and Jones in the stamp business, and will show how they wrote good and bad copy. Let it be understood that the two examples named are truly fictitious and do not apply to any dealer, but the names are used merely to strengthen the copy.

U. S. ALL AMERICA 2c LETTER RATE.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Postmaster-General Burleson announced to-day his purpose to make 2c carry a letter from anywhere in the United States to anywhere in the western hemisphere. Other countries affected being willing, it is proposed that the rate from Philadelphia to Patagonia be no more than from Philadelphia to Baltimore.

This decision, the Postmaster-General said, has been reached tentatively, regardless of the fact that few South American countries are willing at this time to cut their postal rate to this country. In most cases the rate is 5 cents for first class mail, and it is the same from this country to South American countries.

In October, 1914, the suggestion was made by this country that the domestic letter rate be made the foreign rate between countries of North and South America, but few of the Latin-American countries were prepared to sacrifice the revenue involved. All had been hit hard by the European war and needed the postal revenues. Recent inquiries have shown the conditions have not yet changed.

Burleson said to-day it is probable the cut would be made sometime in September by the United States, and the other countries would be permitted to follow the example whenever they desire. He said:

"It will mean a big advantage to business, and will help greatly in bringing the countries of North and South America closer together."

UNITED STATES.—E. A. Steiner informs us that he has in his possession a specimen of the 4c Columbian where the upper left figure 4 shows traces of a double transfer. We do not know whether this has been chronicled previously or not.

BARBADOS.—The remainders of the 1912 King George set have overprinted "Revenue" for use as fiscal stamps pending the arrival from England of a new series of fiscal stamps. As there were two fonts of type and at least seven colors of ink used in making these provisional overprints, specialists in Colonial revenues will be interested. Some of the 2 1/2d stamps were surcharged "One Penny", in addition to the word "Revenue".

35c violet, brown and blue.

CHILE.—Jacques Krebs has shown us the new typographed 10c value from this country. The new stamp makes a good appearance, though necessarily lacking the sharpness and clearness of the engraved original. The most noticeable differences are the lack of the diagonal cross lines on the frame background, which is entirely composed of straight lines in the new printing. In the original, the vertical colorless lines defining the panels at the sides are unbroken, while on the typographed stamp the lines are broken in two places on each side by the foliated ornaments. Mr. Krebs shows us two shades. The deep blue of the original having been changed. The most noticeable change in the portrait is the disappearance of the colored centres of the two white dots just under the chin, though there are other minor differences. The perforation has been changed to 13 1/2 x 14, instead of 12.

Adhesive.

10c bright blue.
10c ultramarine.

GREAT BRITAIN.—Ewen's Weekly reports that the 1/2d and 9d values have been found with watermark defective, the "v" being omitted.

JAMAICA.—Mrs. Oughtred reports having seen the 3c War Tax stamp on both white and yellow back, the latter being the later issue.

The Rev. L. Meister also reports the new 1 1/2d stamp and the 3d War Stamp on both white and yellow backs. The sixth stamp in the ninth row of the latter is with period after "Stamp". The sixth stamp in the second row shows something like a ":" between the two words. Mr. Meister has three copies, so that he thinks it was something that occurred in the setting, and not in printing.

RUSSIA.—Offices in China.—The Stamp Lover reports that the 20k of the 1909-10 issue, and the 5r of the 1905 issue, have been overprinted in black for use in China.

Adhesives.

20k blue and carmine.
5r dark blue, green and pale blue.

TRINIDAD & TOBAGO.—Jacques Krebs shows us the 2 1/2 in blue instead of ultramarine.

A BOON TO COLLECTORS.

Without a doubt one of the greatest boons that stamp collectors ever enjoyed is the opportunity of acquiring colonial and foreign issues, as they appear, at a small percentage over face value through the medium of one or other of the established new issue agencies. Any philatelist who fails to realise this should communicate at once with any of those firms for a clear exposition of the benefits of the scheme.

The fact that such agencies can secure for their subscribers new issues at so low a minimum is indeed a matter for wonderment, and, having been favoured with interesting chats on the subject by those firms, we propose to relate to our readers a few episodes, and to cite a few examples of the difficulties with which those firms have to contend. These episodes should make it still more obvious that, with the great risks attaching to the business and the frequent occurrence of giving the collector "something for nothing," these new issue services deserve to be still more widely patronised. No more economical—and profitable—method of forming a collection "of new issues" can be imagined than this. The price of almost every commodity in everyday life has gone up by leaps and bounds, but the surprising thing is that the agencies maintain the original small percentages of pre-war days:—face value, or, in some cases, cost price, plus ten per cent.

The most popular investment is, of course, the "white back." Many of the cheaper varieties of war stamps, both Red Cross issues and provisionals overprinted on the late German Colonial stamps, such as Togo, Cameroons, Samoa, Marshall Islands, and New Guinea, have been sent out at cost price, plus ten per cent., and in all cases these have turned out a splendid investment. One of the latest firms to inaugurate a new issue service informs us that during the first eighteen months of this branch of their business they distributed no less than 304 different colonial stamps. Of these 206 bore the head of King George, 20 of them being "white backs", and many of them now obsolete.

In the foreign department, the same firm sent out in eighteen months 1,206 different stamps, about half that total consisting of surcharged and provisional issues, practically all of which are now obsolete.

As a general rule, members of these services may subscribe either for colonials or for foreign stamps (in cases where there are foreign sections), separately or both together, and may limit themselves to stamps up to a face value of 6d, 1s, 2s 6d, 5s, 10s, £1, or higher if desired. There would also probably be no objection to omitting certain items, such as officials, unpaids, Portuguese Colonials, Indian Native States, etc., in cases where collectors do not admit these particular stamps into their collections. As we have already remarked, the difficulties and risks are such that one wonders how they can conduct these services at such small expense to the subscribers. To our humble selves, it smacks of philatelic philanthropy!

One dealer tells us that he had a consignment of new issues from the British Solomon Islands on the way, and that

The Stamps of Gambia

This is a very fine hand book and is a nicely printed and well written work. You need it. The author is Mr. R. E. R. Dalwick, the well known author and editor of "Stamp Collecting".

Price Only 10c Given as a premium on new 6 mos. name and 25c.

DAMAGED STAMPS

United States or foreign, or mixture of both, as you wish; $1.00 catalogue value postpaid for 12c; $10.00 catalogue for $1.00; nothing catalogued at less than 5c. Larger lots have a larger proportion of high values. Some of these stamps have only small tears, while others are heavily cancelled, or have perforations clipped, or are damaged in various ways. Can always be identified, and some would present a very good appearance on the pages of your album. If you are looking for space fillers, or you need material for repairing, this is a rare opportunity.

We make up a packet of 100 varieties of the cheaper varieties of damaged United States and foreign, catalogue value over $3.00, which we sell at 27c postpaid.

COLUMBIAN STAMP CO., Arlington, Mass.

when these stamps arrived in England they were found to be covered with oil; the package had been dropped into the sea en route, and a cold hearted official label indicated that the contents were "damaged by sea water." The ten per cent. doesn't allow for that sort of treatment!

We were also told of the dishonesty of native postmasters in India, many of whom think nothing of retaining remittances and "forgetting" to send the stamps ordered. We also hear of a large consignment from China which has apparently gone astray in the wilds of Asia. Capital is often tied up for months, and even years, and then there are such incidental items as agents' commission, insurance, postage, etc., which pretty well absorb or exceed the small percentage paid by the subscriber.

Difficulties, disappointments, and risks insuperable, the new issue services deserve every credit for the efficient way in which they handle their business and watch the interests of the collector.—S. C. Quarterly.

BRIDGER & KAY'S LIST.

Bridger & Kay, 71 Fleet St., London, Eng., shows enterprise in the publication of a most pretentious pricelist, revealing a very fine stock confined to Great Britain and its colonies. Stamps are listed individually and an idea can be secured of the comprehensiveness of the list when we state that its 78 pages are set in double column form. An asterisk is used to denote stamps of which blocks of four can be supplied and the book is freely dotted with them. This firm has been a regular patron of the WEEKLY and we consider it not only proper but justly due the firm to call attention to this pricelist, which is of more than ordinary interest and will be sent upon application.

ADLETS.

This column is for the use of our patrons who desire only a few lines of space. If you want to buy, sell, or exchange, it is without doubt the best advertising medium in the world. TWO BROTHERS WED THE SAME DAY.

(This news matter is taken from a San Francisco paper and it is of interest to our readers as both gentlemen are ardent philatelists and one year ago were very active in the entertainment of the A. P. S. The clipping is from the "Bulletin", Aug. 8. Congratulations to both of the happy couples are tendered by the WEEKLY.—Ed.)

Two brothers, members of a wealthy family and prominent in business circles, today claimed teachers as their brides, the contracting parties being:

Henry Charles Marcus, a merchant of Menlo Park, and Miss Hattie Belle Matthew of Santa Rosa, a piano teacher. Frank George Marcus, fruit packer of Menlo Park, and Miss Helen Walker of San Francisco, a school teacher.

The double ceremony was performed at the Palace Hotel at 9 o'clock this morning, with the Rev. Dr. W. S. Matthew of Santa Rosa, father of Miss Matthew, officiating.

This party pays no attention to letters written him. We have several complaints against him and as yet no satisfaction. We mention this fact for the public good.

Meetings first (informal) and third (regular) Tuesdays, Room 322 Tremont Bldg., 8.15 P. M.

August 14, 1916.

There will be a regular meeting of the Society at the Hotel Bellevue at 8 p. m. on Monday evening, August 21. This meeting will be in the nature of a reception to our guests, the members of the American Philatelic Society. There will be some of the interesting stamp collections belonging to our members on exhibition. There should be a good attendance, as it will give us an opportunity to welcome many of our old friends, and will also give us a chance to make the acquaintance of many new ones with whom we will be associated during the next four days.

The programme outlined by the committee is as follows for the four days of the convention:—

Tuesday, Aug. 22.—At 2 p. m., a trolley trip to Lexington and Concord. Cars leave Harvard Sq., Cambridge, and go to Lexington. After a short stop it continues to Concord, where the party will have about two hours in which to look around, returning to Harvard Sq. Tuesday evening will be "Exchange Evening" at the Club room in the Tremont Bldg. Come prepared to exchange your duplicates with your brother philatelists.

Wednesday, Aug. 23.—Members are invited to a trip around Boston Harbor as the guests of the City of Boston on the City Steamer, through the kindness of His Honor, Mayor James M. Curley. In the evening, Mr. B. L. Drew will conduct an auction in the club room of the Society.

Thursday, Aug. 24.—Special cars leave the North Station for Salem. From Salem Station, the party will take autos provided by the Salem Board of Trade for a trip along the North Shore, returning to Salem Willows, where a shore dinner will be served at 4.30 p. m.

Friday, Aug. 25.—A trip to Plymouth and return on the boat with dinner on board, starting from Rowe's Wharf at 10 a. m.

There will be no expense to the mem-

Advertising Chat

To those who are considering engaging in the stamp business we recommend a careful perusal of the series of articles by Bill Bloss on "The Stamp Dealer and His Stock." It will be worth your while. Bill has been there.

It is our aim to make this a readable feature of the WEEKLY, to disseminate information in real Bostonese fashion. We do not want to belong to the class represented by the man of whom Tom Reed said:—"He subtracted from the sum total of human knowledge every time he opened his mouth." That's an awful thing to say of any man.

If you contemplate any dealer advertising, the WEEKLY is your golden opportunity. Just get in touch with us.

Frank P. Brown this week takes over a quarter page following up the quarter pages by Pollard, Linn and Scott and the full page by Drew and all this in what is called the "dull season." A quarter page costs only $17.50, less than $1.50 per inch or only 12c per line.

Carroll J. Agnew, with us last year in adlets, takes displayed space this year. E. Moseley makes an occasional change to displayed and these signs of prosperity are welcome.

"How to Deal in Stamps," price 10c and the "Stamp Collector's Guide," price 25c are two books you really need.

FOR MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

BAVARIAN VARIETY.

Two Types 3pf brown, 1890, Scott's 62.

By PERCY MCG. MANN.

There is always something new for the philatelic student to discover. And the collector who does not examine his stamps closely fails to know what he may be passing by.

In my stamp studies I have schooled myself to look more than once at a stamp. In several instances I have been rewarded by making important discoveries. I pay considerable attention to minor details, and, for that reason, almost every stamp I handle seems different from another. This is a personal pleasure, but I am sure other students could derive similar pleasures from close studies of the designs of the stamps which pass through their hands.

My most recent discovery (?) concerns the stamp mentioned in the above title. I have placed the question mark after "discovery" because there is a possibility that some other student has noticed the types which I will try to describe, although I have looked up many reference works and all the catalogues without finding any mention of two types of the Bavarian 3pf brown of 1890. I will attempt to make the matter clear by at once naming the two types "I" and "II".

Type I shows the "G" of "PFENNIG" not touching the circle enclosing the lower right numeral "3".

Type II shows the "G" of "PFENNIG" touching this circle.

Someone may at once observe that this may be due to worn plates. To offset any such observation, it will do no harm to state at this time that the "G" in type II, besides touching the circle is less upright than that in type I, or in other words the "G" is at an angle of 45 degrees in type II and 60 degrees in type I.

The numerals "3" also differ in the two types. Taking the lower right "3" in type I we find it has a smaller upper portion and the center point is closer to the top ball than it is to the bottom ball, while in type II, the upper portion of the "3" is almost as large as the lower and the center point is closer to the bottom ball than it is to the top ball. It will also be noticed that in type I, the inside curves of the "3" are almost straight, while in type II they are more rounded.

The earliest cancellation date of type II that I have found is "1 JAN 97".

The very white paper issue of 1901 shows this stamp in type II only, as far as I know.

There also appears to be a sub-variety of type II, in which the first "N" in "PFENNIG" is without serif at the top of the first stroke, i. e., the upper left corner of the letter.

Kohl's Catalogue mentions a variety of this stamp with a dot under the lower ball of the lower right "3"; I have found a copy of type II in which this occurs.

A. P. S. ATTENDANTS.

In view of the fact that the sessions of the A. P. S. will commence the coming Tuesday, we have discontinued our list of prospective attendants. We might say that a dozen names could have been added to the list last published.

"THE UNIVERSAL RUBRIC."

From the prospectus of an Italian book giving a selection of addresses of American philatelists, we quote the following:—

L. Brodstone, Nebraska, U. S.
Hudquist 700 East 40 St, Chicago
Louis Garcia Ibor City United States
A. Goulet, 586 Ummers St. Holyoke, Massa
M. Gilbert, 415 Vest Stret 31, New York
Massau Stampe, 118 Nassai St., N. Y. City.

If the addresses given are as reliable as those credited to the United States, the book will have little value. Of the above, Brodstone worries the least. He no doubt would get his mail if Nebraska was omitted.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—If any of our subscribers will communicate with Mr. Stevenson in connection with any cancellation designs in their possession not illustrated last week, we shall be greatly obliged. We hope to publish a further article dealing with this subject. Address, W. L. Stevenson, Flint, Mich. Mr. Stevenson also wishes to locate a lower half sheet of the current 2c showing a cracked plate. Who can help him out?

—The Powell Stamp Co. has advertised their Bonanza packet almost constantly in our publication for over fifteen years. Now, they have excluded many of the commoner Europeans and in their stead have added many choice items from British Colonials and Island countries. The price advances just 29c to meet the net cost of the extra value given. For twenty years the Powell Co. has confined themselves to the assembling of postage stamp collections. Years ago, most dealers used packets for the outlet of the junk that they accumulated. Powell has kept at improving packets until they offer nothing but fine stamps—no torn or damaged or hinged copies. Of all publications, Powell finds the WEEKLY pays best.

—A. A. Jones, Herrin, Ill., would like the address of G. H. Faber formerly 189 Grand River Ave., Detroit, Mich., or of Dr. O. L. Shirmer, 266 Cass Ave., same city.

—If too much trouble to procure a money order when you renew your subscription or purchase books from our list, remit in stamps 5c to 15c denominations. We shall appreciate the favor.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Maitland Milliken, Theodore H. Ames, J. Rausch.

—The official program of the S. P. A. convention is a handsomely gotten up book, with Harry B. Mason as editor. In the program are excellent features, including an address of welcome by Director Jos. E. Ralph of the Bureau of Engraving, automobile sight-seeing trip, auction sale, reception by Pres. Wilson, banquet, excursion to Mt. Vernon, visits to government buildings, etc. Editor Severn is representing the WEEKLY.

—The American Stamp Co., Laguna Beach, Cal., is unable to get back a $12.75 approval selection from P. H. Koster, Los Angeles, Cal.

—Supplementing the article published June 17, Mrs. E. W. Oughtred submits samples of three interesting items as follows:—1d Gt. Br. Amusements Tax, ticket stub; 1c Ontario, same, regular ticket form; 1c Quebec, same. The Ontario ticket on reverse side has:—"One of these tickets required with every admission to any place of Amusement in Ontario."

—"From a letter received this morning from an American client, I gather that there is an impression abroad in America that stamps cannot be sent from England to United States at the present time. This is not so, and I have the British War Office permit to send stamps to the States as usual. Perhaps you will kindly mention this, as the erroneous impression referred to is calculated to damage English dealers."—W. T. WILSON.

—If 1c letter postage becomes a real thing a special stamp for first class mail will receive consideration, so the Third Asst. P. M. G. advises a WEEKLY reader.

—"I am sending you three of our daily mail envelopes pasted up with the regular 2c stamps, arriving each day. The striking variety of these colors, is of course understood, on account of the trouble we have in the Bureau getting the proper dyes for mixtures. I think such an envelope will be an interesting souvenir in any collection, and I suggest that your various correspondents paste the 2c stamp in its various shades on envelopes for future refer-

NEWFOUNDLAND NOT INCLUDED IN CANADA.

Notwithstanding the instructions contained in the Annual Postal Guides and special cautionary notices issued from time to time, many postmasters continue to treat mail matter for Newfoundland in the same manner as such matter for Canada.

The attention of all postmasters is again called, therefore, to the "Note" at the foot of page 87, to Section 11 on the same page, to Section 13 on page 88, to the item "Newfoundland" on page 113 and to Section 134 on page 116 of the Postal Guide for July, 1915, from which it will be seen:

(1) That Newfoundland is not included in Canada; (2) that the rate of postage applicable to printed matter of all kinds for Newfoundland is one cent for each two ounces or fraction of two ounces (the limit of weight being four pounds six ounces in all cases); (3) that letters (the domestic rate applies) must be dispatched to Newfoundland, whether or not any postage is prepaid thereon, and that other articles except international parcel-post packages must be dispatched if partially prepaid; and (4) that all parcel-post packages must be accompanied by customs declarations fully completed.

Postmasters will adopt at their offices such further corrective measures as may be necessary to assure compliance with the foregoing and cause the widest possible publicity to be given thereto.

ANNUAL REPORT
PRESENTED AT THE BOSTON CONVENTION OF THE A. P. S. BY C. A. HOWES, PRESIDENT.

BOSTON, Aug. 22, 1916.

At the close of this, my first year as your President, I have to report a very serene and comparatively uneventful annual period in the affairs of the American Philatelic Society—a quite different condition from that which some Presidents of far greater bodies have to report to their constituents in these troublous times. Happily we are engaged in a harmless and peaceful pursuit and are following paths of interest and pleasure; and the best part of it is that that pursuit seems to be very little affected by the ups and downs of the usual activities of life and not wholly so by cataclysms even, as its condition after two years of world war shows.

It is really remarkable, I think, to see how Philately has held its own and even progressed in the countries now at war. Very few are the firms dealing in stamps that seem to have been at all affected adversely; very few are the magazines that have been suspended on account of the hostilities, and one of high class even has appeared in their midst; then the rage for "war issues" of various kinds has been extraordinary, and stamps and literature have followed the devotees of our hobby even into the trenches. It all goes to show the strong hold that our patron saint "Philatelia" has upon her followers, a hold that even Mars, the God of War, has been entirely unable to shake, and proves anew the solid foundation upon which our pursuit is built.

It has been the custom of my predecessors frequently to give a résumé of the philatelic happenings of the year, but on glancing back through the past twelve-month I fail to note anything of very marked interest even in our own country's issues. The principal events in the latter seem to have been the advent of a new 2 cent envelope die and the concurrent adoption of gauge 11 as our standard perforation and a return to unwatermarked paper for our stamps on July 1st of this year. On looking abroad, perhaps the issue in commemoration of the accession of the new Emperor of Japan is the most noteworthy of the few commemorative stamps. But most of the new issues we see are the results of "War, horrid war!" which ever way we turn. Occupation stamps there are to some extent and war tax stamps as well, but mostly are there stamps to help the funds for the relief of the hapless victims of "Armageddon". These have become so numerous that special catalogues have been issued as guides to their collection, and the very fact that stamp collectors have taken so much interest in these "Charity Stamps" as they are usually called, has largely increased their sale and so added extra funds to the good work they are put forth to help. Some of the warring nations naturally refuse to allow the importation of "enemy stamps", but we can buy from all and thus aid each side in its care for the victims of this fratricidal conflict.

The reports of the various officers in immediate charge of the several departments of the Society will acquaint you with the details of their work. There is nothing of especial moment that seems to call for extended remarks from the President, as far as these reports have reached him. One point, however, is uppermost in mind as a rule, and that is the increase in membership to a figure which it seems a national Society like ours should attain. President Stone in 1907 set 1,500 as a goal for attainment, and this figure was reached in 1908 by an extraordinary increase of nearly 40% for that year alone. But we have been hovering about that figure or below it for some years now and do not seem to be able to break away from it. The Boston Philatelic Society, one of our largest local bodies, has approximately 180 members, of which 120 are local or "resident" members. The national Society has only about twelve times this number, without counting foreign members; yet the nation contains some sixty fold the inhabitants of the Boston Metropolitan District. Look at Sweden. There is a country of some five and a half million people and its national Society has a membership of three quarters the size of ours. Our Recruiting Committee, and the added zest given by the kind is a SMALL (and cruelly misused country) which looms LARGE in the eyes of the world today and consequently philatelists turn with renewed interest to the Belgian portions of their collections.

I have an unrivalled stock of early Belgian stamps—especially unused—and among others can supply the following in mint blocks of 4: Scott's Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 9, 11, and many of the later issues. In addition I have a matchless range of all issues unused, in singles, pairs and strips with a great wealth of shades. If you are a serious collector of Belgium write me and submit good references please.

THE ANVIL ISSUE

The rare stamp of this set is the 20c a few of which I can offer at $2.00 each post-free. The 1c, 2c, 5c and 10c given free to every purchaser of the 20c value. All these are guaranteed genuine and were bought from the official Post Office Department in Hermosillo.

REMAINDERS

A large quantity of remainders or reprints of these stamps with several unissued varieties have appeared on the market recently probably via Postmaster Hinjosa. These do not contain the rare 20c offered above. The nine varieties (offered by an Eastern dealer in a recent issue of MEKEEL'S at 50c) I can supply for 10c post free but do not recommend their purchase even at this low figure.

Another question of possible vital moment to the Society at some future time, is that of the power to amend the By-Laws at a Convention where, as happened at San Francisco last year, the representation by person and proxy together did not equal the requirement of the present By-Law XII, viz: one third of the total membership entitled to vote. As it happened there was nothing in the sessions which required such a vote, but had there been the vote could not have been taken even if all votes were in the affirmative. I therefore recommend that this question be brought before the Convention for discussion at least and a possible solution.

Four years ago the present able, efficient and versatile Secretary took office, and also shouldered the Editorship of the rejuvenated monthly American Philatelist. He has finally found that his multitudinous duties were too much of a tax upon him and is now preparing to turn his work as Secretary over to his newly elected successor. I am sure that I express the sentiments of the entire membership when I present our sincerest thanks and appreciation to Mr. Ault for the able and conscientious work he has performed in his offices for the past four years.

In conclusion I wish to express my own appreciation of the kindly co-operation and harmonious work of all my associates in office, and to wish the membership assembled here a fruitful and enjoyable Convention period.

DAVIS ELECTED SECRETARY OF THE A. P. S.

The triangular contest between Dr. H. A. Davis, Otto F. Moses and H. T. Wilcox for secretary of the A. P. S. ended in a victory for Dr. Davis, the vote standing Davis 287, Moses 201, and Wilcox 168. A singular thing about this election is the fact that C. A. Nast received 226 votes for a directorship, nearly enough to crowd all three of the secretarial candidates to the rear. The old officers were all re-elected excepting Messrs. Ault and Barnum, who were not up for re-election.

The A. P. S. convention opened in the Red Room at the Hotel Bellevue, Tuesday, August 22, the crowd filling the room and the corridor leading to it. 150 had registered including 82 members—a rousing convention. President Howes was in the chair.

The report of the president is printed elsewhere. 1539 members were reported by Sec. Ault as compared with 1433 last year. The secretary proposed 33 new members, W. G. Whittaker 23, Ross O'Shaughnessy 23, Vahan Moizan 16, and E. Klein 13. The sales during past year amounted to $6,458, 29 per cent. of value of stamps entered. Balances in all funds totalled $6,677, a handsome amount.

The attention of the convention was called to the serious illness of Geo. L. Toppan, a veteran member of the Society, now resident in Boston. Greetings on behalf of Mr. Toppan were extended by Alex. Holland, who was authorized by a rising vote of the convention to take to him the best wishes of the society.

Tuesday afternoon was spent in a trolley ride to Waltham, Lexington and Concord and the convention with its social events will be continued through the week.

The "night before" Monday, August 21, witnessed an informal gathering in the Red Room. There was some little speech making, but much sociability and many stamp treasures shown. The room was crowded to its utmost capacity and a most enjoyable evening passed in "getting acquainted."

SOUTHERN PHILATELIC ASSOCIATION CONVENTION AT WASHINGTON.

The first session of the Southern Philatelic Association was opened at 10 A. M., August 15th, 1916, at the Hotel Raleigh, Washington, D. C., by Albert E. Gorham, President of Washington Branch, No. 5, Southern Philatelic Association, who turned over the gavel to President Kissinger. After an acknowledgement by Mr. Kissinger and an invocation by Wm. Lycett, Vice-President, the address of welcome was given by Hon. Joseph E. Ralph, Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Mr. Ralph's remarks were a masterly statement of the operations and activities of the Bureau and the members were deeply interested in the descriptions. A response was made by the editor of the WEEKLY. Mr. Ralph's assistant, Mr. Ferguson, then was given the floor to bid the delegates a welcome to the Bureau.

It was at this session that the committee on credentials reported on the number of proxies held and on the results of the election, as follows: Messrs. Kissinger, Lycett, Webb, Fischer, Klotzbach, were re-elected with handsome majorities. Messrs. Guest and Wallis were re-elected sales manager and exchange manager, respectively. These trustees were chosen: C. W. Arp, O. G. Beardslee and C. S. Lewis; while M. Ohlman was made auction manager; J. B. Leavy, counterfeit detector; and W. R. Ricketts, librarian.

The address of President Kissinger was so interesting that we shall try to make space for it, practically in its entirety.

PRESIDENT'S ANNUAL ADDRESS.

It is needless for me to say that it is my greatest delight to be with you in this God-blessed country enjoying National peace and particularly in the City of Washington, where our benign institutions of freedom and liberty hold sway for these United States, notwithstanding the horrible situation into which all the great powers of Europe are plunged: bounded by war and rapine on the East beyond the Atlantic, on the South by Mexican anarchy, on the West by rumors of wars growing out of Japan's restless assertiveness and on the North by mourning of the Canadian families, whose youths are perishing in the European trenches. We can indeed feel proud of so great a privilege of living here and above all be indeed happy that we have the honor of being members of the largest stamp society in these United States, viz. The Southern Philatelic Association, and enjoy the association of so great and interesting a hobby as well as most cordial and pleasant people.

No doubt every one assembled here, especially the members of the Society, know the origin of the stamp, its history, etc. However, I will give you just a brief outline.

We find that the idea of post-paid or stamped papers originated early in the reigns of Louis XIV with M. DeValayer who in 1653 established a private penny post, placing boxes at corners of streets for reception of letters wrapped up in envelopes, which were franked by bands

United States or foreign, or mixture of both, as you wish; $1.00 catalogue value post-paid for 12c; $10.00 catalogue for $1.00; nothing catalogued at less than 5c. Larger lots have a larger proportion of high values. Some of these stamps have only small tears, while others are heavily cancelled, or have perforations clipped, or are damaged in various ways. Can always be identified, and some would present a very good appearance on the pages of your album. If you are looking for space fillers, or you need material for repairing, this is a rare opportunity.

We make up a packet of 100 varieties of the cheaper varieties of damaged United States and foreign, catalogue value over $3.00, which we sell at 27c postpaid.

or slips of paper tied around them with inscription, "Post paid the day of 1653 or 54."
These slips were sold for a sou tape and could be procured at the palace, turn tables of convents and from porters of colleges.

In 1758, under Louis XV, M. De-Chamouset, a wealthy Parisian, established a modest post for the Metropolis, charging 2 Sols for single letters under an ounce, which were prepaid by stamps similar to those now in use. The Government perceived the gains derived from this new enterprise, took them from him for 20,000 francs; but so meagre were the arrangements of the Government that the stamps were seldom used and soon were entirely forgotten.

The next Country to issue Postage stamps was Spain. Their issue having been authorized by a royal decree on December 7, 1716, which stipulated that the Secretary to the crown will have the privilege of apposing on letters addressed to their authorities, a seal, impressed in ink, bearing royal arms of Castile & Leon which will pass them free; but on June 8, 1794 notice was given that the stamps mentioned in decree of 1716 were only to be used for letters of business. These official stamps remained in use until the beginning of the present century, when their issue was entirely abandoned. From 1819 to 1836 a semi-official stamped postal envelope was used in Italy.

In 1818, the emission of stamped postal paper was announced and the conditions under which it might be used.
This paper was prepared under the immediate supervision of Director des Postes and could be procured at Post offices and vendors of tobacco, who received a commission upon the sales.
There were three volumes of 15, 25, and 50 centesimi, all bearing the same device. These covers were little used and finally withdrawn.

The next attempt was made by Treffenburg of Stockholm, who proposed the assembly of Swedish nobility to issue stamped paper to be made into envelopes for letters but his proposal was rejected.

But to Rowland Hill are we indebted for that postal reform which was introduced by him into British Parliament in 1837, which among other forms, proposed that letters should be prepaid by means of stamped covers or envelopes.

After many stormy debates it was put into operation May 6, 1840. As soon as the Postal scheme was matured in England and emission of post stamps decided upon the authorities offered a reward of £500 for the best design and plan for a stamp. One thousand or more were sent but the simplest and neatest one was decided upon which was received from Heath of London.

At the same time a prize was offered for the envelope, which was gotten by Mulready, R. A. England therefore has the honor of creating the postage stamp adopted by all civilized countries. In 1840, the two penny stamp was issued and subsequently a complete series ranging in value from ½ penny to five shillings. The postage stamp was adopted in the United States by Act of Congress, March 3, 1847. The first two values that were introduced in the United States were 5 and 10 cent stamps with heads of Washington and Franklin on them.

Many people in this great, wide world are collecting stamps merely as a pleasant hobby, which not only broadens the intellectual mind but creates a keen sense of the various countries. Every man and woman has ideals and aspirations, and nothing could be more practical and capable of realization than the Postage Stamp which every man, woman and child uses sooner or later in this great Universe.

For the benefit of those whose ideals and aspirations have leaned toward the stamp business we have formed the great Organization known as the Southern Philatelic Association, which is one of the largest and strongest organizations known throughout the world.

By appointing these various Vice Presidents, it is my desire that they form a Branch Society of their own.
For instance, take the State of Pennsylvania: the Vice President of the State should call together all the Vice Presidents of the various cities in it and report what progress is being made,
at least once during the calendar year.
The Vice President of each city should form their own society that at the call of the Vice President of the State there would be great rivalry and enthusiasm
as to who was doing the most work.
Then at the end of the year or at least once a year there should be a Nation wide convention wherein all can participate and I assure you that no greater enthusiasm could be displayed than at such a Convention. May I, therefore, urge every officer to secure as many new members as possible and follow out this plan of organizing that at our next NATIONAL convention we may have a report from every large city and every State and Country in the world.

I want to make particular mention of the splendid report of the Secretary.
The gain in membership over last year is well worthy of commendation and I am sure we are all greatly indebted to our Secretary for his untiring efforts, zeal and energy displayed in this wonderful work during the past year. In fact, too much credit cannot be given all the officers. I desire to bear personal tribute to their unvarying courtesy and considerate attention shown during the past year, possibly the most momentous in our history. It is almost in-vidious to mention names because every officer and committee, and practically every one belonging to this great Society has been willing at all times to cheerfully render any service for the good of the Society, if called upon.

Let me again draw your attention to the Philatelic Library, Mr. William R.
Ricketts, Librarian, who has received a number of books and papers from various members, however, I know that many of us, if we would only avail ourselves of the opportunity could send in any duplicates or issues which we do not particularly care for, as they may be of great interest sooner or later to the less fortunate members of the Association.

In conclusion, I again extend to you my best wishes for a most pleasant, none the less profitable, convening and offer you my very best co-operation in behalf of the Society now and at all times and thank you most sincerely for every kindness extended me during the past year. Whoever the new Officers may be for the ensuing year I ask that you give them your earnest support and cooperation. As things take unto themselves the color of their surroundings so also do men take on the characteristics and qualities of others whom they admire and with whom they have some association. Who, then, ladies and gentlemen, would be more welcomed in our Society today than the men that are up for election, and I trust you were most discreet in your decision.

Again wishing you unbounded success for the coming year and hoping to meet you at future conventions, I am,

Fraternally yours,
CLIFFORD W. KISSINGER, President.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all
the news from the various philatelic centers.
Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—We are indebted to J. L. Whitman,
T. H. Ames, Paul Dillingham, Chas A.
Townsend, Stuart T. Danforth, F. P.
Moore, and Ralph L. King for information regarding the 12c copper red.
Can any other subscribers favor us?
This stamp has a decided pinkish tint on reverse side. Drop the WEEKLY a line.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Paul Dillingham, Theodore H. Ames and H. C. Tidd.

—"Perhaps it will be interesting to you to know that we have formed a philatelic society in Porto Rico and that great interest and enthusiasm has been shown on this line."—CARLOS M. LOPEZ.

—"Some time ago I sent a small lot on approval to E. C. Bernworth, Bryce-land, La., and cannot get a reply to several inquiries regarding same."—E.
A. MOSELEY.

—In the New York Telegram of August 13 is a most remarkable feature story, occupying an entire page and given over to stamp collecting. King George's collection holds the center of the stage, while "war stamps" form a no small part of the write up. The article is by Ed. A. Goewey, and is calculated to be of great value from the standpoint of stamp collecting publicity.
There are twenty-two illustrations.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

Bright & Sons "A B C" Catalog.—It is a marvel that the Bright catalog can be issued at the low price of 30c postage paid. It is a book of 330 pages, fully illustrated and printed neatly. The catalog lists and prices the "Stamps of the British Empire", and is the 11th edition of this book. Of course Gt. Britain comes in for special attention, and this part of the book would alone compensate one in large part for the price paid.
An addenda provides one with a list of stamps issued by other than British Colonies in connection with the war.

EDITORIAL.

Accomplished—It remained for the Southern Philatelic Association to discover that Washington, D. C., was the ideal city for a national philatelic convention, even in August; and the visitors to the capital during the week of August 14th, 1916, have every feeling of satisfaction for having attended the deliberations of America's foremost philatelic society, numerically. It was somewhat of a surprise to learn how the organization had grown during the year past, until it has attained a membership of 1492, with fifty applications pending. The secretary seems reasonable in his prediction that at the next convention the membership will reach the two thousand mark. At any rate, it remained for this bustling association, to whose members precedent was no fetish, to penetrate the aloofness of Washington, as it seemed, and reveal the supreme attractions of the capital as a seat of national conventions of philatelists. The Southern Philatelic Association deserves the gratitude of all society members, for it has shown that Washington, the stamp source of the nation, is the logical rendezvous of its philatelists.

Feeling—It is not great exaggeration to say that the feelings of the delegates to the first national philatelic convention at Washington were exalted by the surroundings at the nation's capital; and the stamp theme rang loud throughout the sessions. In fact, the convention was one singularly devoted to stamps, a circumstance that should be attributed to the great part played in the proceedings by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing and its efficient director, Joseph E. Ralph. Indeed, cannot one regard the seat of postage stamp production in this country as the Mecca to which all good philatelists should make abeisance occasionally? Director Ralph, we may interpose here, paid the visitors many attentions and it is but just to say that his hearty entering into the spirit of the occasion was of immense advantage to the members. Director Ralph is an officer of whom we stamp folks and the nation may be proud. Alert, aggressive and capable, with a personality that commands respect, inspires interest, and engages good-will, Director Ralph will be remembered as one of the main features, so to say, of the Washington convention.

* * *

Opening—The address of welcome at the opening of the convention Tuesday morning, August 15th, was read by Director Ralph, and his remarks were most attentively followed by the roomful of about one hundred people. We doubt whether Director Ralph ever before had an audience that so plainly showed the rapt interest of its members as he sketched word pictures of the Bureau and its varied industries, even though they were limited to the creation of the securities of the government. A significant feature of Director Ralph's address was its tone of intimacy, and he told much that pertained to the inner workings of the vast machine over which he presides. The statistics that Mr. Ralph quoted were amazing, of course; and his descriptions of the working morale of the thousands of employees of the Bureau were of engrossing interest. Mr. Ralph's remarks in reality were a lecture that would have chained the ear of the public, and that is equivalent to saying that it did charm the philatelic listener. At the conclusion of the address, "A Story of the Postage Stamp," by Director Joseph E. Ralph, an eight page pamphlet was distributed to members with the compliments of the author. As soon as we find space, we shall take the liberty of reproducing the little monograph.

Phases—We have referred to the confidential tenor of Director Ralph's remarks, and it was a tribute to the discretion of the delegates to speak unreservedly before them. Mr. Ralph told how he had bought up all the color bases that he could find at the outbreak of the war, thereby gaining immunity for some time to come. Then, a shipment of colors was made from Germany with the permission of Great Britain, and of this quantity there is a supply that will carry the Bureau through the next month or so. Thus far, Great Britain has refused to allow another cargo to sail from Germany. Needless to say, Mr. Ralph is in the market for colors at any price and this assertion gives the quietus to any statements to the effect that the changes in colors that have been noticed in the stamps have been due to economy. The question of perforations was touched upon, and the experiments undertaken with the idea of securing satisfactory results were recounted. On this and other phases, Director Ralph dwells in his little leaflet or pamphlet.

New—The doom of the watermark in United States stamps was sounded by Mr. Ralph (as announced some time ago in the WEEKLY), and the important news was given that a new commemorative stamp was soon to be issued, work having been well under way for a special stamp to celebrate the admission of Mississippi into the Union in 1817. This commemorative stamp to mark the one hundredth anniversary of Mississippi as a state will be a noteworthy addition to our issues.

* * *

Bureau—On the morning of August 17th, the delegates were the guests of Director Ralph at the Bureau of Printing and Engraving, and every facility was afforded the visitors in their tour of inspection. In groups of ten collectors, special guides were instructed to take the visitors everywhere in the huge plant and, literally, the members saw everything from top to bottom. The special courtesy that was paid the delegates by reason of their unusual interest in the product of the department was appreciated, and the opportunity was one that was made possible through the influence of the convention. Said Director Ralph: "I want you to see everything from the inception of the stamp to its shipment," and it is to be added that the visitors absorbed all the details that their heads would carry. Re-assembling in the director's room, Mr. Ralph gave each delegate a beautiful souvenir in the shape of wonderfully exquisite steel engravings of the Capitol, the White House, etc., as examples of the work of the Bureau. Also, for the delectation of the collectors, there was a mile or so of strips from the coils that were looked over for plate-numbers. The kindly co-operation of Director Ralph and the entertainment of the delegates at the Bureau had most to do with making the convention the success that it was.

* * *

President—On Wednesday morning, August 16th, somewhat earlier in the day than had been planned, the members were informed that they were to be taken to see the President. The session was adjourned and the members repaired to the White House, where they were ushered into the presence of President Wilson, who shook hands with each delegate as presented. It was remarked that President Wilson appeared careworn and bowed by his burden of responsibilities. We should recommend philately as embodying a pleasant palliative.

Note—The further story of the convention, crowded out of this issue, will be summarized in the next number.

CANADA STAMPS SURCHARGED "WAR TAX."

The 5c, 10c, 20c Values Were Not Available for Postage.

Gladstone Perry kindly favors us with a copy of a letter from E. J. Lemain, Supt. of the Postage Stamp Branch of the P. O. Dept. of Canada, which effectually sets at rest the rumor that the 5c, 10c, 20c "War Tax" stamps were ever legally usable for postage purposes. We quote from the letter:—

"I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 8th instant, forwarding a clipping from an English publication in which a Canadian correspondent states that the 5, 20, and 50c stamps which were overprinted 'War Tax' for use by the Department of Inland Revenue, were acceptable for Postage, and asking for a ruling from this Department. In reply, I am to inform you that the stamps in question were surcharged by the Department of Inland Revenue and ceased to be available for postage purposes from the time of such surcharge."

CARUSO'S COLLECTION STOLEN.

H. C. Tidd sends us a newspaper clipping that indicates the loss by Caruso of his valuable collection of postage stamps. The clipping is very brief in wording:—

FULTON STAMP CO., 102 W. 42nd Street, NEW YORKTHE STAMP DEALER AND HIS STOCK.

By BILL BLOSS.

(Would you like to deal in stamps? It is a lucrative, pleasurable occupation and this series of articles by Mr. Bloss will prove helpful in showing you "how." If you know stamps, have enough capital to get a stock, and possess a goodly amount of energy—this article by Mr. Bloss will meet your need. Read it carefully.—Ed.)

CHAPTER III.—Approval Business.

Unless a stamp dealer has an exceptional local trade, or devotes his attention to auction sales or wholesale business, he must depend on mail business for a considerable portion of his sales. While many dealers do not carry on an approval business, the vast majority do, and this method of purchasing stamps has grown far more popular with collectors than any other method, chiefly because it affords the purchaser an opportunity of seeing the stamp before buying.

The approval business may be roughly divided into two sections, "kid" business and high-class. If the dealer is in position to devote most of his time to the business, and can secure the assistance of several clerks (girls preferred) he will find the boy business well worth going after. The retailing generally from one to ten cents, seldom higher. The larger and more brilliant the stamp, the better. This class of stock wholesales from 10% to 20% of catalogue and allows a fine margin of profit, if enough can be sold. This last condition applies more to the ability of the dealer to handle the trade rather than to the difficulty of securing business. Boy business is practically unlimited. Last year the writer inserted four half-inch advertisements in the American Boy, Boys' Magazine, and St. Nicholas magazines, using all three in December and one in November. Nearly eight hundred replies resulted from these two inches of space. Had the writer been able to handle this volume of business, and to properly circularize and premiumize the boys, it is probable that several thousand customers would have resulted, as each boy can be depended upon to send around at least five friends, and the chances are that these friends will do their part, etc. If the dealer

Puts Out A Good Line of Approvals,

he will have little trouble in securing all the business he can handle. The sales from this class of business are generally small, and the expense of handling is practically the same as though the stock was high grade. Therefore, though the margin of profit is great, it is necessary to sell an immense quantity of goods in order to realize a material profit. It is practically impossible for a dealer to handle this class of trade himself, without assistance, though it has been done. It is far better to work out a system for handling this work, and then to turn it over to a clerk, or to some widow or cripple who will appreciate this chance to make a little honest money. No dealer who values his time above eight dollars a week should consider this work. He will soon find that he has enough to do to inspect the lots, handle the correspondence, and keep in touch with the credits and customers.

In order to extract the greatest profits from this business, it is necessary to Simplify It As Much As Possible.

The scheme generally followed by the big dealer is to prepare a series of lots, using the same varieties in each series. In other words, a hundred sheets of the same kind are prepared. (Even this quantity will not last long before an "army" of boy collectors.) The same varieties are used on every sheet of the lot, and are placed exactly the same on each sheet. This method insures instant detection of substitution, aids the dealer in keeping in touch with the "best sellers," furnishes a check on the clerk mounting the sheets, prevents duplication in the series, simplifies the matter of filling up the sheets as sold (as will be explained later) and in keeping accounts. In preparing these sheets, the clerk may be given a hundred stamps of a kind, twenty varieties, together with a hundred ready priced sheets. It is a very simple matter to make up all the sheets alike, and no cataloguing and pricing is necessary, therefore errors on that score are eliminated. Duplicates of the stamps should be kept on approval cards (reserve stock in envelopes) allowing one pocket to each space on the sheet. In this way, as a sheet returns partially empty, the stamp to fill each space will be found in the pocket assigned to this space. Care should be used that the same stamp is not assigned to two spaces in the series, as duplication will result. Bear in mind that it is absolutely a waste of time and money to send your client a stamp after he has rejected one of the same kind.

Avoid Duplication.

In mounting the stamp, in order to prevent confusion and mis-spacing (especially if the employee is unfamiliar with stamps) a good method is to attach five small boxes, about 3x3 inches, to a strip of card-board, so that they are in a vertical row. These boxes should be filled with stamps to correspond to a vertical row on the approval sheet, each box representing a space, in the order of their appearance on the sheet. Nearly every operator is capable of mounting five stamps at a time without error, while even the more experienced are liable to make a mistake if the full twenty are mounted at one time. Also, thinking takes time, and time is money. The more automatic this work can be made, the cheaper it can be done. By placing the boxes to the left of the operator and the hinges to the right, it is possible to mount each stamp in six motions, as follows:—

1. Right hand moves from filled space to hinge box.
2. Right hand elevates hinge to mouth (or moves to sponge).
3. Right hand attaches one end of hinge to blank space of sheet.
4. Left hand moves to respective box, selecting stamp.
5. Left hand places stamp under hinge.
6. Right hand bends hinge and exerts pressure to affix stamp.

Since the handling of the moist hinge usually necessitates the most dexterity, the above arrangement is recommended. It may be reversed, however. By using such a method, it is possible to mount stamps very quickly and accurately.

After the sheets are prepared and accounted for, they should be filed away in a box or large envelope. Each lot should be filed separately, and in order. In this way it is possible to find the sheets as needed, without searching through the entire stock.

In sending out the selections, after the application has been approved by the "Credit Department,"

a sheet of the first lot should be sent out together with invoice and return envelope. Premium and advertising matter may and should be included. It is advisable to have several different series available, including U. S., Europeans, Africans, etc., according to the wants of the collector.

In numbering these selections, the writer found the following system very satisfactory: Sheets intended for filling the first order were designated by the figure 1, those for the second by 2, etc. A cipher was then added, then a figure to designate the type of sheet of those intended for the respective lot, and finally the individual sheet number of that type. Thus, 10,170 signifies the seventh sheet of the first type of the first lot, 30,346 signified the forty-sixth sheet of type three, lot three. Such a system of numbering will prevent the possibility of sending the same type of sheet twice to the same buyer.

Since it is impossible to demand references from boy trade, and to investigate them, the only way to handle this business is to take a chance. A sheet cataloguing 56c and selling for 25c net, should cost about 10c. Thus quite a number of losses may be suffered before any consequential amount is lost, and the sales will offset this. In my experience, I found that between five and ten per cent. must be charged to loss, either from carelessness or theft. However, as I did not follow up my claims very well, this percentage is a little higher than had I made more vigorous attempts to collect. In listing customers, I use a 3x5 card system, using white cards for prospects, manila for customers, and blue for frauds. Consultation of this card case will often save a second loss.

In Keeping My Approval Record,

I use a loose leaf binder with specially ruled pages to fit. At the top of the page, I enter the name and address of the buyer, as well as any references, and the source of inquiry. In the first column, I enter the date of sending the lot; in the second, the sheet numbers; in the third, the gross or net value, as the case may be; in the fourth, the net price for the entire lot; in the fifth, the discount; in the sixth, a description of the lot, if special; then in the seventh column (on the right side) I enter the date the lot is returned; in the eighth, the amount purchased; in the ninth, any debits or credits; in the tenth, the total amount purchased to date, and lastly, any remarks, to aid me in sending further lots, or otherwise. This entry sheet was devised by the manager of one of the largest stamp companies in the country, and is, I believe, the most practical ever designed, as it gives the full information of every transaction in a compact form, and tells at a glance just what kind of a buyer each customer is. As accounts are closed or temporarily discontinued, I file the sheets in another binder, alphabetically. At intervals, I circularize these accounts and usually succeed in drawing some new sales from them.

In Sending Out These Selections,

the dealer must aim to please the customer, and yet must protect himself. Many frauds attempt to secure large lots after the first few times, and dealers should have a fixed limit of value for each selection. My first selection listed at 56c and sold for 25c net, my second at 90c and 40c net, my third at $1.28 and 60c net, my fourth at $1.70 and 75c net, etc., adding a few cents each time. The first time I sent but one sheet, the second, two, and later three or four. After the customer has proved himself honest and enough of a buyer to warrant the trouble, it is a good plan to submit larger selections. As my time was limited, I made it a rule to cater only to customers spending at least 10c the first time and later 25c each time.

For an Invoice,

I use the following:—
 Heading Date
 Address of customer,
 "Dear Sir:
 I enclose herewith a selection of stamps on approval as follows:
 Enclosures Net purchases
 $..... $.....
 Etc.
 Discount You may keep this entire lot for $..... Please note opposite the entry the net amount taken from each item. I cannot give you credit unless you return this invoice. ALL GOODS REMAIN MY PROPERTY UNTIL PAID FOR IN FULL. (See Article on "Credits.") Remittances under $1.00 may be made in unused 1c and 2c stamps GUMMED. Do not risk loss by sending coin by mail.
 I will appreciate the return of this selection within ten days. Unless forbidden, I will submit another selection.
 If you have any suggestion or complaints to make, I want to know them.
 Yours very truly,

The above should give the new dealer a good insight into the handling of boy trade. Bear in mind that it is the volume of business that gives the profit.

UNITED STATES.—J. M. Bartels writes as follows:

"Yesterday I paid a visit to the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, and according to Mr. Ralph's statement the first unwatermarked paper was just being used, namely, August 17. No change will be made in the perforation for the present, but the old wheels which perforate 10 will gradually be replaced by wheels perforating 11. However, it may be two or three months before any of them will be installed."

ARGENTINE.—George B. Warren, Jr., was the first to show us one of the new Argentine commemorative stamps, the 5c value. The stamp is of medium size, 27x21 mm., a horizontal oblong, on white paper, watermarked honeycomb, and perforated 13½. The design is simple, showing "Republica Argentina" in a straight line at the top, with the value in small tablets, nearly square, in the lower corners. The dates "1816" and "1916" are worked in next to the value tablets, while in the centre between the value and dates is an irregularly-shaped tablet with the legend: "Declaracion—de la Independencia Argentina—9 de Julio 1816." As stated previously, the greater part of the stamp is occupied by the scene, of which the above legend is the description.

BAVARIA.—Although Bavaria has not accepted the Prussian proposal that she should renounce her privilege of issuing special stamps, the new rates of postage which come into force in Germany on August 1 will extend to Bavaria, so that kingdom, like the rest of the German Empire, will probably have to issue new stamp denominations of 2½, 7½, and 15 pfennig, and postcards of 7½ pfennig, says the London Telegraph.

CANADA.—Gladstone Perry has the following to say regarding the letter from Bright & Son in re the Canadian high value "War Tax" stamp, printed in No. 1337:

"I note in the WEEKLY of August 12 a memo. from Messrs. Bright and Son, to the effect that the 5c, 20c and 50c Canada War Tax, surcharged on Postage had been seen with Postal Cancellations. I can substantiate this as I have several such copies in my own collection and have seen several such registered, both with and without ordinary postage stamps. I did not include them in my list of those used for postage as I had seen a copy of an official circular warning postmasters not to accept these issues for postage, and took it that while they had been used as postage, it was possibly without the knowledge of the department and that they took occasion to correct this by the circular above mentioned. As I had noticed this same statement in the Postage Stamp, London, I have written the Postmaster General and hope soon to have definite information as to whether or not these issues were ever officially recognized as postage stamps. If they were merely passed by postmasters through their similarity to postal issues, their position would be doubtful."

HAYTI.—A. W. Dunning sends us two new provisionals from this Republic, the 20c orange, Scott's Nos. 100 and 106 having been surcharged with a large figure "1" in frame with round corners, JAMAICA.—The Rev. L. Meister reports having found the ½d "War Stamp" without the period. These stamps are overprinted in sheets of 240 stamps, and the error above mentioned occurs on the first and fourth stamps in the second row of the lower right block of 60 stamps. The other blocks are correct. By the way, the error on the 3d War stamp noted in 1338 should be "without" period.

LONG ISLAND.—This is another of the new postal districts established in Turkish waters, like Rouad and Castelorzio, recently noted. This time the English and not the French are responsible. We abridge as follows from Mr. Melville's article in the Postage Stamp:

One of the most extraordinary stamp issues of the present war was made as recently as May of the present year. The name of the territory for which these stamps have been issued is Long Island—not the Long Island of American renown, but a long island, recently taken by the British from the Turks, in the Gulf of Smyrna. On taking over the island the British naval authorities in the Aegean Sea renamed it "Long Island", and have given a new geographical and topographical nomenclature to the whole of the island and the surrounding waters.

A naval officer, Lieut.-Commander H. Pirie-Gordon, R. N. V. R., was placed in control as Civil Administrator of this new British possession, and printed and issued an official gazette containing the "Postal Regulations and Censorship." The usual postal rates of the United Kingdom apply while it is specified that no letters were to leave the Island uncensored. When the British Navy took this island there were a few Turkish fiscal stamps found there which were commandeered and converted into postage stamps of the denominations ½d, 1d, and 2½d. The number of these fiscal stamps found was extremely small. The surcharging was done by means of a typewriter and reads "G. R. I.—Postage—2½—Pence" or other value as the case may be. The ½d stamp is surcharged in carmine on the 20 paras green and buff. The 1d is surcharged in black on the 10 paras carmine and buff, and the 2½d is in magenta on the 1 piastre violet and buff.

Of these stamps there were in all only seventy copies, of which there were 25 of the halfpenny, 25 of the penny, and 20 of the twopence-halfpenny.

As the supply of captured Turkish stamps which had been overprinted for postal use, were inadequate for the needs of the Island, a supplementary supply of typewritten stamps was prepared. These were printed entirely by the typewriter, recalling the famous Missionary issues of Uganda. In typewriting the stamps in sheets of 16, 20 or 24 carbon papers were used to expedite production, and these carbon papers, producing impressions in different colors from the typewriter ribbon, thus lengthening the list of varieties.

Stanley Gibbons' War Catalogue gives the following list of the stamps issued

WEST INDIAN AND OTHER ISSUES.

By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

War Tax Stamps.—The West Indian colonies are issuing stamps for the payment of war taxes on postal matter. I have already noted the 1/2d and 3d stamps of Jamaica. The 1d stamps of Grenada, St. Lucia, and St. Vincent have been similarly overprinted. The St. Vincent stamp is roughly hand-stamped with a heavy overprint reading "War Stamp" in two lines. This overprint was applied to 20,000 stamps, and the issue commenced on June 1. The post offices in the Colony were instructed not to sell more than thirty of these stamps to one individual at a time, to prevent speculation by stamp-collectors. Such a limitation is, however, more likely to encourage speculation than to prevent it, as there was nothing to hinder a purchaser making repeated visits to different post offices. The only safe way to escape speculation is to issue an adequate supply of the stamps to meet all the demands.

British Empire Catalog.—The ever increasing number of the world's stamp issues has been straining the bulk of the stamp catalogues, and Messrs. Bright & Son in the eleventh edition of their "A.B.C. Priced Catalogue" have separated the stamps of the British Empire into a volume by themselves. This will no doubt prove a popular innovation, as the tendency among collectors in this country has been more and more to limit themselves to the stamps of the Empire. British Colonial stamps for many years have been the safest investment, and at the present time, when the market in other collectable objects has fallen, the effect of the war has been to strengthen the market in the stamps of Great Britain and the Overseas possessions. In their preface the publishers point out that "notwithstanding the tremendous convulsion which is going on in a great portion of the globe, the demand for stamps in general, and war issues in particular, is as great as ever, with the result that increases in price are enormously in excess of reductions."

Advertising Chat

The sale of the Count de Souza collection by Harmer, Rooke & Co. is properly advertised this week and it looks good. Note the things that are offered. This company has sold 39,000 lots during the past season, an auction record the firm may well feel proud of.

Already we see signs of trade awakening and the WEEKLY looks forward to a prosperous business this fall. Interest has been kept alive this past summer as never before, due to the many provisionals that have sprung up on all sides.

Did you get your block of four of the Canada perforated 8 x 12? If not you were a bit slow. And how about your block of four 12c U.S. in the copper red shade, with reverse showing distinct pink?

Note our book list and get what you need. You are very unwise to attempt to collect without a library. Our books are uniform in size and nicely printed. Next book "U. S. Grills" by Stevenson with blank pages for notes.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

Belgian Stamps Seized.—British dealers are warned that 2 3/4 millions of Belgian stamps of the Antwerp and Brussels exhibition issues were seized by the Germans in Belgium, and have recently been sold by auction in Charlottenburg. It is reported that the bidding for the Brussels issue started at three marks, but a Berlin dealer made the successful bid at 650 marks. The Antwerp issue realised 1,800 marks. It is not unlikely that these may be offered to the British trade through neutral countries at prices very much below face value, as was the case with the sets of Belgian railway stamps.—London Telegraph.

SARDINIAN AND ITALIAN.

What are the distinctions between Sardinian and early Italian Stamps? In the first place it is difficult to say for certain which series ends the purely Sardinian issue, and where the Italian begins. Usually it is agreed that the issues of 1851, 1853 and 1854 were used in Sardinia only, and that of 1856 at first used only in that island was afterwards extended to the mainland. The distinction then must be drawn between the first three issues and those of 1856 and 1862.

Now the first issue causes no difficulty. This portrays Victor Emmanuel II., and is lithographed on plain white wove paper, the values being 5c black, 20c blue and 40c rose to magenta. In 1853, began the embossed issues. The emissions of that year has the whole design embossed on coloured paper, and for that reason is easily distinguishable. The 1854 issue is also completely embossed, but the frame only is coloured while the centre oval, containing the head, is alone left white. In the 1856 issue—the first used in Italy—the frame is lithographed in colour, the inscription being thus in white; the head alone is embossed. It is to be noted that the design of all these issues is identical. To simplify matters the catalogues of Gibbons, Senf and Kohl begin Italy with 1862, in which year the transitory set of 1856 was issued perforated, thereby settling all doubts.

Surveying the issues at a glance we have now the following results:

1851. Whole stamp lithographed. Used in Sardinia only.

1853. Whole stamp embossed. All coloured. Ditto.

1854. Whole stamp embossed. Frame coloured. Head white. Ditto.

1856. Frame lithographed. Head embossed. Used in Sardinia and Italy.

1862. Same issue perforated. Used in United Italy.—Stamp Collector.

WITH THE NEW PHILATELIST.

Edited by BILL BLOSS, 2729 Hampden Court, Chicago, Ill.

We propose to insert upon this page matter that will be of interest to the boy collector. Some two thousand boys are now on our mailing list and it is our desire to come closely in contact with them in such a manner as will be most helpful. Any information desired will be cheerfully rendered through these columns. Do not submit stamps for examination.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

R. D. F.—When a government allows the mail matter of another government to pass through its mails, it is practical recognition of the rights of that government. However, the Carranza mail matter was not permitted to pass through without due stamps until the government recognized it. The fact that mail matter did pass through was due to laxity and ignorance on the part of postal employees.

Your suggestion is very good, but is really in line with the work I am already doing. Chile has been written up. The other South American countries will follow this winter. I have also covered the desirability of specializing, both pro and con.

M. M.—Thanks for the suggestions, some of which will be made use of, and premium will be sent you. It is not practical to publish the names of collectors desiring exchange, since the paper cannot be responsible for the losses which might result from the abuse of this practice, as you will readily see. This has been tried, and is not a success, either to collector or dealer or the paper.

T. E. D.—Sorry, but Ralph Henry Barbour is a little too high priced an author for the WEEKLY. Mr. Hill and I will have to produce any fiction needed.

E. L. K.—Your suggestions are very good, and I wish every reader would give me his honest opinion of my work, as you have done. It is not practical for the WEEKLY to exclude or limit the advertising on the back page, however, since that is a preferred position with advertisers, and it is the advertisers that help support the paper, you know. I have often tried to interest certain dealers in space next to our Boys' columns, and am really surprised that more dealers do not take advantage of this position.

Your stamp inscribed Recargo and 1898-99 is a Spanish revenue issued at the time of the war with United States. The other stamp you picture is a German local with which I am not familiar.

H. D. W.—I question the advisability of importing stamps from China, though a remittance sent to Peking or Shanghai might be taken care of satisfactorily. North Borneo being a British colony, is very safe to import stamps from, though I question the desirability of the current set, which is very plentiful cancelled to order. Labuan is now using the stamps of Straits Settlements, which can be obtained to better advantage by addressing the postmaster at Singapore instead of in Labuan. Philippine Islands being under the U. S. postal administration, is entirely safe, but the present stamps are so poorly centered that it is of little use to import them, as postmasters will seldom take the trouble to supply fine copies. It would really pay you to buy these stamps at a premium over face, and get selected copies. There are several dealers and collectors in the Islands who will be glad to take care of your wants for a nominal fee. Canal Zone is a very satisfactory country for importations, as nearly all of the postmasters are very accommodating, and will send you as fine copies as they can, (which is sometimes impossible, particularly among the big stamps in use). Newfoundland is also a good country to import stamps from, as the postmaster at St. Johns does a very nice stamp business, and I understand, has issued a circular in the past.

Hawaiian numerals are very difficult to distinguish, and should be submitted to a reputable expert. Few dealers are capable of passing on these stamps. Do not hope too much, for reprints and counterfeits of these stamps are far commoner than the genuine. Consider it a reprint and be "disappointed" if it is genuine.

The stamp you picture appears to be a Scandinavian Express frank, of which I am ignorant. The minor variety of the envelope you picture is probably due to a defective impression or dirty plate, and has no special value.

An article on envelopes, which explains some of the problems which confront the collector, can be had from the publishers of the WEEKLY for 10c. There is little interest shown in envelopes at the present time.

Several very fine series of articles covering U. S. stamps have been printed in the past, and can be had in the form of hand-books for a few cents, and as the field has been pretty thoroughly covered quite recently, it would scarcely be wise to run a series at this time.

G. A. H.—Your 3c September, 1861, postmarked August 22, 1861, is, indeed, a very early dated cancellation for this stamp. This issue was placed on sale before the end of August, but I have no data at hand to tell me the earliest date known. The 3c August was not placed in general use, and the 3c September was one of the earliest values to be distributed, which would account for your August date. Can any of our specialist friends give us an earlier date than August 22?

SEND IN YOUR SUGGESTIONS.

Every mail is bringing in suggestions from the readers of these columns, and all suggestions that are available for use, and which do not cover a feature already worked up in the past, are being paid for with a few attractive stamps. If you have a kick or boost or idea, cash it in now. Imagine yourself the Editor of this column, and let us benefit from the way you would edit it,—and let your collection grow to the extent of a few stamps, for your trouble. Only—don't suggest that certain countries be written up, as we are already doing that work. If you can suggest an improvement in the way the countries are written up, let us have it.

Keep your eye on this back page. There are some big things in store for the readers. Most of them will not "come off" until the conclusion of the series of Dealer's articles now being run, but as many as possible will appear each week.

J. F. V. and steen other collectors have called our attention to the hard-hearted collector mentioned in "Parimban's Daughter" in the S. E. P. From an experience we once had in exchanging with a collector in Dutch Indies, we think we know how he got his "folio of postage stamps."

NOTES ON NEW ISSUES.

Aitutaki.—The 6d King Edward stamp was issued about the end of May. There were only £150 worth printed, out of which more than £30 worth were kept for distribution to Offices in the Postal Union and other purposes, so there were less than £120 worth issued to the public, all of which were quickly sold out. These stamps were ready for issue nearly a year ago, but have been kept back until the 6d pictorial were all sold.

Honduras.—Various journals have chronicled a new stamp of 1 centavo, bearing a portrait of Dr. Francisco Bertrand, President of the Republic, and inscription at top "Recuerdo del 1º de Febrero." Our Honduras correspondent writes us that only 2,000 of these stamps were printed, that they were never issued to the public, and that he has not been able to obtain a single specimen. As the stamps do not bear the word

"Correo," we assume they were not intended for postal use.

Hyderabad.—The recently issued 12 annas stamp of the new type is already obsolete, the total issue must have been a very small one, as we never succeeded in getting enough for our New Issue Service, and our remittance has been returned.

Long Island.—This is not the well-known watering place of this name in the United States, but is a Turkish Island known by that name on Admiralty charts and is called Chustan or Keusten by the Turks, and Makronisi (Big Island) by the Greeks. It is well inside the Gulf of Smyrna, N. W., of a town called Clazomenae, marked in some maps. The stamps were issued during the occupation of the Island by the British and are very scarce, only a few having been issued. There are two distinct issues, one consisting of long Turkish fiscal stamps overprinted "G. R. I. Postage" and the value in pence, the others are made on a typewriter and are inscribed "G. R. I. Long Island, Postage & Revenue" and the value in British currency. Of the first issue there are three denominations, ½d, 1d and 2½d, of the typewritten stamps the denominations are ½d, 1d, 2½d, 6d, and 1sh.—Whitfield King's Monthly List.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF CANADA.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

CHAPTER XVI.

The "Map" Stamp of 1898.

Shortly after Great Britain adopted penny postage for internal use in 1840 postal reformers began to dream of Ocean Penny Postage, and although universal penny postage is not yet an accomplished fact it is within reasonable distance of being so. A great step in this direction was made in 1898 when at an Imperial Convention on Postal Rates held in London the mother country and various colonies agreed to adopt the rate of one penny per half ounce on letters sent to or from Britain or one another. The following extract from the London Standard for July 13th shows in an interesting manner how far the movement had then progressed:—

We are authorised by the Postmaster-General to state that, as the result of the Imperial Conference on Postal Rates, it has been agreed, on the proposal of the Representative of the Dominion of Canada, that letter postage of one penny per half-ounce should be established between the United Kingdom, Canada, Newfoundland, the Cape Colony, Natal, and such of the Crown Colonies as may, after communication with, and approval of, Her Majesty's Government, be willing to adopt it. The date on which the reduction will come into effect will be announced later on. The question of a uniform reduced rate for the whole Empire was carefully considered; but it was not found possible to fix upon a rate acceptable to all the Governments concerned. A resolution was therefore adopted, leaving it to those parts of the Empire which were prepared for penny postage to make the necessary arrangements among themselves.

Since then other portions of the British Empire have fallen into line and the ties binding the English speaking peoples have been further strengthened by the adoption of penny postage between the United States and Great Britain as well as with many of her Colonies.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

Elihu Burritt, the "learned blacksmith" of New Britain, Connecticut, was one of the earliest advocates of Ocean Penny Postage and late in 1848 he issued a pamphlet setting forth his views on the subject. Exactly fifty years later Imperial Penny Postage was inaugurated though it was on a much broader and more liberal basis than Burritt had dared to hope in his fondest imaginings.

Canada, as will be noted from the preceding extract, was the leader in the movement for Imperial Penny Postage and marked the culmination of its ambitious plans by issuing a special two cents stamp. Mr. Mulock, the then Postmaster-General of the Dominion, was responsible for the idea of issuing a special stamp as well as the sponsor for its design. The new stamp was first mentioned by the Ottawa correspondent of the Outlook as follows:—

Mr. Mulock, the Postmaster-General, has chosen the new inaugurating stamp. It is in the form of a miniature map of the world distinguishing British possessions and illustrating the relative vastness of the Empire, in which Canada, of course, plays a prominent part.

In commenting on this paragraph the Philatelic Record, for December, 1898, stated "A poster stamp even of the large plaster type, which 'distinguishes British possessions and illustrates the vastness of the Empire', will indeed be a multum in parvo, and probably the less said the better in anticipation of the realisation of such an apparently absurd idea for a design on such a small engraving as a postage stamp needs to be."

The Ottawa Evening Journal gave further particulars about the forthcoming stamp, viz.:—

The new Imperial Penny Postage Stamp, to be used between Great Britain and a number of her colonies after Christmas Day next, has been designed by the Postmaster-General and ready to be issued. It is not to be a special issue, but will take its place among the regular issues. When Mr. Mulock was in Britain he was surprised to notice that the great mass of the people did not appreciate the value or the greatness of the British possessions abroad. This was especially true of Canada. The idea, therefore, suggested itself to him when he was considering a new stamp, to prepare something that would show the dimensions of Greater Britain compared with all other countries. Mr. Mulock asked for some designs from a few artists when he came back to Canada, but they did not meet with his views, and he roughly sketched out something himself and passed it over to an artist to have it touched up.

H. F. COLMAN,
SECOND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

The feature of the new stamp is a neatly executed map in miniature of the world, showing the British possessions as compared with all other countries. The empire is distinguished from the possessions of the other powers by being in red. Surmounting this map is a representation of the crown, underneath which is a bunch of oak and maple leaves, symbolizing the unity of the Mother Country and Canada. At the upper edge of the stamp are the words "Canada Postage" in a neat letter. Underneath the map is placed "Xmas, 1898", so that the date of the inauguration of Imperial Penny Postage shall be a matter of record. On the lower corners are the figures "2", indicating the denomination of the stamp, and at the lower edge is this suggestive passage taken from the works of one of our patriotic poets: "We hold a vaster Empire than has been." Mr. Mulock will be able to claim the credit of giving the public the cheapest map of the world ever issued. The size of the stamp is about the same as the Jubilee issue.

The printing of the new stamps began on December 1st, both the Governor-General and Postmaster-General being present while the first sheets were run off the presses. Although it was originally intended to issue the stamp on Christmas Day it was actually placed on sale quite early in the month as explained in the following extract from the WEEKLY:

Ottawa, Dec. 5th.—It having been stated in some newspapers that the new two-cent Imperial stamp would not become available until Christmas Day, inquiry made at the Post Office Department today to ascertain the truth of this statement elicits the fact that, although it was the original intention of the department that the new stamp should not come into use until the 25th inst., the demand from the public for it has become so pressing that the department has decided to issue it at once, and permit its immediate use to the extent of its face value for all postage purposes. In other words, as soon as it reaches the public it may, if preferred by the purchaser, be used instead of the ordinary two-cent stamp. The two-cent inter-Imperial rate does not, of course, come into effect until Christmas Day.

Under date of December 7th the Canadian correspondent of the Weekly Philatelic Era refers to the actual issue of the stamp, viz.:—

The new Imperial stamps referred to in past numbers of the Era were issued this morning, and although the new Imperial rate does not come into effect until Xmas-day, and they bear that inscription, they are receivable for ordinary postage now.

The general design has already been described, but it may be well to say that the stamps are printed in three colors. The frame is in black with white letters, the seas are in a pale blue, or rather a lavender, and the British possessions are in a bright red. The map of the world is on Mercator's projection, which magnifies high latitudes; consequently the Dominion of Canada, which occupies the middle of the upper part of the stamp, looks bigger than all the other British possessions put together. The border of the stamp is of cable pattern and measures 32 mm. in width by 22½ in height. The stamp is printed on medium, machine-wove, white paper, similar to that used for the Jubilee and subsequent Canadian issues, and is perforated 12.

The design is well-known to all our readers and as it has already been extensively dissected in the above quotations, further comment is hardly necessary. The new stamps naturally caused lots of criticism on account of their somewhat bombastic legend "We hold a vaster Empire than has been". This was taken from the jubilee ode written by Sir Lewis Morris on the occasion of Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee, the last stanza of which reads as follows:—

We love not war, but only peace,
Yet never shall our England's power decrease!
Whoever guides our helm of state,
Let all men know it, England shall be great!
We hold a vaster empire than has been!
Nigh half the race of man is subject to our Queen!
Nigh half the wide, wide earth is ours in fee!
And where her rule comes all are free.
And therefore 'tis, O Queen, than we,
Knit fast in bonds of temperate liberty,
Rejoice today, and make our solemn jubilee!

The stamps were printed in the usual sheet arrangement of one hundred, arranged in ten horizontal rows of ten. The black portion was printed from line-engraved plates but the colored portions were, apparently, printed by lithography. Consequently, three operations were necessary before the stamps were completed and, as may readily be understood, a three color process in such a small compass made exact register a matter of difficulty. Thus on many stamps portions of the Empire are found much out of place, sometimes wandering into the sea and sometimes encroaching in an altogether too familiar manner on their neighbours. The new stamps came in for much criticism, of which the following extract from the Monthly Journal for January, 1899, is a fair sample:—

It is not quite an occasion for captious criticism, and when we get a beautiful colored map of the world for a penny perhaps we ought not to criticize; but we cannot think that the design is a very appropriate one for a postage stamp. The blobs of red are not always quite correctly placed; we have even heard of cases in which a little irregularity of "register" has resulted in the annexation of the greater part of the United States, while England invaded France, and the Cape of Good Hope went out to sea!

The Canadian newspapers are not quite happy about it, but that is natural, as they are to pay extra postage in future to make up any deficiency in the budget caused by the reduction in the Imperial rate; we hear that even a Ministerial organ at Ontario complains that the new stamp is too large to lick and too small for wall paper! Some people are never satisfied.

The color chosen for the sea portion of the map was lavender at first, but as this was not considered altogether appropriate it was soon afterwards changed to sea-green. In addition to these two tints it also comes in a very pronounced blue.

The line-engraved plates from which the black portion of the design was printed have four marginal imprints consisting of AMERICAN BANK NOTE CO. OTTAWA in Roman capitals 1/2 mm. high, the whole inscription being 29 mm. long. These are placed above the third and eighth stamps of the top row and below the corresponding stamps of the bottom row. In addition a plate number, in hair-line figures about 4 mm. high, is shown above the division between the two central stamps of the top row, these figures being placed higher on the margin than the imprints. Mr. Howes tells us that plates 1, 2, 3, and 5 are known but that plate 4 does not seem to have been recorded though, presumably, it exists. All four plates are known with the lavender sea and this is known to indicate the first printings, it would appear that all the plates were at press together.

The late Mr. H. L. Ewen wrote an exhaustive article on the numerous varieties of this stamp but as most of these were simply due to errors of register their philatelic importance is slight. One variety, however, which is constant is worthy of note. In this two small dots representing two islands in mid-pacific are shown side by side instead of one above the other as on the normal stamps. Mr. Ewen also referred to a slight retouching of one of the plates, viz. —

Readers will have noted that the stamps are each surrounded by what appears to be a rope. On the sheet of plate 3 before us, the outer edge of this rope on the stamps at the end of each row (right hand side of each sheet) has worn away and has been replaced by a straight line engraved on the plate, except on stamp No. 80, which still shows the very defective nature of the rope.

Mr. Howes states that the stamp, with all three colors for the sea, is known imperforate.

How many were issued is not known for certain as these Imperial stamps were reckoned together with the ordinary 2c in the postal accounts but according to the London Philatelist the total issue was about sixteen millions. In concluding this chapter we have only to add that the cost of manufacturing the stamps, on account of the three processes necessary, was the relatively high one of 45 cents per thousand.

FINAL A. P. S. SESSIONS AT BOSTON.

The business done at the A. P. S. convention may be summarized as follows:

Sessional committee chairmen: By-Laws, H. N. Mudge; Finance, Alvin Good; Library, C. W. Kissinger; Sales Dept., H. E. Deats; Branch Societies, Fred Michael; Resolutions, A. W. Batchelder, and Next Convention, Willard O. Wylie.

Chester Myers of St. Louis offered a prize of $10 for best essay on "How can the A. P. S. be made more useful to its members and to American Philately?" The offer was accepted and due announcement of conditions will be made.

A permanent publicity committee was voted to consist of three New York members appointed by the president.

The matter of incorporating the A. P. S. was again threshed over and a committee ordered appointed to father the project.

The By-Laws were amended in several places to perfect an application for second class rates for the American Philatelist at Washington.

It was voted that the National Collection at Washington be continued with a curator permanently in care of the same.

An appropriation of $100 was made for the library and $50 for the Index Committee.

Mr. Ault was given a vote of thanks for his splendid service as Secretary.

Selection of next convention seat was left to the Board of Vice Presidents and Secretary and Treasurer. No invitation had been received from any stamp collecting centre and Alexandria Bay, N. Y., will no doubt be chosen unless a formal invitation from some city be sent in soon.

While the committee on reception is entitled to great credit for its splendid work in entertaining this convention, special credit is due Messrs. Carpenter and Batchelder. Mr. Carpenter was chairman of the committee. Mr. Batchelder was the fund raiser in which capacity he proved his worth. These two members planned the automobile trip and secured the machines. We refer to this feature elsewhere.

There were enough proxies present to have a legal vote but—there was not much of a margin for a contested matter.

Secretary Davis should make an efficient official. He understands the job and his election was due no doubt to the familiarity of the membership with his name and ability.

As usual by Mr. Stone: "I move that we adjourn sine die." There were votes in the negative.

DEATH OF GEORGE L. TOPPAN.

A true philatelist has passed on!

George L. Toppan active in all branches of philatelic endeavor died in Boston, Saturday, Aug. 26, at 11.30 P. M., after an illness of more than a year's duration.

After some years in commercial lines, Mr. Toppan who had developed a keen interest in stamp collecting entered the employ of the Scott Stamp and Coin Co. and subsequently was with H. F. Colman in Washington.

His literary monument is the Revenue Book of the Boston Philatelic Society written in collaboration with Messrs. Deats and Holland. He also wrote a Canal Zone list and contributed considerable to the literature of our hobby.

Mr. Toppan served as secretary of the B. P. S. also on the board of vice presidents of the A. P. S. and two years as president. He was a man of great executive ability and added strength to every movement with which he was identified. He was independent in thought and speech but always courteous and considerate.

Mr. Toppan specialized in U. S., Canal Zone and the D. W. I. and upon these stamps he was an acknowledged authority.

A melancholy interest attaches itself to Mr. Toppan's death during A. P. S. convention week and the fact that greetings were exchanged. A large circle of friends will join with us in this memorial word.

The funeral ceremonies were held Tuesday, August 29, at Forest Hills Cemetery.

BANQUET AT WASHINGTON.

Perhaps the most enjoyable social feature of the convention of the Southern Philatelic Association at Washington was the complimentary banquet tendered the visiting delegates at the Hotel Raleigh on the evening of August 16th, 1916. We believe that without exception all the out-of-town members partook of the hospitality of the Washington hosts; and, of course, the capital was well represented. The menu was a well-selected one and after it had been disposed of, Mr. Albert E. Gorham, president of Branch 5, Washington, as toast-master introduced President Kissinger, Southern Philatelic Association, who responded with a rousing acknowledgment of courtesies received and he pledged the members to greater activity than ever before on behalf of the national body. Then, speaker after speaker was introduced and each acquitted himself (or herself) creditably. One of the newspapers said the day after that "wit and humor marked the informal addresses at the banquet" and though it was almost a half hour after midnight when the festivities were brought to a close, the interest was maintained to the last.

W. W. PHILLIPS, LEWISTON, CAL.

Thru an unfortunate circumstance Mr. Phillips has been placed in an unenviable position, and expresses his regret to the WEEKLY and its readers for any inconvenience that has been occasioned. If any order sent to the above address has not been filled, please advise this office, giving particulars.

EDITORIAL.

Closed—The successful convention of the American Philatelic Society at Boston brings the convention season to a happy climax. The oldest national organization in the country, as usual, has held a meeting that was not without impressiveness to the philatelist and public alike. Naturally, Boston fulfilled the requirement of large attendance for an interesting convention, as it is the center of a country that is very populous, philatelically. Further, the attractive program for the entertainment of visitors was instrumental in swelling the attendance, no doubt. We shall not trespass upon the preserves of our managing editor who was the WEEKLY's correspondent on the spot and indulge in pot shots, lest we spoil his story of the annual meeting. It is Boston's custom to ask for the convention of the American Philatelic Society every ten years and we say that Boston may now rest on its laurels for another decade.

Continued—We shall resume our comments on the Southern Philatelic Association at work and play at its recent convention in Washington, which were closed abruptly last week by space limitations. During the deliberations, several interesting subjects were proposed which having been viewed from different angles were submitted to committees for report later. The question of federal charter provoked a debate that disclosed a division of opinion although the desirability of qualifying for preferment of the kind was opposed only on the score of the necessity of a change in name of the Southern Philatelic Association. Mr. Frank H. Burt made a proposal that a life membership be established and furnished a tentative tabulation of ages and fees. The tendency latterly of different organizations to popularize the life membership class was recognized by the convention and a report upon the advisability of adopting the plan will be made by a special committee. There was no fight made on the choice of Minneapolis as the seat of the next convention and only for the briefest instant did a few of the conservative eastern members hesitate about choosing Minneapolis; and all vestiges of opposition were removed when the tacit understanding at Reading last year that Minneapolis would be given the honor in 1917 was recalled. The west was entitled to consideration and a wise choice has been made.

* * *

Mention—The publicity given the Southern Philatelic Association convention by the Washington papers was liberal and well-sustained. While the reportorial demand for stamp "stories" was lacking, the interests of the hobby were the better served by orderly accounts of the business proceedings of the convention than by the recital of wild, imaginative tales. However, the word philatelist does not denote a prehistoric monster or a rare bird in the mind of the Washington editor; and the reporter who essays a trip to a stamp collectors' convention does not think that he is sailing an uncharted sea. One of the reasons for a stamp convention in our opinion is the resultant publicity that is given in the newspaper press of the convention seat; and this in connection with the stimulus that is given philately in the community in question, while intangible in some respects, is yet a material asset to philately.

* * *

Asides—The visits of the delegates to the Bureau of Engraving and Printing and to President Wilson at the White House have been referred to; and, as may be imagined, the trip through the National Museum with the U. S. government collection of postage stamps as the objective exhibit was fraught with importance in the philatelic mind. This national collection is one in which all American philatelists feel a pride and it is fitting that they regard it jealously and almost with an air of proprietorship. We have been given to understand that legislative action will be taken in due time to regulate and systematize the growth of the collection. As it is, the collection well repays study and scrutiny and all visitors with philatelic inclinations to the capital should show their respect to philately by visiting the government collection.

* * *

Social—The Washington hosts to the members of the Southern Philatelic Association were untiring in their efforts to make the visitors feel at home; and it is needless to say that they succeeded. There were the banquet, the trip to Mt. Vernon and the visits to the White House and other buildings, but as well, the entertainers were usually on hand to furnish auto trips to interesting sections which are so numerous around Washington.

Advertising—We have had it in mind for some time to speak approvingly of the philatelic enthusiasm of Mr. Alfred D. Guion of the advertising department of St. Nicholas Magazine, the monthly that is without a rival in its class for boys and girls. Through his work for St. Nicholas, Mr. Guion gained the conviction that the interest of boys and girls in stamps has not been cultivated so carefully and humanly as it might be; and consequently, he has been trying to devise a plan that would achieve his end. Mr. Guion probably did not have much co-operation in his work and we assume that unaided, he originated the plan that is described in the advertising pages of the September number of St. Nicholas. The St. Nicholas Stamp Club is founded on ideas some of which are new and it is in the treatment of them that the full force of Mr. Guion's acumen is shown. The master-stroke is intended to enlist the active good-will of fathers and mothers especially, in their children's pursuit of philately. The features of this club are admirably calculated to attract the favor of boys and girls. We regard Mr. Guion's idea of popularizing philately as one of the most constructive pieces of work of its kind ever projected. We must back up Mr. Guion, who says: "Of course what I am trying to accomplish is the lifting up of philately to a bigger place in the minds of the public. I want to make the thousands of wide-awake boys and girls who are not now collectors, devoted to this wonderful hobby. I want to raise to a maximum the interests of thousands of the young now interested in stamp collecting. I want to induce parents to realize the value of the opportunity for their children's character building and encourage them to spend increasing time and money on it; and lastly, I want to raise the moral tone of the stamp collecting game so that the ethics of this business will be higher than ever."

* * *

Colored—From Mr. Silas Weatherby, Medina, Ohio, we have received ten envelopes the stamps on which are canceled in inks other than black to prove that there are numerous P. M.'s who are deaf to the words of Section 565 of the Postal Laws & Regulations: "Postmasters must cancel stamps on mail matter by the use of black canceling ink." As early as 1878, this rule was adopted, although an alternative was presented if black printing ink could not be had when "the operation should be performed by making several heavy crosses or parallel lines upon each stamp with a pen dipped in good black writing ink."

* * *

Why—A reader wants to know why a letter postmarked Sault Sainte Marie, Michigan, and sent to Cleveland, regularly bears the one cent war tax stamp of Canada, in addition to the regulation U. S. stamp or stamps. We cannot place our hands on a departmental order that we have a dim recollection covers this point.

CHAPTER IV.—High Class Approvals.

In many ways, the high class trade is handled the same as the cheap class. Essentially the same methods and forms should be employed. These were discussed in detail in the previous chapter. In dealing with boy trade, it is the volume of sales that brings the profit. In the high class trade, the profits are based on the individual sale. As far as stock and preparation are concerned, high class approvals differ materially from low priced ones. In the low priced series, an inexperienced clerk can easily mount a series without error, but in preparing large selections of fine stamps, more or less knowledge of stamps is required. Where it is possible to mount a hundred selections of a kind of cheap stamps, it is possible to mount only a limited number of high priced ones.
